PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Eight children were rescued by a neighbor from their burning home Wednesday night. The eight-room house was destroyed by the fire which was believed to have started when the furnace became overheated.

None of the children of Mr. and Mrs. H. DeWolfe were injured.

The house is in McIntyre township, just outside Port Arthur. The township is without a fire department and the house was ablaze before the Port Arthur department arrived.

All the family's furniture and most of their clothing were lost.

Found Guilty By Jury

WINDSOR (CP)—A jury Wednesday night found Frank Trelya, 51, guilty on two charges of attempted murder and one of possessing an offensive weapon.

Trelya was charged in connection with the wounding last August of Mrs. Frances Drozdowsky, 36.

Defence Training To Start February

OTTAWA (CP)—The town of Arnprior, about 30 miles west of Ottawa, next month will become the training headquarters for Canada's civil defence organization.

Civil defence sources said Wednesday that between 1,500 and 2,000 men and women will graduate each year from the new training centre. Their job will be to train others at the community level in methods of dealing with possible enemy air attacks, and other national emergencies.

Govt. Sees Little Hope End Montreal Bridge Tolls

OTTAWA (CP) — The government sees little immediate hope for an end to the 25-cent automobile tolls on Montreal's Victoria and Jacques Cartier bridges across the St. Lawrence river.

Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons Wednesday he would like to see the tolls abolished, but several important problems stood in the way.

The toll situation differed for the two bridges and it would probably require an act of Parliament to set things straight.

More than a dozen members debated, and supported, a motion by Hector Dupuis (L—Montreal St. Mary) asking the government to consider entering negotiations with the Quebec government to end the bridge tolls.

The Victoria bridge, built in 1860, is owned by the Canadian National Railways. The Jacques Cartier bridge was built in 1930 under a three-way agreement for its upkeep among the federal and provincial governments and the City of Montreal.

Motorists using the bridges between Montreal island and the St. Lawrence river south shore must pay 25 cents, plus five cents for each passenger. Tolls for trucks and commercial vehicles vary depending on tonnage.

WOULD PAY CNR

Mr. Chevrier said the CNR would have to be compensated if Victoria bridge tolls were abolished.

Debate on the motion took up all of the half-day sitting devoted to private members' business. About an hour before adjournment Mr. Chevrier asked Mr. Dupuis to withdraw his motion, but the debate was continued, mainly by CCF members, until 6 p.m., in effect killing the motion.

Later outside the House, Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) said the debate was extended partly because CCF supporters in Montreal favor the proposal and partly to avoid the calling of a motion of his own, which would have come up next. He said it appeared that his motion, for removal of the three-per-cent floor on income-tax deductions for medical expenses, would receive only 55 minutes' debate before 6 p.m.

Sheriff's Men Disarm Tenant

TORONTO (CP) — Two sheriff's officers said they used a flying tackle to disarm a 66-year-old man who held them at bay with a shotgun in a cellar Wednesday when they sought to evict him and 20 other tenants from a condemned house on Jarvis street in central Toronto.

Claude Richardson, dropped to the floor by the tackle, was charged with having an offensive weapon and with obstructing an officer.

Guerrillas Bombed In Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) The sounds of wa came to this Malayan capital today as Lincoln bombers dropped huge loads of bombs on a nearby target area where 40 guerrillas are believed trapped.

For 90 minutes the city reverberated to the attack. The RAF dropped 36 1,000-pound bombs and 48 500-pounders. An RAF spokesman said Sunderland flying boats would continue the attack during the day.

Throughout the night thousands of people were kept awake by continual mortar fire.

If Baby Dies That Is God's Will

Parents Refuse To Permit Giving Blood Transfusion

CHICAGO (AP) — An eight-day-old boy died early today several hours after his parents had refused on religious grounds to permit doctors to give him a blood transfusion.

The parents had been summoned into family court on a petition to declare them unfit parents and make their infant a ward of the court.

The parents, Thomas Grzyb, 20, and his wife, Barbara, 18, refused Wednesday to sign a waiver which would have permitted an immediate family court hearing on the question of legally forcing a transfusion. Both are members of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect.

DOCTOR BEGGED

The case was brought to the court's attention by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board of health president, after he was informed of the child's condition by officials at St. Anthony's Hospital and the baby's physician, Dr. Isadore Lerner.

Dr. Lerner said the couple's son, Thomas Jr., had needed a transfusion since birth. The baby had been in a state of shock since an operation for an abdominal obstruction Tuesday.

Dr. Lerner said: "I almost got on my knees begging the parents to allow a blood transfusion."

When the baby died this morning the parents were not at the hospital, an official said.

"If the baby dies, that is God's will," the young mother had said as she and her husband refused to allow the transfusion.

On The Outside!

SAN ANTONIO, Tex, (AP)—Animals in the San Antonio Zoo never had it so good. That must be the reasoning of wild life outside the zoo, director Fred Starks says.

Stark revealed in a report to the San Antonio Zoological Society Wednesday that during 1953 he trapped a total of 85 wild animals trying to break into the zoo.

Included were 44 skunks, 37 opposums, three raccoons and one ringtail cat.

CCF Leader Says Gov't Action Needed

WAWA, Ont. (CP) — Donald C. Macdonald, Ontario CCF leader, said Wednesday night in an address here "the time has come for the provincial government to do something about hospitalization instead of helplessly looking to Ottawa for action."

He said Ontario hospitals had a $24,000,000 deficit last year but all Premier Frost did was plead with the federal government to ... health grants to meet the deficit.

Will Transfer Prisoners On Jan. 20

Indians Advise Allies, Reds Of Decision

PANMUNJOM (AP)—India's Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya told the Allies and Communists today that Indian troops will turn back unrepatriated prisoners of the Korean war to their captors Jan. 20.

Thimayya's announcement was not unexpected. Reliable sources in New Delhi said Wednesday that the Indian custodial command would transfer more than 22,000 POWs back to the Allied and Communist commands at least three days before their scheduled release Jan. 22.

The Indians hold about 22,000 North Korean and Chinese prisoners who have refused to return to their Communist-ruled homelands. They also are guarding 21 Americans, one Briton and 325 South Koreans who also refused repatriation.

The Indian announcement came as Allied and Communist liaison officers met in an effort to get the stalled preliminary Korean peace talks under way again, but they agreed only to try again Friday.

Kenneth Young, United States state department official, said the meetings might continue "for a week or so."

The Communists proposed that the talks to set up a peace conference resume Saturday, and flatly refused to discuss conditions for reopening the discussions.

The Reds also turned down a United Nations suggestion that the liaison meeting be secret.

TALKS BROKEN OFF

U.S. envoy Arthur H. Dean broke off the preliminary talks Dec. 12 when the Communists accused the U.S. of conniving with South Korea in the release last June of 27,000 anti-Communist Korean war prisoners.

Dean said he would return to the conference table only after the Communists withdrew their charge of perfidy.

Communist correspondents said the UN command sought today to have the accusation stricken from the record as a prerequisite to resuming the preliminary talks. The Red liaison officers were reported to have refused to discuss it.

Peiping radio has insisted repeatedly that the perfidy charge never would be retracted and that Red liaison officers would discuss only a time for resumption of the preliminary talks.

Bethany WI Group Hears Nylon Address

BETHANY (ENS)—The Women's Institute held their January meeting at the home of Mrs. T. S. Gault with Mrs. Thomas Jennings presiding and the members answering the roll call with "A useful household hint." Two new members, Mrs. William Mark and Mrs. Lawrence Norman were welcomed.

The president reported 19 pounds of used Christmas cards sent to the Ninette Sanitorium where they are used by the patients for craft work. Mrs. Mansell Finney reported the work of the junior girls homemaking club, who this year are studying "Meat in the Menu." To add to the fund for purchasing dishes for the new kitchen in the town hall basement, each member was asked to make talent money in the amount of $1.00 or over and in this connection, Mrs. Emory Smith, Mrs. M. Finney and Mrs. W. Mark were appointed as a committee to purchase dishes.

The program featured Canadian industries and Mrs. Jennings chose "Nylon and Its Uses." Pictures were shown of a Kingston plant. A peanut contest in charge of Mrs. R. W. Price was won by Mrs. M. Finney.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Price and Mrs. Jennings.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Rowland and will feature citizenship and education.

Canadians Eat More Meat In '53

RIDGETOWN (CP) — Canadians ate an average of 70 pounds of meat each last year, 14 pounds more than in 1952, W. P. Watson, Ontario livestock commissioner, said Wednesday.

He addressed about 400 farmers and 100 students at a farmers' week program at the western Ontario experimental farm.

Mr. Watson said sales of livestock in Canada set records last year.

Mr. Watson said hog sales dropped last year, partly because many farmers sold their hogs in December, 1952, shortly before the federal government lifted floor prices.

He said this resulted in a healthier market situation in 1953. The 98,000,000 pounds of pork held in storage by the government late in 1952 had been reduced to 20,000,000 pounds by the end of last year, chiefly through exports to West Germany.

Canada consumes 90,000 hogs a week, Mr. Watson said. But he felt producers should be wary of increasing the supply at this time.

Nor was the present a time for a farmer to start in raising hogs. The smart farmer had already started and by the time a beginner's stock was ready to be sold, the market might be flooded again.

Mr. Watson saw little likelihood beef prices would rise this year.

Price Groups Steady In Toronto Trading

TORONTO (CP) — Price groups were mostly steady in active early afternoon trading on today's stock market.

Papers, utilities, steels, foods, agriculture, banks and construction manufactures were stronger. Agriliquors, reining oils, motors and were slightly lower.

In golds, seniors showed a little strength, juniors were down slightly and holding companies were mixed.

Base metals were ahead. Noranda gained 37½ cents.

Western oils losses ranged to 20 cents by Calvan and outnumbered the few gains, led by Canadian Colleries, Merril and Great Plains at 15 cents.

Payroll Padding Allegation Not True—Doucett

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett Wednesday night described as "utterly ridiculous" reports that $1,000,000 is involved in alleged payroll padding and other irregularities reported in the Fort William division of his department.

... is concerned in an investigation that started last October. He said J. L. Zoller, department comptroller, is handling the investigation.

Eight employees of the division have been under suspension since the irregularities were first disclosed. These include a division engineer and a division clerk. There are about 200 employees in the division.

Appointment of C. L. Dubin, a Toronto lawyer, as special prosecutor in the case was announced Wednesday by Attorney-General Porter.

FULL STATEMENT

Mr. Doucett said he will issue a full statement today.

First indication that the province might have been defrauded through payroll padding by the use of fictitious names and crediting of long hours to part-time employees is said to have come from an employee whose expense account was turned down.

It is reported that machinery, trucks and other equipment were sold and the money not turned in to the department and that employees, using assumed names had rented their cars and trucks to the department.

Queen Attends Race Meeting

With the Duke of Edinburgh she visited Wellington's course at Trentham, 25 miles from the city. In glorious weather, the royal couple rode in an open car around the course before taking seats in a special box on the main stand.

A record crowd of 44,000 attended. The Queen watched six of the races on the eight-event card, using binoculars and showing keen interest. She owns several race horses at home.

Tonight the Queen had a free night. The duke visited a Wellington club for a short while.

Hideous Looking Man Seen By Toronto Nurse

TORONTO (CP)—Police said today they plan to interview a student nurse at St. Michael's Hospital who reported that Helen Boyle saw a "hideous-looking" man in a hospital corridor two or three nights before she was fatally beaten last week.

The student, who was not identified, said Miss Boyle remarked on the man's appearance to her. Miss Boyle, 24-year-old technician later was found in a sixth-floor laboratory of the hospital, her skull fractured in two places.

to collapse when they were trapped in freezing cold by a spike-topped wall at the rear of the flaming building.

Clad only in coats, Yvette St. Pierre, 19, and Jeanne Larochelle, 18, both from rural Quebec, were rescued by Ernest Belair, who carried the unconscious girls to a nearby hotel.

Later, they told reporters of their fear and flight, culminating in the horror-filled moments when they were trapped at the rear of the building.

The girls came to Montreal to work only a few weeks ago.

Voices still shaking, they sipped coffee in a snack bar opposite the ruined hotel and told of the fire.

NOT EVEN PYJAMAS

Yvette said the two girls weren't even wearing pyjamas, as their room was very warm. When they realized the hotel was on fire, they donned coats, fled down a fire escape, with another girl, Lucienne Audette, who had dashed into the room.

They found themselves in a court surrounded by a high wall with a locked gate. They collapsed in the snow, and were found there by Belair, a cab driver, who unlocked the gate to investigate the flame and smoke.

"They were in bad shape," he said. "Lucienne had more clothes on and wasn't in any danger."

VICTIM OF HOUSE FIRE

Mrs. Francois Ducros, 45-year old mother of six, was burned to death early today when fireb roke out in her second-storey home in suburban Notre Dame de Grace.

The fire was discovered by the woman's husband when he returned home early this morning. He managed to get his children to safety but flames prevented him reaching his wife's room.

Police said Mrs. Ducros may have fallen asleep while smoking a cigarette.

Jet Pilot Still Missing

Mrs. Charles Edward Ness was awaiting word of her husband, a pilot officer missing since Tuesday evening when his jet training plane disappeared over North Bay on a routine training flight.

A fleet of search planes have combed the immediate vicinity but have been unable to find any trace of the missing T-33 jet training plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness were married at Crediton, near Centralia airbase three weeks ago.

Fire Destroys Home

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Neighbors saved the furniture of Robert Armour, West Nissouri farmer today when fire destroyed his home northeast of Crumlin airport.

Loss was estimated at $6,000, about two thirds of which is insured.

Discuss Suez Dispute

CAIRO (Reuters) — British ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson conferred today with President Mohammed Naguib of Egypt for the first time since Stevenson returned last month from six months' sick leave in England.

The two discussed problems connected with the Suez canal dispute.

Oppose Idea Freight Equalization

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's five easternmost provinces Wednesday questioned the benefits of freight rate equalization as proposed by the board of transport commissioners.

Governments of the four Atlantic provinces opposed it outright, declaring ... board.

Quebec threw up some doubts; said it looks at the plan with an "open but anxious mind," and asked the board to make a report to parliament before taking definite action.

Chief Commissioner J. D. Kearney later indicated the board will act under 1951 equalization legislation, without going back to Parliament. It has been planning to put into effect by next Jan. 1 a new scale equalizing the basic "class" rates as among different regions.

Closing submissions of the provinces, railways and other interests are expected to conclude today. The board will issue its equalized scale some time later.

LAKEHEAD BRIEF

A submission from the Chambers of Commerce of Fort William and Port Arthur expressed preference for the rate scale proposed by the board over the several alternatives under discussion.

Some of the other proposals would not give the Lakehead a "square deal," said E. G. Charnock, chairman of the chambers.

Rate schedules proposed by the Alberta government and the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Charnock said, would "adversely affect established industry" around the Lakehead.

"It would also prohibit new industry and would be a real block to development of our territory," he said.

Lindsay Wins District Cup

LINDSAY (ENS) — Lindsay rinks advanced to the second round of the Ontario Silver Tankard playdowns today, when they turned in a convincing win over Peterborough entries in the district play. The two clubs were the only ones to enter rinks in the area finals.

The Lindsay rinks, skipped by veterans Sid Elsden and Percy Skitch, turned in a total score of 29 to 22 for the Peterborough quartets skipped by Dave Charlton and W. M. Cruthers. Skitch defeated Charlton, 21-9, while Elsden dropped his match with Cruthers 13-8, the Peterborough rinks conceded the Lindsay win at 15 ends, one short of the full distance.

S. Williamson, A. Ingram, J. Johnson, W. M. Cruthers, skip, 13. Total Peterborough 22.

N.Y. Market Makes Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied in the second hour today—just as it did Wednesday—and produced good gains throughout almost the entire list.

Wednesday's move ahead was led by rails. Today the leadership was broader and included aircrafts, steels, chemicals and electronics.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Distillers Seagram fell ¼, International Nickel dropped ⅛ and Canadian Pacific gained ¼. Hiram Walker was unchanged.

Canadian issues on the American stock exchange were not quoted.

Jack Slatter Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Slatter, 54, managing-director of Radio Representatives Limited, died Wednesday night in Toronto Western Hospital after a lengthy illness. Mr. Slatter was known in radio circles from coast to coast.

He is survived by his wife, and a son, Wallace, manager of radio station CJOY at Guelph.

INCREASING POPUULATION

Plant-Killing Diseases Depleting Food Supply

VICTORIA (CP) — A leading Canadian plant scientist has warned that the world's food supplies will be depleted by plant-killing diseases and insects unless nations co-operate to combat the threat.

Dr. William Newton, head of the Dominion laboratory of plant pathology here, said in an interview there is great danger of insects and diseases from warmer countries spreading to Canada.

Just returned from Ceylon where he served a year under the United Nations food and agricultural organization, he studied various types of virus diseases of that country.

"Diseases of warmer countries cause widespread damage to crops and their control depends largely on co-operation of scientists in all parts of the world," he said.

COULD THRIVE IN CANADA

"Many of the diseases in Ceylon would thrive in Canada. The world is getting smaller and it is easier for diseases to spread from country to country."

Dr. Newton said scientists suspected that new virus diseases found in central British Columbia came from some other country. No one had yet found where the new Canadian wheat rust disease originated.

"Plant disease and insects do not know such a thing as an international boundary and for this reason plant and insect research should be completely internationalized."

Long Lines At Box Office For British Theatre Fare

By MILTON MARMOR

The London playgoer can choose from 27 dramas, 13 musicals, two mammoth ice shows, a magic show, an excellent marionette theatre and a spectacular pantomime production.

Flora Robson, Jack Buchanan, Emlyn Williams, Richard Burton, Claire Bloom, Laurence Olivier, Vivian Leigh, Gladys Cooper, Pamela Brown, Nigel Patrick, Anton Dolin, Constance Cummings.

Also showing are "The King and I" with Valerie Hobson, Herbert Lom and Muriel Smith; "Guys and Dolls" with Vivian Blaine, Sam Levine and Stubby Kaye; "Paint Your Wagon" with Bobby Howes and his daughter Sally Ann Howes.

ELIOT'S LATEST PLAY

If you seek the classics, the Old Vic gives Shakespeare every day with Richard Burton and Claire Bloom heading the company. There's also a revival of Shaw's "Pygmalion" with Kay Hammond.

The Oliviers are in Terence Rattigan's comedy "The Sleeping Prince" which welcomed Miss Leigh back to the stage after her illness.

Mystery writer Agatha Christie has two plays running, "The Mousetrap" and her new "Witness for the Prosecution."

The longest running shows are two rather safe military farces with well tried jokes and down to earth situations. They are "Seagulls Over Sorrento" and "Reluctant Heroes" from well back in 1950.

Psychology Course For School Teachers

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Teachers in St. Catharines and district have asked University of Western Ontario extension department to provide a special course for them in about 35 registrations were received Wednesday night.

Miss Anna Martorana, specialist in child development at New York State Teachers College, Buffalo, will take charge of the course.

1,000 Pigs Odd Passengers On Planes To Yugoslavia

By JOHN EARLE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—When an unidentified plane violated Yugoslav air spare recently to buzz a British transport en route here, it turned the spotlight on some of the most unusual "passengers" to arrive at Belgrade airport this winter—pigs, 1,000 of them.

The pigs, all of the Yorkshire large white breed, were bought to build up a strong pedigree herd in Yugoslavia for eventual cross-breeding with the native Yugoslav breed which has degenerated and now runs to fat.

The pig is the national animal of the Serbs and there is scarcely a peasant household in Yugoslavia without one.

Chartered transport planes, mostly Dakotas, were fitted with wooden pens and ran a shuttle service from Blackbush airport, near London to Belgrade, with a stop at Munich for refuelling.

An average of two planes came each day, each carrying up to 20 pigs. They had to be nailed in to their pens with wood, two of the same sex in a pen, to prevent them running amok and fighting.

The pig purchases are linked with Anglo-Yugoslav plans to provide bacon factories and refrigeration plant under British economic aid, so that Yugoslavia may become a bacon exporter to Britain and other west European countries.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads — dissolve them. Get two ounces of PEROXINE POWDER from any drug store and apply gently with wet, hot cloth over blackheads. They dissolve and disappear by this safe simple method.

Banker Urges Reduce Prices, Taxes

Buyers' Ignorance Causing Higher Prices

MONTREAL — (CP)—Price and tax reductions were urged today by James Muir, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, as two means toward keeping Canada prosperous.

Canada, he said in an address prepared for delivery to the bank's annual meeting, "is tending to become a high-cost economy." Retail prices failed to reflect the general fall, since 1951, in the prices of raw materials and some Canadian prices were "even higher relative to foreign prices than the disparity warranted by taxes, duty and costs of transport.

"A certain British book that retails in the United Kingdom for 28s (about $3.92), sells for $5 in New York and $7.50 in Toronto. A certain piece of British-manufactured equipment retailing at £40 (about $112) in the United Kingdom, brings $219 in the United States and $275 in Montreal. A U. S.-made article of household equipment sells for $77.50 in New England and $149 in Montreal.

FEW CASES

"These are only a few cases among many. Consumer ignorance and inertia undoubtedly account in part for the disparity; and these are encouraged by the very existence of the system of duties and taxes that leads the consumer to expect a considerable spread between prices abroad and at home.

"Those in the business of importing, and retail outlets for imported goods, tend under these conditions to suit their prices to the market.

"And, of course, there are some prices that are never subject to direct competition from foreign substitutes; for example, food and services provided by restaurants and hotels.

RANK POOR THIRD

"We are told by some who have made a close study of comparative prices that we rank a poor third in terms of the internal purchasing power of our dollar, with the pound sterling well out in front and the American dollar in a fairly strong second place."

Even, however, where direct competition was possible, and even assuming "more acuteness on the part of the consumer," many difficulties were involved in the importation of goods, such as the difficulty of fixing costs in advance "owing to the vagaries of customs procedures."

"The importer must not only be blessed with more knowledge of relative prices than we can ordinarily assume, but he must have the will to undergo all the trials of importing goods from abroad."

On current conditions, he said:

CREDIT RESTRICTIVE

"The boom which began with the removal of credit restrictions in May, 1952, is already for some sectors of the economy, a thing of the past. Even the most optimistic of economic prophets does not deny the necessity for adjustment in areas and industries where existing or potential capacity is greater than demand at current prices."

The 1953 budget had made certain tax concessions and it was possible that additional tax reductions could create a further, healthy increase in consumer demand.

"But so long as the main difficulties are found in specific industries, the best solutions are likely also to be specific to those industries."

In Canada's high-cost economy, he said, natural and artificial barriers prevent achievement of the degree of flexibility and mobility required for orderly adjustment.

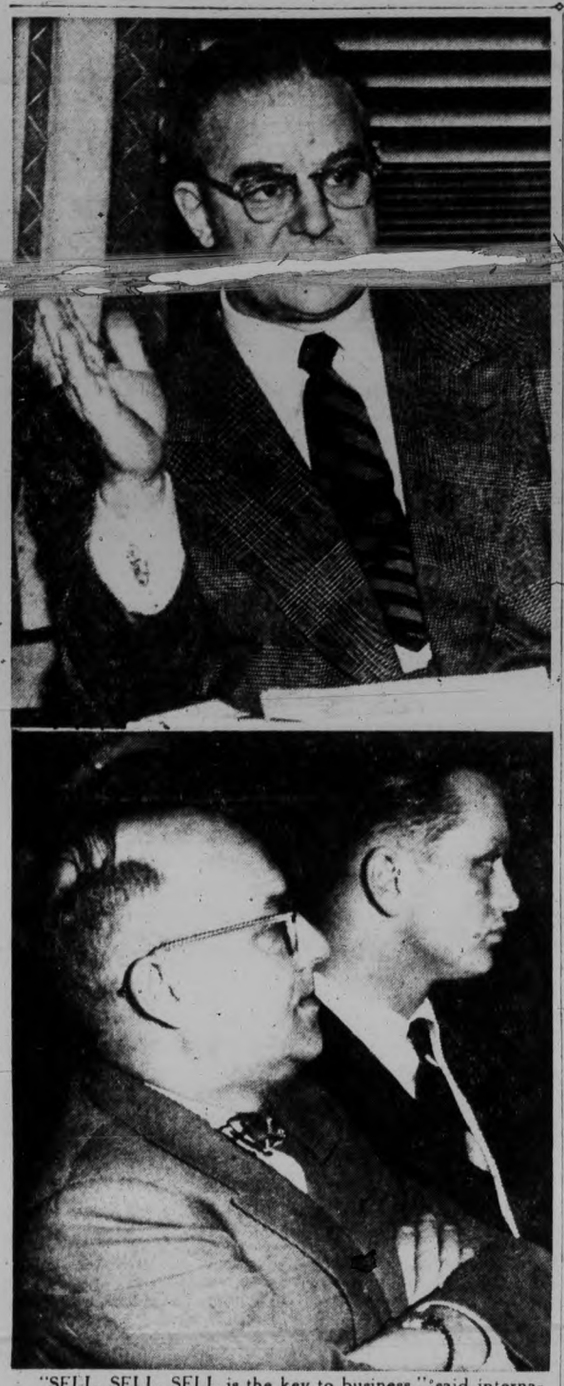
SELLING IN PRINT CAN BE A GOLDMINE, CITY MERCHANTS TOLD



"SELL, SELL, SELL is the key to business," said international authority on copywriting Clyde Bedell, of Chicago (upper photo). He spoke to more than 200 Peterborough merchants on Wednesday afternoon and evening who attended his advertising clinic. Mr. Bedell was sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner. A small segment of the rapt audience, George Burns, left, and Don Earle, both of J. K. Hughes Limited, are shown in the lower photo during the afternoon lecture.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Bedell Advises Businessmen Aim Advertising At Interested Readers

"Doggone it, we all love corn." And it's better to be too schmaltzy than too wooden in your advertisements [illegible] any time, admonished Clyde Bedell told a rapt audience of local merchants and admen Wednesday. We all live in a dream world, Mr. Bedell continued, and the smart advertiser will write his ads so that the dream seems to come true.

What reader gives a hoot about the relative purchasing power of his dollar, the consumer price index, or abstract statistics? Who will hurry, hurry, hurry to nab "sensational bargains" unless he is interested in the product in the first place. Who will read the vital body type of an ad unless his eye is caught by an arresting headline? These were some of the questions asked and answered by a man described as one of the top ten admen in the world.

Advertisers should "forget the public," Mr. Bedell declared. It's "high time," said he, that advertisers came to realize that most readers greet any single advertisement with nothing more enthusiastic than an apathetic yawn. "Advertisers should reslant their sales pitch to "interest prospective customers and induce marginal ones." As for the rest, they don't matter.

"Is that so? Tell me more." This, said Mr. Bedell, should be the instant reaction of each prospective customer to each ad. The reader is then led into the body type where he learns the details of the "only things he cares about" —benefits and selling points.

BENEFITS, SELLING POINTS

Benefits and selling points are the indispensable twins of good advertising. The reader must know (1) what's in it for me, and (2) how do I get it?

Trick typography and fancy artwork are next to useless, said Mr. Bedell, unless accompanied by the same careful salespitch any conscientious store manager or clerk would give an individual customer. "Surely you'd think a man would give as much careful thought to reaching the 18,000 readers of The Peterborough Examiner as to satisfying the individual customers who enter his store."

"Professional selling in print can be a goldmine if you make it so." Too many advertisers, "coasting on inflation's gravy train," compute their advertising expenditure in terms of obsolete statistics instead of in immediate reader reaction: It's not what the advertiser pays for his newspaper white space, but how well he organizes the cuts and words inside it that determine his net profit.

Perhaps it would be better, said Mr. Bedell, if advertisers got into the habit of thinking of their costs of cents per word rather than cents per agate line. Then "each word would become more powerful and persuasive" and profits would rise.

Nicest aspect of this increased profit, beamed the speaker, is that it would be almost 100 per cent. net profit. Space costs are relatively inflexible, so that more time spent on ad layout would reap profits out of all proportion to the original investment.

"A store is a machine for selling," said Mr. Bedell, paraphrasing the famed French architect Le Corbusier. Too much stress, he said, has been put on buying when "buying is a relatively simple operation." He was even more caustic about retail "expense control" declaring that attempts to cut costs without increasing [illegible]

ONE YEAR'S EXPERIENCE

Many advertising managers and copy-writers haven't had five or 10 or 15 years' experience, but one year's experience repeated five or 10 or 15 times. Merchants who want to keep prosperous should be prepared to march with the times, encourage new ideas and operate on the theory that there may not always be pie in the sky.

Since consumer needs vary from community to community, Mr. Bedell urged admen to beware of using more than cuts from advertising agency matrices. Most agency mats, he said, "aren't worth the powder to blow 'em up."

Know your consumer, talk to him, coddle his vanity, encourage his thrift and convince him he's always wanted a lefthanded skyhook and you will soon be wallowing in dollars. Daze him with huge type, stifle him with statistics and treat him with reserve and he will sit at home with a good book.

Prices, said Mr. Bedell, are relatively unimportant. An office girl can feel just as regal in a $3.88 dressing gown as a society gal can in a $75 job. In either case, the woman who feels that the product (and the ad) flatters her will flock to buy it.

But while you are luring your customer with nice words, warned the speaker, beware of hackneyed and meaningless expressions. "Most attractive" is a "weak" phrase and "lovely" is a word that has been "worked to death." Don't clobber customers comatose with mellifluous words but lead them gently but firmly to buy.

Mr. Bedell showed several ads showing "some of the best and worst features of modern advertising." He particularly warned against ads which do not show clearly, why the best dresses, tombstones or egg-timers can be bought at one specific store. It's not enough to say "navy blue for spring," for every store will be stocking navy styles. Similarly, don't tell milady how gorgeous she will look in a new spring bonnet without ensuring that the reader knows why hats are better at the Bon-Ton. Failure to communicate essential information quickly and clearly was described as one of the cardinal sins of most admen.

HAND ON BRAKE

Would you blame the gasoline company for the high cost of keeping the tank filled, if you habitually drive with the handbrake on? Of course not, said supersalesman Bedell. But it's "just as sensible" as blaming the newspapers if colorless advertisements fail to produce more sales. The core of the trouble is in the short-sightedness of many advertising managers who cheerfully give green copywriters $50,000 worth of white space to play with, whilst begrudging said copywriter a new typewriter.

Clyde Bedell has had a meteoric career in the highly competitive world of advertising. Born in Illinois, he breezed through school and was highly successful travelling for retail magazines before he was 21. High point of his early career was raising $50,000 by mail among osteopaths for their public relations.

After a spell in the west where he instituted his "copy-research" scheme, designed to show advertisers how to get the most for their money, he moved to Chicago to create seven big mail order catalogues. Later still, in 1935, he did the advertising for the Ford Co. The year Bedell was in charge was the only year Ford managed to beat Chevrolet in volume sales.

Back in the retail business, Mr. Bedell handled the advertising for many Chicago stores and for a time was advertising manager at Marshall Field's. By then he was one of the top-paid promotion men in the country.

RESEARCH

As his interest in the philosophical approach to advertising deepened, Mr. Bedell spent more and more time on extensive research to show what advertising makes a product sell. Since 1943 he has been working alone on a personal service basis, touring the world lecturing on advertising techniques and finding time in a crowded schedule to write several definitive texts on advertising. One of his best-known books is "Your Advertising: Force or Farce."

Wednesday's meeting of Peterborough merchants and admen was held in the hall of Trinity United church under the sponsorship of general manager H. L. Garner and the advertising staff of the Peterborough Examiner. The speaker was introduced to the near 200 guests by assistant general manager W. J. Garner. Supper and a question period followed Mr. Bedell's address.

Heater In Truck Starts Fire In Apple Hampers

COBOURG (ENS). — A heater in a truckload of apples of the Colbright Orchards set fire to the tarpaulin and some hampers while the vehicle was going through [illegible] William St. and called the fire department. Firemen turned spray nozzles on to the load and extinguished the fire. About two dozen hampers of apples and the tarpaulin were burned.

Baltimore Hotel Sold In Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS). — Owned and operated since 1947 by Gordon Fielding, the Baltimore Hotel has been sold to a group who have formed a company known as Baltimore Hotel Cobourg Ltd.

President of the company and manager of the hotel is Fred Barber, 36-year-old war veteran. The new owners took possession Wednesday. The sale does not include Fielding House, a large dwelling three blocks away. After Mr. Fielding purchased the hotel he modernized it and has continued to improve it until it is now rated as one of the finest in the district.

Mr. Barber was manager of the Dalton Caswell Hotel at Espanola before coming to Cobourg, and also managed hotels at Brantford, Windsor and Stratford.

62 New Cases Found In Week

COBOURG—(ENS)—Sixty-two new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending Jan. 9 by the Northumberland and Durham counties health unit.

Of these 34 were chickenpox, 21 cases being in Colborne. Scarlet fever continues to be rather prevalent in the health unit area with 18 new cases with Port Hope having six cases.

Port Hope has led the counties during the past weeks in scarlet fever cases. In addition there were six cases of infectious jaundice, one of red measles, one of mumps and two of whooping cough.

Hurt In Accident Moved To Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS). — Mel Tryon of Cobourg, driver of the car which was in collision with another car near Newcastle, while Mr. Tryon was driving some of the midget hockey team to a game at Bowmanville, was brought to Cobourg Wednesday night from Bowmanville.

Mr. Tryon received several broken ribs and head lacerations in the accident, and was taken to Bowmanville Hospital. Still in the hospital are Ronny Stevenson of Cobourg, age 15, who received head injuries and Gordon Holdaway, age 15, another member of the team, who had an arm broken. The others in the car escaped injury.

H. Pierce President Of Campbellford Band

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Harold W. Pierce has been named president of Campbellford Citizens' Band. Mr. Pierce will also manage the business affairs of the band, which previously has had no such officer.

Bandmaster Donald D. Bennett, ATCM, will share his duties with Peter Battman, who has had lengthy experience in band work with the Salvation Army, active and reserve military bands, and civilian organizations.

A Word In Favour Of Worry

We are tired of being told not to worry about things, and we hereby announce our intention to go right on worrying. The latest advice comes from a Dr. Charles F. Pabst, who is described as a prominent New York dermatologist; he says that worry leads to high blood pressure, ulcers, and itchy skin; worry, in his opinion, is the great disease of the New World. If we stop worrying, we shall all be happier.

• • •

Dr. Pabst undoubtedly knows more about the diseases he names than we do, but we have a high opinion of worry, and we shall go right on being a worrier. Worry is a good old word, and our dictionary devotes sixty lines to defining it in all its varieties. There are some ugly words in the definition—words like 'vexation', 'disquietude' and 'harassment'—but upon the whole worry comes out of the dictionary examination with flying colours. It is, in the last analysis, a word which implies continuous thought or action of a strenuous nature.

• • •

We are in favour of continuous and strenuous thought and action. Between them, these things have brought the world great benefits. Worrying about something really means keeping on at it, pegging away at it, thinking about it and working with it, in the hope that something good will result.

• • •

Of course, there are bad worriers, who nag and peck away at problems and people, without achieving anything. They are nuisances, but part of the art of life lies in discovering such people for what they are, and either avoiding them entirely or paying as little attention to them as possible. The good worriers are the ones who worry in a forward direction, and not in small circles. The quality of your worrying is decided by the thing you are worrying about. If your worry about the nature of mankind and his fate, you are a worrier of the school of Socrates, of Thomas Aquinas, of Descartes and Kant; if you worry about where you will park your car next time you go to work, you are a worrier of the school of Joe Dope, and you would do well to worry on a more ambitious scale.

• • •

It is pointless to worry about worrying because somebody has said that worry will give you an ulcer, or possibly pruritus ani; worst of all is the worry which comes because you believe that worry will kill you. You may be certain that at last something will kill you, and it might as well be worry as a beer truck or pneumonia.

• • •

If you weel like worrying, go ahead and worry! But for Heaven's sake, worry about something of importance. Don't worry because the Reader's Digest says that you should relax, and you can't relax; don't worry because you don't live up to Dr. Kinsey's expectations of you; don't worry because somebody whose life you would not care to live anyhow happens to have more money than you. Worry about something worth worrying about. The world presents an endless variety of splendid, exciting themes for worry.

Music Festival Entries

The Peterborough Kiwanis Music Festival has become a musical highway for a wide area of eastern and southern Ontario, and made Peterborough a centre for high musical endeavours. To the Festival come individuals and groups of amateur musicians, young and old, to test their achievements against those of others and their standards by the ears of the skilled adjudicators.

The highest service which the Festival provides is not in the competition afforded, nor in the many scholarships and prizes awarded, but in the opportunity it gives performers to test themselves against high standards set before them by the judges, and to have the benefit of their counsel and criticism.

The closing date for entries to this year's festival (which will take place between March 9th and 17th) is tomorrow. In the past few years Peterborough entrants have far outnumbered competitors from other centres. If Peterborough is to deserve a Festival as good as the Kiwanis festival, should its musical learners and their teachers, its established performers and its aspiring artists not enter more fully into its classes? Outside entrants give a special dash to a festival—because they do come from a distance—but the basic musical continuum might logically be expected from Peterborough, itself, inasmuch as a Peterborough organization, its Kiwanis Club, has the energy and public spirit to foster this large undertaking.

The adjudicators this year are Mr. Ronald Biggs, of London, England, whose careful assessments last year were received with warm respect; Mr. Frank Odell, also of London, who conducts an important choral society of that city and is a prominent adjudicator in Britain; and Mrs. Michael Meiklejohn of Ottawa, who will judge the verse-speaking.

For Military Mobility

In his "State of the Union" speech delivered last week, President Eisenhower naturally spoke of national defence. A surprising turn was the inclusion in this passage of his address of a reference to the Canadian supplies and the St. Lawrence seaway. The President was speaking of the "newer relationship between men and materials" occasioned by new nuclear weapons. It is necessary to have strategic materials "readily deployable" and important that the American armed forces "regain mobility of action".

Thereupon the President said: "This nation is at last to have an up-to-date mobilization base—the foundation of a sound defence program". Here he interjected his remarks on Canada and the St. Lawrence system:

> "Another part of this foundation is, of course, our continental transport system. Some of our vital heavy materials come increasingly from Canada. Indeed, our relations with Canada, happily always close, involve more and more the unbreakable ties of strategic inter-dependence. Both nations now need the St. Lawrence Seaway for security as well as for economic reasons. I urge the Congress promptly to approve our participation in its construction."

Their context and occasion of delivering them—to the American Congress in the annual Presidential State of the Union message—give unusually strong significance to the remarks. It is obvious from developments in the last six months and from President Eisenhower's own attitude, that no matter how many obstacles are put in the way by various sectors of the American people, the St. Lawrence seaway will be developed. If any American constitutional barriers remain to be circumvented, they can and will be gone around. Since President Eisenhower has chosen to emphasize the military importance of the project, it is apparent that American consent to it can be secured, in the last resort, as a national defence measure.

The Seaway development has had tacit consent for the last half year. President Eisenhower's references to it in the national defence section of his Message clearly indicates that the Administration is determined upon the Seaway, no matter what judicial court impediments may remain. Does the reference also mean that the U.S. is preparing to share the costs of the navigational development? That is what the President asked for.

Disastrous Proposal

A stubborn campaign now being conducted in the United States Senate is of interest to any country which might wish to make a treaty with the U.S. in the future. If the proposed amendment were approved, treaty-making with the U.S. would become a difficult task under almost any circumstances; under some circumstances, it would become impossible. The campaign for this constitutional amendment is being led in the Senate by Senator John Bricker, Ohio Republican, but it is the American Bar Association that is sponsoring the campaign.

The amendment is brief. One proposal provides that, after ratification by the Senate, no treaty could become effective as internal law unless both Houses of Congress approved appropriate legislation. Another proposal would prevent the Federal Government making any effective treaty whatever, under certain circumstances, unless the treaty provisions were approved by each of the forty-eight states. And the third proposal would give Congress "the power to regulate all Executive and all other agreements with any foreign power or international organization."

At present, the Government of the United States has sovereign power to make certain kinds of treaties; the amendment would deprive it of this power. The President's essential function is to conduct foreign relations effectively and efficiently, and this function would be nullified by the amendment. Virtually all treaties must be ratified by the Senate, under the Constitution as it stands. The amendment before the Senate thus expresses distrust in the Government, the President, and in the Senate itself.

To put it briefly, the proposed amendment would make it possible for Congress to obstruct a treaty as the St. Lawrence Waterway joint proposal has been obstructed for about fifty years. That is, admittedly, an exaggeration of the probable effect of the amendment in practice, since a precisely similar set of circumstances would rarely arise. But if Congress had the power to delay treaties indefinitely, the possibility would exist. And that would be a dismaying factor to add to the other national delaying factors plaguing international politics.

VON STROHEIM'S MOVIES

Return Of A Prodigal

By LINDSAY ANDERSON

"A FILM grows old and dies," said Rene Clair recently. "Whoever has attended the performance of a film twenty or thirty years old will have been amazed by what he saw." Amazed, he meant, in the sense of shocked or amused by the crudity of what [illegible] is too naive to think now of the silent screen chiefly as something to giggle at. Fashions in romance have changed violently in the past thirty years, as the National Film Theatre has been showing us, and Valentino, Gloria Swanson and Theda Bara have become less exotic than ludicrous in their appeal. But all screen masterpieces do not fade with the rapidity of A Fool There Was. The season of films by Erich von Stroheim which opened last week at the National Film Theatre, and which the Master himself came to inaugurate, may well leave its audience amazed — but in the dictionary sense, surely, rather than M. Clair's: Confounded or stunned with fear, surprise or wonder."

✧ ✧ ✧

TO THIS generation of filmgoers, von Stroheim is, of course, familiar only as an actor. English-speaking audiences last saw him in Sunset Boulevard as the mysterious Max von Mayerling, first husband of the faded star (played by Miss Swanson) and the director responsible for her earliest success. Recalling the twenties, this character remarked: "In those days, there were three directors of promise — Griffith, de Mille and I." the words were near enough to the truth about Stroheim himself to have strange overtones for those who remembered him not merely as Hollywood's Rommel (pre-James Mason), or as "The Man You Love to Hate," but also as one of the great directors of the silent cinema, the creator of Blind Husbands and Foolish Wives, of The Merry Widow and the monumental Greed.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALMOST as remarkable as these films themselves is the story of Stroheim's stormy passage through Hollywood. Like many of America's great men of the cinema, he came to films from a European background. An ex-officer of the Austrian Imperial Guard, he landed in New York penniless in 1909, aged twenty-four. Five years, and a variety of jobs later he was in Hollywood, assistant to Griffith on Birth of a Nation and Intolerance. In 1918 he directed his first film, Blind Husbands, a triangle drama of an American couple on holiday in the Tyrol, and their disastrous encounter with a libertine Austrian Army officer.

THE SUCCESS of von Stroheim's first film was, in every sense of the word, sensational. It established at once the style in which he was to excel, the harsh and cynical comedy of sexual manners. The frankness of Stroheim's analysis of such a situation was something new in the American cinema, and his own performance as the debonair Lieutenant von Steuben aroused in audiences fascinating complexities of attraction and detestation. The genre attained perhaps its most potent expression in Foolish Wives, a film whose essence is contained in von Stroheim's portrait of Count Wladislas Serguis Karamzin, a professional Monte Carlo adventurer who is shown in successful commission of blackmail, rape, and (above all) seduction, before justice catches up with him, he is murdered by the father of one of his victims, and his body stuffed into a sewer, to drift out into the bay in the closing shots of the film, together with all the other debris of the corrupt and tawdry city. (Happily, Foolish Wives is amongst the films which will be revived in the present season.)

✧ ✧ ✧

LIKE many moralists who are also artists, von Stroheim was fascinated by excess and perversity, at the same time as he was appalled by it. The cruelty and disillusion, you might say, were European (reminiscent of other Austrian contemporaries of his, Schnitzler and Zweig), but the exuberance and vitality seem wholly American. And though in other films he harked back to Europe and the decadence of the Austrian Court, his masterpiece is wholly of America. "I consider that I have made only one real picture in my life," von Stroheim said of Greed, his adaptation of Frank Norris's novel, "McTeague"; and the emphasis is on the word real. Not a single scene in this film (made in 1923) was shot in a studio. The insistence everywhere is on utter realism, of setting, feeling and behaviour. Again the underlying theme is sexual: it is the timid heroine's frustration that turns her into a fanatical miser, that poisons her relationship with her stupid, genial husband and makes a murderer of him. The daring of this film, the sharpness of its satire, its vividness of performance, and the dreadful truth of its images made immediate and lasting effect. Film makers not only in America (one thinks of Pabst, and most recently, the Frenchman Clouzot) have felt its influence ever since.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT, like other great film-makers, von Stroheim had conceptions that were too grand and revolutionary for the cinema of his day. He started modestly enough, shooting his first film in seven weeks; but the possibilities of the medium were too much for him. Foolish Wives was designed to run for three hours: the studio became nervous and cut it from twenty-one reels to fourteen. Nothing daunted, von Stroheim launched recklessly into Greed, and emerged after two years with a colossus of forty-two reels (roughly seven hours' running time). After an agonizing struggle, he reduced this to eighteen. But still it was too much for the studio, and Greed was taken away from von Stroheim and butchered down to ten reels by a studio cutter. This is all that remains: the rest of the negative they burned.

HE could not tolerate an incorrect detail, and he could not bear to leave anything out. This, and a temperament incapable of compromise, was von Stroheim's undoing. He made three silent films after Greed, but each entailed the same extravagance and the same disputes. It is not really surprising that in the end no producer would employ him as a director, and he was forced to fall back on acting for his living. He has given some memorable performances: opposite Garbo in As You Desire Me, and in France in Renoir's La Grande Illusion; but his personality is too distinctive to make him easy casting. There have been projects from time to time for new Stroheim films, but none has ever materialized. So he lingers on in our midst, appearing at Festivals here and there, or at these scarce revivals of his work, his great talent unused for the last twenty-five years.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET there is something of the miraculous as well as of the tragic in this story. Thirty years ago the movies were in many respects infantile, yet the opportunities Stroheim enjoyed before disaster overtook him would be unthinkable in the Hollywood we know. (What would Senator McCarthy have to say about the un-Americanism of a contemporary Greed?) Techniques have developed of course, but as Stroheim himself once declared: "I detest technique whose object is his own display." In his films style has no existence except in so far as every image is expressive of an intense, personal vision of the world. By comparison many of to-day's triumphs look pallid, for all their colour; flat, for all their extra dimensions; and for all their inflated size, terribly small.

OUTLOOK FOR THE BERLIN CONFERENCE

Prospects of Disengagement

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL (in Berlin)

This is the second of a series of four articles on the outlook for the Berlin conference.

BOTH THE Soviet and the Western Powers are approaching the Berlin conference with definite ideas about the solution of the European security problem. What has become known of these ideas shows that so far [illegible] this is only natural [illegible] conference [illegible] period of propaganda warfare. All that really matters is whether both sides will be ready to revise their ideas in the light of discussions at the conference.

The Western Powers start from the conviction that German rearmament within a Western alliance is indispensable for a long-term balance of forces on the continent. They will, therefore, demand that a united Germany must be free to conclude such an alliance, and would rather renounce German unity and go ahead with an alliance with Western Germany alone than agree to leave Germany outside the Western military system.

To meet the Russian fear of a German "revisionist" attack backed by the United States, the Western Powers would presumably be prepared to offer a guarantee that Germany would not attempt to change its present territorial status by force; the West German Chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer, has made it clear that although he could not accept the Oder-Neisse frontier with Poland as legal, he would support any undertaking not to use violence as a means of revision; and a corresponding declaration by the Western Powers is believed to have been drafted already.

TO THE Russians and their Polish satellites, such an assurance would be quite insufficient. Before agreeing to a free and united Germany, they want to be sure that this Germany will accept its frontiers as final; and they will not be put off with the statement that the substance of the frontier settlement must await the peace treaty. Nor will they be content with a guarantee from Powers which propose to conclude a military alliance with Germany, because the Russians fear that in practice the backing afforded by that alliance would be more effective in encouraging German aggression than the guarantee would be in putting a brake on it.

The Russians begin from the thesis that their security requires the disappearance of the Americans from the centre of Europe, and the isolation of Germany from the United States with the help of the West European Powers. Accordingly they have begun to talk about a "European security system" to contain "German Militarism" implying that Russia is a European Power while the United States is not. To spare French susceptibilities, they have not lately repeated their proposal of March, 1952, for a German national army; [illegible] they insist that all the Powers should renounce in advance any military alliance with Germany. To meet the Germans' own fears, the Russians would presumably be prepared to supplement a system of guarantees against Germany with a joint guarantee of the signatory Power for Germany, based on recognition of the existing frontiers as legal and final.

From the viewpoint of all the Western Powers, the basic objection to these proposals is of course the attempt to exclude the United States from the guarantee of peace in Europe, which by itself would be sufficient to ensure a permanent perponderance of Russian power on the continent. Nor could the West possibly withdraw its forces from Germany unless it was sure that the armed forces of an independent Germany would be both adequate and willing to hold the line against any Russian surprise attack at least as well as the present North Atlantic Treaty Organization screen.

DESPITE the wide divergence of these initial positions, the analysis reveals a certain amount of common ground. From a long-term point of view, both sides are interested in a military disengagement of their main forces; the Russians want to remove the Americans from the centre of Europe and to reduce their own commitments; the Americans want to remove the Russians from the centre of Europe and are doubtful how long they can maintain their own land forces there; but realize that without them there is no prospect of French approval of the European Defence Community.

Both sides understand that disengagement requires a united and rearmed Germany to ensure against the risks of a military void in the heart of Europe; both now realize that the new security system would have to contain both guarantees for the new German State and guarantees against a revival of German Aggression. Finally, both sides now agree that to be stable the new settlement will have to provide an agreed answer to the vexed question of the German-Polish frontier.

Will this common basis be sufficient for agreement to be reached among the Foreign Ministers in Berlin? Much will depend on how urgent each side considers a settlement and how flexible its terms are going to be in the light of this consideration. But it is difficult to imagine any compromise which would not have as its core the ideas which [illegible] a security system based not on fixed alliance between two opposing groups of Powers, but on mutual guarantees under which "everybody would rally against the aggressor and come to the aid of the victim." In other words, the four Powers would guarantee a restored Germany against aggression by any of them — in practice the West would guarantee Germany against Russia. But they would also guarantee one another against a rearmed Germany — in practice the West would restrain Germany from any eastward attack by refusing its backing of an unconditional alliance.

For the purposes of Western security, a rearmed Germany would be an essential balance against Russian predominance on the continent; for the purposes of Russian security, British and French interest in peace would act as an effective check on any revival of German aggressive nationalism. But no such system of guarantees could really become effective unless the participants were agreed on where the frontiers of such a united Germany should be.

THE BITTER BREAD OF LANDLORDS

SIR: With regard to Mayor Graham's recent pronouncement about proposed Civic Rent Control, and his prophecy that the discontinuance of Provincial Control will lead to the landlords "just knocking the devil right out of the working men," I should like to ask him just what he thinks some of the tenants have been knocking out of the landlords during the long tenure of Rent Control — Federal and Provincial alike?

Before making such a sweeping statement, I should think it would be better for him to get the other side of the picture, while remembering that the chief executive of a city should represent all the citizens, not just one class alone. Landlords pay taxes, which are used for the maintenance of streets, bridges, sewers, sidewalks, pavements, police and fire protection, administration of justice, public library, garbage collection, education in all its civic branches, unemployment relief, Civic hospital, and, in addition, for debenture rates for local improvements, general and the two hospitals. How many tenants do this. After all, he who pays the piper should call the tune, once in a while.

Mayor Lamport of Toronto, opposing Civic Rent Control (according to the Toronto Star of October 20th last,) said: "My sympathy goes out to landlords. Control, will only benefit a small percentage, and if we don't have it we will be doing them a favor. They will have to straighten up and live with the rest of the world." Commenting that he had sent city police after calls over obnoxious tenants, he said:

"There will always be a housing shortage for some people and the fault is theirs, because no one will take them in on account of their behaviour."

He aso said that the city already possessed the proper authority from the province to prevent "gouging" by landlords.

Now, after seven years' experience, I have discovered that only ten per cent of my tenants were church-goers (any church, not necessarily mine), but sixty per cent of them drank, although one and all assured me before coming in that they abhorred the thought of liquor — hard or soft. With many, my weekends were a nightmare, after working from Monday through Friday, many go in for "whoop-de-do" and "oo-la-la" and what have you in a big way, from Friday night to Sunday evening, when they start to sober up.

I had a woman fall down my stairs head first at midnight in a collapse because that particular bunch spiked their coke with rum. I was terrified at two a.m. another time by yells of "He's killing me, save me! save me," when a drunken idiot was trying to bash his wife's brains out on a hardwood floor. Again, a dopey dame (who gave the appearance of perfection at our first interview) tore the sleeve out of my dress when I suggested she pay some over-due rent.

As for epithets, many are unprintable. "Witch, snooper, busybody" are the mildest of the lot. Certainly I snoop; I have to, if only to prevent my house being burnt up by befuddled loons.

Of course, there are many good and decent tenants. They are the leaven in the loaf of bitter bread that many landlords have to eat.

Believe me, although I own a nice home in a good neighbourhood, many a time I have reflected that the proper insignia for my house would be a beer stein under a red light.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death . . . For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.

So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you . . . For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live . . . For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God.

For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope, because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. (Rom. 8:2, 5-9, 13, 19-21.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A man was ordering a new suit. His tailor, however, told him it would not be ready for six weeks.

"Six weeks!" cried the customer. "Why the whole world was created in six days."

"True," said the tailor. "But have you taken a good look at it lately?"

Johnson turned up at the golf club on foot. "Hullo!" said a friend, meeting him at the entrance, "where's your car?

"Out of action," replied Johnson, then added bitterly: "Isn't it funny that a woman who can spot a blonde hair on her husband's coat at ten paces can't see a pair of garage doors?"

RUSSIAN CHILDREN IN CLASS—Most of the 1,700 girl pupils at School 702 in Moscow wear a pinafore apron, and members of the Pioneers, the Soviet version of Brownies and Girl Guides, regularly wear a read kerchief about their necks. This is a botany class at the school. The children, who attend school six days a week, have a small experimental farm near the school where they grow flowers, ferns and potted plants they use to decorate classrooms, corridors and stair landings.

Russian Students Record Weather, Develop Gardens

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—Potted plants, ferns and flowers—all ticketed with their botanical names—line the classroom windows, corridor walls and stair landings in school 702.

"The children planted them and look after them," said Mme. Taissia Ivanovna Khodorovskaya, the school principal.

"We grow vegetable and cereal crops and flowers," said Mme. Khodorovskaya. "We grow wheat and rye this year and now the girls are summarizing the yields. The school is only a year and a half old but we've already had raspberries and strawberries from the garden."

MANY ACTIVITIES

I was shown the school's weather record. Four teams of six girls take turns recording three times daily the temperature, atmospheric pressure, wind direction and velocity, types of cloud, amount of sunshine or precipitation.

Study groups may use the school laboratory facilities for their own chemistry, physics or biology projects. They may use the gym for folk dancing, ballet and gymnastic groups; the art room for painting and drawing.

The only provision is that good order be maintained and that they leave the school by 10:30 p.m.

Their work is in various semi-permanent exhibitions in the halls. The second Wednesday of each month is "open door day" at school 702 when children display their work and parents inspect it and discuss their progress.

The school library has 2,500 books, and the librarian apologized.

"This is a new school and we still have to build our library. A good school should have up to 15,000 books. We hope our library will be that size in a year." The shelves include translations of Shakespeare and of Mark Twin's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn."

KEEPS THEM BUSY

The recommended supplementary reading list for the eighth grade (age 13 to 14) includes works by Tolstoy, Pushkin, Lyermontoc, Turgeniev and Babayovsky.

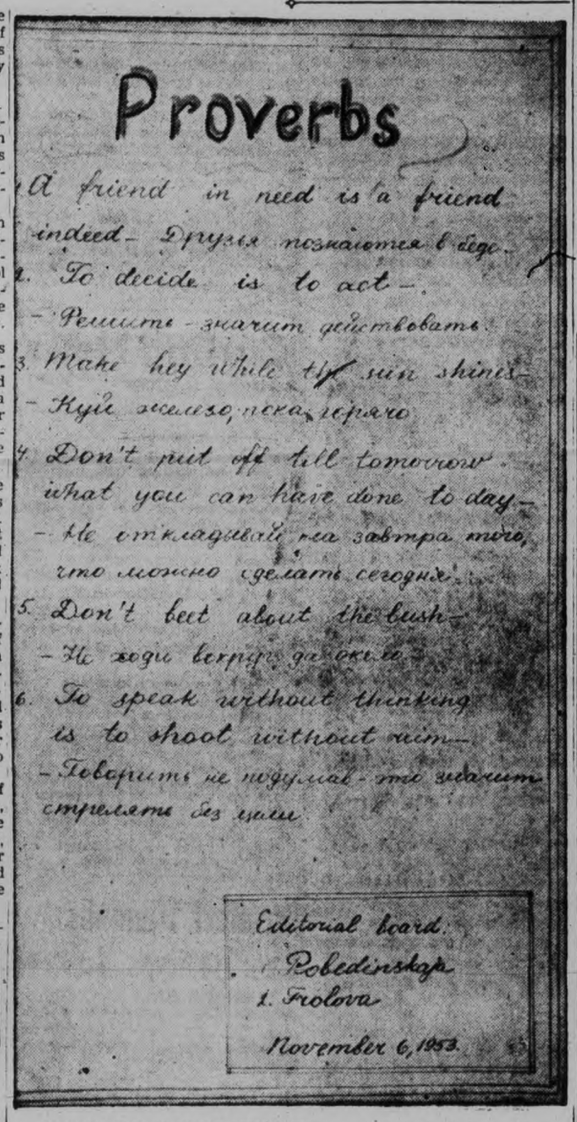
On the corridor wall of each floor are posted its classes' contributions to the current week's edition of the handwritten school newspaper. Each class has an editorial board. To read the whole paper you must visit each floor.

Achievements and derelections alike are chronicled in fine penmanship, framed by decorated borders. Whether Vera Andrevna is first in chemistry, late for school or turned up with an unpressed uniform is all grist for the paper.

Classes take it in turn to be duty class for a week. These girls wear red ribbons on the right arm. Between classes they stand at vantage points on the stairs and the halls, maintain discipline, check girls whose dress isn't tidy and record faults in notebooks.

On the fourth corridor is a question box for history students. If a girl wants more information about a character or event mentioned in class she drops a question in the box. The question and answer, four or five paragraphs written by a teacher or a senior pupil, are posted for the rest to see.

The Pioneers, Soviet version of the Brownies and Girl Guides, have their own work room on the fifth floor. Here they swap stamps, mount butterflies and follow other group pursuits. The principal said they'd love to receive postage stamps from abroad.



RUSSIANS STUDY ENGLISH — Schoolgirls attending School 702 in Moscow have their own hand-written school newspaper which sometimes contains Russian sentences and proverbs with their English translations. Note the mis-spelling of such English words as "hay" (hey) and "beat" (beet).

3 Britons Help To Build Turkish Ballet

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters)—Three members of Britain's Sadler's Wells ballet are helping build up a national ballet company in Turkey as members of the staff of a ballet school now attached to here.

The school has 50 pupils—34 girls and 16 boys. The first class will graduate in 1956.

Beatrice Appleyard, director of the school, aims at forming two companies: a theatre ballet company to stage full programs entirely of ballet, and an opera company to play an auxiliary role in operas, which are already well established in Ankara.

Ballet is virtually unknown in Turkey. At present, the only form of dancing known to the city-dwelling Turk is the exotic dancing of the night clubs in Ankara and Istanbul.

But Miss Appleyard believes there will be wide public support for the ballet company if it respects the Turkish national idiom. Miss Appleyard wants to translate the spirit of the folk dances into the forms of theatre ballet.

Russia Broadens Education Plan 10 Years Compulsory Schooling

(Editor's Note: CP reporter Bill Boss has had a four-hour interview with Soviet Russia's deputy minister of education. The interview, first of its kind in recent years, was held in his office and one of its senior officials acted as interpreter. This article, first of three, reports what Boss was told about the public school system in Russia.)

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia is broadening its education system to provide 10 years of compulsory schooling.

Dr. Pavil Vassilyavich Zymine, Russia's deputy minister of education since last year and the man primarily responsible for implementing education decrees of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R and the Communist party, outlined many aspects of the Russian educational system in an interview with The Canadian Press.

Compulsory education, he said, begins at the age of seven. Kindergartens exist for children from three to six but are not obligatory, although popular among working-class families.

SEPTEMBER DECREE

Last September the Communist party decreed that 10-grade education will be compulsory through Russia by 1960. Dr. Zymine's job is to extend the existing seven-year system to the equivalent of Canada's junior matriculation level by that deadline.

In Moscow and certain other large centres, 10-grade schools already exist. Elsewhere education is conducted in four-grade schools which take pupils to the intermediate level, and seven-grade schools which carry them to high school.

Most four-grade schools are rural and graduates automatically transfer to the nearest seven-grade school. If such schools are far from their homes, students live in dormitories where the only charge is for meals.

In the lower grades, one teacher handles all subjects; from the fifth year education is by specialists. There are no school fees for the [illegible] students pay 200 rubles a year, although free education is planned for these students now that it is being made compulsory.

GETS ONE CHANCE

Children usually have only one chance in each grade. If a student fails, the school principal, class teacher and a medical specialist determine whether the child is ill, retarded or lazy. In special cases a second chance may be allowed but in most the child is transferred to a technical-type school or one for retarded children.

The state operates special schools for blind, deaf and retarded children who are boarded at state expense: Those whose homes are nearby may live at home.

Schools have a principal and at least one assistant principal. All must have five years' teaching experience to qualify. Party membership is not mandatory.

Orphans and children of herdsmen in the far north, who live in dormitories, receive books free. Other students pay for their books.

All schools have a medical officer, but only the larger ones have one to themselves. Most schools have a nurse.

YOUTHS GROUPS

Children may be accepted into the Pioneers (Soviet version of the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts) at nine and into the Komsomols (young Communist league) at 14.

Children who do not want to join, or who are not accepted, elect representatives to each school's "pupils' committee" (corresponding to our students' councils) in which Pioneer and Komsomol representatives also sit.

Such committees organize after-class activities.

Parent-teacher relations are on both the class and the school level.

All parents meet three times a year for a progress report from the principal, and monthly meetings of class parents are held.

Would Pay Cost Of Rent Tribunal

TORONTO (CP)—The province would be willing to pay the cost of a rent tribunal in Toronto if the city decides to establish some form of rent control in March, it was reported Wednesday.

An official of the provincial government said that [illegible] of such a tribunal which would not administer full-fledged rent controls but would provide a hearing for tenants who felt they were being "gouged" by rental increases.

Human Guinea Pigs May Provide Answer To Unexplained Crashes

MONTREAL (CP) — Human guinea pigs, who have weird hallucinations in isolation cubicles at McGill University's psychological laboratories, may provide the answer to many unexplained plane crashes, train wrecks and highway accidents.

Fifty students volunteered for the tests—at $20 a day. They "saw things"—zig-zag patterns, dots of lights, funny little men and animals—during the prolonged monotony which can be experienced by plane pilots, locomotive engineers or truck and passenger-car drivers.

Results of the test indicate that not only are imaginary objects seen, but real and threatening objects may be overlooked.

Prof. D. O. Hebb, chairman of the McGill department of psychology, directed the investigation, which has financial support of the defence research board of Canada.

SOME SANG

The condition of monotony in the cubicle-isolation tests is brought on by putting the student into a situation in which he does "nothing." All the students reported this difficult, even at $20 a day.

On coming out of the cubicle the subjects seemed dazed and confused and reported headaches, mild nausea and fatigue.

HEARD MUSIC

Some students said they could hear people in the hallucinations talking. One student said he heard music. Another said his mind "seemed to be a ball of cotton-wool floating above my body."

The subjects returned to normal within a few hours after leaving the cubicle.

The only requirements for the test were that the subjects wear opaque goggles which let in only a hazy light, keep their heads in a u-shaped rubber-foam cushion which permitted them to lie on either side or on their backs; wear closely fitting gloves, with special cuffs up to the elbow—designed to cut down on noise stimuli.

Second Session

FREDERICTON (CP)—The second session of New Brunswick's 42nd legislature will be opened Feb. 18, Premier Hugh Felmming said Wednesday. Last year's opening date of the annual session, which usually lasts about seven weeks was Feb. 12. It will be the second session for Mr. Felmming's Progressive Conservative government.

Committed For Trial

BARRIE (CP)—Michael Komar, 21, of Port Arthur, Wednesday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter arising from the traffic death of William Sparham, 66-year-old Barrie resident. Police said the accident occurred while Komar was on a honeymoon with his 17-year-old bride. Barrie is 60 miles north of Toronto.

Junior Petes Get Another Over Midland By 7-4 To Go Further Ont In Front

A few relatives, heat-haters, and officials were the only ones on hand Wednesday night, to witness a clean, hard game of hockey at Civic arena between Midland's junior "C" team and the Peterborough junior "B" team. The final score was 7-4 in favor of the local team and was indicative of the quality of the two teams. Although Midland fought hard and were well coached by Roy Conacher, [illegible] by Red Creighton's crew. The game dragged somewhat at the beginning, and although five goals were scored in the first period, the action was slow in relation to the final period. Paul Doris started things off for the Petes with an unassisted goal at 5:47. Two minutes later Balazac tied things up, but before the period ended, Ball, Uren and McDougall tallied to make it 4-1 in the Petes' favor.

A penalty received by Hendrickson of Midland, was costly. Bell scored from Coyle and Morrow while the visitors were shorthanded.

EVEN PERIOD

In the second period, Coyle and Morrow scored for Petes, the second goal coming when Morrow and McDougall broke clean in a two man get-away at 12:01. James scored twice in the period for Midland with Quinn getting assists on both goals.

At the beginning of the third period, Midland looked like a new club, and Peterborough played as though they were ready for bed. Webb scored from Lezotte for Midland and it looked for awhile as though the visiting team was going ahead to win. But the locals rallied and after a three-minute shooting spree, Gardner found the mark and ended the scoring.

The whistle was blown relatively few times during the last two periods and a good deal of hockey was jammed between the hands of the fast-moving clock. Players, officials or fans didn't particularly mind the lack of interruption.

There was no question about hard ice Wednesday night.

SPEAKING HERE — Jim Vipond, sports editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail, will be guest speaker here Friday night when the city council honors Peterborough 1952 and 1953 sports' champions with a dinner in the Empress Hotel and presentation of crests.

90 Games Played Badminton Event

TORONTO (CP)—The first 90 matches of the annual Strathgowan international invitation badminton tournament neared completion Wednesday night. The open and seeded events begin Friday.

The tournament opened Tuesday for Toronto entrants and from these will be chosen today the players to represent the city in the major competitions.

Tournament interest is centred around David and Eddie Choong of Malaya, considered the world's greatest players, who are almost certain bets to take the seeded titles. Canada's hopefuls are led by Don Smythe of Toronto, Canadian men's singles champion, and high-ranking Bev Wescott of Toronto and Gordie Simpson of Montreal.

Top players from the United States will enter the week-end competitions which close with the finals in both the seeded and open events Sunday.

Philadelphia Phillies Purchase Dickson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday purchased pitcher Murry Dickson from Pittsburgh Pirates for infielder Jack Lohrke, pitcher Andy Hansen and $80,000 in cash.

Bob Carpenter, president of the Phillies, announced the acquisition of the 37-year-old righthander at a press conference. Carpenter long has coveted the Pirate pitcher, but previously had been unsuccessful in prying him loose from Pittsburgh.

Clark's Quartet Reaches Quarter-Finals

OSHAWA. — Rinks representing Peterborough, Toronto Granite, Orillia and Oshawa curling clubs won return tickets for Friday's play in the 10th annual bonspiel of the local club Wednesday. In the [illegible] R. S. M. emerged victorious in his third round encounter against Walter Tomerson of Toronto Granites, while Harry Howard, also of the Granites, defeated Charlie Peacock of the local club. In both games the scores were identical 8-7.

These two games produced exciting finishes. Clark, with last stone, was two up on Tomenson coming home, but the Granites were counting three when Clark came down, knocked out one of Tomenson's rocks and lay second to hold his opponents to a single. Peacock had the better of the going in the early part of his game against Howard. The local skip counted three on the eighth end to go four up, but Howard came right back with a three on the ninth and then he counted a pair on the final end for his one-shot victory.

Orillia broke even in the two second round games in the Fittings Ltd. event. Don Holden of the local club defeated George Fitzpatrick of Orillia 11-8, while Bill Tudhope of Orillia won after an extra end against Alex MacKay of Torontos. This was as near a perfect scoring game as is possible. In the regular 10 ends, the two rinks took turns counting singles whenever they had last rock, and Tudhope advanced by a single shot on the extra end.

The final 16 rinks will swing into action today, and the two survivors from each of the first four days in both trophy events return on Friday.

Marmora Victorious In Minor Puck Frays

MARMORA ENS) — Havelock bantams and midgets were visitors to the Marmora rink on Wednesday evening in OMHA hockey fixtures. In the bantam game the homesters won an evenly fought game by 3-2. Havelock led by 1-0 at the end of the first. Marmora tied the score in the second period and got two in the third with Havelock having to be content with one. W. Watson got one and aided on one for Havelock, McLaughlin tallying one. Lavender, Ellis and Sabine scored for Marmora, the latter Ellis and Black having an assist each.

Referees, W. Shannon, R. Courtney.

MIDGET FRAY

In the midget encounter, the home team shut out Havelock by the decisive score of 7-0. Hearns in the visitors goal had more shots to contend with than Reynolds and gave a good performance in the nets. Ogilvie did the hat trick in the third for the winners.

Ogilvie got three goals, Bell, Brody, Price and H. Brooks having one each. Bedore had two assists, one each going to price, H. Brooks, Bateman, Clemens, Darrah, Terrion and Moloney. Teams:

Referees: J. Moloney, W. Shannon.

Pacers Win Heats At Dufferin Park

Basketball Victory

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Tonawanda Eldredges Wednesday night defeated St. Catharines Queensways 85,57 in an International Triple A League basketball game. The New York state club, only undefeated team in the league, scored its ninth straight victory.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Besides civic crests to the various champions of 1952 and '53, there'll be a couple of other presentations made at the "dinner of champions" put on by the city council here Friday night. One is the Kearns Trophy for Peterborough's outstanding athlete in the past year. We've mentioned it before. But there'll also be the Joe Gould Trophy for Ross Powless, a $150 piece of pewter put up by a Trenton jeweller named Joe Gould, well-known in this city and district some 20 years ago as a lacrosser and hockey player. Played the gutted-stick game here as well as for spots like Hastings and Campbellford two decades ago. It's up annually for the most valuable lacrosser on the Petes' team, and Ross won it this year. Jim Vipond, Globe sports editor, is guest speaker at this dinner in the Empress.

Red Still Rides High

Latest AHL bulletin the other day showed George (Red) Sullivan still atop the scoring race with 58 points, but he's being crowded by Ed Olson with 56 and Jack Gordon with 55. The pair plays for Cleveland, and the Ashburnham redhead, of course, is with Hershey in the Boston Bruins' chain. Red is away out in front in assists with 43, showing he is quite a playmaker. In 41 games he has 15 goals and 43 assists (as well as 40 minutes in penalties, quite a few for Red) and we wonder why he isn't up again with the NHL Bruins. Coach Sid Abel of Chicago Hawks the other day listed Sullivan, among the other AHL aces, as a player Hawks could use if he were for sale.

Rested up after their surprise loss in Belleville earlier this week, the TPT Petes tackle Orilla Pontiacs here tomorrow night in an OHA senior "B" fixture at Civic. Three teams, Orillia, Kingston and Petes, are staging a hot scrap in recent weeks for sole possession of second place in the standing back of Oshawa Truckmen. First one club takes over, and then another, always only a point or two separating this trio in the climb up the ladder. Memos are back in the cellar but upsetting the dope from time to time in knocking off one of the leaders. The rugged Pontiacs dish up a hard-hitting brand of hockey and have given Ed Redmond's men some stiff tilts to date. The one here Friday is not likely to be an exception.

Juniors Lengthen Lead

Junior Petes racked up another on the right side of the ledger as they downed Midland 7-4 before the next of kin at Civic Arena last gloaming. They're well out in front of the pack in their OHA junior "B" race at the moment with 12 wins and four losses for 24 fat points. Port Perry (the Oshawa entry) and Lindsay are tied for second spot with eight victories and seven reverses each, while Collingwood has just four verdicts, and Midland rests in the dank cellar with two wins in 11 starts. Port Perry comes here next Wednesday, the Creighton crew having a hefty rest until then. Schedule winds up in a month. Local lads looked a bit tired after stiff scraps recently with Port Perry and Lindsay, but didn't have too much trouble winning again last eve, though they missed Kevin Heffernan. He will be side-lined quite a spell from an injury suffered at work.

Barroom brawling had nothing on that main pro mat bout at the Brock last eve as four guys mixed it up in the ring at the same time. The popular pair of Ilio DiPaulo and Hombre Montana took the deciding fall over Fred Atkins and Lord Athol Layton. A lively bout but it didn't have the appeal of the semi-final. That was a topnotch comedy that had the hefty crowd roaring with laughter all the way. Newcomer Jack Bence from the States arrived with a barrel of brand new tricks — none of 'em legal — and he proceeded to pester the bejapers out of English Alan Garfield and drive Referee Joe Gollob of Montreal nearly nuts. Had the fans rolling in the aisles, and the blond scoundrel talked himself into the win as Garfield was erroneously disqualified. A riot. Prelim was so-so.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Baseball commissioner K. M. Landis 14 years ago today declared five major leaguers and 88 minor baseball players free agents, as a result of an investigation of the farm operations of Detroit Tigers. The American League club lost an estimated $500,000 worth of player material by the decision.

Baseball Owners Worried About Contracts

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Major-league baseball club owners were in anything but a happy frame of mind today as they scanned the head[illegible] what their own stars would do with the contracts offered.

Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia Phillies and Clark Griffith of Washington Senators already are having their troubles, and their contracts have been in the mails only a few days. Some clubs haven't even sent theirs out yet.

Carpenter has a fourth unsigned contract—this one from Curt Simmons, his ace lefthander—on his desk, while Griffith is wondering how he's going to get Mickey Vernon, the American League's No. 1 hitter last year, into the fold. Vernon returned the first offer.

On the more optimistic side, both pennant winners—the world champion New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers—announced their first players in the fold.

REESE SIGNS

The Dodgers reached an agreement with captain Peewee Reese. Reese is said to have received about $32,000 last season and more this time.

Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox each announced the signing of one player. The Indians added infielder Bill Glynn to their list of contented toilers, while the Red Sox hired 37-year-old Joe Dobson, who was given his unconditional release by Chicago White Sox last season.

Philadelphia's A's signed pitchers Bob Trice and Carl Scheib, but catcher Joe Astroth, who is employed by the club as a ticket sellr in the off season, said he is a holdout.

Johnny Sain, a 14-game winner for the Yankees last season, said he will stand by his decision to retire. The club said he had been sent a contract.

Havelock Triumphs Over Hastings, 7-6

HASTINGS ENS) — Hastings dropped a close decision in a regular TVL fixture Wednesday as Havelock downed them 7-6 on Hastings ice.

For the first 20 minutes Mulholland in the Hastings net never stopped for a minute as Havelock swarmed around the goal continually, banging in five goals, while Nicholls in Havelock's goal had to swing his arms to keep warm

Hastings showed more life later in a fine contest.

DiPaolo And Montana Take Main Pro Grapple Bout As Bence Steals The Show

Counting Hombre Montana's heavy beard, 571 pounds of virtue triumphed over 524 pounds of unadulterated villainy in the main pro grapple bout on the Brock Avenoo last cool evening as many mat fans cheered loudly. Montana threw his 325-pound bulk on a prostrate 272-pound Athol Layton in six minutes for the final fall.

DiPaolo (going 246) had pingponged his ludship back and forth to set him up for the the fall. Layton's buddy, 252-pound Fred Atkins was "hors de combat" at the time having taken a wicked Layton slash just previously when Ilio ducked and left Fred a sitting duck for the swipe. It was a good bout but Jack Bence stole the show in the semi-windup.

AIRPLANE SPIN

The second fall of the tiidale was in seven minutes with Atkins coming off the ropes in a flying tackle only to have DiPaolo go under him and come up with Fred on Ilio's shoulders. A quick airplane spin did the rest, as Layton was being well looked after over in a corner by the powerful Montana. The good guys team up better this time and once had Athol out of the ring leaving themselves free to give rugged Atkins a going-over. It was a four-men-in-the-ring-at-once bout, the first seen here, and everything went—Referee Joe Gollob of Montreal having a tough time trying to sort out the wheat from the chaff.

Australian Fred—the best grappler of the four, but a rough customer—won the opener in just five minutes with a slam that shook the groaning ring, after Layton had helped out with his sidehand slashes to the throat. The villains' strategy was to toss Ilio or Hombre out of the ring and keep him out while working as a pair on the survivor in the hempen enclosure. It worked well in the first round, with Layton especially adept at keeping the fiery Ilio out of the picture. They used chokes, hair-pulling, slashes, knees, fists, etc., and the referee must have counted to a thousand in fits and starts, trying to keep order. The fans booed the first fall.

STOLE THE SHOW

The semi-final stole the whole show. It wound up with newcomer Jack Bence of Massachussetts getting a very doubtful fall in 29 minutes over 234-pound Alan Garfield when the referee awarded the Yankee the bout. Bence, scaling 226, proved an agile and tricky grappler, but also a great clown, and it was a hilarious joust as gales of laughter swept the crowd from start to finish. Everything went in this mad melee. Garfield and Referee Gollob got feuding and the latter—once a ranking world's pro lightweight boxer—even tore into the Englishman toward the finish to pound him across the ring with some great infighting. This proved Gollob's undoing for the tricky Bence clobbered Joe from behind to knock him flat and then pointed an accusing finger at Garfield. The groggy ref promptly disqualified the irate Englishman and gave the bout to happy Jack.

NEW STUNTS

Bence pulled a new trick in yanking his own hair in close-in tussling and convincing the bewildered arbiter that Alan was doing this nasty stunt—thereby having holds broken up. Another time, when Gollob and Garfield were pushing each other around, Bence jumped out of the ring and sat in a ringside seat applauding them as the crowd roared with laughter. They bit each other and the ref, too. It was fast and funny, with Alan doing some first-rate wrestling but being out-talked by the foxy American and getting no help from the referee, who was egged on by Bence. Nothing funnier has been seen in years in a local ring, and the fans thoroughly enjoyed the affair.

First billed as the semi-final the bout between Johnny Barand, at 230 pounds, and the 224-pound Johnny Harmon, was moved up to a prelim, being 15 minutes late starting. It was just as well as they served up a rather tame affair, both playing it clean and using a lot of mat science. The fans didn't go for the tilt at all. Barend won it in nine minutes with a shoulder stand.

Smythe's Surprise Win Over World Champion

MONTREAL (CP)—Don Smythe of Toronto, the Canadian champion, surprisingly defeated the world champion Malayan, Eddie Choong, 15-12, 8-15, 15-13, in an exhibition badminton match played before 1,000 spectators Wednesday night.

The Toronto player's victory followed another surprise result when Gordie Simpson, Montreal, drubbed David Choong, 15-6, 15-1.

The Choong brothers, world's champion doubles combination, salvaged a doubles victory over Smythe and Simpson, winning 17-15, 13-15, 15-13.

Gordie Howe Said Greatest Player In Last 25 Years

By JIM BASTABLE

Jack Adams once termed Gordie Howe the "greatest player hockey has seen in the last [illegible]." It was [illegible] as firing 30 or 40 goals a year. Many National Hockey League fans, Maurice Richard followers in particular disputed it. But Adams, manager of the league-leading Dertoit Red Wings, would always spiel off such Howe descriptions as: "He's great because he's big, because he shoots with either hand, because he is the cleverest stick-handler in the game, because he is one of the surest skaters on ice . . ."

Howe, the 25-year-old rightwinger who was the first player to win the individual scoring title for three straight years, since has fully lived up to Adams' billing. He did it again Wednesday night by scoring two goals to lead the Red Wings to a 3-1 victory over the fifth-place Rangers at New York.

INCREASES LEAD

The Red Wing victory, their sixth in nine meetings with the Rangers this season, increased their first-place lead over the idle Montreal Canadiens to three points.

In the only other game, third-place Toronto Maple Leafs edged the injury-riddled Chicago Black Hawks 2-1. The loss left the Hawks, with only eight wins in 43 starts, in last place.

Howe ran his goal total for this season to 18 by beating goalkeeper Johnny Bower at 6:12 of the first period and driving the puck into the empty nets at 19:30 of the last session.

Howe, a 187-pound native of Floral, Sask., has 29 assists to go with his 18 goals; good for the lead in the scoring race. Richard, Montreal's dynamic rightwinger, is three points behind.

Centre Earl Reibel scored the other Detroit goal at 9:49 of the third period. Rookie star Camille Henry tallied for New York at 10:50 of the first period to tie the score at 1-1.

THIRD-PERIOD FIGHT

The 9,823 fans at Madison Square Garden got a kick out of a fight in the third period between the Rangers' Glen Sonmor and Detroit's Marty Pavelich. Sonmor dropped Pavelich to the ice with a right to the jaw. Both got major penalties.

At Toronto, rightwinger George Armstrong gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead at 12:17 of the first period. Centre Ted Kennedy added another goal at 8:33 of the second frame on a play with Ron Stewart. Defenceman Bill Gadsby, the Hawks' leading scorer, counted eight minutes later. Lou Jankowski and Doc Couture assisted.

Tonight, the Rangers meet the Black Hawks in Chicago and the Red Wings play the fourth-place Bruins at Boston.

Canadiens Lose Two Games In 30 Fixtures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard may not write a newspaper column but in most other respects he is following in the footsteps of his older brother, Maurice.

The victory stretched the winning streak of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Canadiens to 12 games. They have been defeated only twice in 30 games this season.

In another interlocking game at Galt Trois-Rivieres Reds downed Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series 7-3. It was the first victory in four games for the Reds during their four-game Ontario tour.

Toronto Marlboros defeated the last-place Biltmores in Guelph to pull to within one point of the front-running St. Catharines Tee-Pees in OHA standings. Marlboros have one game in hand over St. Catharines.

BOUCHER GETS THREE

In Galt, the Reds won the game in the second period when they scored four times to break a 1-1 tie. Leon Michelin, Ivan Houle and Jean Gendron were two-goal men for Trois-Rivieres. Jean Cossette bagged the other. Neil McDonald scored the three Hawk goals.

Ezzard Charles Gets KO In Second Round

Charles, who gets a chance to become the first fighter in history to regain the heavyweight crown, pole-axed Satterfield in the first minute of the second round with one of the hardest left hooks he ever has thrown.

Satterfield, outweighed 180 to 189 and a 7-to-2 underdog, was set up for the mighty finishing blow by absorbing a right to the mid-section. As he started to bend forward, Charles' piston-like left caught him flush on the chin.

DUST FLEW

He went over backwards and hit the canvas so hard that resin dust flew up. He lay lifelessly until referee Frank Gilmer tolled out seven. Then he raised his head feebly, but couldn't get up.

Thirty minutes later, Satterfield was still dazed and unable to remember clearly what happened. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds. A national television audience and 4,921 ringside customers who contributed to a net gate of $13,949.24 saw one of the cleanest and most brutal, knockouts in years.

The International Boxing Club wasted no time in clearing the way for the 32-year-old Charles, who lost the title to Jersey Joe Walcott July 18, 1951, to try to recapture it from Marciano. The bout is being planned for June in a New York ball park.

Expect Changes In Rugby Rules

TORONTO (CP)—Several rules are expected to be discussed and some changes recommended to the Canadian Rugby Union when the Big Four Football Union holds its annual meeting here Saturday.

Most likely to be under discussion are the rules for holding by an offensive team on the third down, the conceded safety touch and the rule governing any penalty when a player jumps off the bench to tackle a player on the field.

The penalty for holding or "illegal blocking" by the offensive teams on third downs now is the loss of possession of the ball. It is expected that a yardage penalty will be suggested.

The league may also recommend that an automatic touchdown be awarded to the offended side when a player jumps off the bench to tackle a ball-carrying opponent on the field.

Preakness Will Be Run On May 22 This Year

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Preakness will be run this year on May 22, three weeks after the Kentucky Derby and three weeks before the Belmont, the other classics in the "triple crown" of horse racing.

Pimlico track announced today that it will again put up $100,000 for the 1 3-16 mile race for three-year-olds. The winner will get about $70,000.

Bisons, Barons Lead In AHL Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons and Cleveland Barons are running neck and neck at the top of the American Hockey League.

Bisons Wednesday defeated the last-place Providence Reds 7-2 at home, while Cleveland ran up a 5-5 away victory against Syracuse Warriors.

At Buffalo, Gaye Stewart scored three for Bisons and Joe Lund registered twice. Ken Hayden and Pete Wright scored one each. Alf Baccari and Ken Smith did the scoring for the Reds.

WARRIOR STREAK SNAPPED

At Syracuse, the Warriors' 5-3 loss snapped a three-game winning streak. Cleveland's Ray Ross scored the only goal of the first period. Syracuse led briefly in the second on markers by Bill Gooden and Vern Kaiser but Jackie Gordon, Jack Stoddard, Fred Glover and Chuck Blair replied for the Barons. Kaiser got a second goal in the losing stages.

Three goals by Lorne Ferguson sparked Hershey to its win over Pittsburgh Hornets. Murray Henderson, Dun Fisher and George Sullivan shared the other Hershey tallies while Willie Marshall, Bob Hassard, Earl Balfour and Bob Sabourin scored for the losers.

2 Players Suspended By Hockey Association

OWEN SOUND (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has suspended defencemen Ralph Hosking and John Shedden, of the Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

It is understood here that the CAHA suspended the players at the request of Eddie Shore, owner of Syracuse Warriors of the American Hockey League, who claims control of the players.

The loss of Hosking and Shedden is a severe blow to the Mercurys who also have defenceman Elwyn Morris out of action with a bruised shoulder. Forward Bill McComb has been dropped back to the defence by the Mercurys.

Dutchmen Beat Bulldogs 9-3 In OHA Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goals were a dime a dozen in the Ontario Hockey Association [illegible] four teams participating in the two league games spent almost 20 cents.

George Sholes of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen led the free-spenders as he collected four of the 23 goals scored in the two games. His performance helped the Dutchmen wallop Windsor Bulldogs 9-3 in Kitchener to climb to within two points of the first-place Owen Sound Mercurys.

The Mercurys didn't help themselves any by succumbing to a six-goal third-period onslaught in Stratford that gave the Indians an 8-3 victory.

SCHOLES SPARKLES

Scholes' effort in Kitchener outshone Bobby Schnurr's two goals and the single counters by Howie Lee, Ken Laufman and Charlie Brooker. Fred Hildebrande fired two for the Bulldogs and Gord Haidy rounded out the Windsor total.

In Stratford almost everyone got into the act. Owen Sound carried over a 3-2 second-period lead before the Indians exploded. George Aitken, Herve Dejordy, Mike Delich, Mickey Roth, Dinny Flanagan, Keith Tolton, Ron Ingram and Bob Mader shared goals for Stratford. Bill Hagen, Elmer Skov and Jerry Reid scored for Owen Sound.

Friday's action takes Owen Sound to Chatham, Kitchener to Stratford and Hamilton to Niagara Falls.

Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians are at Sault, Ont., Greyhounds in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series tonight.

Stan Maxwell Refuses Report To Atlantics

VICTORIA (CP)—Stan Maxwell, sold by the Western Hockey League Victoria Cougars to Halifax Atlantics of the Maritime Major Hockey League this week, says he will not report to the east coast club.

The 29-year-old leftwinger has been suspended by Cougars. He said he will return to his home at North Bay.

Saints Win 5-2, Braves Well Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sherbrooke Saints jumped from fifth to second place in the Quebec Hockey League Wednesday night when they handed out a 5-2 drubbing to the league-leading Valleyfield Braves.

[illegible] blanked the Senators 3-0 to join Sherbrooke in a tie for second. Quebec Aces and Springfield Indians, cellar-occupants, played to a 3-3 overtime tie.

At Valleyfield, Ed Stankiewicz scored three times. Bert Giesebrecht and Robert McNeal were the other Sherbrooke marksmen. Andre Corriveau and Dewart Thomson counted for the Braves.

FIRST SHUTOUT FOR EVANS

Eddie Litzenberger, Gerry Desauniers and Paul Meger sniped for Montreal as the Royals swarmed all over Senators in the second and third periods of the Ottawa tussle. Claude Evans, Montreal goalminder, gained his first shutout of the season.

At Quebec, Aces came to life half way through the middle frame. Roy Kelly's equalizer came early in the final period. Adam Brown and Jean-Guy Talbot scored the other Quebec goals while Graham Hasting, Bill Narduzzi and Doug Powell netted for Springfield.

Shamrocks Capture Tilt Over Marmora

WARSAW—(ENS)—An exhibition game was played in the Warsaw rink Tuesday night, between two midget teams, the Shamrocks and Marmora. Pat Doherty's well-coached, scrappy, young Shamrocks skated to another win by trouncing Marmora 12-4. The play was clean and fast except in the second period when tempers flared and Baker and Brooks each drew penalties for fighting. Baker received a five minute one.

At the end of the first period Shamrocks led 7-1 and Marmora was left well behind throughout the entire game.

Third period, Shamrocks: Pat Baker (Wayne Haig).

Marmora: Paul Brady (Jim Brooks), Paul Brady (Harry Brooks,) Harry Brooks (Leo Darrah).

Wanted To Be Lawyer, Not Fighter—Walls

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Earl Walls never wanted to be a fighter. Now he's Canada's leading contender for the world heavyweight crown.

"And I still don't like fighting," he said in an interview. "I always wanted to be a lawyer."

It was a free train ticket from Windsor, Ont., to Toronto that started him off on a career that shot him up to the No. 5 spot in Ring magazine's heavyweight [illegible] country's outstanding athlete of the year.

"I was just a tall, skinny guy who never wanted to fight," he says. "But my uncles kept telling me I should be a fighter. One day Jimmy Jones (his manager) sent me a ticket to come up to Toronto and look around. I didn't want to come but it was a free ticket and I didn't want to waste it."

MADE GOOD START

On his arrival Jones put Walls in the ring with Vern Escoe, high-ranking Canadian boxer.

"Escoe never caught up to me. I flew around that ring. I still didn't want to fight but then Jones had paid for my ticket so I had to stick around for a while. I'm still on my way back to Windsor."

The 25-year-old Walls was born at Puce, Ont., a village near Windsor. Coming from a family of 10 with little financial means, he worked in an automobile plant at Windsor until 1947 when he met Jones.

After four amateur bouts Walls turned professional heavyweight—he weighs 192 pounds on his six-foot 2½-inch frame. In 34 fights since, he has a record of 28 knockouts, five losses and one disqualification. Fifteen of his knockouts came in the first round. He was floored three times, all as a pro.

Following appearances in Toronto and New York, Earl sailed for England in 1950 and clashed with one of the toughest opponents of his career in London—Lloyd Barnett. He lost a decision and suffered a broken hand.

Returning to Canada, Walls began fighting out of Edmonton and won the Canadian heavyweight title there in June, 1952, when he knocked out Escoe in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-rounder.

"It was the toughest fight of my life," he says. "We trained together and each of us knew the other's style."

Earl's big break—and according to him it takes only one fight to put a boxer on top—came in Edmonton last July 3 when he knocked out high-ranking Rex Layne of Salt Lake City and repeated the result in Utah Sept. 8.

TWO-FISTED PUNCHER

The young Negro was married last July and has bought a home in Toronto. He and his father and brother recently went into partnership in a [illegible]

Walls is currently sparring with Henry Hall of New Orleans in preparation for a 10-round main event at Maple Leaf Gardens here against Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles Jan. 26. Harrison is Ring magazine's eighth ranking heavyweight.

"I've only seen Harrison fight once and that was on television," says Walls. "He looks like a very good fighter."

HEAVYWEIGHT CONTENDER—Earl Walls, 25, of Toronto and Edmonton, fifth-ranking contender for the world heavyweight crown, jokingly raps his explosive right hand against the jaw of Sugar Ray Robinson, former world middleweight champion, appearing at a Toronto night club. Walls has a record of 28 knockouts—15 in the first round—five losses and one disqualification in 34 fights. He won the Canadian heavyweight title at Edmonton in June, 1952, and fights next in Toronto January 26 agaist Tommy Harrison, of Los Angeles.

Hamilton Rink Wins Halton Trophy

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Victorias, skipped by Mrs. Chilvers Gooch, won the Holton Trophy Wednesday by defeating Mrs. Edward Fraser of Owen Sound 9-6.

The Toronto Curling Club rink, led by Edith Creswicke, downed Mrs. R. C. McCandless of Sarnia 16-6 to take the Cheriton Trophy.

The consolation prize went to Mrs. Frank Pollen who skipped her Chicago group to an 11-1 victory over an Oshawa quartet led by Mrs. G. M. Campbell.

32 Rinks Compete London Bonspiel

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Thirty-two rinks from 18 centres in Ontario and the United States Wednesday started play in the annual London invitation bonspiel.

Charles Haskett of London, winner of the main event here for the last three years, won his first game 16-6 over J. Malcolm of St. George.

A rink skipped by W. Draper of London scored a rare eight-end—making all their rocks count—in defeating F. Coffin of Chicago 13-6.

Issues Challenge To Swimmer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuszler of St. Thomas challenged Florence Chadwick Wednesday to a swimming duel in the waters of Juan de Fuca strait.

Mrs. Leuszler is the only Canadian ever to swim the English channel and made the challenge [illegible] from Victoria, B.C., to Port Angeles, Wash.

Mrs. Leuszler who swam the channel four years ago, said in a telegram to the Vancouver Sun:

"I, Winnie Roach, challenge Florence Chadwick on her swim from Victoria to Washington next July. I have challenged her before, once when she swam the Catalina channel, but received no reply. Now that she is invading Canadian territory I, as a Canadian, have the right to challenge her. . ."

The Victoria Times and a paint company (British American) have offered Miss Chadwick a $7,500 prize if the swim is attempted, plus $2,500 if she is successful.

Campbellford Takes A Close TVL Contest

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— About 600 puck fans saw a hard-fought game in the Community Arena on Wednesday night, when the local TVL'rs edged out Marmora by a score of 4 to 3.

Blake opened the scoring for Campbellford early in the first period, but Marmora followed up with two goals before the frame ended to lead 2 to 1. Campbellford added two more in the second period. Cole was given credit for a [illegible] goal that was actually [illegible] Marmora player. Each team netted a counter in the third period, and Marmora came close to tying the score several times, but just failed to click. Coach Toey Ibey took goalie Killian out of the Marmora net with 20 seconds to go, but Campbellford managed to hang on to their one-goal lead in spite of six Irontown forwards pounding away at them.

Some Of Canada's Best Skiers Left Out Of 1954 Team

By ALEX DIMEO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Some of Canada's better skiers were deliberately left off the team chosen to represent this country in the 1954 ski championships in Sweden.

In selecting a team, emphasis was placed on providing experience, not getting points, Frank Shaughnessy, Jr., chairman of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association organizing committee, said in an interview.

USUAL PRACTICE

The usual practice of making up a competitive team from winners of trials in various districts was abandoned and local governing bodies "recommended" skiers from their districts.

Potential point-getters were considered, but of primary importance was whether or not the aspirant needed experience, Mr. Shaughnessy said. The aim is to build up more experienced teams to represent Canada in future international ski meets including the Olympics.

12-MAN TEAM

Plans call for Canada to send a 12-man team to the meet Feb. 14 to March 6 in Sweden. The championships are under the auspices of the Federation Internationale de Ski, the skiing world's governing body, and 28 countries are expected to send entries.

They recall Canada's showing in the 1952 Olympics at Oslo, Norway, when Canadian skiers couldn't pick up a single point. And the Olympic team was stronger than the one going to Sweden.

TWO GROUPS

The Canadian team is divided into two groups, Alpine and Nordic competitors. These two groups are broken down again into downhill and slalom, and cross country and jumping.

Canada's hopes are pinned on the downhill and slalom entrants who include Montreal's Joanne Hewson and Ernie McCullough of Trois-Rivieres, Que.

Miss Hewson, 22, was Canada's top performer in the 1952 Olympics, finishing eighth in the women's downhill events. She and 18-year-old Lucille Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que., another team member, have left for Europe and some pre-championship competition.

REPUTED BEST

Ernie McCullogh, ski director at Mont Tremblant, Que., is reputed to be Canada's greatest skier. Before returning to Mont Tremblant two years ago he coached the racing class at Sun Valley, Idaho. In 1951, the 26-year-old slalom and downhill artist won every North American event in his class.

Other members of the team are: Clarence Servold, 25, Camrose, Alta.; Jacques Charland, 23, Trois-Rivieres, Que.; Jack Roocroft, 27, Vancouver; Ted Hunt, 20, Vancouver; Bill Stevens, 18, Rossland, B.C.; Pete Kirby, 20, St. Jovite, Que.; Art Tommy, 20, Ottawa; Anne Heggtveit, 15, Ottawa.

12 Rinks Enter Keene Bonspiel

KEENE — (ENS)—Below zero temperature made ice conditions in the Otonabee Memorial Arena excellent for the first bonspiel of the season held by the ladies' curling club on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Twelve rinks competed, skipped by the following ladies: I. Comrie, D. Givens, M. Elmhirst, I. McIntyre, V. Braden, G. Nelson, I. Hope, A. Sexsmith, K. Godfrey, G. Whalen, V. Wilson and R. Ellison. Each rink curled at least three games and the top winners curled four.

The results were: winner of the first event—G. Nelson (skip), L. Wilson, R. Drimmie and A. Stillman; runner up — R. Ellison (skip), P. Mackness, E. Anderson and F. Stark; winner of the second event—V. Braden (skip), E. Eason, C. Adamson and M. Tuthill; runner up—V. Wilson (skip), M. Shearer, L. McIntyre and L. McFarlane; consolation—A. Sexsmith (skip), spare, M. Wood and B. Roacher; runner up—I. Hope, J. Hope, E. Mather and J. Weir.

Jumping Team To Go To England This Year

TORONTO (CP) — Canada will send a jumping team of three riders and a non-riding captain to compete in three international horse shows in England and Ireland during July and August of this year.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Donald Umphrey, chairman of the international equestrian competition committee, Canadian Horse Show Association.

The committee met Tuesday and decided to finance the team, the first Canadian group to compete in the United Kingdom in many years.

Rowers Prepare For Games Trials

TORONTO (CP) — Icy blasts swept over Lake Ontario and temperatures dropped to near-zero. Inside the lakeshore headquarters of the Argonaut Rowing Club more than 25 youths wiped away perspiration.

The club held its annual workout [illegible] them to the British Empire Games rowing trials at Port Dalhousie, July 3 and, they hope, eventually to the games themselves at Vancouver July 30-Aug. 7.

Three nights a week they will bend over the rowing machines and run through muscle-building exercises under the expert eye of Harry Kaysmith, Argo rowing coach, and his assistant, John Brodie of Brockville.

From the Toronto club and similar organizations across the country will come the team to represent Canada in Commonwealth competition, and, says Kaysmith, the chances for victory "look pretty good."

"There's enthusiasm throughout the country," Kaysmith said in an interview. "The boys are in training already and are looking for a fight."

SURPRISE OF YEAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee success story, how the Braves shifted from Boston, finished second in the National League pennant race and set a league attendance record was voted the surprise of 1953 today in the 23rd annual year-end Associated Press poll.

All baseball watched with interest the first shift of a major league franchise in 50 years when owner Lou Perini moved his Boston club to Milwaukee.

In 1952, the Braves finished seventh and drew only 281,278 through the turnstiles at Boston. With a scrappy club managed by Charlie Grimm, and with Milwaukee backing the team to the limit, the Boston attendance figures had been broken by May 20.

At the end of the season, 1,286,397 fans had seen the Braves, who were a threat to the Brooklyn Dodgers' pennant aspirations right up to the final month of the season.

EXTENDS OFFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Promoter Jack Berry said today he has offered Britain's Don Cockell $15,000 to defend his British Empire heavyweight crown here against Canadian champion Earl Walls.

Berry said he had no reply to previous offer of $10,000. No date for the suggested bout was proposed.

Berry's bid is the latest in a series of attempts to match Walls with Cockell. Jimmy Jones, Walls' manager, also has frequently challenged the British boxer.

G. K. Garnett, president of the Canadian Boxing Federation, said recently that Cockell should be forced to meet Walls or lose his title.

WILL GO TO OSLO

EDMONTON (CP)—Sonja Currie of Calgary, 16-year-old Dominion junior figure skating champion, will be a member of Canada's team at the world championships at Oslo Feb. 15-20, it was reported here Wednesday.

Miss Currie won Canada's junior crown a year ago and will be a top contender for senior laurels this winter.

She and her mother will fly from Calgary to Oslo Feb. 9. It will be a homecoming for both. Mrs. Currie is a native of Oslo and Sonja spent part of her childhood there.

"MAJORS OR NOTHING"

NEW YORK (AP) — Satchel Paige, baseball's oldest pitcher, said Wednesday he wants to pitch with Baltimore Orioles next season but he doesn't know whether the Orioles want him.

"I haven't heard a thing from 'em yet," he said. "No contract, no nuthin'. I've heard they asked waivers on me but nobody on the club told me nuthin'."

The righthander figures he can still pitch in the major leagues but says he will go back to touring with an all-star team if the Orioles give him his release.

"No minors for me," he vowed. "They don't pay you enough. It's the majors or nothing."

UMPIRE RETIRES

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas H. Connolly, 83, retired Wednesday as the American League's umpire-in-chief, ending an officiating career that began before the league was formed in 1901.

He umpired in the minors and the National League before coming to the American. In 1931 he became umpire-in-chief and was responsible for the selection of umpires and for the day-to-day quality of their work. He travelled constantly to keep an eye on his officials.

Veteran Cal Hubbard took over from Connolly last summer and will succeed him in the position.

Quackenbush To Play For Bruins Again

BOSTON (AP)—Defenceman Bill Quackenbush, who suffered a broken ankle two months ago, will rejoin Boston Bruins here tonight for a National Hockey League engagement with Detroit Red Wings.

Quackenbush, who has missed 25 games, has been skating himself into condition for the last two weeks but coach Lynn Patrick plans to use him sparingly.

"We'll play Bill only in spots until we are certain he is in top shape," Patrick said. "It's hard to pass judgment on a player who has had such a long lay-off."

MP's Spend $45,926 In Travel

Apart from the ministers' expenses, members of the Commons were paid $18,874 for travelling allowances and $515,109 for expense allowances, a total of $533,983. Senators were paid $15,254 travelling allowances and $161,957 expense allowances, a total of $177,211.

Not all members and Senators collected the full $2,000 sessional expense allowance because of deductions made for absences beyond 15 days a session.

ALSO MR. SELLARS

Expenses of cabinet ministers: Labor Minister Gregg, $3,932; Mines Minister Prudham, $3,424; Trade Minister Howe, $3,408; Finance Minister Abbott, $3,077; former resources minister Winters, $3,031;

Transport Minister Chevrier, $2,621; Defence Minister Claxton, $2,249; former state secretary Bradley, $2,161; Justice Minister Garson, $2,093; External Affairs Minister Pearson, $2,092.

Thieving Pet

HEREFORD, England (CP)—The Herefordshire county health executive refused to make good the loss of a man's artificial teeth. He said they had been stolen by a pet jackdaw.

What Youths Read, See Mostly Destructive

KITCHENER (CP)—Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick told the Kitchener-Waterloo Social Workers Council that what present-day youth reads is about 80 per cent destructive and 20 per cent constructive.

"Youth can be compared to nitro-glycerine, put a match to it and it will explode," the magistrate said. "Without fire nothing will happen."

He gave instances where it appeared evident wrong ideas were obtained from reading destructive literature as well as from poor grade movies and TV programs.

In the field of TV and movies, efforts are being made to give the public a higher standard of program.

"Why should Hollywood dictate the morals of our nation" the magistrate asked.

Denies Lowering Standards Of Teachers

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Dunlop Wednesday denied accusations by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation that he has lowered teachers' standards [illegible]

he said in a statement. "I've simply changed them. If I hadn't, what would be the reaction from trustees who couldn't get new teachers?"

He said the new emergency course designed to relieve the teacher shortage in elementary schools gives the equivalent of grade 13 plus teacher training.

The minister also denied a charge by John T. Stubbs of Sault Ste. Marie, a past president of the federation, that he is putting pressure on universities to accept grade 12 holders of Teachers' College certificates.

Dr. Dunlop said he does not expect universities that now require grade 13 papers for admission to admit those with grade 12 standing, but he expects those which now receive grade 12 persons will continue to accept such graduates and perhaps give credit for some normal school subjects.

Ladies' Night Marked By Apsley Lions Club

APSLEY (ENS)—Ladies' night by the Lions' Club was observed on Monday when a banquet was held at Wilson Lodge.

A short business period followed a sing song.

Tickets were drawn on a cushion and tie. Mrs. M. C. Tucker won the cushion, and Mr. McMullen, proprietor of Wilson Lodge won the tie.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late B. F. Harvey who died recently in Toronto. Mr. Harvey was well known here, having resided near Mink Lake some years ago. He spent his summers at his cottage at Chandos lake.

Mr. Alfred Davis of Chandos died on Monday in Civic Hospital Peterborough after a long illness.

Pilot Believes Comet Crash May Be Sabotage

LONDON (AP)—A British airline captain with more than 700 hours flying time in Comet jetliner, said Wednesday he "certainly wouldn't rule out" the possibility [illegible]

Captain A. V. Rix made the comment in an interview as 400 British Overseas Airways Corporation engineers and technicians swarmed over a row of grounded Comets in a detailed inspection.

Thus far BOAC has announced no findings to substantiate the possibility of sabotage.

PILOTS LIKE PLANES

Capt. Rix talked with reporters at London airport after flying his Comet from Singapore over the same route and by the same schedule as the Comet which crashed Sunday carrying 35 passengers and crew members to their death.

Rix said: "I just can't understand the tragedy. I and the other captains in the BOAC Comet fleet have complete and utter faith in the planes. It is a wonderful aircraft with a great future."

Otonabee Council Organizes Names Committee, Officials

KEENE—(ENS)—The inaugural meeting of the Otonabee township council was held in the council chambers Monday. Reeve D. N. McIntyre, deputy reeve William Chambers, councillors Joseph Slattery, Stephen Elmhirst and David H. Kempt were sworn into office by the township clerk.

The Rev. Gilbert Smith conducted the opening devotions. Bylaw 163 to appoint officers for the year 1954 received three readings. [illegible] was given medical health officer and sanitary inspector; Deputy Reeve Chambers, local member Board of Health; William Drummond, Gordon Savigny, Percy Chamberlain, Allan Hayes, William Davidson, sheep valuators; Kenneth Petries, Dougall Matchett, William Davidson, William Torpey, fence viewers; Louis Shaw, Douglas McNevan, Peter Thompson, William Drummond, Sidney Bennett, James Stewart, David McNevan, William Torpey, Lloyd Beatty, pound keepers; J. M. McCarthy, Welfare officer. Bylaw to borrow $50,000 to cover current expenditure for 1954 was passed. The clerk was instructed to apply to the department of highways for balance of 1953 subsidy on roads expenditure of $34,951.37.

[illegible] township solicitor, was given instructions to proceed with the agreement with the city of Peterborough re: the annexation by the city from the township during 1953. Debenture charges on property annexed due the township was said to be $112.80 annually until 1970. Discussion was held re: the Brucellosis Act and there is a strong possibility that compulsory vaccination of cattle will come into effect in this township during 1954. It was decided to become members of the Ontario Rural Municipalities' Association, the Good Roads Association and the Association of Assessing Officers during 1954. The township hall caretaker's salary for 1954 was set at $300.00, the caretaker to be under the supervision and regulations laid down by the hall building committee. Eight copies [illegible] officials.

Deputy Reeve Chambers was appointed 1954 roads chairman. The treasurer was instructed to proceed at once with collection of all unpaid dog licenses. Councillor Slattery was appointed township representative on the Urban District Planning board.

Councillors Slattery and Kempt were council appointees to the Keene Athletic Field committee for one year. Reeve McIntyre and Councillor Kempt were council appointees on the Otonabee Memorial Arena committee for one year. Council directed that any investment surplus of the Otonabee Memeriol Arena committee be arranged by the arena committee chairman and the [illegible] purchased [illegible] the township. [illegible] councillor Slattery were appointed township hall building committee. Reports were received and accepted from the school attendance officer and the Welfare officer. The road superintendent was given authority to deal the present Chevrolet pick-up truck with J. K. Hughes Ltd., for a new new 1954 Chevrolet, subject to department of highway approval. Otonabee Rink committee is to pay $1.00 per hour for use of the township sprayer and will be responsible for any breakages.

Drinking Party Blamed For Ax-Slaying

COCHRANE (CP)—A drinking party dispute over who should go out into the cold for wood to rebuild a burned-out fire is believed by police to have led to the ax-slaying Tuesday of Henry Deschene, 61-year-old crippled pensioner who once lived in North Bay and Montreal.

Police say they think Deschene was battered about the back of the head with a two-pound ax as he sat to butter breakfast toast in his two-room dwelling.

Investigators also said they are holding for questioning 65-year-old Adelard Latarte, whom Deschene had taken into his home less than a week ago, giving him lodging in return for doing chores.

Marcel Belisle, 17, told police he heard an argument in Deschene's house about 10 a. m. Wednesday but could not understand what was said because Deschene was speaking French.

CALLED POLICE

Alfred Belanger, 47-year-old carpenter, found Deschene dead. Belanger said he went to the house to tell Deschene he could not keep a promise to lay linoleum on Deschene's floor because he had to go to Ansonville for the day.

Belanger told police Latarte, in a drunken condition, answered the door and said Deschene was drunk. Belanger said he took one look at Deschene, lying on the kitchen floor, and decided he was dead. Belanger told Latarte he would go for a doctor but instead called the police.

Officers said they believe Deschene had been dead about an hour when they arrived. He appeared to have been slugged repeatedly over the head.

Deschene worked as a bush camp clerk in this northern Ontario district for a number of years.

HASTINGS (ENS)—The funeral of the late John Wesley Fairman, who died Saturday, was held from the residence of his son, H. G. Fairman, to Trinity United church, with the Rev. N. Cole officiating.

Born in Haldimand township July 25, 1863, he was the son of the late Peter and Margaret Fairman. His wife, Mary Jane Stevenson, predeceased him in June, 1949.

Surviving are five sons, Ernest of Campbellford, Harvard of Hasting, Everett of Belleville and Gordon and Earl of Whitby.

Pallbearers were: L. E. Kelly, F. S. Crate, M. A. O'Shea, J. L. Doherty, Charles McCarthy and H. C. Oliver. Flower bearers were: J. R. Jones, Alec Merrells, N. R. Dainard and Roy Oliver. Burial was in Trent Valley cemetery.

The Movie Column

Only 1 Survives Paramount's Second Circle

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Whatever happened to the Golden Circle, a couple of years ago when Paramount signed a dozen or so young hopefuls who were supposedly destined for stardom? The campaign was designed to duplicate a previous Golden circle which featured such names as Susan Hayward, William Holden, Ellen Drew and Patricia Morrison.

Today only one of the second circle remains at Paramount — Joan Taylor. Only Barbara Rush appears to be working regularly in movies. One of the circle alumni was recently working in a gas station.

Miss Rush's fortunes are prospering at Universal-International. She has been doing leads, her latest being opposite Rock Hudson in "Taza, son of Cochise." She told me why the circle proved to be something less than golden!

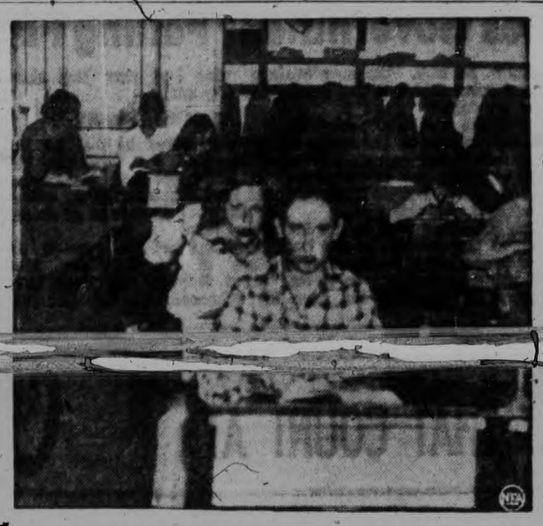
DOOMED FROM START

"It was doomed from the start. As a matter of fact, I don't think it was such a good idea. They spent a lot of money promoting the circle as an institution, even took all of us to New York and around the country.

"But it was sold as an institution. Everybody had heard of the golden circle, but nobody could tell you who was in it."

"Besides it isn't practical for a studio like Paramount. The studio builds very few players from scratch, as they were trying to do with us. Whatever new people they push usually have already built their reputations in other fields. Like Rosemary Clooney from records, Audrey Hepburn from the stage or Joanne Gilbert from night clubs.

The really unknown player never has a chance. We saw that when we were trying to get good roles. Every time a good one would come along the bosses would try to borrow Elizabeth Taylor."



MOM, SON STAGE SCHOOL SITDOWN—Mrs. Marie Dawson and her son, Frank (rear left), brought their own chairs to school as they staged a sitdown strike in a school at Half Day, Ill. The boy was expelled from school for extended absence. His mother claimed the boy was sick but the teacher said the absences were because he went hunting.

Kill Mau Mau Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — The blazing guns of a white settler and his wife today killed three Mau Mau terrorists and drove 80 other raiders from their lonely farm 50 miles north of here.

The anti-white terrorists, armed with grenades, struck before dawn at the farm near the forest line of the Aberdare mountains. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Grimwood leapt from their beds, rifles in hand, and opened fire.

Grimwood and his wife fired through the windows. The terrorists hurled grenades through the windows and shattered the interior, but the Grimwoods escaped injury.

Grimwood got a message through to a police post some miles away. A number of terrorists were wounded in a fight with the police. The others fled.

WA Officers Installed At Coldsprings Church

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The January meeting of the Women's Association was held Tuesday in the Sunday school room with an attendance of 13.

Mrs. C. Brooks, past president opened the meeting with prayer. The treasurer's report given by Mrs. E. Jamieson, showed financial receipts to be $1,732.16. Receipts for the past year were $2,438.13 and expenditures $705.97.

The happy thought convener, Mrs. C. Timlin, reported two get-well cards sent, and two thank you notes received.

Mrs. V. M. Gilbert conducted the installation of officers for 1954. They are as follows: President, Mrs. Frank Ritchie; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Herb McKinley; treasurer, Mrs. Everett Jamieson; secretary, Mrs. Leslie McIntosh; assistant, Mrs. Melville Dines; group leaders, Mrs. Ross Timlin, Mrs. Hilton Minifie, Mrs. Clifford Minifie and Mrs. Arthur Buttars. Happy thought conveners are Mrs. C. Timlin, Mrs. Newton McIntosh and Mrs. Eileen Gibson; pianist, Mrs. Paul Harris.

The new president, Mrs. Ritchie, then presided for the business. It was decided to hold WA meetings every other month omitting July and August. Plans were made to hold the congregational supper and entertainment February 13. The executive will plan the menu supper, with Mrs. P. Harris, Mrs. E. Jamieson and Mrs. R. Timlin in charge of the program. The WA will cater to the Dungannon sale, Cobourg, January 27.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, January 14th—Here's a bright new note for your winter menus . . . something to make the folks sit up and take notice! All you need to make their meals exciting these cold, frosty days is HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP and the handy FREE RECIPE BOOKLET called "Cooking with Ketchup". If the Heinz Ketchup you buy doesn't have the recipe book attached, simply write to me, Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. You'll find so many good ideas for relieving the monotony of winter meals, right in this one handy little booklet. And of course, Heinz Ketchup is "Red Magic" at any meal. I never buy less than two bottles at a time—one for cooking and one for the table. In fact, I'm sure to keep all of the "Red Magic" Heinz Tomato Products on hand, always.

Everybody Wants To Be Liked . . . that's why it's so sad to see nice people careless with their Party-line Manners! Your telephone company service representative could tell you many a story of the teen-agers who talk endlessly with their friends—never thinking of the difficulty they're causing on their Party line! . . . Or the busy club woman who's got a long list of members to call . . . and settles down to do them all—without giving her Party a break! Or the child who's allowed to play with the phone . . . or the receiver left carelessly off the hook, so that the Party can't make or receive a call. Oh! Let's use our Party manners on the Party line.

Let's Resolve to take things a bit easier . . . in '54. Agree? Then let's always have that cup of coffee—when we want it! Because now, with the NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE . . . we can have superb coffee in a jiffy—and just the way we want it, strong, medium or mild. No bother. No time wasted. Pop the coffee granules into your cup; add boiling water. Watch the granules dissolve into full-bodied fragrant coffee. Then sit back and relax in sheer enjoyment of coffee that's 100% good! Added pleasure is the fact that you save up to 40c a pound on Instant Chase & Sanborn, over the price of ordinary coffee. Coffee—when you want it! . . . as you want it!

Protein For Your Baby? Yes, thanks to Heinz, very young babies can now have the protein they need in their diets. Heinz now adds four new, easily digested Strained Meats to its nutritious variety of Baby Foods. There's the good Strained Beef Liver, Strained Veal, Strained Beef and Strained Beef Heart . . . meats cooked carefully to suit your baby's taste and tummy. Mothers everywhere are talking about this newest addition to baby's diet . . . the newest and best in baby foods. Start your baby now on any one of the four brand new HEINZ STRAINED MEATS. You'll find them all at your dealer's.

A Word To The Wise . . . when anyone in your family has symptoms of a chest cold—use MENTHOLATUM! (This is good advice to pass on to your friends, too!) Apply Mentholatum liberally to the throat, chest and back. Massage until the skin is glowing. Cover right away with a well-warmed flannel cloth. You see, Mentholatum contains fast-acting, medicinal ingredients in its smooth base — to help loosen tightness and ease soreness. Remember, Mentholatum is particularly safe and gentle for children's tender skin. Send for a free generous sample today. Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

There's Always A First Time!—And the first time you pick up a box of FACE-ELLE tissue handkerchiefs you are in for a pleasant surprise. You get so much extra comfort at no extra cost . . . a satin-smooth, pliable softness that's always kind to the nose . . . that extra absorbency so important for head-cold use . . . and essential strength that makes Face-elle the most practical of all tissue handkerchiefs. Whether you get Face-elle in regular 2-ply (green box) . . . or 3-ply cushioned (pink box) . . . or the big man-size . . . or Face-elle in dainty pastel colors, you'll be glad you broke away from habit-buying and gave Face-elle a try!

Impossible To Read 3,000 Documents

TORONTO (CP)—Justice W. F. Spence of the high court of Ontario said Wednesday that the defence counsel and their assistants could not possibly read the 3,000 documents put in as evidence in the crown's case against 27 fine paper companies.

The trial of the 27 corporations and two persons on combine charges in the fine paper industry started Monday.

Arthur Godfrey Accused Of Reckless Flying

NEW YORK (AP)—The port of New York authority, brushing aside Arthur Godfrey's contention that a strong cross-wind caused his plane to nearly hit the Teterboro, N.J., airport control tower, has accused the radio-TV star of careless and reckless flying.

Godfrey had said earlier, and repeated Wednesday night on his television show, that a 70-degree cross-wind of about 40 miles an hour caught his twin-engined DC-3 just as he took off from Teterboro Jan. 7.

From Miami Beach Godfrey said:

"It was unintentional; and if I scared the boys in the tower I am sorry."

Later, Fred M. Glass, director of aviation for the port authority, which operates the major airports in the New York area, including Teterboro, said he noted Godfrey's explanation but told the Civil Aeronautics Administration:

"It is difficult for anyone familiar with the aerodynamics and the characteristics of the DC-3 to believe that wind of that velocity reported could possibly cause such a manoeuvre if the pilot and co-pilot wished to keep the plane on course."

First reports had said Godfrey, upset because he was not allowed to take off on his favorite runway, "buzzed" the control tower.

The port authority asked the CAA, if facts substantiate it, to discipline Godfrey "to demonstrate vigorously and unmistakably that reckless flying will not be tolerated in this area."

COULD TAKE LICENCE

Glass claimed that the wind when Godfrey took off was at 20 to 30 miles an hour.

From the information he had, Glass said, "it would appear that the aircraft was operated carelessly and recklessly and in disregard to the traffic pattern described for Teterboro airport in violation of . . . civil air regulations."

Glass said the airport manager checked wind velocity right after the incident. Two other planes had cleared the same runway a few minutes before Godfrey took off.

"Neither of the aircraft taking off before the DC-3 experienced any difficulties," Glass went on, "although both of them are far lighter than the DC-3."

SAID NOT INTENTIONAL

In a Florida press conference Wednesday, Godfrey said:

"Jiminy, I thought everybody knew what happened. The big trouble is that the port of New York authority closed one runway because planes using it—in calm weather—had to fly over Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

"That's okay in calm weather, but in windy weather the runway designated for use frequently requires a cross-wind take-off. That's what happened to me.

"I came pretty close to the control tower, close enough, in fact, to note that nobody was visible in the tower. I don't blame them for getting out, but it wasn't intentional."

Ladies Have Euchre

BETHANY (ENS)—The Ladies' Good Luck lodge held their first progressive euchre party of the season with Walter Neals winning the lucky door prize. First prize for high score went to Mrs. V. Strong; consolation awards to Murray Smith and Mrs. Walter Neals. There was a good attendance and the ladies plan to hold these parties every two weeks throughout the winter months.

C. M. Lane Blames Government Failing Fishing Industry

By STEWART MACLEOD

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—C. M. Lane, general secretary of the Newfoundland Federation of Fishermen has lashed out at the federal government for failing to underwrite the fishing industry and set minimum price standards.

In an interview Mr. Lane said the industry's outlook is bleak and "it's about time the government woke up and realized how little it takes to satisfy the fishermen."

Unless the government will do its share, he said, "the men are just not going fishing to find themselves in debt."

Within the last five years, he said, the number of fishermen in Newfoundland has decreased from 18,000 to 10,000, and unless something is done another 2,000 are expected to quit this year.

"The fishermen need to get $12 a quintal (112 pounds) to eke out an existance, and if the merchants can't pay that, then it's up to the government." He said the average price last year was about $8.50 a quintal.

ADVANCE BIG HELP

He said it was the $1.50 advance quintal paid the fishermen last year by the provincial government that kept fishermen going, and so far this year there is no guarantee of any help.

Mr. Lane had little hope for the future of the Labrador fleet. "About 20 years ago there were 650 schooners on the Labrador coast. Last year there were 14 and this year we expect about six."

"To make matters worse," he said, "our best fishermen have left. Only about 15 per cent of the men are young and active and majority of them are receiving pensions.

He said the province could do more by helping the Labrador fishermen obtain cheaper salt and a more economical way of getting their fish to St. John's.

Main Street Topics

DECEMBER DISEASES

Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health; reports that in December there were 18 cases of infectious hepatitis (a liver inflammation) followed by 11 [illegible]. Other cases reported were German measles 1, measles 4, poliomyelitis 3, scarlet fever 8, and tuberculosis 3.

BABY SITTERS

One of the few groups that constantly strives to put itself out of existence, the Peterborough County TB Association, took another step toward that end Wednesday night by informing a baby sitters' club secretary her group could receive chest X-rays. The association will also provide educational material for the members on tuberculosis.

IDENTICAL ACCIDENTS

Two identical accidents were investigated Wednesday by PC Robert Muldoon. Jack Alexander, 23, of Fairbairn St., was turning left into Wolsley St, when his car slid into a parked car. Leon Shortt, 30, 149 Braidwood Ave., was turning left from Lock St. to Braidwood Ave when he slid into a telephone pole. Damage was light in both cases.

ARTHRITIC CLINICS

The board of health have received a query from a Peterborough resident inquiring about the possibility of setting up an arthritic clinic in this city for sufferers from arthritis. About $65,000 is given out yearly in grants by the federal government, and it was suggested that some of this money could be used here. Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, is looking into the matter.

NOMINATE OFFICERS

Tonight members of local 524, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (independent) will meet in the Canadian Legion hall to nominate the local's 1954 officers and elect district council delegates. A seven-man election committee will be voted in and they will decide the time and place of the secret ballot for the 1954 officers. Among the speakers will be C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president.

ELECTED CHAIRMAN of the Peterborough board of health for his fifth consecutive year as chairman at a meeting Wednesday was Ald. John A. Dewart, who is also beginning his fifth year on the city council.

John A. Dewart Re-elected Head Of Health Board

Alderman John A. Dewart was re-elected chairman of the board of health for the fifth consecutive year at the board's inaugural meeting Wednesday afternoon.

City appointees to the board for 1954 are Aldermen Dewart and Anglesey and Dr. Ralph Honey. All three served in a similar capacity in 1953.

The motion to elect Alderman Dewart chairman was proposed by Mayor Norman G. Graham and Alderman Anglesey.

There was a suggestion that it might be better to hold the board's meetings at nights, similar to nearly all the other civic bodies. However, Alderman Anglesey came out against the move and they finally decided to continue afternoon meetings until April; then the subject will be brought up again.

The board were also informed that the exhibition board had secured Don Bark as legal counsel to represent them in negotiations with the city over the horse barns in Morrow Park. But there was no intimation in the letter of what this implied. A follow-up letter is anticipated.

GAVE NOTICE

At a special meeting of the board on December 30, it was decided to give the exhibition board notice that they had until January 31 to discontinue the stabling of horses on a semi-permanent basis in Morrow Park. Keeping of animals is covered by city bylaw and, according to the board of health, the exhibition board have not complied with this bylaw.

Moreover, they apparently entered into some sort of agreement with Hugh Stewart to stable his 15 horses during the winter months, all this without the knowledge of Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health.

The ban on stabling animals in Morrow Park will not apply during the annual exhibition.

Humane Society Protests Lack Of Heat For Animals

You think you're cold?

Think of the dogs at the unheated animal shelter on Rink St. You are muffled to the ears for a few frigid minutes each day; [illegible] about their [illegible] night, frantically trying to keep warm.

"It's a shame," declared Bruce Menzies, supervisor of the pound. "If we haven't got the proper facilities, we should put the creatures out of their misery."

The shelter is administered by the Peterborough Humane Society, but maintenance and upkeep is the responsibility of the city.

At a meeting of the Humane Society at city hall, Mrs. S. R. Hamilton, president, said that she was writing Mayor Norman Graham to plead for heat in the animal shelter. She said that the society had brought this to the attention of the city last year, but nothing was done.

At the shelter, Bruce Menzies supervises the care of lost animals and the execution of strays. The difficulty here, said Mr. Menzies, is that the animals cannot be properly executed because the cold fouls up the electrocution chamber.

When dogs are to be destroyed, they are placed in a large crate-like contrivance, a metal chain looped about their necks and about an electrically charged bar. But when the weather is exceptionally cold, ice forms in the chamber, sometimes short-circuiting the connection and there is a possibility that the animals might die in agony.

The water supply, too, is inadequate said Mr. Menzies. Each day he must light a handful of matches under the tap in order to thaw out the connections. Then an icy [illegible] out.

It's A Cold, Cruel World

[illegible] the humane society shelter, each leading on to an even chillier runway. The society does "everything in its power" to make the dogs comfortable, but the provincial supervisor of the SPCA has described the shelter as "completely inadequate."

There are no facilities for taking care of cats at the shelter and this, said society secretary Mrs. W. W. Cole, poses yet another problem. She cited the case of one lady, going south for health reasons, who can find no home for her eight Persian cats.

At the society meeting Tuesday night Mr. Menzies reported that 3,412 animals were held by the inspector during 1953. Stray dogs numbering 529 and 443 stray cats were disposed of, and homes were found for 237 animals. Traffic killed 193 dogs and 250 cats.

A macabre welcome was accorded the latest frigid visitor to the humane society's "shelter." The latest tenant a whimpering Spitz stray, entered the icy quarters past the stiffening corpses of a dead dog and cat.

But the Spitz is better insulated against the cold that the shelter's Number One guest, a boxer. This animal, a female still looks forlornly past the icicles hoping she will be picked up. Shelter supervisor Bruce Menzies feels that she is not a stray, but someone's lost pet.

North End Problems Rent Controls Face Revision Court

Faced with a number of thorny problems, the court of revision will probably need at least all of its allotted three-months schedule to hear appeals against the 1953 re[illegible] ment. As [illegible] this week, two of these problems received attention: the effect of what appeared to be a tangled skein of rent controls and the complaints of residents of the extreme northern section of the area annexed from Smith township.

One of the factors taken into account in the re-assessment was the economic worth of property, including its rental value. But at Wednesday night's session, Joseph Callahan, who owns a terrace of three dwellings on Hunter St. complained that his tenants were receiving more for renting rooms than he received in rents from his dwellings—all under rent control.

Mr. Callahan claimed he had bought the terrace in 1948 for $8,000 and had made repairs costing $14,000, including installation of a new furnace ordered by the fire department. He was told that he'd be able to increase his rents after installing the furnace but the rent control board had turned him down.

RENTS FROZEN

In brief, his new assessment was $7,590, although he had paid only $8,000 for the house. In spite of the repairs he had made, however, his rents were still frozen.

The assessment problems of residents of the annexed area were first aired Tuesday night by W. J. Boswell and continued Wednesday night by Harry Boyd. Both are residents of Stewart St. (the Chemong highway) near the new city limits.

Mr. Boswell complained that he was paying $1 a week in transportation to send his son to collegiate.

"Education is supposed to be free but I'm paying $40 a year," he said.

Mr. Boyd claimed that the reason he had built where he did, when his house was in Smith township, was to be close to the township school. Now that his property was in the city, the closest school was Parkhill school about a mile and a half away.

The board of education had undertaken to pay for sending children of that area to township schools but there was no kindergarten in the township and he didn't want his 5½-year-old daughter to walk along the highway to the city school.

NO BUS

Annexation had created a number of problems for him and his neighbors, Mr. Boyd said. They could no longer get in and out of the rest of the city on Colonial Coach Lines, which hasn't a franchise to operate in the city. There were a number of pre-school children out there, he said, and he had seen mothers pushing baby carriages along the highway. In addition, he was more than 1,000 feet from the nearest fire hydrant.

Court adjourned its decision on the matter.

Also adjourned were the appeals of Pearl and Louis Brooks against assessments on their George St. apartments and that of George Bowthorpe, 286 Edinburgh St., who complained of water in the basement of his house because of a spring. Mrs. Margaret Braniff, 695 Stewart St., complained of a damp basement, but her assessment was confirmed.

Harold Bray, 417 Dublin St., complained that the value of his property was affected by the use of an adjoining laneway by trucks. Court also adjourned this appeal.

HOUSES OLD

Two appellants had their assessments reduced because of the age of their houses. The assessment of Clifford Brien, 669 Reid St., was reduced by $540, and that of Jeanette Brown, 270 Brock St., by $920. But the assessment of William A. Brown, 47 Benson Ave., who appealed on the same grounds, was confirmed.

The assessment of Mrs. Muriel Bristow, 54 Morrow St., was reduced five per cent because of the location of her house.

The court also granted reductions in the assessments of three houses on Mark St. belonging to Mrs. Charlotte Bullock, because of the age of the buildings. She was granted the following reductions: 362 Mark St. $140, 364 Mark St. $20, 366 Mark St. $180.

Delegation Urges TV Station In Peterborough

OTTAWA — Led by Mayor Norman Graham, a delegation of prominent Peterborough citizens are here today to meet Davidson Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

They were introduced to Mr. Dunton by H. L. Garner, general-manager of The Peterborough Examiner Co. Ltd., who explained that the delegation would stress the need of a television station in Peterborough and the desirability of such a station being operated by a local firm.

The members of the group represented various organizations in the city. In addition to Mayor Graham, city council was represented by Ald. Alene Holt, who also attended on behalf of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members of the delegation and the organizations they represented are: William Grant, Peterborough County Bar Association; the Rev. Maurice P. Poole, the Ministerial Association; Ernest Wolff, on behalf of Bishop Gerald Berry and the Knights of Columbus; James Fraser, secretary-treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce; John McPhee, Peterborough Trades and Labor Council; Don Lawrie, manager of CHEX; W. J. Garner, assistant general-manager of The Examiner, and Arthur Lewis.

The CBC board of governors will meet in Montreal January 29 to consider two applications to establish a privately-owned television station on channel 12 in Peterborough.

The applicants are Kawartha Broadcasting Ltd., a group which includes Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy Thomson, and Herb May, Toronto radio personality.

THREE IN HOSPITAL

Suffering a dislocated arm, plus other undetermined leg and back injuries, young Kevin was rushed to the hospital. There he joined his sister Margaret, 18, who went there earlier in the day.

They weren't alone for long. Shortly after Wednesday midnight their father, Thomas Heffernan, was taken from work at the American Nepheline plant to the hospital suffering a lacerated thumb. He was treated first by Dr. H. E. Gastle.—D.G.

Received Less From Industry, TB Drive Short

Diminished industrial returns were responsible for a drop in the TB association's Christmas Seal drive returns this year. The Peterborough county group received $7,258.51 up to Tuesday, compared with $8,723.59 last year.

Industries in 1952 contributed $2,251.85 to the drive. This Christmas, however, only $669.80 was received from that source. Other sources, home canvassing, associations and money received after the '52 campaign ended, all contributed more to the drive.

Sale of seals themselves netted $6,201.46 compared with $6,184.74 last year; associations, retailers and anonymous contributors gave $302.25 compared with $249, while $85 was received after the campaign's conclusion, compared with $38 the year before.

Total number of contributors was down, too, from 2,989 to 2,909.

Follow-up cards and letters are still to be sent out, however, and the campaign will not conclude until the end of February.

Janis Concert Satisfactory Rather Than Rewarding

Byron Janis, whose piano recital on Wednesday night was the second in the current concert series, is a young pianist very much in the modern American school. His technique is prodigious, but some of his interpretations appear to have been inherited from his teachers, and he has not yet given much that is personal to them. The weakness of modern American pianism is its concentration on technique, and its comparative neglect of the deeper study of the great works of the piano repertoire.

Fifty years ago, Mr. Janis would have been a phenomenon, simply because of his technique. Today there are several young players who can equal him in this respect. It is the individuality of his performance, and the understanding which he brings to the music he plays, which makes a pianist great. It was a lack of this individual, interesting quality which made Mr. Janis' program a satisfactory rather than a thoroughly rewarding, evening.

He began his performance with Beethoven's C sharp minor Fantasia, commonly called the Moonlight Sonata. The first movement was exquisitely played, and made us hope for an evening of great things. But the last movement was rattled through at a pace which destroyed most of its superb emotional tumult. True, the direction to the player is 'Presto agitato,' and he must not let his pace become mere Allegro. But it is a pity to sacrifice all the agitation to the speed of performance; the sonata is a 'Fantasia', and the phantasmagoric quality is lost in the last movement unless the player keeps its poetic content perpetually before him as the most important element in it. A much greater impression of speed is given by a poetic performance of this movement than by actual, breakneck speed, measureable by the stop-watch.

We must be grateful to Mr. Janis for charming performances of two of the lesser-known 'Songs Without Words' by Mendelssohn. His rather dry style of playing, which we regretted in the Beethoven, was an advantage to him here, for many pianists are convinced that Mendelssohn is all sugar, and play him too sentimentally. Mr. Janis let the music speak for itself, and played beautifully.

His performance of two works by Scriabine, both fantasies, was admirable. Delicacy and taste informed every phrase. Admirable, also was the familiar Prokofieff 'Toccata', in which the player's fine technique was superbly displayed. This piece, which in lesser hands can degenerate into a mere rhythmical rumbling, was played with every nuance carefully shaped, and every thread of melody elegantly displayed. This same careful study and intellectual appreciation was evident in a charming Sonatine by Ravel.

But in the final group of Chopin pieces Mr. Janis' failure to probe the depths of highly poetic music was again evident. Not the modern American school, but the highly sensitive school of Moriz Rosenthal, opens the treasure-house of this music to the hearer. Mr. Janis is a young man, and obviously a pianist of great accomplishment. We have every reason to hope that the deep feeling which he now lacks will, in the next few years, be added to his great possessions.—R. D.

W. Waterman Likely Choice County Warden

Election of a new county warden will be the first order of business when the Peterborough county council meet Tuesday afternoon.

Willard Waterman, reeve of North Monaghan township for the fourth consecutive year, has been mentioned as the likely choice of the 21-man council, representing the county's 12 townships and three villages. He was returned to office for 1954 by defeating Walter Brown, 1953 councillor, by 272 votes to 161.

If he gets the nod of approval from his fellow county councillors, Mr. Waterman will be the second North Monaghan warden in eight years. Melville H. Johnston was warden in 1947.

William C. Grant, Lakefield's reeve, may also be a contender for the office. The last Lakefield man to be warden was Charles Tanner, back in 1931.

Ernest J. Leeson, reeve of Havelock, is the present warden. He, too, will be back in the county council this year after defeating Fred Pollock by 356 votes to 177.

NOT SINCE 1914

The long-time record for not holding the wardenship is held by Harvey township. Robert Shaw had it in 1914.

Two other municipalities whose representatives have not recently been wardens are Chandos township and Norwood village. W. H. Montgomery of Norwood held it in 1932, and Russel Hales of Chandos held it in 1935.

Senior councillor will be James Gifford who has the distinction of being reeve of Ennismore township for 21 years. He was warden in 1936.

The statutory meeting will be 2 p.m. Tuesday in the county council chamber. Rural people, in particular, have been asked to attend by Warden Ernest Leeson.

Ministers, Organists Guests At All Saints'

Ministers of the Peterborough Ministerial association and their organists were guests of the association president, the Rev. Maurice P. Poole, Wednesday night at All Saints' church.

Speaker was Norman Hurrle who was recently appointed organist at All Saints'. Following dinner he addressed the audience of 30 on the subject, "Idealism in Mechanics of Church Music." A large part of his topic was devoted to church music and how its beauty is achieved.

Following his address he gave a recital on the newly installed organ at the church. Selections included Sarabande, a concerto movement, two chorale improvisations, Pastorale and Epilogue.

Several of the group played the new organ before the meeting concluded.

Seek Silver Tankard In Lindsay Curling

LINDSAY (ENS) — District playdowns in the Ontario Silver Tankard are being held in Lindsay today, with Lindsay and Peterborough rinks the only entrants.

Two draws, 16 ends each, will decide the issue for district honors.

They are being opposed by Percy Skitch and Sid Eldsden, both veterans of competition in provincial events. Members of the Skitch rink are Dr. Art Woodrow, Jack Beel and Lindy Mackey, while Eldsden's rink comprises Lorne Jones, Stan Edmunds and Bert James.

Ask Department To Conciliate In Wage Dispute

Negotiations between the unionized employees and the Civic hospital board of governors have broken down, and union officials said to day they are applying to the department of labor for conciliation services.

The board of governors and local 19, National Union of Public Service Employees (CIO-CCL), reached a deadlock Wednesday night after a special meeting to try and work out differences. The parties have now been negotiating for three months.

LEAVE DOOR OPEN

"The door is still open for further negotiations should the board reconsider," George Linsdell, president of Local 19, said today.

Three main issues still have to be settled, union spokesmen say. They are:

1. Union security. A modified version of the Rand formula requiring all employees to pay union does whether they belong to the union or not.

2. Off-shift differential. Compensation for those working other than the day shift, amounting to seven cents an hour for workers on the 3.30 p.m. to 11 p.m. shift and 10 cents for workers on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift.

3. A wage increase, based on the 18 cents an hour that civic employees got last year.

The union membership on Jan. 5 turned down a pension plan submitted by the board of governors. Frank Kitchen, NUPSE representative said the present wages were inadequate to carry the extra cost of the plan.

May Approve Merger

DETROIT (AP) — The long-rumored proposed merger of Nash Motors and Hudson Motor Car Co. was expected to get approval of directors of both companies today.

Directors of the two companies were reported putting final touches to the agreement. The project requires stockholder approval, but this is regarded as routine.

Moves From Farm, Takes His Tree Along

It seems incredible, but apparently the best time to transplant trees is in the winter time.

After spending considerable time consulting various nurseries, former reeve of Otonabee and Peterborough county warden Pete J. Mather, learned this fact, and therefore Wednesday moved a large blue spruce from the Mather homestead in Otonabee to his new home at 1238 Clonsilla Ave.

The reason for the winter moving is that the tree roots are well protected by the frozen earth and are not broken or snapped.

There's a good deal of work in moving a tree. In the fall the Mathers dug a hole on their lawn for the tree and at the same time dug around the tree at the farm, making sure there was plenty of earth about the roots.

Then they had to wait until the ground was frozen solid. That was certainly the condition Wednesday.

Mr. Mather, along with Fred Nelson's bulldozer, tractor-trailer truck and workmen from Keene started to move the tree and the huge ball of earth about the roots at 10 a.m. After three hours of work, a 10-mile jaunt from the farm to the city, the tree was transplanted in the Mather lawn.

Exports To Reds Fall By Half

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's export trade to Communist-dominated Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria in the first nine months of 1953 was only about half the value of her exports in the full year of 1952, the Commons was informed Wednesday.

Exports in 1952 totalled $519,590 in value and in the first nine months of 1953 $281,499.

A return tabled in the Commons [illegible] trade with Poland in 1952 totalled $69,351 and in the first nine months of last year $147,423; with Czechoslovakia $366,629 and $85,368; with Hungary $81,305 and $48,255; and with Bulgaria $2,305 and $435.

In the first nine months of last year, exports to Poland included $121,477 worth of lard, $12,966 in medicinal preparations, $6,240 in settlers' effects and $6,500 in donations and gifts from Canada.

U.S. Pilot Survives Week In Arctic

POINT BARROW, Alaska (AP) A United States pilot who made a forced landing on the Arctic ice pack told Tuesday night how he survived for a week without sleep at 50-below-zero temperatures before he was sighted by air force fliers.

Juel Thebedeau vanished Jan. 5 while flying from Fairbanks to Point Barrow where his wife was expected to give birth to twins. He was sighted Monday just as the organized search was about to be abandoned. Thebedeau said this happened to him:

He was forced down near the mouth of the Colville river on pack ice when the engine of his light plane quit because of the intense cold. He had only a small amount of food and no radio.

He sat in the plane's cabin for five days, not daring to go to sleep because he was afraid he would freeze to death.

On the fifth day, Thebedeau ate his last food and started out for aid. He was 100 miles from Barrow but said he knew of cabins 50 miles away.

HEARD AIRCRAFT

Monday the pilot heard a search aircraft. He tried to signal by setting fire to his maps and computor but the plane passed on without sighting him.

Four hours later, another search plane passed directly over him and the crew sighted him in the Arctic gloom.

Thebedeau was put in hospital alongside his wife who had given birth to the twins while her husband was lost. He suffered frostbite to fingers, toes, cheeks and ears.

HMCS Iroquois On Way Home

The navy announced Wednesday the Iroquois will have logged about 48,000 miles during her second Korean tour when she arrives at Halifax early in February. She left Canada last April.

Commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. S. G. Moore of Vancouver and Halifax, the Iroquois' homeward journey will complete a round-the-world trip. Her ports of call will include Hong Kong, Singapore, Colombo, Aden, Suez, Port Said, Malta, Gibraltar and the Azores.

SECOND TOUR

Most of the Iroquois' second tour in Korean waters was spent on patrol duty but she also assisted in evacuation of the United Nations-held Chodo island after the armistice last July.

The Iroquois joined the other two Canadian destroyers assigned to the Far East, the Crusader and Huron, for Christmas at their Sasebo base in Japan. She sailed for home New Year's Day.

Three members of the Iroquois' crew were killed when an enemy shell struck the ship in 1952. About a dozen men received minor injuries at the time.

Preserve Renaudot Birthplace, French Doctor Newspaper Pioneer

The small town of Loudun, France, recently commemorated the tricentenary of the death of one of her sons, Theophraste Renaudot, whose birthplace is still preserved there, reveals an article by Albert Mousset in Extinfor, Pages de France.

A good man and full of original ideas, Renaudot would have remained an obscure provincial doctor, had he not chanced to meet in his native town Father Joseph, Richelieu's "Grey Eminence," who asked him to come to Paris. His philanthropic work drew the attention of the court upon him, he obtained the post of commissaire general for the poor of the realm, organized free consultations and set up a pawnshop or Mont-de-Piete, on the model of those he had seen working in Italy.

MANY REBUFFS

Appointed king's physician, he suffered many rebuffs for having used, in opposition to the faculty, chemical remedies taken from antimony. He was forbidden to exercise his profession in the capital.

But the relations he had acquired in political circles through this profession and his spirit of initiative gave him the idea of using the rumors and stories circulating around him. In May, 1631, he found the first French periodical, the Gazette. In it was to be found news of the court, of the city, and especially of foreign countries. The first number came out with news of the Grand Turk who, notwithstanding his military concerns, "continues to wage bitter war on those who take snuff."

The Gazette came out weekly in four pages, to which a supplement had to be added even in the first year. In expressing his thanks to the king, who was one of his readers, Renaudot pointed out the moral interest of his publication: "Gazettes are useful to the public to prevent various false rumors which are often like lighted matches to civil movements and seditions."

Richelieu immediately realized the usefulness of the Gazette to the government and made it a sort of official news-sheet for directing public opinion and putting it on guard against tendencious rumors. Renaudot directed it, and one day when the courtiers were attending what we should today call a "press conference," Richelieu tapped him on the shoulder and said: "This is the most capable of my advisors."

COMMUNIQUE BORN

Thus was born the "communique," sometimes drawn up by Louis XIII, which enabled him to give precise information on negotiations in progress or military operations.

The Gazette came out till Renaudot's death, and was then carried on by his two sons, Isaac and Eusebe, who were doctors like their father.

This alone was enough to hand his name down to posterity, and for Paris to raise a statue to him with a commemorative inscription near the Marche Neuf where his Gazette used to come out.

But the editing of his newspaper did not exhaust his abundant energy. Six months after the launching of the "Gazette" Renaudot created a "news bulletin" which is the ancestor of our advertisements. It was the organ of a bureau dealing with the most varied questions, and the public was assured of finding there, on payment of a small entry fee, all the practical information it might need.

The "news bulletin" is today one of the most valuable sources of documentation to be consulted on the social and economic life of the 17th century. Let us give a few quotations from it:

"Wanted: a house in the Marais du Temple, with coach entrance, room for carriage and truck, and stable for ten horses: willing to pay up to twelve hundred pounds."

EARRINGS FOR SALE

"Available an invention checking game, and preventing it from leaving the woods, or from going back in it again, if it has got out, by other than the way desired."

"Wanted: a skilled worker in coral."

"Young camel for sale: reasonable price."

The bureau was the seat of conferences and public discussions on every imaginable subject: for instance, one day the question was discussed: "why is everyone jealous of his opinions, even if he has no interest in them?", and another day, the problem of perpetual movement.

On the same premises were exhibited "curiosities" or inventions, such as that of a microscope "which made a flea seem as big as a mouse."

The goodly doctor had no lack of imagination. He still found time to write historical books: a biography of the Prince de Conde, the Life and Death of Marshal Gassion, and the Life of Michel Mazarin, brother of the Cardinal.

Aid For Bo-Peep

Three To Die

TUNIS, Tunisia (Reuters) — A French military court Wednesday night sentenced three Tunisians to death for blowing up stores and public buildings during the wave of anti-French nationalist agitation which swept the country in 1952. Six other Tunisians were sentenced to five to 10 years hard labor for terrorist activities.

Sugar Exports

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—The first sugar shipment to leave South Africa in more than two years was loaded here. Shipments had been halted because of reduced crops owing to drought, but acreage under sugar cane now has been increased from 350,000 to more than 500,000 and there is a surplus for export.

FOUR TOO MANY—These puppies, rare and costly German Weimaraners, caused plenty of trouble for their mother, Freya, and their owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ed August, of Regina. Freya had 10 pups, but could only nurse six. The Augusts started a shift system for feeding and set up a battery of baby bottles to help out. Now the pups are doing fine, much to the enjoyment of Rickie August, 3, guarding them.

Will Not Accept City Instructions

SARNIA (CP)—The Sarnia tornado relief committee decided Wednesday that it is "unable to accept" instructions from city council on the problem of what to do with $35,000. The committee asked for a meeting to seek a compromise.

The committee wanted to use the money, left after all private claims had been paid, to compensate businesses and uninsured automobiles damaged in the tornado that tore through Sarnia last May.

Council presented a plan that would have paid 20 per cent on business claims, 75 per cent on non business, insured cars and 33 1-3 per cent on uninsured cars.

Two Girls Die In Fire

FORT FRANCES (CP) — Two small girls died Tuesday when their farm home was destroyed by fire in 37-below zero weather. Mrs. Lloyd Dawley was able to rescue her son, Charles, 4, but could not rescue Laurel, 3, or Lois, 14 months.

Premier's Wife Saves Money

Last year, the public accounts show, she operated the Prime Minister's official residence for $7,249 less than the government budget provided. Appropriation for the annual upkeep was $25,000 and expenses last year were $17,751—$9,823 for salaries, $4,633 for food, $1,943 for entertainment, $694 for uniforms, $82 for writing paper and office supplies and $533 for miscellaneous.

Mr. St. Laurent accepted the residence on condition that he pay $5,000 a year for upkeep. So actual cost to the taxpayer last year was $12,751.

Peculiar Theft

VANCOUVER (CP)—A prowler in the Kitsilano yards of the B.C. Electric Company stole five brass air whistles. The whistles were removed from inter-urban cars standing in the yards.

BLACK DEATH — Almost 30,000,000 persons were killed in Europe by bubonic plague in the 14th century.

PoW Transfer May Start Early

NEW DELHI (AP) — Reliable Indian sources said Wednesday that Indian forces in Korea will start transferring unrepatriated war prisoners back to the commands which captured them at least three days before midnight Jan. 22.

That is the deadline which the United Nations command says the armistice agreement specifies for all PoWs refusing to go home to be released as civilians.

By clearing out the prisoner compounds in the neutral zone before that time, India intends that the UN command — not India — will turn the North Korean and Chinese prisoners loose. Through this technicality the Indians hope to avoid Communist charges of India releasing the prisoners, an action the Reds strongly oppose.

The Indians said instructions for the prisoner transfer already have been sent to Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimaya, commander of the Indian troops in Korea and chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Civil Servant Missing

Police Wednesday released a description of the missing man and reported that he disappeared one week ago. He is personnel officer of the civil service commission.

Mrs. Pearl Godfrey, his wife, notified police last Wednesday when her husband failed to return from work but asked that the report not be made public. She gave her consent to publishing the report Wednesday.

Mrs. Godfrey told police her husband had been a close friend of Dr. H. A. Collins of Ottawa, who was burned to death in the Dec. 31 fire aboard a CNR sleeper at Pembroke. She said her husband had been shocked and saddened by the news of Dr. Collins' death.

Helpers Charged

OTTAWA (CP)—Good samaritanism has backfired on three Ottawa men who tried to fight Ottawa's cold snap with a blowtorch. Rene Charron, 51; William Greenslade, 38, and Oscar Gagnon, 27, each tried to help a friend thaw out frozen water pipes with a blow torch. In each case, a house fire resulted.

Deadline Set

TORONTO (CP)—Persons or organizations wishing to appear before the Legislature's reform institutions committee must apply to do so before Jan. 20. Chairman W. J. Stewart of Toronto announced the deadline Wednesday as the committee, set up last April, prepared to wind up its business after 130 meetings.

Truck Driver Killed At Level Crossing

TORONTO (CP)—A truck driver was killed late Wednesday at suburban Clarkson in a level-crossing crash between his panel truck and the westbound Toronto-London express train.

Investigators said Mitchell said he saw the truck moving slowly toward the crossing and that he rang the bell, but the driver was looking away from the direction the train was coming. Mitchell said he then tried to get the gate down but found it jammed.

Request Bids On Niagara Work

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Buffalo district of the U. S. corps of engineers announced Wednesday advertisement for bids for the American phase of the plan to preserve and enhance the beauty of Niagara Falls.

The plan is a part of a 1950 treaty between the U. S. and Canada, which also specifies the amount of water that may be diverted from the Niagara river for power purposes.

The project involves excavating rock from the U. S. flank of the Horseshoe falls so that water will be drawn away from the centre channel and spread out along the entire brink of the Horseshoe falls.

A similar project will be carried out on the Canadian flank.

Object of the plan is to improve the scenic attraction by broadening the fall of water, and to lessen erosion at the centre of the falls, where the greatest volume of water now passes over the brink.

Bids on the U. S. project will be opened Feb. 16.

Sentenced For Assault

LINDSAY (CP)—Leo Hart, 19, of nearby Fenelon Falls, was sentenced Wednesday to a month in jail on an assault charge involving a 22-year-old married woman. Evidence was that Hart and two other youths drove the woman 20 miles into the country and made improper advances to her. When she resisted, Hart pulled her out of the car, left her lying in a snowbank in subzero weather.

Continue Service

TORONTO (CP)—W. E. P. Duncan, general manager of the Toronto Transit Commission said Wednesday, the TTC has no thought of discontinuing summer ferry service to Toronto island. He denied an earlier report attributed to a TTC official that the commission will get out of the island transportation business.

KEY WITNESS SURRENDERS—Donald Ritchie (covering his face), wanted in the 1948 assassination attempt on union leader Walter Reuther, is shown in police custody after surrendering to a newspaper reporter at Preston, Ont. Police escorted Ritchie to Windsor where the is going to fight extradition to the United States, where he faces a charge of attempted murder in the Reuther case.

Ritchie's Change Of Heart Blocks Prosecution Move In Reuther Case

DETROIT (CP) — Donald Ritchie's change of heart about returning to the United States has blocked prosecution strategy in the Walter Reuther shooting conspiracy case.

One—and likely a second—court proceeding here faces indefinite adjournment with Ritchie fighting extradition in Windsor after first agreeing to come back to Detroit when he gave up his five-day flight in Preston Wednesday.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said he would ask a remand in today's scheduled court examination of Carl Renda, one of four men named by Ritchie as plotters in the attempt to kill Reuther in 1948.

Without Ritchie's presence O'Brien said he couldn't carry on his case.

The same would be true, O'Brien indicated, of the extradition proceeding in Windsor involving Clarence Jacobs, uncle of Ritchie whom the latter also named as a conspirator. The Jacobs case also was scheduled for today.

Held without bond in Windsor on a Canadian "apprehension" warrant, Ritchie will not get an extradition hearing until Jan. 21. This has the effect of a stymie against the other two cases.

"SOLUTION" TO MYSTERY

The two financed themselves with $5,000 reward money paid Ritchie by the CIO United Auto Workers union for his story to police of the plot against union president Reuther's life.

"There are a lot of people who don't want to see this case solved," he said.

He said Ritchie's story was the "solution" to the mysterious shotgun attack on Reuther April 20, 1948.

Ritchie named Renda, 35, and Jacobs, 48, along with Peter Lombardo, 51, Leavenworth penitentiary inmate, and Santo (Sam) Perrone, 51, father-in-law of Renda, as conspirators. Perrone remains at large.

Miss White told reporters she is 28 and that she has known Ritchie since he was 16. There is no charge against her.

CHEERFUL PRISONER — Betty White, described by police as the common-law wife of Donald Ritchie, looks cheerful as she is taken into custody at Preston. She was detained by police searching for Ritchie who was wanted in connection with the 1948 assassination attempt on labor leader Walter Reuther in Detroit. Ritchie surrendered in Preston several hours later.

U.S. Senate Debates Seaway Bill

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators got down to nose counting today as more debate was called on a bill to authorize United States participation with Canada in building the St. Lawrence seaway.

Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.), who opened debate on the long-controversial project Wednesday, predicted that a senator previously opposed to the development would announce a switch in his position today.

Wiley would not identify the senator.

EXPECT SLIM MARGIN

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the pro-seaway forces contended that the measure will be decided either way by a two-vote margin when the Senate gets around to vote, probably next week.

An opposition source, however, let it be known that an informal poll showed that 39 senators favor passage of the bill and 39 oppose with 18 undecided.

The proponents' spokesman said he doubts "that there are more than six senators who are genuinely undecided as to how they shall vote."

CANADA IMPARTIAL

The measure the Senate is considering would create a St. Lawrence Development Corp., authorized to sell $105,000,000 in bonds to the treasury department to finance the U. S. portion of the proposed seaway in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river. The investment would be amortized through tolls on shipping using the seaway.

Canada would build the remaining portions in its own territory.

Wiley, in his opening speech Wednesday, pointed out that Canada, impatient to get under way with the project, is going to build it alone if the U. S. persists in its refusal—first registered in 1934—to join in the construction.

The seaway would permit ocean-going shipping to travel from the Atlantic through a deepened St. Lawrence river to Great Lakes ports.

Rail Link Planned

LONDON (AP)—Peiping, capital of Red China, will get direct passenger and freight rail links with Moscow and the capitals of other east European Communist countries later this month, Peiping radio said today. The broadcast did not say when or how often the Peiping-Moscow service—which it claimed would be the longest no-change run in the world—would operate.

Gas Turbine Car Tested Purely Experimental Model

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors has built and tested a gas turbine automobile.

Called the XP-21 Firebird, the car is purely an experimental vehicle, not intended for highway use.

Designed to accommodate a single passenger, the Firebird is completely streamlined, with long, pointed nose, tail fin and "wings" spreading out from the rear wheels.

GM announced Wednesday that the Firebird will be displayed publicly for the first time at the GM Motorama in New York, Jan. 21-26.

ONLY EXPERIMENTAL

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors said:

"Possibly this is a development along a road we may not wish to go, so far as passenger automobiles are concerned. We built the Firebird to help explore [illegible] possibilities of the gas turbine [illegible] to our knowledge of thermodynamics."

The Firebird, built in a 100-inch wheelbase, has an over-all length of 222.7 inches. It is 41 inches high at the top of the plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit and 55 inches high at the top of the rear vertical fin.

Reversing the conventional order, the turbine car has a 35-gallon glass fibre-plastic fuel tank in the nose ahead of the driver. The engine, consisting of two mechanically-independent parts, is behind the driver.

TV At Canonization

PARIS (Reuters) — Pope Pius will canonize his predecessor, Pius X, June 29, watched by televiewers of eight European countries in a ceremony beamed from the Vatican Palace, it was disclosed Wednesday night. Sergio Pugliese, director of Italy's television service, said here the Pope will appear in the second of two broadcasts transmitted from Italy during a month of program exchanges among Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, West Germany, Denmark, Switzerland and Italy.

Trinity Church WA Officers Installed

HASTINGS (ENS) — Mrs. Clarence Lockhart was hostess to group 3 of the Women's Association of Trinity United church.

Mrs. S. Fisher opened the meeting with a short prayer. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Harvey Young read the scripture.

The theme, "Thankfullness for the past year," was given by Mrs. R. Burnham. A hymn was sung and the Rev. N. Cole lead in prayer. A hymn was repeated in unison and Mrs. [illegible] gave a reading.

The Rev. N. Cole installed the officers for 1954: president, Mrs. C. Skinkle; 1st vice-president, Mrs. George Rigby; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. C. Lockhart; secretary, Mrs. W. Thomas; treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Germain; pianist, Mrs. Clifford Scriver, Mrs. H. Young and Mrs. G. Rigby are the telephoning committee.

Plans for the annual carnival were discussed and left in the hands of the executive, date to be announced later.

The meeting closed with prayer. The hostess and committee served refreshments.

Teachers Seeking Salary Raise At Lakefield Public

LAKEFIELD—(ENS)—Dr. R. H. Campbell, who was re-elected chairman of the Lakefield public school board at this week's statutory meeting, voiced his concern over the increased cost of maintenance and teachers' salaries.

Correspondence included a letter from the teachers requesting a further increase. Other members of the Board shared the chairman's concern.

A statement, presented by Miss Grace Yonge, treasurer, listing receipts and expenditures for 1953, showed a decided increase in expenditures over last year.

The following committees were appointed, the chairman in each case being named first: finance, the Rev. W. B. Walker and Mrs. Harold Wilford; property, Ralph Millage, Ralph Jackman and Mrs. R. Doubt. Mrs. Doubt was also appointed purchasing agent for the board.

APPOINTMENTS

Chief Constable Price Morris was appointed attendance officer and Harry Wannamaker was appointed to the Library board for 1954-56.

William F. Whetung was reappointed to the Lakefield District High School board for the coming year, as representative for the public school.

The Home and School Association's request for the use of the school for their annual school fair was granted. The treasurer was authorized to pay the Lakefield and District Community Centre $150 for the use of the rink for skating by the pupils.

Principal E. G. Sloan was present and reported attendance for December 347 pupils; percentage 93.77. Opening attendance on January 4 was 348. School was open 191 teaching days in 1953 with actual days attendance being 54,324; average 304.06. Average enrolment was 330 pupils.

Mr. Sloan warned that absence of pupils cuts the provincial grant. The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $365.60.

Flour For Refugees

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations children's emergency fund is buying 30,000 metric tons of flour on the world market for Palestine Arab refugees, it said today. The purchase is being made for the UN relief and works agency for Palestine, which will distribute the flour to refugees in Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Gaza (Egypt).

Dies At Husband's Bier

LEBANON, Ill. (AP)—A 63-year-old woman collapsed and died at the bier of her husband in a funeral home here. She was Mrs. Marmie Feltman, whose 70-year-old husband, a cemetery sexton, died Monday of heart disease. Mrs. Feltman's death was attributed to a cerebral haemorrhage. A joint funeral will be held.

5,000 In Manoeuvres

CAMP HALE, Colo. (AP)—More than 5,000 toughened paratroopers will "fight" for the Continental Divide in United States Army war games during the next two months. Preparations for Operation Ski Jump are well under way in the rugged Camp Hale terrain. The mock battle will take place at 10,000 to 12,000 feet.

THIS SPRING, clothes for evening are soft but elegant. While there are full skirts for after-five, there are also many straight ones like these (above). Shining silk satin evening gown (left) by Jacques Fath for Joseph Halpert is in ice blue. From front, it gives effect of double-breasted coat dress. Back skirt has deep fold pleat. Black silk linen sheath (right) by Mollie Parnis has white cotton lace bodice and short lace jacket. Bodice has Empire feeling sharpened by band of black velvet.

Evening Look Is One-Piece

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)— During the seasons past, women have lived in separates for after-five. Now we have the one-piece look or the costume look interpreted in the dress with its own jacket.

Length isn't much of a discussion anymore in evening clothes. It's generally accepted that the short length fits in best with the American way of life and what American women do not want evening gowns that are too bulky or cumbersome or tricky to manage. Thus the development of the gown that really has a very formal look (almost a ball gown air) except for its length.

Shape is everything in all clothes this spring. With evening gowns, this means that the full-skirted, tiny waisted look has given way ot the Empire line with more cover-up, more sophisication.

The low hipline silhouette, also present in daytime fashions, appears effectively in after-five fashions. This hipline is sometimes emphasized by bands or crisscross drapes.

'Air-Conditioned' Necklines Featured In Easter Frocks

By DOROTHY ROE

Our changing weather, plus the habits of modern living, dictate lighter-weight clothes the year-round, says Mrs. Simpson. She highlights silk suits or dress-and-coat outfits. The print silk costume with fur collar or cuffs is a headliner here, shown in many versions.

Mrs. Simpson also features collars that stand away from the neck, for greater coolness, and likes black or navy fitted silk coats lined in print silk to match the companion dress.

PRINCESS COAT DRESS

"The shape" is Mrs. Simpson's favorite silhouette for spring. This is a princess coat dress with slightly flared or narrow skirt, so artfully constructed that the essential shape is built into the dress, even when it is hanging in the closet.

The favorite "miracle fabric" of this designer is simply cotton. But not the old-fashioned cotton of grandmother's day. New weaves and finishes have resulted in polished cottons smooth as satin, cotton tweeds rugged as wool, cotton shantungs that look and feel like silk, jacquard woven Swiss cottons that could be either silk or wool, cotton sharkskins that look like the finest men's wool suitings. All these are employed with characteristic imagination by Mrs. Simpson in a group of suits, dresses and costumes.

Personals and Social

Cindy Lou Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Williamson, 309 George St. S., celebrated her eighth birthday on Tuesday with a party. Her guests were: Diana Davidson, Susan Meredith, Caroline Scott, Mary Anne Johnson, Doris, Dianne and Wanda Wesenberg, Marina Zakos and Patsy Wilson. Sandra Naylor was unable to attend. Later in the evening her grandmother, aunts and uncles called to wish her happy birthday.

Want Members

Discussion on getting new members was the main point of a meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary of 9th Parkhill Cubs, Scouts, Guides and Brownies, held at Dixon House Wednesday evening. It was also planned to have an election of officers in February. President Mrs. H. Reynolds closed the business with the scout benediction and a social hour followed. Lunch was served by Mrs. E. J. Allen and Mrs. D. Hillier.

Speaker In February

Afternoon Branch of All Saints' Anglican church WA held a business and devotional meeting Tuesday, president Mrs. Howard Clark presiding. The scripture selection was read by Mrs. C. Thackeray and Mrs. Q. C. Woods led in the Litany. Several letters in appreciation of Christmas remembrances were heard. It was announced that an address will be given by Miss Hilda Robinson on her work in Japan on the evening of February 19th. Mrs. F. Dawson volunteered as social convener for February. The annual meeting followed, when splendid reports of a successful year were presented. The Rev. M. [illegible] votes of thanks were expressed to those who served the past year. At six o'clock a dinner was served to 80 ladies representing all branches of the WA in the church. This was followed by a sing song and a missionary address by Mr. Poole.

YPU Sleigh Ride

A sleigh ride and a delightful party afterward were enjoyed by members of the Young People's Union of George Street church on Monday evening. Route of the sleigh ride was through the city to the south western section and to the home of Bill Sheppard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sheppard, in North Monaghan. There, games were played with the Rev. Arnold Mathews starring at crokinole, and square dancing with Gordon Bradfield as "caller", using a PA system set up by Ralph Brown. The hearty lunch for this occasion consisted of baked beans, salad, cocoa and cookies. Serving it were the Misses Lorraine Bradfield, Marjorie and Marion Brown and Velma Powers. A worship service was conducted by Miss Betty Scollard.

5 Girls Join Mission Band

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band met at Knox church Wednesday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. C. Ross and Mrs. D. Richardson. Five new members welcomed were Donna Curtis, Cheryl MacNaughton, Theresa Burke, Carolyn Parliament and Jane Sharpe, and a visitor present was Sherry Wilson. The attendance was marked by Cathy MacLeod. Work and worship twins were Marilyn Bebee and Anne Richardson. The children were told of the work Miss Ann Davison is doing for orphan children in Korea. All joined hands in a circle prayer for her. They then enjoyed a period of work preparing Christmas cards for word books to be sent to port workers and given to new Canadians. Mrs. Richardson led the worship service with Mrs. H. G. Douglas at the piano, and those taking part were John Douglas, Billy Henley, Margaret Murduff, Susan Sharp, Marianne Ross and Gordon Lowes. A true story about "A Christmas tree child in Korea" was told by Mrs. J. Donaldson. Billy Hendry and Anne Londerville were appointed the work and worship twins for January 27th. Repeating the credo "I believe in making this world a happy place for everyone and I will do my part" closed the meeting.

WMS Devotional Meeting

The WMS of Bridgenorth United church met at the home of Mrs. L. M. Richardson Tuesday afternoon, with 18 present. Newly appointed president Miss Olive Sidey opened with prayer, followed by reading in unison of a hymn, accompanied by soft music played by Mrs. E. Telford. An inspiring reading on christian stewardship titled "Partners with Christ" was given by Mrs. W. Crookshanks. Mrs. Earl Nicholls read verses on temperance and Mrs. R. McConkey read an article on the power of prayer. Mrs. Nicholls also read appropriate scripture. A prayer of confession was read by Mrs. W. Teiford, followed by prayers by several members. The chapter of the study book dealing with China was presented by retiring president Mrs. J. Johnston. Mrs. Nicholls was requested to take charge of the study book for the February meeting and Mrs. W. J. Telford offered her home for that time. Lunch was served by Mrs. Richardson, assisted by Mrs. P. Pettersone, Mrs. Telford and Mrs. C. Staples.

Police Ladies Elect Mrs. Howden

The Kawartha Ladies' Police Association met at the home of Mrs. J. Morrow on Euclid Avenue Wednesday evening. Retiring president Mrs. E. Beatty and Mrs. A. Dalton were awarded perfect attendance prizes for the past year. The roll call, taken by secretary Mrs. G. Samis, was answered by 18 members. The treasurer's report, read by the president in her absence, showed a successful year past, also the secretary's annual report. Mrs. W. A. Scott read the report of the nominating committee and Mrs. Bert Howden was then elected president with Mrs. D. Farthing as vice president. Mrs. Samis as secretary, Mrs. G. Smith as treasurer, and Mrs. W. G. Scott as press secretary. On the sick and visiting committee are Mrs. J. Morrow, Mrs. L. Murphy and Mrs. A. Stringer; on the telephone committee, Mrs. D. Emmons, Mrs. H. Armstrong and Mrs. G. Gillespie for city police wives, and Mrs. G. Gray and Mrs. A. Stringer for OPP. Winning the door prize was new president Mrs. Howden. She drew up some plans for the the coming year before closing, including a banquet in February. The refreshments were served by Mrs. Armstrong and her committee and a vote of thanks to them and the hostess was voiced by Mrs. G. Trennum.

PRESENTATIONS TO ALEX. SINCLAIR, who is leaving the city this weekend after four years as the recreation director here, were made at a supper meeting of the Peterborough Handcraft Guild Wednesday evening. Members of the Recreation Commission, who were guests of the Guild, presented an electric alarm clock, product of this city, and the Guild presented a combination lighter and cigarette case. Pictured left to right are Mrs. C. C. Pilon, the Guild's representative on the Commission, Mr. Wilfred Langan, chairman of the commission, Mr. Sinclair, and Mrs. E. R. Frost, president of the Guild, admiring the gifts.

Gifts Honor Alex Sinclair At Handcraft Guild Supper

Peterborough Handcraft Guild has a most pleasant way of starting out a new year's work—one that succeeds in increasing the interest of members—a pot luck supper and program of entertainment.

On Wednesday evening they had as supper guests members of the Recreation Commission and as honored guests Alex Sinclair, who has been recreation director here the past four years. Mr. Sinclair brought as his guest his successo in the office, Mr. Kenneth Robinson.

Highlight of the occasion was the expressing of appreciation to Mr. Sinclair for his assistance throughout his stay by commission chairman Wilfred Langan and Guild secretary, Mrs. M. Niblett, followed by material evidence of this in the gift of an electric alarm clock from the commission and a lighter and cigarette case from the guild presented by president Mrs. E. R. Frost.

Mr. Sinclair expressed the hope that the craft centre at Dixon House, which has grown from his original idea, will continue to grow, and that another such centre can be started in the south end of the city, where he feels it is greatly needed.

His final suggestion to the Handcraft Guild was that it put on a display of work during the forthcoming Ontario Recreation Association conference, to be held in the Empress hotel, Peterborough, April 30, May 1 and 2.

Mrs. Frost took up the matter of a small exhibit of work done by the Film Council, and members approved doing this.

She also asked members' suggestions on the meeting arranged for March 3rd with Dr. C. D. Gaitskell as speaker. It was decided to hold this in the Queen Mary auditorium so that more of the public can be accommodated. Dr. Gaitskell is an internationally famous speaker and his topic is expected to be "Design," which will interest teaching and painting groups and others as well as the craft workers.

The invitation of Mrs. J. G. Wharry to again enjoy a June picnic at her cottage was accepted.

Films on the various crafts, including metalcraft, semi-precious stones, book-binding, marionettes, modern Canadian sculpture, leather carving, pottery making, loom weaving and leatherwork were shown.

George St. WMS Has Installation Of Full Executive

New year meeting of George St. WMS was held in the board room Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. V. Boorman and Mrs. H. J. McMillan at the door. Miss J. Schaffer, retiring president, opened the meeting with thoughts for the New Year and with the members reading the 103rd Psalm in unison, followed with the Lord's prayer. She thanked every member and officer of the society for their co-operation

Miss Schaffer paid special tribute to Mrs. J. M. Fanning, retiring treasurer and Mrs. WW. Purdy, retiring pianist, for their efficient work for the past 13 years, by presenting each with a book. Both ladies thanked the society in a most gracious manner. Reports from conveners of all departments revealed a most satisfactory year's work in 1953.

Honorary president, Mrs. A. Mathews, president, Mrs. J. M. Beatty; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. Boorman, Mrs. C. Hurl and group leaders; recording secretary, Mrs. J. P. Bickell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. H. Brown; treasurer, Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald; assistant treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Fanning

Secretary Christian stewardship, Mrs. W. H. Morton; secretary community friendship, Mrs. F. Burnham; secretary missionary monthly, Mrs. J. H. Might; literature secretary, Mrs. H. J. Crowe; temperance secretary, Mrs. W. H. Woollard; supply secretary, Mrs. F. Latimer; press secretary, Mrs. L. W. Northey.

Librarian, Mrs. Robt. McKee; pianist, Mrs. J. R. Ellicott; assistant pianist, Mrs. W. P. Purdy; telephone committee, Mrs. J. W. Hales; finance committee, Mrs. S. Wildman, Mrs. H. Girven, Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald and Mrs. J. M. Fanning.

Mothers' auxiliary Baby Band, Mrs. Stewart James; mission band, Mrs. C. E. Potts; explorers' group, Mrs. J. R. Foster; mission circle, Mrs. C. Allen, Mrs. J. M. Beatty, group leaders: Miss E. Dewart, Mrs. H. J. Crowe, Mrs. H. J. McMillan, Mrs. J. P. Bickell, Miss J. Schaffer, Mrs. R. Reynolds, Mrs. E. Roseborough.

The offering was accepted by Mrs. S. Wildman and Mrs. H. Girven.

Mrs. Beatty, the new president, took the chair for a short business session and announced the February meeting will be under leadership of Mrs. H. J. McMillan of district No. 4.

Mrs. E. Wellman Heads Trinity BB

Baby Band Mothers Club of Trinity United Church held the first meeting of this year Wednesday evening. President Mrs. W. Taylor presided.

It commenced with an inspiring devotional period, the theme of which was "The Untouched Year". Mrs. M. Elliott read the scripture, Mrs. D. Lamont gave "A recipe for a good new year", Mrs. R. Huffman told "The story of the old year", and Mrs. E. Wellman led in prayer.

New members, Mrs. A. N. Buell, Mrs. J. Anderson, and Mrs. A. J. Bradbury were welcomed.

Annual reports given by the respective convenors proved that the Baby Band Mothers had completed a very successful year.

Mrs. A. Wade, president of the Women's Missionary Society, conducted the dedication of the following ofifcers for 1954:

Honorary presidents, Mrs. G. S. Maxwell and Mrs. S. C. Carver; president, Mrs. Earle Wellman; vice presidents, Mrs. M. Elliott and Mrs. A. Thompson; secretary, Mrs. N. Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. W. Wildman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. Pierce; press secretary, Mrs. R. McDonald; mite box convenor, Mrs. K. W. Milne; telephone convenor, Mrs. R. Huffman; supply secretaries, Mrs. G. Taylor and Mrs. W. Evans; magazine convenor, Mrs. D. Manning; card convenor, Mrs. H. Coon; soical convenors, Mrs. J. Howard and Mrs. W. Van Atter; pianist, Mrs. C. Stairs; librarian, Mrs. D. Lamont; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. J. Davern.

New president Mrs. Wellman took the chair and plans for this year's activities commenced. The highlight is to be a "Father's Party" early in March.

The evening was brought to a close with refreshments being served by the 1954 executive.

New Year Meeting St. James' WMS

Annual meeting of St. James' WMS was held Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. Mrs. L. Bird opened with a New Year's poem. Miss M. Collins led in prayer and Mrs. E. M. Davis read the 90th Psalm.

An inspirational and timely message was brought by Mrs. G. Hewitt on the theme, "The Key to Happiness in the Coming Year." She concluded with the challenge, "Let us go forward and upward in God's lighted path in 1954." The hymn of consecration, "Take My Life and Let It Be," was beautifully sung by Mrs. B. Kitney, accompanied by Mrs. H. Doig.

Reports of the various missionary organizations from Baby Band to Senior Auxiliary were very encouraging. Mrs. R. B. English, treasurer, reported the allocation exceeded by a generous amount. Considerable reading had been done, 88 books reported by literature secretary Mrs. E. Kent. The community friendship secretary reported 232 home calls and many hospital calls. Mrs. W. K. Sloane reported two bales of good used clothing shipped to Korea.

The Rev. A. L. Shorten spoke in appreciation of the fine record of achievement by various groups, and installed the following officers:

President, Mrs. L. H. Bird; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. Hunter, Mrs. N. Brown; recording secretary, Mrs. W. A. Poast; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Johnston; pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig; secretaries: christian stewardship, Mrs. G. Hewitt; christian citizenship, Mrs. H. S. Powers; supply, Mrs. W. K. Sloane and Mrs. E. Rowe; literature, Mrs. E. Kent; associate members, Miss M. Morton; community friendship, Mrs. A. E. Prest and Mrs. A. Saunders; missionary monthly, Mrs. L. Hess; telephone, Mrs. W. Peel; Mission Band leaders, Mrs. N. Brown and Mrs. Q. Dantzer.

MOST MEAT

In 1952, New Zealand exported about 26 per cent of all meat in the international trade.

Life Members Club Honored At Tea

One hundred and fifty women attended a tea on Wednesday afternoon in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room at which the Peterborough Life Members Club of the Council of Women was being honored.

Until recently this club in Peterborough was unique in Canada, but now the life members in Vancouver, Halifax, Brantford and Toronto have organized similarly and it is expected other centres will follow. The Vancouver club has 70 members.

Miss Edna Breithaupt of Toronto, chairman of life memberships for the National Council of Women, was a special guest at the tea, and explained to guests the purpose of this occasion, which is being duplicated in cities throughout Ontario. She believes that if the life members are organized they can contribute substantially to the executives whenever assistance may be needed.

It was at Miss Breithaupt's suggestion that there was constituted in 1953 a Committee of National Life Members, for the purpose of integrating the national life members across Canada. At that time the National Council was celebrating its Diamond Jubilee, having been constituted in 1893 with the Golden Rule as its motto, and the purpose "to prevent want and to preserve unity."

A life members' Reunion Recital is to be held in Toronto on February 16th with Madame Gina Cigna, soprano, Miro Mosesnel, tenor and John Coveart, pianist, the artists. Miss Breithaupt invited as many as possible from Peterborough to enjoy this evening which she has arranged.

The Peterborough Life Members' Club, which has been active for some years, has 31 members, all life members of the Local Council of Women, and boasts 11 life members of the National Council and five of the Provincial Council.

The present president of the club is Mrs. C. G. Collins and she received at the tea with Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president of the Local Council of Women which sponsored the affair, with arrangements being made by Muriel Wright, public relations chairman of Provincial Council. Also receiving were Mrs. Norman Graham, wife of the mayor, and Alderman Mrs. Maurice Holt.

Weavers' Guild To Re-Organize

The Peterborough Recreation Commission sponsored a seminar in hand weaving, bringing Miss M. Muff, weaving advisor of the Community Program Branch of the Ontario Department of Education, Toronto, to present program material and projects which a weavers' guild might use. Miss Muff gave many suggestions for articles which may be hand woven, and Mrs. C. Weir, district supervisor from the Community Program Branch, spoke on the place of a guild in the community.

An executive committee for the re-organization of the Weavers' Guild was then appointed including Mrs. C. Starton, Mrs. A. M. Butler of Millbrook, Miss M. McIntyre, Miss E. Carroll, Mrs. E. Smedmor.

A. Sinclair, recreation director, was responsible for arrangement of the seminar and showed a film on hand weaving.

Mrs. Wright Hostess To Keene WA

KEENE (ENS) — The United Church WA met at the home of Mrs. H. Wright Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. E. Rennie, was in the chair, and Mrs. Herb. McFarlane was pianist. The meeting opened with a hymn and the president led in prayer. Mrs. Ralph Adamson gave the scripture reading and Mrs. H. B. Herrington gave the lesson thoughts. Miss M. Bryce sang a solo and Mrs. Sam Comrie gave a reading. Several letters of thanks were read from people who were remembered at Christmas. A business discussion followed. It was decided to serve a dinner at noon on the day of the congregational meeting, the date of which is still to be arranged. It was announced that the world's day of prayer service will be held in the United Church on March 5. The February meeting will be at the home of Miss M. Bryce. The meeting closed with the benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Mr. Harvey Sutton took the chair for the fathers' night program of the Confederation Home and School Association on Tuesday evening.

Speaker was Gordon H. Farquharson, city lawyer and alderman, who gave an interesting talk on how the city is governed. He was introducued by Mr. W. H. Parnell and thanked by Mr. R. Shouldice.

The Rev. H. J. Scuse opened the meeting with scripture and prayer.

President Mrs. H. Sutton presided for the business. Principal Mr. J. Nichols demonstrated a tape recorder which the executive proposed to buy for use in child voice training in the school and the purchase was approved.

Refreshments were served by the fathers to conclude the evening.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

Mrs. Hugh Morrison, president, greeted members and conducted a brief business meeting of King George Home and School Association on Tuesday evening. The attendance award was won by Mr. R. Hendren's class.

Gail Fell who is in charge of the school patrol thanked the association for making hot chocolate available to the school guards on duty these cold mornings.

"Just for today," a suggestion for better living, was read by Mrs. T. H. Littlefair.

Mr. Hendren explained the method of teaching writing in the various grades and the development of writing ability of the child, and answered parents' questions.

Mrs. Olive Searles, piano class teacher for Ashburnham pupils, spoke briefly on the importance of music to the school age child and to illustrate the progress made Susan Farthing, Carol Morrison and Carole Parnell each played a selection.

Guest Mrs. J. R. Henderson, south end librarian speaking on "Value of children's reading," outlined the progressive stages their reading should follow to encourage children's natural curiosity until they can read for themselves.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Dinner Party Menu For Eight Persons

The entertaining fever has not subsided yet. You may be dog-tired, but the infectious fun of seeing and enjoying your friends is so compelling you submit to your impulses and have just one more party.

Satiated with roast turkey, stuffing, gravy, mashed potatoes, fruit cake, shortbread, nuts, candies, coffee, more coffee—I decided to have a select little dinner party for five folk—and without any effort on my part at all, it grew to a dinner party for nine.

Very seldom do I devote one whole day to preparing a meal, but this time I did, and you will see why it took me so long, even with Marianne's capable help after four o'clock.

A DINNER PARTY FOR EIGHT

(I am figuring the two very small children who were among my guests as one person for the sake of amounts.)

Cocktail Sauce
Individual Turkey and Oyster Pies with Puff Pastry
Cranberry Moulds
Individual Avocado, Orange and Grapefruit Salads
Steamed Holliday Pudding
Hard Sauce Rosettes
Orange Sherbert (for reducers and children)
Shortbread Coffee

THE SHRIMP COCKTAIL

One-half lb. shelled shrimp cost $1.25 and served 8 generously. (The pesky black intestines took Marianne and I 15 minutes to remove, working fast too.) Cocktail Sauce: 2/3 cup best catsup, 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. (Optional additions, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon black pepper, 1/32 teaspoon cayenne pepper.) Line cocktail or sherbert glasses with delicate lettuce leaves, put in anywhere from 6 to 12 shrimp, cover each service with 1 or 2 tablespoons sauce and garnish with thin lemon wedge.

THE INDIVIDUAL TURKEY PIES

Make simplified puff pastry first: Make plain paste of 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup shortening, 4 scant tablespoons cold water. Pat with 1/3 cup medium-soft butter (margarine will not do). Roll up like a jelly roll, and carefully roll out to same size rectangle. Now fold 2 opposite sides until edges touch at the centre, then fold the other sides over these until they just overlap. Fold once again until you have what looks like a square. Wrap in wax paper and chill until hard. Roll out carefully to ¼-inch thickness and cut out to exactly fit tops of individual casseroles. Place on baking sheet and chill until hard again. Transfer carefully to tops of filled individual casseroles and bake at 475 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 400 to finish.

TURKEY PIE FILLING

In the bottoms of each individual casserole put 3 oysters and their liquor. Add 6 or 7 bite-size pieces of white and dark cooked turkey meat. Boil for 2 minutes 1 package frozen peas, add the liquor to the gravy (see below) and apportion the peas into the casseroles. Now fill to ¾ full with rich turkey gravy: 3 tablespoons rich brown sediment from roasting turkey, 3 tablespoons turkey fat, 4 tablespoons flour were stirred together over heat until blended and 2½ cups boiling water stirred in until thick. I added salt and pepper to taste—quite a bit, and the water from the peas. (see baking above.) When the heat was turned down to 400 I summoned the guests to dinner and we had our shrimp cocktail. By the time they were cleared away by Marianne, Peady (my sister) brought in the piping hot pies, which were accompanied only with the cranberry moulds.

The Avocado and Orange and Grapefruit salads were arranged on lettuce like a sunburst, cut in crescent shapes, and French Dressing was passed. Yesterday I gave you the recipe for the steamed pudding and Orange Milk Sherbet, and Hard Sauce rosettes.

If you decide to copy this meal give yourself plenty of time. But it's worth the work—she said immodestly.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl And Fiance At Odds Over Her Past Escapades

DEAR MISS DIX: My fiance is greatly disturbed over a matter which I think is none of his business. While away from home a few months ago I became infatuated with a young man, and he rushed me into an affair of which I am now heartily ashamed. My fiance doesn't know all, but suspects more than I admitted, after some gossiper told him some things. He insists that I tell him the truth about the whole matter before he will be willing to go through with our previous plans. I'm sure he'll call the engagement off if I do admit everything, and I can't bear to lose him. Girls, be advised by me, never do anything that you would be ashamed to tell your husband-to-be.

P. C.

MAKE COMPLETE ADMISSION

ANSWER: While in most cases of an amatory error I believe it the better part of discretion to withhold some facts, in your case I advocate complete admission. Your indiscretions were apparently too flagrant. Your fiance already knows some of the stories, suspects the worst, and will, furthermore, always suspect the worst—as who wouldn't. Perhaps he will cancel the engagement. If he does it's no more than you should have expected at the time you let your emotions rule your sense of decency. It's far better for you to take your chances with his love, believing that you'll never behave so again, than to [illegible] undoubtedly will.

Many persons make mistakes; it's the fortunate ones who are forgiven. Of course, you were very wrong in the first statement of your letter. Anything you do, or have done, is definitely your fiance's business. If you plan to enter marriage with the idea that some of your activities are none of your husband's business, you certainly don't deserve to get a worthy man. In fact, lots of your ideas need changing—don't put off the job.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 38 years old, the mother of five healthy children. Six months ago I lost my last baby, and nothing seems to take his place. Do you think I should adopt a little boy? We are in a position to give him a good home.

WORRIED MOTHER

ANSWER: In your present nervous state, I think it quite unlikely that an adoption agency would give you a child. Besides, it would take some time before you could get him. You know the list of people awaiting youngsters for adoption is very long. I should think with five active children in the family you'd have little time to worry about being lonely, and I'm sure that time, prayer, and faith in God will soon bring you peace of mind.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My son has invited me to his home for dinner. Don't you think it's the wife's place to invite his mother? It is always left to my son to invite me.

A. S.

ANSWER: The important thing is not who extends the invitation but how welcome you're made when you visit. If your daughter-in-law likes to have you, what do formalities matter? To be honest, if your daughter-in-law did the inviting, wouldn't you feel hurt because your son left the social amenities up to her? I think there's a wee chip on your shoulder; better get rid of it.

"A varied reading program is necessary to compete with the comics," she said. "It is important that parents set an example as the child accepts parents' standards." She went on to point out that the library gives children the golden key to the "gate of imagination," instead of a brass one.

Introduced by Mrs. Lloyd Ash, the speaker was thanked by Mrs. F. James.

It was announced that the February meeting will take the form of a panel discussion, led by Mrs. John Nornabell, assisted by Mrs. Alex Sollitt, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Miss Aileen Morgan and Mrs. Heber Rogers, all dietitians. Their topic will be "Feeding your family today."

Also, Miss Norman Wartman, grade 1 teacher who was unable to attend open school, will be in her classroom from 7 o'clock on to meet parents on the next meeting night.

Mrs. O. Salonius was pianist for the anthems.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Howland, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. C. Hope, Mrs. R. Stevenson, Mrs. R. Hayden and Mrs. D. Worboy.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

The meeting of Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association Monday evening opened with Mrs. N. Hicks reading scripture and president Mrs. W. Weaver a New Year's poem.

Guest speaker Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, outlined the duties of the public health nurse, public health services in the school and immunization and vaccination of pre-school and school children. A discussion period followed.

Mrs. L. H. Edwards reported on the Peterborough Council for Retarded Children, giving a picture of what can be done for these children and telling of the need for assistance in the way of donations and transportation for the children to school each day.

Roll call was headed by Miss Cruikshank's room.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Guest soloist Reginald Peters chose "I Love Life" and "When I Think Upon the Maidens" for his audience at the Central Home and School Association meeting Monday evening. He was called on for an encore and gave another much appreciated selection, "For You Alone." His accompanist was Mr. Charles Allen.

Guest speaker Mr. Donald Bark, city lawyer, had the topic, "Citizenship," and emphasized the fortunate position of being a Canadian citizen. He then dealt with the legal aspect of how to become a Canadian; how this status may be lost; what is being done to help Canada's new citizens. He provided the members with a broader understanding of this "taken-for-granted" privilege.

Mr. W. R. Philp introduced the speaker, and he was thanked by Mr. Norman Gainer.

President Mrs. J. Callaghan presided for business, and the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. L. Raper, who also spoke on the several radio broadcasts produced in interests of Home and School members. She also gave an outline of her work at the Parent Education conference in Hamilton.

Lunch was served by Mrs. H. G. Kelsey and committee.

MAY'S SCHOOL

Annual "Farthers' Night" of May's School was held Monday night, with a good attendance.

Mr. D. Acreman introduced Mr. John Bell, from the Department of Lands and Forests, as guest speaker, his topic being, "Wild Life Conservation." Mr. Bell stressed the point of how important it is to retain our forests. He said the main source of plenty of water depended on the forests as well as keeping the farms rich in topsoil. This topic was well illustrated with two films, one showing clearly how logging operation should be conducted in order to keep forests permanent.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Mr. B. Fontaine playing and singing several number on his electric giutar. He was thanked by Mr. R. Williams.

Mrs. P. Dyer, president, conducted a short business period. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. P. Bosnell, Grade II.

Next executive meeting was announced for January 13th at the home of Mrs. R. Williams and all members were urged to attend to make final arrangements for the tea and bazaar to be held February 24th.

Devotional period was conducted by religious convener, Mrs. P. Bosnell. Lunch was served by several of the fathers.

Obituary

CECIL JOHNSON

Born in Murray township near Trenton, he was a son of the late Henry Johnson and the former Nancy Allard.

He had lived in Otonabee township 20 years, coming here from Napanee where he had lived for 14 years after leaving the Trenton district.

Until two years ago he worked as a blacksmith. He received his education at [illegible] Ecostal church.

He is survived by a son, Gordon, of Napanee; a sister, Mrs. P. Rowe (Etta), New Carlow, Ont.; two brothers, Jack of Rochester and William of Trenton; and one grandchild, Richard Johnson. His wife, the former Etta Jenks, died in 1949.

The funeral service will be held Saturday at the Kaye funeral home at 2 p.m., the Rev. Fred Parlee officiating. Burial will be in Ray's cemetery, Lakefield.

Helped Build Railroads Into Lindsay

Born in Wales, he came to Canada with his parents as a young boy. He is probably the only living man who can say he helped to build the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railroads into Lindsay in the town's early days.

He was a passenger on the first train to pull into the town, on the GTR line from Whitby, and later he helped with the work of extending the line through Kinmount to Haliburton. He lived for several years at Gelert and Burnt River. When the CPR came to the town, he helped to construct the railroad timber piling along the Scugog river bank.

Married in 1892 to the former Edith Jane Yeo, of Sonya, he became a widower in 1944, two years after the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

For many years, he and Mrs. Davies farmed in Victoria county, in north Emily and Verulam townships. When the county built the home for the aged, he became its first manager.

About 45 years ago, he moved to town and entered the building trade, erecting many fine homes in Lindsay. He also took a part in municipal affairs, serving for four years on council, and later the town's health inspector.

At present Mr. Davies has one brother surviving, Arthur, also living in Lindsay. His children number six, three of them, Charles, Orville and Wilfred, living in Detroit, Harry in Rawlings, Wyoming, and two daughters in Lindsay, Ethel at home and Mrs. W. D. Price. There are seven grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

A number of callers were received by Mr. Davies on Sunday at his home, and he also received a large number of telephone calls, telegrams and cards. Though not in the best of health since just before Christmas, he enjoyed the birthday celebration thoroughly.

$10,000 Fire Damage In Parish Hall

CROWLAND, Ont. (CP)—A fire of undetermined origin early today gutted the stage of St. Michael's Greek Catholic parish hall and charred the interior of the auditorium, causing damage estimated at $10,000.

Lost were hand-made altar ornaments and vestments called "irreplaceable" by the Rev. Paul Oleynyk, pastor.

Crowland firemen fought the blaze for almost three hours. Crowland is about five miles east of Welland.

Children May Skate On Sunday Says R. E. Knox

The city has no objection to children skating on Sunday, or even using hockey rinks, Ald. R. E. Knox, chairman of the parks commission said today. He was commenting on reports that children [illegible]

The police are exceeding their authority if they are preventing children from skating and using their hockey sticks on Sunday, Mr. Knox declared. A recent municipal directive on rinks, he added, was designed "simply to ensure that the hockey rinks are used for hockey, the skating rinks for skating."

Five of Peterborough's 12 rinks are designed for both skating and hockey. These are at McDonnel St., Inverlea, Turner, King Edward and Riverside parks. It was at Riverside that the police were alleged to have stopped children from skating last Sunday.

A better organized Sunday recreational program could be organized, said Mr. Knox, if citizens of each community would take care of their local rink on a volunteer basis. This, too, would ensure that the children use the rinks for their proper purposes.

Artificial outdoor skating rinks are a future possibility in Peterborough. Such rinks, he said, could be used through all the vagaries of winter weather and could be dismantled each spring.

Union Requests Right To Prosecute Firm

HAMILTON (CP) — Officers of Local 520, United Electrical Workers, have applied to the labor relations board of Ontario for permission to prosecute the Wallace Barnes company here.

The local is still on strike at the plant, has pickets on duty each day and claims that 50 per cent of the employees are still operating the six-months old strike.

The union announced today that if UE had charged the company with violating section 44 of the Ontario Labor Relations Act, which, they say, proscribes any other union from seeking to represent employees after the union which holds certification has applied for conciliation.

The Canadian Springmakers' Association, a group set up during the strike has just concluded an agreement with management of the company.

Hopes Ontario Install Turnpike

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—William E. Slaughter, Jr., Michigan turnpike authority chairman, told midwestern turnpike authorities Wednesday that he hopes Ontario will eventually build a turnpike from Niagara Falls, Ont., to Windsor.

Slaughter said such a toll road would be the link connecting New York City with Chicago if New York, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana decide to connect throughways.

He said the route would be considerably shorter than those connecting with the Pennsylvania turnpike, which is now in operation.

Meanwhile a coast-to-coast network of fast, safe toll roads was envisioned by the authorities.

Commissions from Michigan, Illinois and Indiana attended the meeting.

Lindsay Rink Wins Fee Cup Bonspiel

LINDSAY (ENS) — Clayton Grills, of Lindsay, led his rink to a win in the annual Fee Cup district bonspiel at the Lindsay Curling Club Wednesday.

Rinks from Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Oakwood, Lorneville, Beaverton, Peterborough, Huntsville and Janetville competed in the one-day affair. Grills' rink rolled up a score of 38 plus 7. Second with 33 plus 4 was T. Doughty of Peterborough. Third, with 32 plus one was Dr. C. Lyons of the Lindsay club.

Sam Newman, Lorneville, led the two wins class with 33 plus 6, while Dr. Lawrence, of Peterborough, with a score of 31 plus 7, was top in the single win class.

Steel Co. Workers Seek New Contract

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations have begun for a new contract for about 6,500 Hamilton workers of the Steel Company of Canada, Larry Sefton, district director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), announced today.

The union is seeking a wage increase of 8½ cents an hour retroactive to April 1, 1953; an increase of 1½ cents in the differential—now four cents—between job classifications, and an increase of two cents in the premium for off-shifts.

The union is also asking for recognition of Remembrance Day as a statutory holiday.

Gas Price Rise Opposed By 9 Centres

SIMCOE (CP) — Representatives of nine centres met Wednesday to oppose a suggested price change by Dominion Natural Gas Company.

The company has proposed to abolish a supplementary rate of 23 cents a thousand cubic feet and change the basic rate from $1.30 to $1.39 a thousand.

The representatives charged the company is trying to "hide" in the basic rate a supplementary rate that was imposed in 1941 to cover "emergency" cost increases. They said the supplementary rate now is due to be abolished.

TO MEET JAN. 27

Delegates formed a committee to meet in Brantford Jan. 27 to study an Ontario government report on the two rates and prepare a protest to the provincial government.

W. C. Woods, former reeve of Preston, said the company's revenue on its capital investment was between five and six per cent. He said it was "out of line" with the profit margin of competing companies, who received about four per cent.

Representatives were present from St. Thomas, Brantford, Galt, Ingersoll, Port Dover, Preston, Simcoe, Delhi and Dunnville.

Tugboat Saves Tanker From Sinking

NEW YORK (AP)—Fast action by a tugboat saved a fully-loaded oil tanker from sinking in the East river early today following a collision with an unidentified craft.

All seven of the tanker crew were rescued and none suffered severe injuries.

The collision was in mid-stream between the tanker F. A. Verdon and a vessel believed to be a converted landing craft. The Verdon, proceeding north, had a gaping hole torn in its stern. The other craft continued south in the darkness.

VESSELS COLLIDE

The vessels collided about 200 yards south of the Williamsburg bridge connecting Brooklyn and Manhattan. At that point the river is about three-quarters of a mile wide.

The tug William J. Tracy nosed the damaged vessel against a sea wall on the Manhattan side. By the time the men were taken off the 205-foot tanker, the main aft deck was under water.

Contrary to first reports, the tanker did not burst into flames.

Verdon, carrying 10,000 barrels of fuel oil, was en route to West Haven, Conn., from Carteret, N. J.

HALLUCINATION—McGill students get $20 a day to enter this isolation cubicle in the university's psychological laboratories but soon find out it's a hard way to earn money. In addition to the cash, they get hallucinations and begin to "see things" — a feature of the investigation which may bring a solution to inexplicable train wrecks, air crashes and highway accidents. The idea is that engineers, pilots and motorists may be lulled into a hypnotic state by the necessity of lengthy, fixed attention under monotonous conditions.

U.S. Navy To Put 50 Ships In Mothballs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Navy says it is laying up the cruiser Quincy as the first of 50 ships to be put into mothballs. Almost simultaneously with this announcement Wednesday, Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson said Russia is outbuilding the U.S. and other North Atlantic treaty powers in cruisers, destroyers and other high - seas warships.

The U.S. Navy's budget has not been disclosed, but it is expected to take a substantial cut as part of the new Washington program in military expenditures featuring more reliance on air power and economies in other directions.

National security will not be impaired by the laying up of the U.S. ships, two members of the House of Representatives armed services committee said.

Chairman Dewey Short (Rep. Mo.), said the move will not "take away any of our major striking power," and Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.), ranking Democratic member, agreed.

Natives Fenced In

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Government officials today ordered barbed-wire fences set up around a part of the town of Nanyuki inhabited by 3,000 natives as a reprisal for the murder of three inhabitants by terrorists last week.

March of Time

HALIFAX (CP)—An old horse-watering trough on Lower Water street has been ordered demolished by the civic works committee. It hampers cars parking in the area.

Irish Soldiers Have Fought For Many Foreign Countries

"On foreign fields lie the soldiers and chiefs from Dunkirik to Belgrade of the Irish Brigade . . .
—Thomas Davis

Irish soldiers have fought under many flags. For almost 300 years they have gone forth from their homeland in tens of thousands to form companies, battalions and brigades in the armies of France, Spain, Britain, and the United States, and to serve as individuals in the forces of many more countries. During that period, there was scarcely a war fought in Europe, or in any part of the world where European influence extended, in which Irishmen did not play some part, says a Dublin release.

FRENCH RECOGNITION

France most of all, on whose battlefields so many Irishmen laid down their lives, remembers these soldiers of the past. "We acknowledge," said Louis XVIII, "the inappreciable services that France has received from the Irish Brigade in the course of the last hundred years — services that we shall never forget." He was speaking of the Irish regiments that fought sige by side with the French at Ramillies, Malplaquet, Fontenoy, Wandewash, and a dozen other battles, regiments whose gallant conduct their French successors, the old 87th, 88th and 92nd Regiments, of the Line were proud to remember.

The two centuries that followed the defeat of the Irish at the battle of Kinsale in 1601 saw an almost continuous emigration of Irishmen to serve as soldiers in Continental Europe. Irishmen had fought ouside their island before this. They had served on many occasions under the English kings in Wales and Scotland, and with Henry V at Rouen in 1418 and Henry VII at the seige of Boulogne in 1544. An Irish regiment fought in the Low Countries in the service of Spain from 1587 forward, and the Irish particularly distinguished themselves at the siege of Amiens in 1597, at the battle of the Dunes in 1600, and at the subsequent siege of Ostend.

But their failure successfully to resist the fresh conquest of their own country by the English at the beginning of the 17th century marked the real beginning of their exodus. Discontent at affairs civil and religious at home, and expulsion from their lands to make place for new proprietors from England, these were the driving forces that sent the men overseas.

RICHELIEU'S TIME

Irish military associations with France go back to the time of the formation of the first of the great armies of modern France in Richelieu's day. Franco - Irish units were well established during the exile of Charles II prior to the collapse of Cromwell's Commonwealth in 1660. The Irish regiment of the Duke of York, serving for France from 1652, and the first of the Franco-Irish regiments of Dillon, raised in 1653, both opposed the Irish regiments in the Spanish service in the warfare of the time. Similarly Hamilton's Irish regiment, which fought under Turenne on the Rhine, particularly distinguished itself at Altenheim in 1675, served against Spanish forces that included many of its compatriots.

But the real story of Franco-Irish comradeship in arms begins in 1690, when the units that have established almost a prescriptive right to the title Irish Brigade were first formed. Their formation was the echo of another Irish war. Once again a Stuart king had proved distasteful to the English, and once again the Irish were loyal to him. James II sought in 1689-1691 to hold Ireland with French assistance against King William, who had supplanted him in England. The Irish army was supported by six French infantry regiments in exchange for which three Irish regiments went to France. This was Mountcashel's Brigade, the nucleus of the Irish Brigade in the French service.

DARK PERIOD

The Treaty of Limerick (1691), which concluded the Jacobite war, Ireland and ushered in a period marked the end of Stuart hopes in of religious prescription, economic depression and social misery for the Irish people which lasted for almost a century.

At th eend of 1691 more than 10,000 men, the flower of the Irish Jacobite army, joined their countrymen of Mouncashel's Brigade in the service of France. With them went Patrick Sarsfield, gallant cavalry leader and idol of the troops, the most popular Irish general of any age.

The Irish Brigade thus formed served France until the fall of the ancient regime. How great was the effort on the part of one small nation which this service involved may be judged from a mid-eighteenth century statement that, during the 60 years preceding that time, 450,000 Irishmen had given their lives in the service of France.

Man Rescues Family From House Fire

The fire, which nearly trapped them in their beds, destroyed the three-room house on St. Jean street. It is believed to have started by the coal stove in the kitchen exploding, cutting off the exit to the rear door.

The front door had been plugged with insulation. Mr. McDonald smashed the bedroom window, dropped his son through the opening, helped his wife through and then crawled out himself with his clothes afire.

Earlier Call

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The Swedish army is asking parliamentary approval of its plan to call up conscripts for their first military service at 19, or one year earlier than at present. It is proposed to train part of each age class in advance because the yearly increase in eligible men is taxing training facilities.

Ancient Trove

OSLO (CP)—A large collection of bronze weapons and jewelry believed to date from 600-700 BC was discovered near Drobak in southeastern Norway. A museum expert here says the valuable find is the largest made in Norway in many years.

Beloved Boots

WAKEFIELD, England (CP)—An old pair of soccer boots was buried with Laurie Thorpe, 53-year-old rugby league referee who had used them for 15 years. He died while officiating at a recent match.

Met Conductor Asks Release From Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Conductor George Szell says he will terminate his services with the Metropolitan Opera after tonight's performance of "Tannhauser."

Szell, regular conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, for the last several years has been wielding the baton for the Met's German operas.

His desire to obtain a release from his Metropolitan contract was disclosed in a letter to his manager, Bruno Zirato. The conductor said his decision came "after careful consideration and under the impression of my recent experiences with present conditions at the Metropolitan Opera."

The letter did not elaborate.

Sources in the orchestra said relations between Szell and the musicians were "perfect."

"The management regrets Dr. Szell's decision."

Schooner Caught In Severe Storm

NEW YORK (AP)—A Columbia University ocean research schooner which was caught in a severe storm and lost a crew member overboard proceeded under its own power today toward Bermuda in subsided seas.

The 202-foot schooner Vema, carrying 20 persons including eight oceanographers, left New York on Jan. 7 for Bermuda, Puerto Rico and the Gulf of Mexico.

The United States coast guard cutter Spencer reached the ship early today and will accompany the Vema to Bermuda. The 550-ton schooner is in no immediate danger and "riding easy."

The missing man was identified by relatives as Charles M. Wilkie of West Lahave, N.S.

Expect To Restore Ferry Service

WALLACEBURG (CP) — Ferry service was expected to be restored today between the mainland and nearby Walpole island and its 1,000 Indian residents.

F. L. Hall, superintendent of Indian affairs for the Walpole Indian reserve, said the island was isolated Wednesday but late at night the ice floes moved to permit restoration of ferry service.

Bread and milk were hauled across the channel late Wednesday by men who picked a path over the ice floes.

Walpole island is at the junction of Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair river, about 25 miles south of Sarnia.

Grace Pledges $65,000 New Building

"Magnificent" co-operation on the part of public and parishioners has made erection of a new building for Grace United church possible, the Rev. G. Pollock told the annual congregational meeting Wednesday night. The congregation pledged to raise $65,000 over the next three years.

The new church building will likely be completed by early summer, Mr. Pollock announced. Main items of business at the meeting were long range plans for getting through the transitional period, and moving the young suburban congregation to the new site.

Eight new members have been added to the Board of Stewards to help handle growing construction problems. New stewards are James Waldie, Donald Mcnabb, William Gerow, Cy Whatley, Jack Kean, Jack Simmons, Harry Corner and George Stewart.

Membership of the Session of Elders has also been increased with the addition of the following: William McKinlay, E. Hotston, Bert Hooey, Douglas Montgomery and Morley Eves.

The service of installation for elders and stewards will be held in conjunction with the morning service next Sunday, January 20.

A musical program and refreshments followed the discussion of building plans and the reports of various church organizations. Several selections were given by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Frances Turner.

Colored Salt On Highways

HAMILTON (CP)—So that motorists may know without any doubt when salt has been spread on icy highways, the Ontario department of highways is seriously considering a scheme for coloring it before it is spread.

"It isn't sand or loam, either good or bad, that covers the car windshields during the winter cleaning of highways; it's salt," said J. D. Millar, deputy minister of highways. "If it were colored, the drivers would not only know it had been spread, but they would also know, from the color, what was splashing up on their windshields."

Mr. Millar said salt was by far the most economical method of removing frozen snow and ice from the pavements.

No Public Comment Given After Play

TORONTO (CP) — Adjudicator Graham Suter gave no public comment last night on the Playcraftsmen's production of Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo."

He told the audience at the Central Ontario Drama League festival that tonight "We have seen what happens when a good team [illegible] a really great play."

He said he would give the Toronto players a private adjudication [illegible] criticisms [illegible]

Prosecution Case Closed In Okonski Trial

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel of the Ontario Supreme Court Wednesday admitted as evidence a statement by Henry Kwieciarz that Okonski told him Nov. 27 he intended to kill his wife.

Okonski, showing signs of strain, half rose from his seat in the prisoner's dock to deny the assertion. Then, after consultation with defence counsel W. C. Inch, he sat quietly with his head in his hands.

Kwieciarz said he told Okonski, who met and married his wife in Europe before coming to Canada, that if he killed the woman he would get the death penalty.

"In Canada, it's a head for a head," he said he told Okonski.

"I killed my wife. I saw her kiss another man. She said 'No' but I saw her."

The trial is continuing.

Students Protest Egyptian Decision

KARACHI (AP)—About 200 Pakistani students today staged a prolonged demonstration outside the Egyptian embassy, protesting against the dissolution of the Moslem Brotherhood by the Egyptian government and the arrest of its leaders in Cairo Wednesday.

The students shouted slogans demanding immediate lifting of the ban and release of the leaders.

Inquiries from the offices of religious organizations here indicated general resentment, and it is thought they might organize further similar demonstrations throughout Pakistan.

Thomson May Be Next "Beaverbrook"

LONDON (CP) — World's Press News predicts today that Canadian publisher Roy Thomson may well be "the next Beaverbrook."

The weekly trade journal says in an editorial that Thomson starts with all those Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook lacked when he arrived to build his empire here—namely a successful newspaper publishing business in Canada.

"We can' be certain that Roy Thomson has not come to Scotland for a rest cure," says World's Press News. "He is a man who is not happy unless he is busy and we can see him shaking the newspaper business before many months have passed."

BOTH ONTARIO-BORN

Lord Beaverbrook, born in Maple, Ont., directs a group of newspapers forming one of Britain's largest publishing empires. Best known is The Daily Express, a slick morning paper sometimes described as the journal which brought sophistication to the suburbs.

Thomson, born in Toronto, arrived in Britain last week-end to take up residence in Edinburgh. From there he will direct three Scottish papers, headed by The Scotsman. He also has launched Canada Review, a weekly devoted to Canadian activities published in Bournemouth, England.

Building Grants For Hospitals

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips announced today that the Ontario government has approved special hospital construction capital grants to two northern Ontario hospitals: Espanola General hospital at Espanola and Bingham Memorial hospital, Matheson.

These special grants, said Dr. Phillips, are available only to smaller hospitals in territorial districts.

The Espanola General will receive $76,000, on the basis of $2,000 a bed for 34 active treatment beds and $666.66 for each of 12 nursery bassinettes.

The grant to Bingham Memorial at Matheson amounts to $64,666.66 on the basis of $2,000 for each of 29 active treatment beds and $666.66 for each of 10 nursery bassinettes.

These special grants are in addition to the usual grants of $1,000 per bed, and $333.33 per bassinette which already has been approved for both hospitals.

Finance Ministers Complete Discussions In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Finance ministers of the nine Commonwealth nations today completed their week-long discussions and prepared a final communique to be published at noon Friday (9 p. m. EST tonight).

Reliable reports said the communique is loaded with optimism about economic prospects for the Commonwealth this year.

The Melbourne Herald says today that within the next few months "far-reaching American decisions may be the starting point for a completely new bid to recast the world economy along the lines of much freer trading and commercial relations."

BELIEVE U.S. APPROVE

It says the reason for great optimism among the finance ministers is partly the prospect of an early and favorable U. S. reaction to the Commonwealth plan for eventually making sterling convertible with the dollar.

A senior conference official here derided suggestions that Britain might reimpose wartime austerity in order to finance Commonwealth projects. He said the funds for such projects must come from the ordinary private investor.

Richard Butler, British chancellor of the exchequer, is understood to have cautioned fellow ministers against exaggerating the strength of the London market. He pointed to the United Kingdom's heavy demands on capital.

The official said the London market would be examined to see how much British investors could afford to put into commonwealth development.

PORT HOPE FIRES POLICE FORCE OF 5

A NEW POLICE FORCE or rehire the old one is the decision that today faces Port Hope's town council that Thursday fired its four constables and sergeant and accepted the resignation of Chief Charles W. Graham. The police officers claim that the action was illegal while they were negotiating new wages. Thursday night the council members interviewed applicants and appointed four constables on a temporary basis. Shown here with candidate Glen Barry (standing left) are (left to right) Mayor Wilbur M. Find Poison In Napanee Man's Body

Report Strychnine Traces Spotted During Examination

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto paper in a newspage story today said that strychnine, a deadly poison, has been been found in the tissues of Percy Bell, 51-year-old engineer, whose body was disinterred under police supervision from a Napanee cemetery last week.

The paper gave no sources for its information but said traces of strychnine had been found in the course of a pathological examination of tissues taken from the man's body.

No laboratory or police source in Toronto, where the pathological examination of the tissue is taking place, could be reached who could confirm theh newspapers story. A provincial police CIB office spokesman here said there had been no report yet made on laboratory's examination of Bell's tissue.

NO CHARGES YET

The newspaper said no charges have yet been laid in the case but quoted Ontario provincial police inspector Frank Kelly as saying:

Bell died a painful death Jan. 2. His death was attributed to cerebral hemmorhage and he was buried in Riverview Cemetery at Napanee.

But on the basis of communications with relatives of the family the attorney-general's department issued an exhumation order and the body was exhumed from the grave under police supervision.

Bell's 47-year-old widow was not informed of the exhumation and termed it a scandalous move.

Council Acted Illegally Ex-Chief Declares, Had Right to Ask Arbitration

PORT HOPE (ENS)—Port Hope town council are meeting behind closed doors today to reconsider their decision Thursday afternoon to fire five constables of the local police force. The town is also without a chief constable as Chief Charles W. Graham resigned following council's action. J. A. Stringer, OPP district inspector from Peterborough headquarters, arrived early today in Port Hope to set up an interim police system pending some solution of the impasse that arose Thursday over a salary disagreement. Meanwhile there have been two developments:

SGT. BOB SMITH

1. Five rookie constables have been sworn-in to fill the breach. They are under the orders of OPP Cpl. Douglas Wilson of Cobourg and, indirectly, the OPP headquarters.

2. The ex-Port Hope policemen are claiming that the town council acted illegally in firing them. They say that under the Police Act the council should have taken the dispute to arbitration, not summarily dismissed them.

BEHIND HIS MEN

Chief Graham told the Examiner, shortly after 2 p.m. today that he was 100 per cent behind his men.

"I'm with them absolutely," he said. "The council acted contrary to the Police Act in dismissing them."

He would make no comment on any further action proposed by the police if council refuses to come to an understanding.

There were indications that council might back down from its stand after discussing the situation again today. If not, they will have to go ahead and appoint a permanent police force immediately or continue under OPP administration.

LETTERS OF DISMISSAL

The Port Hope council Thursday afternoon sent letters of dismissal to the sergeant and four constables when they learned that the police had refused to accept a compromise wage offer which was made during negotiations for a new salary schedule. Chief Graham, who had not been informed of the move, resigned at 5:30 p.m.

For half an hour Port Hope was without a police force but there were no reports of anybody taking advantage of the situation.

The council then pressed into service Lou Staples, who has been superintendent of the town hall, a former town constable and occasionally used as a special con-

Arrest Five In Road Graft Inquiry

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Five employees of the Fort William division of the Ontario department of highways, accused of breaches of trust and conspiracy to defraud following a departmental investigation here, have been arrested.

Provincial police said A. M. Mills, division engineer charged with breaches of trust and intent to defraud, and Douglas Cutting and Donald Gandier, clerks charged with conspiracy to defraud, were picked up here Thursday night. They were released on bail of $1,000.

Thomas Ayres, superintendent of the division's Fort William asphalt plant, was picked up at Bracebridge, 120 miles north of Toronto and Graham Turner, a clerk, was arrested at Cochrane. Both are accused of conspiracy to defraud.

Ayres and Turner are being returned to Fort William.

WARRANTS ISSUED

Warrants for the five were issued following the investigation which provincial Highways Minister Doucett said showed irregularities.

C. L. Dutton of Toronto has been named special prosecutor.

The amount of money mentioned in the cases of the other Year, Miss Margaret McCuloch; besides Mills was $18,625, the minister said.

In Chatham Thursday night, Opposition Leader Oliver said in an address to the West Kent Liberal Association:

"The inquiry must be taken out of the hands of the department in which the irregularities were committed. The public are not going to be satisfied by an investigation of a department by its own employees."

Indians Insist On Turning Back 22,500 PoWs

PANMUNJOM (AP)—An Indian spokesman said today that his command will turn back 22,500 unrepatriated Korean war prisoners whether the Allies or Communists want them or not.

The return will begin next Wednesday morning.

Although the Indians are awaiting replies to letters of notification sent both commands Thursday, the spokesman said the tenor of the replies will make little or no difference.

Asked by a reporter if the Indians will go ahead with their plan to get out of the prisoner-of-war business, the spokesman said with emphasis:

"It is not our plan—it is our decision."

THIMAYYA ACTS ALONE

His words echoed the determination shown by Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission, who said of the Indian project: "There has been no agreement—this is unilateral action by me."

The United Nations is certain to accept the prisoners at any time, but the attitude of the Communists is not known. Most Allied observers expect it to be strongly opposed.

2-Year Romance Ends As Dimag Marries Munroe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the former New York Yankee Clipper, has carried off his Hollywood lovely, Marilyn Monroe, leaving millions of fans wondering what will happen to her movie career.

DiMaggio and Miss Monroe were married in municipal court here Thursday after a two-year romance.

The ceremony was to have been secret, but an estimated 500 persons heard about it and jammed the corridors as the pair said their "I do's."

Judge Charles S. Peery who performed the brief ceremony said plaintively "I forgot to kiss the bride. And I'm sorry." But Joe kissed Marilyn repeatedly if somewhat bashfully for news photographers.

Then he whisked his cover girl away, saying "We've got to put a lot of miles behind us." He declined to say where they were driving on their honeymoon.

It was a single-ring wedding, with Marilyn promising to "love, honor and cherish"—not obey.

The crowd just gathered. First, there were camera men and reporters, then city hall employees and finally, just plain people. Some tried to peer over the transom into the courtroom.

After the wedding, Miss Monroe said, "we're very happy." Joe just grinned.

Children? Marilyn said she'd like six.

Joe said, "We'll have at least one."

Marilyn, who gave her age as 25, also was married previously—at the age of 16 to James Dougherty, a policeman now living in Van Nuys, Calif., whom she quickly divorced.

Marilyn said she has no plans now for films. She was suspended last week by 20th Century-Fox for not showing up for a role. In Hollywood, a studio spokesman said she told him she would be there in a week, but nothing was said about her working on the movie.

Marilyn was reared in a foundling home and had 11 sets of foster parents by the time she was 16, when she ventured into her first marriage.

Richard Humbly Apologizes

MONTREAL (CP)—Maurice Rocket Richard of Montreal Canadiens today "humbly and sincerely" apologized to president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League and to NHL governors for statements he made in a recent newspaper column. As evidence of good faith that he meant what he said in his statement of apology, Richard deposited a cheque for $1,000 with league headquarters. In a bylined column a week ago in the Montreal weekly Samedi-Dimanche, Richard blasted Campbell on several counts and called him a dictator. In his statement today, the Famous fiery Rocket said:

"I realize fully that the accusations made were unfounded and I am anxious that Mr. Campbell's integrity and the honesty of the game be established beyond question."

Campbell later told newspaper men in an interview that he is quite content with Richard's apology and is sure the league governors will be content.

"As far as I am concerned I hope the incident is closed," said Campbell.

"HONORABLE THING TO DO"

The statement, in the form of a letter addressed to Campbell and governors of the league, read:

"I have just concluded my second conference with Mr. Selke in which we discussed my column which appeared in Samedi-Dimanche under date Jan. 9.

". . . as I accept full responsibility for whatever was written I am anxious to undo any harm which has been done.

"When I wrote the article I did not realize how serious the accusations were—neither did it occur to me that the column would receive national coverage.

"Mr. Selke has brought this to my attention, and as the game of hockey has been very good to me I humbly and most sincerely apologize to President Campbell and the governors of the league. Not because I am forced to do so by my club, but because it is the honorable and sporting thing to do.

"If you see fit to accept this retraction then I will feel a great responsibility has been taken off my mind.

WILL STOP WRITING

"Mr. Selke has also advised me to discontinue writing in any newspapers or other publications during my career as an active player. To this I readily agreed. . . . These

Red Agents Taught To Use 2 Cheap Canadian Chemicals

SMITHS FALLS (CP)—Capt. J. H. Degraff says two cheap chemicals that can be combined to make a deadly incendiary explosive could be readily purchased in Canadian stores during the Second World War. The former British espionage agent and Russian army officer declined to identify the chemicals, but said Communist agents were taught to use them because they could be purchased without arousing suspicion.

The stocky, 60-year-old Canadian business man, who until recently was known only as "Capt. Johnny X," was a guest speaker Thursday night at the Smiths Falls Lions Club meeting.

GIVES DEMONSTRATION

He referred to the two chemicals as "rat poison" and "pepper-and-salt." To demonstrate their effectiveness as a sabotage weapon, he mixed small quantities on the top of a tin can, activating them with a drop of water. The resulting flash of yellow flame melted the top of container.

Capt. Degraff, who worked with the RCAMP during the Second World War, said the mixture could be set off in time merely by air moisture. He told the RCMP during the war that this was probably the method used to start the fire that gutted the liner Normandie in New York harbor.

While working with the RCMP, he purchased the chemicals in a Montreal store. The Canadian government subsequently banned sales, but even then, he could still buy the chemicals. He simply told the shopkeeper he wanted the chemicals for rat poison.

"It is easy to convince peace-loving people to give you something that is forbidden," he said.

Quebec Taxes To Be Heaviest

OTTAWA (CP)—About one-half of Quebec's 600,000 income taxpayers will become the most heavily taxed citizens in Canada under Premier Duplessis' new tax bill, federal officials said today.

They based that conclusion on Mr. Duplessis' explanation that the new Quebec tax will be equivalent to 15 cents out of every dollar paid under the federal income tax.

Quebec will be the only province exacting provincial tolls on income. All other provinces have signed agreements with the federal government renting their income tax fields to Ottawa in return for a fixed annual payment.

Under federal law, a person paying a provincial tax can claim deduction from his federal tax bill of five per cent or one-twentieth of his federal payment.

That is, a man paying $500 federal income tax can—providing he also pays a provincial tax equivalent to or exceeding five per cent of that federal payment — claim credit of a maximum of $25 against the federal payment.

E. Berlin May Get Half Parley Sessions

BERLIN (CP) — Diplomatic sources said today the Western powers will probably agree to hold half the Big Four foreign ministers' sessions in East Berlin in order to prevent further delay in arranging a site for the conference.

The report came as the three Western commandants made plans for resumption of preliminary talks with Russia to arrange a site for the Big Four meeting.

In preliminary talks, which became deadlocked over the question of the site, the West's three Berlin commandants had insisted that three meetings be held in West Berlin to each one in the East.

Ask U.K. Intelligence Investigate Crash

LONDON (Reuters) — The London Evening News says today British intelligence officers have been asked to investigate the possibility of sabotage in the crash of a Comet jet airliner off the Island of Elba last Sunday.

However, British Overseas Airways Corporation and the ministry of civil aviation denied the report.

Missing Plane Puzzles RCAF

NORTH BAY (CP)—RCAF officials expressed mystification today at failure to locate a missing T-33 jet training plane, overdue since Tuesday in the North Bay local area with one man aboard.

Missing is Pilot Officer Charles Edward Ness of Dawson Creek, B.C. He was last heard from by radio at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A fleet of search planes and a helicopter have twice combed the area without result and a third search was scheduled to get under way today. Fighting snowstorms and poor visibility, the fleet has conducted a methodic mile-by-mile check of the farms and bushland surrounding North Bay.

The RCAF believes the missing aircraft is within 30 miles of the city.

Waves Sweep Ewing Off Boat

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — William Maurice Ewing, 57, noted American geologist, was taken to hospital early today suffering from exposure and shock after having been washed overboard with three others on a stormy voyage from New York in a research schooner. Charles Wilkie, 35, of West LaHave, N.S., perished in the storm.

The schooner docked here under escort of the United States coast guard cutter Spencer after riding out the storm. She came in last night under her own power, although badly damaged.

Ewing and three other members of an ocean research party from Columbia University, New York, were swept by mountainous waves from the deck of the 200-foot schooner Vema during a gale Wednesday morning. Wilkie, first mate, lost his life.

Fine seamanship by the skipper, Capt. Don Gould of New Brunswick, N.J., and sailing master Fred McMurray of New York, brought the Vema around in the gale to pick up the three who survived the mishap.

Canada Doesn't Want US In Seaway—Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator John Butler (Rep. Md.) said today Canada does not want the United States to join it in construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Butler, a foe of the project, said he considers the proposed 27-foot-deep Great Lakes-to-the-Atlantic waterway unwise from the point of view of U. S. interests.

He told the Senate, in the third day of its latest debate on legislation that would authorize the U. S. to join with Canada in constructing the controversial project, that he has no objection to Canada building it with its own resources "and without cost to the United States."

Butler began the reading of a 167-page speech in opposition to the project even as the pro-seaway forces were making claims of victory.

Butler quoted Lionel Chevrier, Canadian minister of transport, as having said Canada is "ready, willing and able to proceed with the seaway at her own expense and without cost to the American taxpayer."

Senators George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) and Edward Thye (Rep.-Minn.) have indicated they believe a filibuster may be brewing among seaway opponents. Aiken and Thye favor the measure.

Snow-Going Vehicles Given Defence Tests

KAPUSKASING (CP) — Snow-going vehicles are undergoing trials here in the biggest defence research experiments since the Sherman tank was tested at Kapuskasing in 1943.

The tests, designed to iron out kinks in several types of experimental and production snow vehicles, are sponsored by the Canadian Army, the defence research board and the United States Army.

A crew of 35 technicians and observers are in the town, but details of the tests are being kept under security wraps.

J. G. Thomson, defence scientific research officer from Ottawa, said their main purpose is to acquire information about design features best suited for travel in certain types of snow conditions.

Income Decreases

OTTAWA (CP)— Income earned by Canadians employed by manufacturing companies skidded sharply last October. The bureau of statistics said today wages and salaries in manufacturing dropped $5,000,000 compared with September. The loss was distributed among companies producing food and beverages, textiles and clothing, wood products and automobiles. Income received by persons employed in primary industries, particularly agriculture and fishing, also decreased $3,000,000 during the month.

Ont. Legislature Opens Feb. 11

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's 1954 session will start Thursday, Feb. 11th, it was announced Thursday night.

An earlier opening, reported to have been preferred by the Progressive Conservative government headed by Premier Frost, was not possible because of a by-election called for Feb. 8 to fill the Simcoe East seat left vacant by the death of Dr. J. D. McPhee, a Progressive Conservative.

If the session is the usual length, about seven weeks, it will end about April 1, early enough to satisfy farmer members who want to get on the land as early as possible.

The standing in the 90-seat house: Progressive Conservative, 78, Liberal 8, CCF 2, Labor-Progressive (Communist) 1, vacant 1.

Need To Be Engineer

Car Control Markings Too Complicated

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Ralph Thomas of the American Automobile Association put out a call for help today for the driver confounded by the almost infinite variations of control positions and markings that have come along with automatic transmissions.

In comments released through the AAA headquarters Thomas said he is "pretty well convinced that only an advanced scholar, automotive engineer or someone versed in identifying government 'alphabet agencies' " could figure it all out.

"We hope," he said, "that automobile manufacturers will agree soon on a standardized pattern before they run out of alphabet or drivers go out of their minds trying to figure out what the symbols and letters mean."

(For the benefit of persons even more confused than Thomas it may be explained that those symbols show where the control lever should be set to get the car in various forward speeds, reverse, neutral and parking position).

"But you have to give it to the car markers," Thomas went on, mentioning the multiplicity of "fascinating" names adopted by the various makers for the transmission devices themselves. Most of them end in "matic."

"All sorts of 'matics,' " Thomas concluded, "when all the motorist wants is that the makers be a little more 'syste-matic.' "

Ease Off Dollar Market

Will Go All-Out Now For World Trade

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Finance ministers of the British Commonwealth today announced their determination to go all-out for world trade instead of concentrating their efforts on dollar markets.

They wound up a week-long conference here with a statement proclaiming their confidence in the Commonwealth's "high destiny" and reflecting the improved state of the sterling area's gold and dollar reserves.

A communique said efforts to earn dollars should not be relaxed, "but it is just as important today that we should earn a substantial surplus" in other markets wherever they are.

TO CONTINUE POLICY

The document pledged Britain to continue this policy through both private and official channels in 1954 despite the "burdens and risks" entailed.

But it said the governments contemplate no changes in financial policy except where necessary "to encourage increased production for export and to stimulate savings, upon which the development of the Commonwealth substantially depends.

The communique acclaimed the "marked improvement in the fortunes of the sterling area" which had resulted during 1953 in a large increase in gold and dollar reserves.

MAINTAIN SURPLUS

In 1954, "We agreed that the sterling area as a whole would seek to maintain a substantial surplus in its payments with the rest of the world."

R. A. Butler, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, told a press conference the Commonwealth now can "go forward with a great deal of confidence."

The Canadian delegation, headed by Finance Minister Abbott, attended largely in an observer's role.

RC Teachers In Toronto Decide Strike

Protest Salary Scale

In High School Dispute

TORONTO (CP)—As hopes brightened for settlement of differences between Toronto secondary school teachers and the board of education, a group of 60 Roman Catholic primary teachers threatened Thursday night to walk out of their classrooms next Tuesday.

The Toronto Catholic Married Women Teachers' Association representing 60 Roman Catholic primary teachers in the Toronto area decided to strike unless the Metropolitan Separate School Board agrees to pay them in accordance with individual experience rather than with a scale set up last Nov. 22.

"EMERGENCY SUPPLY"

Mrs. Mary O'Brien of St. Clare's School said Catholic married teachers have been regarded by the Ontario English-Catholic Teachers' Association and the Separate School Board as "emergency supply staff" for many years.

"These days we are doing the same jobs as single teachers," she said. "In fact, there are very few of us who don't attend classes from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day. It is obvious that the 'emergency staff' title is outmoded."

The maximum for single women teachers is $3,000, Mrs. O'Brien said.

Meanwhile, the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation offered to call off its ban on extra-curricular activities by Toronto teachers if the board of education will give salary scale discussions "top priority as board business."

Board chairman Gordon Ferguson said later:

"We will be pleased to give such negotiations top priority so long as they are not expected to disrupt regular business of the board."

WORK TOGETHER

The federation, engaged in a dispute with the board over the single salary schedule, previously set Jan. 22 as the date for commencement of the extracurricular activities ban. If the curtailment had gone into effect, teachers would have stopped coaching athletic teams, helping with dramatics, and supervising preparation of year books.

Central Technical School students threatened Thursday to walk out after the board imposed a two-day ban on student assemblies. The ban, imposed in connection with the teachers' dispute, was later lifted.

High school student council presidents, who last week backed the teachers in the dispute, Thursday night decided to take no further action except to work together to bring about increasingly close contact between schools in their various dances, sports and dramatic shows.

450 Plotters Jailed As Egypt Cracks Down

The communique said the Brotherhood, which claimed a membership of 2,000,000 at the height of its power in Egypt, conspired with the Communists to foment disorder in this strategic Middle East country.

Representatives of the Brotherhood also were charged with making secret contacts with British leaders, resulting in a weakening of Egypt's position in the lengthy negotiations over the future of the vital Suez canal zone.

Ontario Opposes State Health

TRENTON (CP)—Ontario Health Minister Phillips Thursday told the Trenton branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses that "the Ontario government is definitely opposed to a state health scheme."

Speaking to the branch's annual meeting Dr. Phillips said "Such plans have been tried in western provinces and were, in the main, more costly and less efficient than privately sponsored schemes like the Blue Cross."

The health minister said that Canada "is the world leader" in general health policy matters, and added that "the United States lags considerably behind."

"On general health policy matters," Dr. Phillips said, "Ontario is far ahead of other jurisdictions in Canada and this country, as a whole, is the world leader."

Dr. Phillips said he thought that health units on a county basis soon will be set up in Trenton, Belleville and the rest of Hastings county.

Officer Found Innocent In Windsor Shooting

WINDSOR (CP)—Constable Gordon Prior of Windsor police was found innocent of blame Thursday in an inquest into the death of William Ruscior of Timmins.

Ruscior died Jan. 8 in hospital after a bullet from Prior's gun struck him during a chase in the early hours of the morning. Prior surprised four men near a hotel and gave chase when they ran.

They split up and he followed Ruscior, ordering him to halt. The policeman said he fired two shots over his head, then aimed at his legs. Ruscior eluded Prior but was picked up and taken to hospital by another constable cruising the area in a taxi.

Increases Bring MPs Yearly Pay To $10,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of Parliament are to receive indemnity increases which will bring their total pay to $10,000 a year, it was learned Thursday.

plus an annual $2,000 expense account, the latter tax free for MPs

The indemnity is to be doubled to $8,000 and the expense allowance left unchanged.

The $8,000 indemnity will be paid annually, in monthly instalments. The current indemnity is paid each session of Parliament and a member theoretically could collect $12,000 if three were held in a year. This formula is being scrapped. The allowance will continue to be paid in a lump sum at the end of each year.

CABINET MINISTERS

Annual salary for cabinet ministers, now $10,000, is to be raised to $15,000 a year, giving them a total of $27,000 a year, because they also receive a $2,000 annual automobile allowance, sessional indemnities and expense allowance.

Opposition Leader Drew is expected to receive the same salary increase as the ministers. He and the ministers now receive $18,000.

The prime minister, who now receives $23,000, including a salary of $15,000, will get a total of $37,000 a year with a salary increase of $10,000.

Man Sentenced 2nd Time Hang

QUEBEC (CP) — Ovila Boucher, 35-year-old blacksmith, today was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged April 9 for the 1951 ax-slaying of a 77-year-old storekeeper at nearby St. Henri de Levis.

Defence counsel said the conviction will be appealed.

The conviction and sentence were Boucher's second on the same charge. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged for the slaying of George Jabour during a robbery at the elderly man's store, June 3, 1951. The first trial was in 1952.

The jury deliberated about 30 minutes today.

Federal Experts Studying Meteor

MONTREAL (CP)—Federal experts are investigating the appearance of a meteorite over eastern Canada Wednesday, Charles M. Good, vice-president of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada said Thursday.

Mr. Good said public information on the height and speed of the meteorite is being sought by the Dominion Observatory in Ottawa.

Afternoon Trading Sees Groups Higher

TORONTO (CP) — Most groups were higher in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Only utilities and textiles were lower in industrials trading. Motors, papers, liquors and steels led higher. General Motors and Ford were both $1.25 higher. Ford reached an all-time high of $70.50. Hayes, a seldom-traded steel, was up $1.

Western oils were higher following 35- and 30-cent leads by Canadian Atlantic and Calvan.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals showed only slight changes.

Suggest Beer Garden In Kitchener If Legal

KITCHENER (CP)—An old-fashioned German beer garden with singing waiters may be operated here next summer—if it's legal.

Dr. Alex Potter suggested it today to a committee meeting planning the city's Centennial Week June 27 to July 3.

He said accordion groups passing among the guests and mugs of flowing beer would bring back the "good old days" in the city where many persons are of German extraction.

Committee chairman Sid McLennan said cider could be substituted if authorities refused to approve serving beer.

London Enjoys Spring Rest Of U.K. Hit Hard

LONDON (AP)—London basked today in spring-like weather while gales battered Scotland, Ireland and northern England.

Wind and driving rain felled a tree which ripped off the top deck of a bus in Edinburgh. A number of bus passengers were injured.

The air ministry reported full gales blowing in Ireland and in the Hebrides. Southern England was warned that full gales could be expected.

stable. Four other men were sworn in on a temporary basis.

OPP Inspector J. A. Stringer of the OPP headquarters at Peterborough, said that the OPP constable in the area had been instructed to give special attention to the Port Hope district on Thursday night.

[illegible] police station early this morning and has been [illegible] in what capacity he is acting in connection with the resignation of the members of the local police department or how long he will remain there.

Fired were Sergt. Bob Smith and constables Bob O'Brien, Don Henderson, Vern Lees and Ross Henderson. The method of their dismissal took them entirely by surprise. Each received a letter from the town council, borne to them by Arthur Mark, town clerk and treasurer, shortly before four p.m.

The letter advised each that he was discharged as of receipt of the notice. They will get two weeks' pay in lieu of notice. Shortly before five p.m. Chief Constable Graham tendered his resignation, effective as of 5:30 p.m that date.

ASKED $300 RAISE

At the meeting of the town council Monday night there was a request from Chief Graham for a $300 yearly salary boost for all the members of his department, except Constable Ross Henderson, newest member on the force, who automatically got an increase at the beginning of this year. Chief Graham asked no raise for himself. The $300 boost would have raised the sergeant's pay to $3,100 and the other members to $3,000, which is the same as is paid to Cobourg police officers.

Council would not agree to the $300 raise, but offered an increase of $100 or, as an alternative, a pension plan to which each man would contribute yearly $135, an amount which would be matched by the corporation.

The town council stipulated that the men had until five p.m. next Monday to accept one or the other proposals or else their services would be terminated, and sent each an agreement to sign.

Thursday morning all members with the exception, of course, of the chief, sent a letter to the council in which they pointed out that the only agreement which they would sign would be one for the $300 increase, and if council would not grant it, they would ask for an arbitration under the Police Act. They returned the unsigned agreements with the letters.

Council had held a private meeting earlier, and when the letters from the police were received they called another closed session and authorized the letters dismissing the men.

RESIGNATION

"It is with deep regret that I tender my resignation as chief constable of the town of Port Hope. I take this action because I have been informed that the members of the 1954 council were unanimous in discharging one sergeant and four constables this date, leaving me no alternative. In fairness to the taxpayers of Port Hope, I hereby tender my resignation to take place at 5.30 p.m., January 14, 1954."

At 5.25 p.m., Mayor Wilbur N. Moore walked into the police station, asked for the keys of the office from Chief Graham, who handed them over and left. The mayor locked up and departed. The police station was in darkness and for the ensuing half-hour the town was without police protection.

However, shortly after 6 p.m., the police committee appointed Lou Staples, caretaker at the town hall, and former member of the police force, to take charge of the office and of the men who would subsequently be appointed and sworn in as contables.

Sid Wakely, former member of the police force for a brief period of time, was appointed a constable soon after Lou Staples went on duty.

The town council then held a special, closed session in the town hall at seven p.m. and then adjourned while Deputy-Reeve Art Smith, who is chairman of the police committee, sat in with the Mayor and Councillor Jim Carr, the other member of the committee present, and interviewed applicants for jobs on the force. These would be temporary appointments.

"We have to take immediate steps to see that the town is not left without police protection," said the deputy-reeve.

"We will get by, all right," predicted Mayor Moore. "We have Lou Staples down at the police office now and he will have some men tonight to help look after things. We have also asked the provincial police to help out tonight," he said.

BELIEVE COUNCIL WRONG

Chief Graham commented: "I don't like the idea of the men being fired simply because they asked for a raise. I think the council is wrong in the action they took.

"When they dismissed the men they were going to put green ones under me. When I became chief in 1948 the council passed a resolution that I would hire and fire the men. I certainly would resent having green men appointed and with no authority from me to appoint them.

"I feel sorry for the boys. They are all veterans except Vern Lees and he was too young to go. They are all paying for their homes."

Word of what had happened, circulated through the town Thursday night with great speed and it is predicted that the whole town will be aroused before the situation is disposed of, one way or the other.

Police Dismiss Immigrant Girl's Story

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario provincial police today dismissed reports that a 26-year-old Italian girl, who said she was thrown from a speeding express train outside To-

Deputy Commissioner William [illegible] walked out of the conference hut last month. The deputy commissioner made his statement following the arrival here of detective sergeant August Finel of the Montreal social welfare squad. He will interview the girl, Sophie Di Domenico in hospital where she is recovering from injuries suffered in her fall from the train.

HAD BEEN IN CUSTODY

The "new information" referred to by Commissioner Lougheed was that the girl was placed under "protective custody" of Montreal police a year ago and had been residing at a Montreal home for Italians on St. Dominic street there.

He said a thorough provincial police check failed to indicate a single thread to connect her case with reports credited to Port Credit police that the girl was a victim of a Mafia gang.

The girl told police Thursday through an interpreter from her hospital bed that five men threw her from the train as it neared Toronto. She could give no reason why the men attacked her.

Miss Di Domenico was taken to hospital Tuesday night after being found in a snow-filled ditch at the bottom of railway track embankment. She suffered some injuries but her condition is not serious.

Police and immigration officials said the mental condition of the young immigrant had been "exploited" and they were inclined to disbelieve her story that she was thrown from the train.

Police chief Joseph Nelson of the Port Credit police, said while he doubts the case is tied up with the Mafia he does still suspect the girl was the victim of "a gang dealing in trafficking of women to Montreal."

"They prey especially on young immigrant girls who cannot speak English and look for them after they have finished their year in domestic employment and are finding difficulty getting other jobs."

Kenya Court Upholds Term

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Kenya Supreme Court today upheld the seven-year jail sentence passed on Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta April 8 for organizing the outlawed anti-white Mau Mau organization.

Kenyatta and five other Africans appealed against the conviction by a magistrate's court. All had received similar sentences.

Announcing judgment today, the Supreme Court upheld the magistrate's conviction of all the Africans except one—Richard Achiong, whose appeal was allowed.

Achiong is a Jaluo tribesman, not a Kikuyu. The Supreme Court held that the evidence did not sufficiently support his conviction and they had grave doubts whether he was a member of the Mau Mau, although they were satisfied he was sympathetic to them.

Beat Wife, Daughter Gets 6 Months, Lashes

OSHAWA (CP)—Curtis McClure, 39, of Pickering today was sentenced to five lashes and six months in reformatory on charges of beating his wife and 15-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Dora McClure testified her husband grabbed her by the throat, threw her on the floor and kicked her. She suffered a cut forehead.

Beverly Ann McClure said her father hit her with an open hand, cutting her face with a ring, and then kicked her.

Liaison Secretaries Adjourn Fail To Revive Conference

Plan Saving Niagara Beauty By Controlling River Waters

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States today took their first major step to preserve and enhance the scenic beauty of the world-famous Niagara falls.

The international Niagara board of control announced that the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario has awarded a $1,813,149 contract to Canadian Vickers Ltd. The company will build 13 basculetype gates and operating machinery for a control structure in the Niagara river at the head of the cascades about a mile above the Horseshoe falls.

The board made the announcement simultaneously in Ottawa, Washington and Chicago.

UNDER 1950 TREATY

The control structure will be part of the remedial works recommended by the international joint commission to preserve and improve the falls' beauty. The recommendations were approved by the Canadian and American governments last July and the work will be carried out under provisions of a 1950 treaty providing for uses of waters of the Niagara river.

Total cost of the remedial works is estimated at $17,536,000 with an estimated annual cost for maintenance and operation of $100,000. Under terms of the 1950 treaty the cost of the works and their operation and maintenance will be divided equally between the two governments.

The control structure will extend about 1,550 feet into the Niagara river from the Canadian shore. It will ensure an adequate distribution of flow to the American falls as well as provide flow conditions at the head of Goat island and in the vicinity of the Three Sisters islands which will preserve scenic beauty.

The structure will maintain the upper Niagara river and Lake Erie at the levels which would prevail under existing conditions of flow and power diversions and make possible maximum use of additional diversion authorized for power purposes. It also will maintain the flows over the falls required under the treaty.

Remedial work will also include an excavation along the Canadian flank of the Horseshoe falls with a crest fill extending out about 100 feet from the Canadian shore and an excavation along the Goat island shore. Under terms of the treaty the work must be completed by July, 1957.

Officials of the resources department said the Horseshoe falls are eroding in the centre where the flow of water is concentrated. The excavations along the flanks of the falls will allow water to flow over the falls along a greater area and the crest fill will build up the lip of the falls on the flanks.

Scarlet Fever Hits Township

ROSENEATH (ENS)—An unusually large number of scarlet fever cases have been reported in Almwick township.

Dr. Charlotte Horner, medical officer of health for the Northumberland-Durham health unit, says that the outbreak is not serious. It is a comparatively mild form of the infectious disease.

The Alnwick outbreak follows a similar one recently in the Port Hope district. Dr. Horner expects more cases will be reported before the disease peters out in the community.

One Alnwick family is reported to be particularly hard hit. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Timlin and their daughter, Cheryl, are all ill with scarlet fever in their farm home.

The last six months have brought bad luck to the Timlins. Their only son, Ronald, was fatally injured last summer when the tractor he was driving went out of control.

Opposition Fighting Mail Rate Boosts

Call Postal Increase

"Primer April Fool"

OTTAWA — (CP)—Opposition parties in the Commons have indicated they will fight at every stage the government's proposal to boost first-class postal rates by one cent an ounce.

They attempted unsuccessfully to block Commons consideration of the plan Thursday and then kept the debate going until adjournment.

Postmaster-General Cote said the increase is "not a popular thing."

"However, I am not here to do the popular thing; I am here to do my duty."

The post office policy was to pay its own way and the increase was the "only equitable way" to meet increased costs of $13,500,000 a year from salary boosts, a shorter work week effective April 1 and improved rural mail deliveries.

Opposition speakers urged that higher costs be met from general taxation and that the post office seek savings through increased efficiency.

"APRIL FOOL"

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) described the April 1 increase as "a proper April fool."

Debate was on a motion preparatory to introducing a bill to implement the postal increases. The Liberals defeated, by a vote of 136 to 77, a combined opposition attempt to block consideration of the motion.

Proposed increases in first-class rates:

1. On mailings beyond postal areas, five cents instead of four for the first ounce and three cents instead of two for each additional ounce;

2. On mailings within postal areas, four cents instead of three for the first ounce and three cents instead of two for each additional ounce.

The government also plans on April 1 to eliminate the seven-cent domestic airmail rate, carrying all first-class mail within Canada by air where there are facilities. The rate within postal areas, now confined to city and town deliveries, will be extended to rural routes within each postal area.

Mr. Cote said the increases would bring in an additional $14,000,000. This was needed to meet new costs of $5,000,000 for introducing the five-day week in certain localities, $7,000,000 for salary increases last Dec. 1 and $1,500,000 for improvements in rural mail services.

Improvements in postal service were being made.

Mrs. Fairclough said the post office has made profits in the past and there is no reason to offset a possible future deficit without first seeing if there will be a deficit.

The new expenditures anticipated could be covered by last year's profit of $6,500,000, ending the free-mail privileges of government departments which cost $5,000,000 a year and retaining the seven-cent domestic airmail rate.

Lindsay Broker Charged With Theft Of $6,100

LINDSAY (ENS)'— A Lindsay real estate broker, Lloyd Babcock, was today remanded for one week in police court on two charges of theft, totalling $6,100. The charges were laid by the Crown Attorney following private com[illegible] Calvert, and $4,200 from Velma Raffman. Details of the charges were not given.

Babcock and asked for a remand of two weeks. Crown Attorney Jordan asked for the short period, however. Babcock is free on bail of $4,000 on the first charge.

Liquor Fines Total $230

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Fines totalling $230 were levied for offences under the Liquor Control Act when Magistrate R. B. Baxter presided at police court here on Thursday.

Two Campbelford men were fined $100 and costs each after pleading guilty to ilegal possession of liquor. A plea of guilty on a charge of intoxication cost one man $10 and $2.50 costs. A fourth man was charged with illegal possession and paid $20 and $2.50 costs.

No charges under the Highway Traffic Act were on the docket.

Punchboard Salesman Fined $25 And Costs

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Frank Peddlesden, 48, of Trenton was fined $25 and costs Thursday by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, for conveying punch boards for use in gambling.

Peddlesden was arrested by police as he attempted to make a delivery to a local store last week. Police seized 131 punch boards which were held as evidence.

First Atomic-Powered Sub To Revolutionize Warfare

Note: This is the first of two articles on the history making first atomic-powered submarine.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

GROTON, Conn. (NEA). — Mamie Eisenhower is about to be the star of an event which history might record as more significant than any ceremony her husband ever performed.

She is going to smash a bottle of good domestic champagne against the nose of the first atomic powered submarine, the USS Nautilus, and send it grinding into the cold waters of the Thames River in Connecticut Thursday.

At this moment she renders practically every fighting ship on the world's seas obsolete. She effects a vital step in the long-range modernization of America's defences around nuclear explosives and atomic power.

Probably more important, because this is the first use of atomic energy for ship propulsion, the First Lady's launching formally opens the door for vast civilian uses of this tremendous new source of power.

If you accept the fact that nuclear fission produces great heat, it's easy to understand the revolutionary power plant in the Nautilus. Fission heats distilled water kept under high pressure in stainless steel pipes an inch and one-half thick. This hot distilled water is used to turn the water in another adjoining system into steam. Through a fairly simple arrangement of gears, the steam turns the sub's propellers.

The Nautilus also has auxiliary battery and diesel engine plants for propulsion when the nuclear reactor isn't working.

USES NO OXYGEN

Two unique features of this atomic power plant make it revolutionary. It does not burn oxygen. And only a few pounds of nuclear fuel are needed to keep it going for months, literally. One pound of fissionable material is equivalent to the energy from 2,600,000 pounds of coal.

Even without this tremendous but small package of atomic power which doesn't burn oxygen, enemy subs came within a hair of licking the U.S. in both world wars. With it, the submarine becomes practically a new weapon. The atomic sub can travel around the world far below the surface.

Submerged, it travels about 30 miles per hour, and faster in emergencies. It can catch up with just about any warship or commercial vessel afloat, launch torpedoes, and escape. It can dive deep enough and move fast enough to get away from known anti-submarine weapons.

It's the best weapon yet created to combat the Russian sub fleet. The only weapon it is vulnerable to is another atomic sub.

The nuclear-powered submarine is known to be an excellent platform for the launching of guided missiles off enemy coastlines. It can land assault troops on enemy shores, act as a navigational picket ship and travel under the 40-foot thick polar ice cap from Alaska or Greenland to Russia.

Navy spokesmen flatly claim that a relatively small fleet of A-subs can sweep the world's oceans free of all surface ships. Because a submarine has less friction moving underwater than vessels moving on the surface, it's conceivable that eventually all sea travel will be moved by atomic power under the surface.

One day recently, while workmen on the Nautilus were at lunch, a small group of newsmen were given the first and last look permitted of the insides of the Nautilus—at least the last for many years. It was just prior to the start of putting in the secret controls and instruments.

TWICE AS MUCH ROOM

Most impressive features are its general size and the crew-comfort facilities ebing installed. Quarters, passageways and work rooms seem to be roughly twice as large as those of the fleet-type subs. Forty-five men can watch a movie in the mess hall. That's about half of the total crew.

It will have the most scientifically-planned interior decoration scheme ever cooked up for a crew at sea. Quarters for the older men will have "sophisticated" colors and for the younger men the walls will be 'gay." Even the shower rooms will have scientific colors.

Because crew endurance is the only limit to the length of time the Nautilus can stay submerged, everything possible is being built into it to stretch that endurance. Huge movie, book, magazine, game and record libraries will be kept aboard. Specially designed air purifiers will constantly wash the sub's atmospher to keep it fresh and make maximum use of the oxygen which is stored aboard under high pressure.

Another startling feature of the Nautilus is its vast forward torpedo room, eventually expected to carry atomic weapons.

During the sub's design stage numerous sample assemblies of key parts of the boat were subjected to underwater explosion tests. This accounts for the great impressions of strength and sturdiness of the masses of pipes, wire, electrical equipment and instruments. The Nautilius is built to stand more battle punishment than any sub ever built.

STEEL SHIELDS

Although for the press tour huge canvases covered the mid-section which houses the reactor, the thickness of the steel shielding which protects the crew from radiation was visible.

Instead of a knife edge, the sub has a bulbous bow, the most efficient design for submerged travel. Overall it has clean, round lines with practically no protuberances to cause extra friction. Equipment which extends from the hull can also be retracted. The outer skin is extremely heavy sheet steel.

When Mamie Eisenhowers's champagne bottle knocks the Nautilus into the water, there will still be a lot of work to be done on it before the sub is turned over to the Navy for the first operational tests. How long that will be is a secret. So are a lot of other things about the Nautilus, its reactor and performance abilities.

The one thing that can't be kept secret, however, is the revolution the Nautilus creates in sea warfare and the hope that it holds for more and more everyday practical use of atomic energy.

Powell May Stop New Play 'Caine Mutiny'

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says today in a Hollywood dispatch that film star Dick Powell is discussing with lawyers his removal from the position as [illegible]

The dispatch says Powell has not decided, however, on legal steps to halt the show's New York [illegible] the contract with Paul Gregory and Charles Laughton, owners of the company presenting the show which played in Toronto Thursday night, guaranteed him a percentage of the gross, "proper publicity and credit for his efforts" in direction of the production.

Powell said his agents had received a telegram from Gregory saying he was being removed from the "advertised and publicized" position as director.

BUSY ON MOVIE

Powell said he has not travelled with the show because he was occupied in direction of a Hollywood movie.

In Toronto Thursday, Henry Fonda, Lloyd Nolan and John Hodiak, top-ranking movie actors who star in the play, called Powell "talentless," "a punk" and "absolutely incompetent" as a director. Laughton has been directing the one-night stands since Powell left five days after the show opened in California.

The play's advance New York sale has been reported as $800,000.

Canada Is Magnet

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sidney Warhaft, 1949 graduate of the University of Manitoba, returned from studies in Paris to say Europeans consider Canada "the promised land." He said "They all want to come here, and once they know you're a Canadian, there is nothing they won't do for you."

Dean Denies Favoring Policy Of Appeasement Over China

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur H. Dean, special United States ambassador to Korea, has denied favoring a policy of "appeasement" toward Red China, as charged by Senator Herman Welker (Rep. Idaho) and terms Welker's attack on him a "great aid to the Communists."

In a Senate speech Thursday, Welker referred to an interview [illegible] said:

"Mr. Dean offers the view which has long been held by pro-Red [illegible] Chinese Communists are more interested in developing themselves in China than they are in international communism.'

FOE OF APPEASEMENT

Dean, a former law partner of State Secretary Dulles, broke off preliminary peace talks with the Communists at Panmunjom Dec. 12 after the Reds accused the United States of "perfidy" in the release last June by South Korea of 27,000 anti-Communist Korean war prisoners.

Dean called a press conference Thursday night. He said:

"I am 100 per cent against appeasement or knuckling under, and to the best of my knowledge and belief I have fought the Communists at every turn.

"I have said that in the selfish interests of the American people, [illegible] face facts as we find them.

CONTINUE TO HELP

[illegible] and southeast Asia to fight communism. I have spent most of the last five months trying to solve the Korean problem, which is a very tough nut to crack."

Welker, a member of the Senate internal security sub-committee, has demanded a congressional probe of Dean's views stemming from the Providence interview.

U. S. Far East policy now recognizes Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist government and opposes seating Red China in the United Nations.

Campbellford Lions Hear Dr. Atkinson

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Dr. A. R. Atkinson, president of the Norwood Lions' Club paid an official visit to the Campbellford Club on Wednesday evening, in the capacity of chairman of zone 10. About 30 members of the Campbellford club were present.

Don Pollock reported on the Christmas baskets, which were distributed to needy families during the Yultide season. The club paid tribute to Lion Harold Peters for the effort he put into this welfare work.

Lion H. C. Wilson introduced Dr. Atkinson who gave an interesting talk on medicine, and the progress made toward cutting down the death rate of many hitherto fatal diseases. He also gave some interesting information and ideas on the operation of the club.

J. M. Benor expressed the thanks of the club to Dr. Atkinson for his talk.

Some of the local members are expected to attend the anniversary of the Norwood and Keene club on January 20.

Admit Drunk 2nd Time, Fined

Two men pleaded guilty to second offence drunk charges in magistrate's court Thursday. They were Joseph Kelly, 35, of RR 1, Norwood, and Harold Drury, 39, of William St. N., Lindsay. They were each fined $50 and $2.50 costs.

In addition, Kelly has been charged with assaulting OPP Constable Harold Armstrong in Norwood. He pleaded not guilty when he appeared today in magistrate's court and was remanded on $2,000 bail till Jan. 19.

A charge of being intoxicated against Clarence Cassidy, 41, of RR 2, Stoco, was dismissed for lack of evidence. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and told the court he was no different when picked up "than right now."

Orillia, Oshawa 'Spiel Winners

OSHAWA (CP)—Stan Sargeant's Orillia rink and an Oshawa entry skipped by Bill Whittington have advanced to the quarter-finals in the McLaughlin Trophy event of the 10th annual Oshawa five-day bonspiel.

[illegible] Milt Irwin's rink from Midland in the third game and came from behind to take an 11-9 verdict.

Crayon Contest In Hastings Schools

HASTINGS—(ENS)—A crayon contest in Grades two, three and four of Hastings Schools, to publicize the sale of Christmas seals for the Northumberland-Durham Tuberculosis Association, was arranged by M. A. O'Shea, an executive of the association. The judges were Mrs. Clifford Baker and Mrs. William Hoey, who awarded first place in grade 4 to Annabelle Emmourey; grade three to Eileen Walsh and grade two to Frances Walsh. The prizes were donated by the Hastings and District Chambers of Commerce and were presented by the president, Bruce Scott.

Blame Icy Roads For Car Skidding

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Icy roads were blamed for the only accident reported to the Campbellford detachment of the OPP on Thursday. A car driven by Gerald V. Taylor, 27, of RR 2, Harold, was travelling east on the 6th Concession of Seymour township and he attempted to turn south on the town line. In making the turn, Taylor's car skidded into the front of a car driven by Harold A. Fry of RR 3, Campbellford, who was travelling north on the town line.

Damage to the front of Taylor's car amounted to about $150 and Fry's car received about $50 damage. OPP Constable Archie Eady investigated.

"The Average, Respectable Canadian"

In a recent speech the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, Mr. Walter Harris, said that "we would avoid an influx of persons whose viewpoint differed substantially from the average, respectable, God-fearing Canadian". He has been criticised for this, and in our opinion unjustly. What he said was not very carefully phrased. If he had said that we would encourage immigration from the best elements among those nations which share our opinions on government and a good life, it is not likely that anyone would have disagreed with him, yet his words would have carried the same message. We doubt if anybody wanted him to say that we would seek immigrants among people who differed sharply from ourselves, and who had met with social disapproval in their native lands.

* * *

Most of us hope that immigrants are going to bring us qualities of mind and heart which will strengthen the best elements to be found here. Yet we are all of us nettled when newly-arrived immigrants launch at once into extensive criticism of our country and its ways. We Canadians are a touchy lot, and we become vehement in rebuttal of such criticism, as the letter-columns of virtually every Canadian paper can show. We want immigrants, but we want them to wait long enough to understand our country before they want to change it.

* * *

What Mr. Harris said was, in effect, that we shall seek immigrants from the intelligent middle class of highly developed nations. This is the class which has, for the past four hundred years, been the most progressive, discontented and even revolutionary element in society. Few great social reforms have ever sprung from an aristocracy; people at the top are rarely discontented with the status quo. Similarly, revolutionary movements which have their origin in the depressed section of the population—the very poor, the very ignorant, and the chronically unfortunate—rarely get very far, for such people know little beyond their own immediate needs, and have no intelligent concept of government. No, every movement for the betterment of social life has come from the class which is made up of workers in industry, farmers, business people, and the intelligentsia (meaning academic people and artists). Society can hope for little from the blue-bloods or from the mob. Its hopes lies in the middle class, in all its variety.

* * *

The average, respectable Canadian is by no means a bad fellow. Everything we have which is worth having is maintained by him and his wife. He produces about as many exceptional men from his ranks as most countries, and after some preliminary struggle, he listens critically to what his exceptional men have to say. We need more of his kind.

* * *

There is nothing to be said for importing people into Canada who are unlikely to be assimilated into our population. There is everything to be said for importing people who have brains, and skills and ideas. We are sure that is what Mr. Harris meant. His fault was one of phrasing, rather than of meaning. Maybe we should import a few good rhetoricians and phrase-makers into the country. Great Britain and the Low Countries have always produced them in quantity.

Requiem Of A Red

A rather pathetic Earl Browder wrote a letter to the New York Times last week. It was in response to a report which had appeared in that newspaper about a "high former Red" who was expected to expose subversion before the Jenner committee. Earl Browder was a Communist most of his days and leader of the party in the United States from 1930 to 1945. Thereupon he resigned the leadership and from the Communist party.

Mr. Browder says in his letter that he has not been "softened" by "years of persecution", and can give no further evidence other than the sworn testimony he offered in 1945 that under his leadership the Communist party "was not a conspiracy for the overthrow of the existing Government of the United States, that it did not engage in espionage for Russia, that it did not accept orders from Moscow, and did not wish to subordinate America to Russia. That is the truth and any and all testimony in contradiction to it is perjured". He says that he has "survived a lifetime of persecution without being 'softened' into becoming anybody's agent, whether it be the McCarthys of Moscow or of Washington".

The life of a dissident is not a happy one if he cannot even bring about a revolt, successful or no. The concluding paragraph of old Earl Brower's letter is a poignant comment on a career frustrated and unfruitful. Here it is: "I am rather old and tired, and my wife has been made an invalid by the special persecution against her and we wish nothing more than to be left in peace for our [illegible] American Red.

The Return Journey

We remain calm in spite of all the talk about space travel and rocket exploration because we think that it will be a very long time before we are obliged to take advantage of these great advances in transportation. Indeed, if we are very lucky, we may never have to go to the moon or even to Mars. Certainly we have no intention of making any such journey until the return service is well established.

We smiled sadly the other day when we read of a British enthusiast for space travel who said: "We shall probably send the first unmanned rocket to the moon to take photos and bring them back". Yes, very likely a rocket will be shot off toward the moon within a few years, and perhaps after a few tries a rocket will hit that unfortunate planet, but what will happen then? What is going to make the rocket come back? And—this is what really excites our curiosity—when the rocket comes back, where is it going to land?

Yes, we have heard about guided missiles. We have also heard about missiles which refuse to be guided, or which mistake their messages and obey the wrong guides. A rocket returning from the moon, if it gets to earth at all, seems just as likely to smash its way into the top of somebody's house as to find its way back to its starting point.

And how is a rocket which has paused on the moon to take a few pictures going to come back, in any case? We know that by asking such a question we are undoubtedly exciting the mirth and scorn of the space travellers, but we don't care. We want to know. In a world where railway signals occasionally fail to work, where the radio and phonograph need constant brooding attention, where the electric light goes out unaccountably, where 'lifetime' fountain pens leak and objects warranted unbreakable mysteriously break, we feel that the rocket which will return from the moon is a hope rather than a reality.

Mary Worth's Resolution

Ever since New Year's Day we have been haunted by a resolution made by Mrs. Mary Worth. It was this: 'To treat every human being as if it were his last day on earth'.

Perhaps we should explain that Mrs. Worth is a character in what we must call—using the expression very loosely—a comic strip. Her adventures appear in our Weekend comics, but not in our daily edition. She is a middle-aged lady of invincible sweetness, refinement, high resolve and moral beauty, and she inserts herself subtly into the affairs of people—usually young people—who need her help and good example. There are wicked people who say that Mary Worth is an unbearable old busybody, but we treat them with the scorn they deserve.

In her New Year's resolve, however, we think that even Mrs. Worth has gone too far. To treat every human being as if it were his last day on earth—the thought chills the blood. Kindliness, forbearance, courtesy—we wish that all these things were more common than they are, but we feel that they are inspired by a sense of the continuity of life rather than by an overpowering sense of its frailty.

Indeed, we think that if most of us ever began to treat people as though we should not see them tomorrow, the effect might be just the opposite of what Mary Worth intends. The temptation to tell them, just once, what we really think—! The feeling that, when we had given them a superb mental hot-foot, we should be rid of them forever—! No, no; Mrs. Worth and her creator have not thought deeply enough on this theme; they have not reckoned with the irrepressible Old Adam in all of us. If we really want to be decent to our fellow men, we must think of them as people who are going to be around for a long, long time.

NOTES AND COMMENT

'Bigotry is an ailment of the mind', says the Brantford Expositor. The best way to avoid it is to give your mind plenty of exercise.

"How much heavier is water than air?"—from a quiz column. We know nothing about gravities, but clouds seem to float very easily.

A scientist says that the sum of an atom's parts is greater than the whole. The atom must be stuffed the way a small boy fills his pockets.

A naturalist says that for its weight a fly is one of the strongest creatures in the world. And, without regard for weight, it is certainly one of the most elusive and cunning.

BY CANOE IN 1350 A.D.

The Queen Among Maoris

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

QUEEN ELIZABETH'S second week in New Zealand had a special character. A large part of it was given to the Maori people—that strange and admirable race who were here when Captain Cook first landed, who fought [illegible] the early [illegible] which is their name for the Whites. There is an almost complete lack of strain in this relationship that makes it probably unique [illegible] racial prejudice to be found in London than there is in New Zealand.

There are today some hundred thousand pure-bred Maoris and perhaps twice that number of mixed blood who regard themselves as part of the Maori nation (this in a total population of nearly two millions). The Maoris came to New Zealand in 1350 A.D., crossing the terrible emptiness of the Pacific in great canoes whose captains became each the progenitor of a tribe. They came from the islands of Polynesia and Hawaii and perhaps, far away before history began, from somewhere in India.

THEY ARE sturdy people with thick, powerful bodies, short limbs and heavy sculptured faces. They are splendid to look at. When the Pakeha came here the Maoris were living virtually in the stone age. They used no metals; their weapons were of stone or wood. they lived under exact tribal laws whose elaborate prohibitions were backed up by the dreaded "tabu," the breaking of which was often enough to cause a man to lie down and die. They cultivated, they hunted and they carved wood. The pinnacle of their lives was war. They kept slaves and they ate selected portions of their enemies.

DANCING or singing or rolling out the wonderful eloquence which is their substitute for a written history or literature, these people appeared at least three times before the Queen. There was a party dancing a formal welcome in the rain outside the Town Hall the day the Queen reached Auckland. These were Maori workmen who had left their tribal lands for the city. Yet they were still Maoris, were in fact members of a new tribe created specially for Auckland City.

There was a great crowd of chiefs and people who gave the Queen a traditional welcome to the Great Chief at Waitanga. They did this in front of a simple pillared cottage where one hundred and fourteen years ago the majority of the Maori chiefs accepted the rule of Queen Victoria. And, finally, at this warm place called Rotorua, where the hills and valleys are opened in a thousand places to release streams of hot sulphur water, or pools of boiling mud or tall plumes of hissing steam, the biggest gathering of all greeted her with a ritual that no other woman has ever received.

WHEN you see the Maoris drawn up to dance, they seem like the splendid savages that the eighteenth century philosophers sought. The men are bare to the waist; the women wear discreet, beaded bodices. Their kilts are of rattling strings of dried flax. They wear a feather in the hair and a clumsy cloak off one shoulder. They stamp shout, flutter their hands and wave their clubs. It is not play acting. It is still important to them and questions of precedence and of who shall receive the Queen have opened up controversies a hundred years old among the tribes. In fact, they mind as much as any alderman insisting having his wife presented to Royalty.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE DEPTH of their feeling about this visit is only one sign of a genuine revival of the Maori nation. At the turn of the century they seemed on the point of extinction; their numbers sank to twenty - four thousand. Now their birth rate is two-and-a-half times that of the Pakeha. More and more they marry only among themselves and now substitute a fiery pride of race for the sense of inadequacy that went before.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE OFFICIAL aim in New Zealand is to maintain and encourage their heritage and customs and yet give them complete equality before the law in education and opportunity of employment. The Government permits no segregation in the cities, though prejudice among landiords often relegates the Maoris to poorer parts of the city. They have four members of Parliament and a bishop of their own. They have benefits from New Zealand's lavish social security system — for example, ten shillings per week per child. Their land ownership is protected. They have their own local government on a tribal basis. There is university education. The Maoris tend to support the Labour Party and it is hard to find that angry frustration and incoherent racial hatred that usually seems to go with such people elsewhere in the world.

OF COURSE, everything is not well. There is racial prejudice among a minority of the Whites. There are people who think in "South African" terms about their "natives." The Government is not always tactful over the Maori customs and the Maoris considered themselves snubbed by not being represented at the Coronation. They still cannot compete with Whites in farming techniques. Few of them reach the universities. Some of them still nurse old grievances and they have not really yet reached full equality of status. They have no passionate desire for education and they tend neither to save money nor to plan their futures. At present there is work for all in New Zealand, so the real test of the White New Zealanders' liberalism when the races begin to compete for work has not yet been made.

But that is in the future. At present the Queen saw few happier subjects than the Maoris. By proportion to their population, no nation has sent more volunteers to fight in Korea. In a world where the problems of how peoples of different colours are to live side by side is almost everywhere a hard and bitter one, here is a place it has almost been solved.

ANSWERED

During a question period following a lecture a man arose and put a foolish query to the speaker. The latter replied:

"The logic of your question makes me think of another. Can you tell me why fire engines are always red? You can't? Well, fire engines have four wheels and eight men. Four and eight are twelve. Twelve inches makes a foot. A foot is a ruler. A Queen is a ruler. A Queen sails the seven seas. Fish have fins. The Finns fought the Russians. The Russians are Red. Fire engines are always rushin'. Therefore fire engines are always red. I hope this answers your question also."

OUTLOOK FOR THE BERLIN CONFERENCE

The Oder-Neisse Frontier

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL (in Berlin)

This is the third of a series of four articles on the outlook for the Berlin conference.

ONE of the most difficult obstacles to an agreed settlement for Germany is the question of Germany's eastern frontier. The Russians and Poles, with the support of the [illegible] Neisse rivers is final, and that they will not permit an independent and united Germany unless it accepts that frontier as binding in it[illegible] the Oder-Neisse line was fixed at the Potsdam Conference in 1945 only as a provisional demarcation line, and that they are free to suggest changes at a future peace conference; all they are willing to guarantee to the Russians is that it shall not be changed by force. The West Germans say that, of course, they do not wish to use force, but that no freely-elected German Government could ever accept a frontier which came about by the brutal expulsion of millions of Germans from their ancestral homelands.

In fact, when Britain, the United States and Russia agreed at Potsdam that the demarcation line between the Russian-occupied zone of Germany and the new Poland should run along the Oder and the Lusatian Neisse, they also agreed that the German population still living to the east of these rivers should be transferred westward, stipulating only that humane methods should be applied.

By then, large numbers of the German inhabitants of Pomerania and Silesia had already fled to the West before the advancing Russian armies; millions of others were expelled in the following months by methods which at best were rough and ruthless, and at worst were accompanied by criminal brutality. After them came the Poles, many of whom had been in turn expelled from their homes in the areas now ceded to Russia, and who began to rebuild the destroyed towns, to restart the industries, and—more slowly and less thoroughly—to till the abandoned land.

RARELY in modern times has a decision affecting millions of lives been surrounded with so much cant. The statesmen who met at Potsdam knew what the Germans had done to the Poles during the war, and could well imagine how likely the Poles would be now to treat the Germans "humanely" if given the power to expel them. They knew they were driving millions from their homes, and giving other uprooted millions a chance to settle in their place—but they pretended that they were only fixing a provisional line of demarcation. Hard-pressed by Russian insistence on shifting the eastern frontier of Poland westward, wishing at least to offer some compensation to their Polish allies, still under the shock of the criminal enormities of Nazi warfare, the Western statesmen were in fact condoning a criminal action in their turn but trying hard not to face its implications—and ever since Western policy has been shirking that duty.

It seems probable that the Western reservation concerning the later peace conference was originally made not so much with the intention of promoting real revision, [illegible] difficulties raised by the Russians on matters equally vital to the West. But as the reservation was proclaimed again and again it [illegible] of expelled East Germans now living in Western Germany, with the result that the issue of frontier revision has gradually become a major factor in West German politics.

IN recent years an astonishingly large percentage of the refugees has been successfully absorbed by the prosperous West German economy; but there are still enough of those who will never fit in, or who will not forget the greater independence and social prestige they enjoyed at home; and it is these who determine the political climate in the refugee organisation. As a powerful organised lobby, they have largely succeeded in making the question of frontier revision the test of true patriotism, and today no West German Political Party would dare advocate voluntary recognition of the Oder-Neisse line, and risk annihilation at the polls.

Yet as so often with German post-war nationalism, there is a glaring discrepancy between the shouting and flag-waving of a few professionals and the real popular energy behind it. Those refugees who genuinely want to resettle in their old homelands are probably a small minority, people who might find land without great difficulty in those border areas not effectively settled by the Poles; while responsible leaders of all democratic Parties in Western Germany readily admit in private conversation that they do not really care about the issue, and would gladly sacrifice the lost lands if that was the price for liberating their eighteen million living compatriots in the Soviet zone—if only such a solution could be forced on them by the Western Allies! They are not passionate about revision: they are merely afraid of responsibility.

YET what the Russians and Poles want, understandably enough, is precisely that—a settlement freely accepted by the new German State and democratically approved by its people, which cannot at some later day be repudiated as a "diktat." Indeed, they want it so much that it should not be, a priori, impossible to make them accept a limited revision of the frontier as the price of German consent, provided that revision did not touch the important industrial capacities which Poland gained at Potsdam, but remained confined to agricultural regions—for instance, the part of Silesia between the Lusatian Neisse and the more eastward Glatzer Neisse, originally envisaged as frontier by the Western Powers.

Such a revision might be possible without a major transfer of population in reverse, which Dr. Adenauer's West German Government itself has now explicitly rejected; and it might be sufficient to give the German [illegible] as the necessary price of recovering unity and independence after Hitler's crimes. If [illegible] be tried.

Sibelius At Eighty-Three

By E. M. SALZER
(in Helsinki)

JEAN SIBELIUS, of Finland, whose eighty-eighth birthday fell on December 8, is still composing; but it is nearly twenty years since any new Sibelius music has reached the world. Every day he works with a soft black pencil, scribbling music on stiff sheets of lined paper. In his study, bundles of paper are piled high on shelves and in cupboards. But when you ask him about his work he taps his bald shining skull and says: "I hear so much music; but it's all in here."

One of the works "in there" may be the long-awaited 8th Symphony, which Sibelius began in 1931 and promised Sir Henry Wood for his Promenade Concert at the Queens Hall, in London, that year. A few days before the first performance was scheduled came a cable: "Symphony unfinished." The world has gone on waiting for his work—which Sibelius is reported to have written but torn up, begun again and finished only to keep hidden in his study not to be performed until after his death.

"I am eighty-eight, and lucky to be alive," he tells visitors. Sometime photographs make him appear a powerful figure. But his clothes sag on a frail body; his movements are awkward and slow; and his hand trembles so much that sometimes he cannot hold a pencil. To his wife, Aina, a year younger, he is "a real night-bird—sleeps only a few hours and dreams all day."

His life has been eventful—"Finlandia," one of his first compositions, was given its first performance some sixty years ago at a secret meeting of Helsinki students, planning Finland's liberation from the Russian yoke. But he says that the latter years of his life have been the most exciting and rewarding.

"Imagine," he says, "my portrait is on a postage stamp, my bust stands in many concert halls, the world's greatest music prize is named after me, my home town has a Sibelius museum and thousands come from all over the world to attend the annual Sibelius Festival in Helsinki. How many composers, I ask you, how many artists, could enjoy such honours in their lifetime?"

AND NOW the artist works only for himself: not even his wife is allowed to see or hear his new music. Even with his closest friends, or with visiting composers and conductors Sibelius shirks this subject. He prefers to talk of old times, or of the young composers of today.

"Their greatest danger is the temptation to write for money," he says; "of course, they too must live. I am full of admiration for the music of today."

He rarely goes to concerts. He lives behind the tall trees of a forest, in a wooden house, the "Villa Ainola," named after his wife. It has been his home for almost half a century. There his five children grew up, and there his grandchildren bring their youngsters on Sunday.

For many hours each day he sits by the radio and listens to music or records. But chiefly he likes to read the scores young composers send him. His eyes are stronger than his ears now. Once he would take a score with him into the wood and read it on his walk, while resting against a tree. Now he often sits by the window and watches the winter covering the country. Then he turns towards the bright coloured ribbons on his many decorations and gold medals on the wall of the living room, the yellowed laurel wreaths and the bronze busts, and says: "I am a lucky man."

And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: and she being with child cried travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered . . . And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron; and her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne. (Rev. 12:1, 2, 5.)

Like Mother

(Detroit Free Press)

Speaking of liquor in connection with a president, John Roosevelt told a hitherto unpublished story the other day. He and Anne tossed a house party recently at their own place in Hyde Park where they are now living. John commutes daily to his office in New York, can pick off a couple of pheasants and a duck in an hour when he's home. During the weekend John gave a personally conducted tour of the big house and recalled how his grandmother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, always treated his father like a small boy. She didn't approve of liquor and was quick to call him down if he took a drink.

At the time of the King and Queen of England's visit, the family and guests had gathered before dinner in the senior Mrs. Roosevelt's "snuggery," they called it, for a cup of tea.

The President's foot began to twitch—a sign that John readily recognized. The butler was sent for: "Your Majesty," he said FDR to King George, "I am going to have a martini mixed. Wouldn't you like to have one? Our butler mixes an excellent one."

Up spoke his mother from her knitting, "Now, Franklin, the King doesn't want one of those nasty things. He would much prefer to have some of that delicious apple cider that we make right here on our own farm."

King George hesitated, then said, "Mr. President, I would be happy to join you in a martini."

Then he turned toward Mrs. Roosevelt and, patting her knee, remarked, "My dear, you are simply wonderful. You sound exactly like my own mother."

CP Reporter Bill Boss has had a four-hour interview with Soviet Russia's deputy minister of education. This article, one of a series, describes the system of high school education in Russia.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — The first entrance examinations Russian students try are for admission to a technical school, a university, or a university-level institute, Dr. Pavil Zymine told The Canadian Press.

The Soviet deputy minister of education said that apart from gold and silver medallists, who automatically qualify for university admission, all must try the examinations.

High school subjects are Russian literature, arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, geography, physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, psychology, history, singing, drawing and one foreign language.

SPECIAL SUBJECT

"In certain schools we add Latin for those who intend to study biology, medicine or history," Dr. Zymine said.

"In the republics instruction is given in the national language (e.g. Ukrainian in the Ukraine) and Russian is studied as a special subject.

"Marxism and Leninism are not taught in the 10-year schools (Russian equivalent of public and high schools). We introduce them in the university. But naturally such subjects as history, literature and biology are approached in the light of Marxist and Leninist theories."

School hours vary from 24 a week in the first years to 32 in the upper classes, six days a week, but some reduction is planned.

"The last party congress decreed that 10-year schools must lay greater foundations for professional work," Dr. Zymine said. "We think we can do this by showing how subjects already taught have practical application to the life of the country.

NEW TEXT BOOKS

"We are preparing 15 new text books taking into consideration the latest scientific developments but stressing the basic discoveries, bearing in mind they will have to serve five or 10 years. The texts will each take a field, enable the teacher to demonstrate its theory and then take the pupils out on excursions to see them in practice—to power stations, factories and major industries."

Students taking technical training now leave the 10-year schools after the seventh grade.

Technical schools, with four-year curricula, teach industrial trades, machine building, construction engineering, industrial chemistry, scientific agriculture; veterinary science and livestock breeding and mining. They are not under the education ministry but are directed by the respective ministries or state enterprises running those fields.

About 20 per cent of students leave after the seventh year for technical training.

Other types of schools administered by another ministry are the 10-year schools operated by the state conservatories of music, state theatres and state opera and ballet companies. Children outstandingly talented in music, drama and dancing attend these.

FOR RURAL WORKERS

Zymine's ministry operates rural workers' schools attached to machine tractor stations and industry and correspondence courses for other work people.

"In industry and agriculture," he said, "there are young men and women who because of the war and other reasons have not had a seven year education. We must help them complete the 10-year course. So we have attached schools to their tractor stations and industries."

"Since universities accept entrants to the age of 35, most of our 'worker students' are between 18 and 30, which gives them time to qualify."

Students get certain preferential prices for clothes, transport and entertainment.

Your Children's Aid Society

A Weekly Column Written in the Interest of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society

The Andersons, the Douglas' and the Cooks were anxious to keep their homes together and really worked at it. Consequently the children were able to remain with their own parents.

But not all parents seem able to accept advice and help and to benefit by it and despite the efforts made by the Children's Aid Society it is necessary to remove children from their own parents.

Where do these families come from who receive service from the Peterborough Children's Aid Society? They come from the City and County of Peterborough and service is given to all regardless of race and religion. Anyone in that area may apply to the Agency for advice and help.

Like the Douglas' many families make their own application for assistance and there is greater likelihood of these families benefitting because they recognize they need help and are able to ask for it. The Society would like to emphasize that unless there are signs of neglect, people may discontinue their contact at anytime.

Some families feel they need the help of the Children's Aid but are afraid to ask for it because they think their children may be taken away from them. Sometimes people go to the office and will not unfold their story until they get assurance in regard to their children remaining with them. However, more and more it is realized that the Society is anxious for children to remain in their own home and that it wishes to give every assistance in helping parents to make this possible.

What problems do people go to the Children's Aid Society to talk about? That is a really big question. It may be Tommy's disobedience or father's drinking or mother's poor housekeeping. The family budget may be under dispute, father may have left the home and not enough money is being received by the mother. There seems to be no limit to the number of social problems with which people are helped at the Children's Aid office.

There is one other thing which is sometimes of concern to people who would like to go to the Agency for help. Will the information they give go to the Board of Directors? Does the Society tell their relatives about it?

The Society treats all information in the greatest of confidence. The Board of Directors is not concerned with individual situations. Its job is to develop the policy of the Society and to see it is adequately staffed and financed. So all who go for assistance to the Children's Aid can be assured of privacy in regard to their affairs.

These services are mostly financed by the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund. Some assistance is given in a grant from the Department of Welfare of Ontario.

Next week we will tell you something about the children who are separated from their parents and being looked after by the Children' Aid Society.

Close Initial Phase Freight Rate Studies

OTTAWA (CP)—After more than a year of work and some 4,000,000 words of evidence and argument, the board of transport commissioners Thursday closed out the first major phase of its study on equalization of freight rates among various regions of Canada.

It concluded a country-wide series of hearings on the equalizing of the basic "class" rates and then announced it will work out a new uniform rate scale embodying features of two of five proposed scales that have been under consideration.

Mr. Justice J. D. Kearney, chief commissioner, said the board does not know when its equalization order will be issued.

The board has been aiming at next Jan. 1 as the effective date for the new schedule of class rates, which govern about one-fifth of Canada's $1,000,000,000 - a - year freight traffic and to which many other rates are pegged indirectly.

A COMBINATION

The chief commissioner indicated the new rates will be a combination of the scale proposed by the CNR and one drafted tentatively by the board's own experts over a year ago.

A poll of spokesmen for various interests appearing before the board this week, in final argument, indicated the preference was split between these two scales. The spokesmen represented nine provinces—all except Ontario—the railways, cities, boards of trade and industrial concerns.

"I don't think you will be surprised if we try to make a combination of these two scales," Mr. Justice Kearney said.

The statement made it apparent the board was discarding a scale proposed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, an alternative one put in by the CNR and a "compromise" scale submitted by the Alberta government.

The CNR and board scales correspond in several respects, except that the board's would provide the lesser amount of revenue for the railways and also would not taper down the rate per mile so sharply on long hauls.

DISCUSS TRIANGLE

The chief commissioner also brightened the final day for Quebec by indicating that the board will uphold the main contention of that province and the City of Montreal in the equalization hearings.

This is the retention—at least in some form—of a rate "grouping" under which goods from a huge Ontario-Quebec triangle travel to the west at the same freight rate. The triangle has Montreal, Windsor and Sault Ste. Marie at its points.

For Montreal, the advantage of its existence is that it gives shippers there freight rate parity with such centres as Toronto that are competing for business in the west.

URGE GROUPING KEPT

In their closing arguments, both the CNR and CPR also urged that the Ontario-Quebec grouping be retained in some form.

Discussing the different proposed rate scales, the CPR expressed the view that its plan has some "practical features" better than the board's.

Counsel K. D. M. Spence said that, for instance, its downward-sliding rates on long hauls would give eastern Canadian manufacturers a better chance to compete in the west against United States firms directly below the border in the west.

Workshop Damaged

BRIDGEPORT (CP)—Loss is set at about $6,000 in a fire which Thursday gutted Max Lindner's frame workshop near this village near Kitchener. The loss included a truck, car, five outboard motors and workshop equipment.

Piece Of Bumper Helps Convict Drinking Driver

A broken piece of bumper found at the scene of a hit-and-run accident helped convict Maxwell Turner, 26, of 184 Dalhousie St., Thursday. He was involved in an accident December 23 with Mrs. Ruth Hart, 32, of RR 1, Fenelon Falls.

[illegible] evidence was heard on a drunk driving charge. He was fined a total of $125 and $17.25 costs.

According to the evidence, Mrs. [illegible]lotte St., and was nearing Maitland St. when a second car, travelling west, started veering toward her. Mrs. Hart tried to steer to the roadside but the second vehicle struck her car, spinning it around and causing $450 damage.

RECEIVE MESSAGE

Police were notified and PC's Eldon MacDonald and Ted Stephen came to investigate the crash. While there, they were notified to drive up to Monaghan Rd. to meet a driver who reported being involved in a hit-run accident.

Before they left, however, a piece of bumper and bumper support was found on the road.

At Park St. the two officers saw an eastbound car coming and noticed the heavy damage to its left front corner. They turned around, gave chase, stopped it and found the accused driving. The broken piece of bumper matched Turner's car.

PC MacDonald said the accused was in a drunken condition, smelled of alcohol, was very belligerent and unsteady on his feet. The officers had to force him into their cruiser and it took three policemen to put him in a cell.

PC Stephen's description of the accused was that he smelled of alcohol, had glassy eyes, incoherent speech and was dishevelled.

Originally pleading not guilty to both charges Turner changed his plea to guilty on the hit-run count and guilty to the reduced charge of drunk driving.

THOUGHT HE WAS VICTIM

In the witness stand he explained he had kept going after being involved in the accident and drove to the home of a friend to call police. He originally thought the other driver hadn't stopped immediately after the crash so informed police he had been the victim of a hit-run accident.

He was going down to the police station, Turner said, when stopped by the officers.

He was fined $75 and $14.75 costs on the impaired charge, and $52.50 for leaving the scene of an accident.

"Mr. Simba" Guards Royal Tableware

The powerful bull mastiff, hired for the occasion, rode beside the royal treasures as they were transported in five truck trips to a London museum for their first public exhibition.

It was a big day for Mr. Simba and he all but smiled for photographers clustering around the truck. Two years ago, the mastiff was placed in a home for stray dogs and condemned to death.

A firm which specializes in shipping valuables decided his talents for biting humans and cuffing with his massive paws should not be wasted. They gave him a job guarding gold bars and other treasures.

Local Quartets Capture Opening Round

By a score of 43-19, the Peterborough rink playing in the Governor-General's competition for District No. 3, defeated the Lindsay two rinks here on Thursday, and will now go to Oshawa on January 28 to play in the next round.

[illegible] might be a tight one, but a big four by Stenson on the fifth end, coupled with a well-cornered five by Baptie on the sixth end, just about settled the issue.

The local boys were never headed after that, and both rinks won going away.

Over in Lindsay local representatives in the Ontario Tankard competition fell down to Lindsay by seven shots.

Junior Skiers Ready To Go At Kemp's Hill

Skiing conditions at Kemp's Hill are ideal for this weekend and the junior school skiers are invited to attend from 9:30 till 11:30 Saturday morning where the tow will be operating and ski instructors on hand. The regular junior ski school will commence a week from tomororw.

Owing to the change-over in recreation directors here this weekend there will be no buses run Saturday for the young skiers by the city recreation commission, and the youngsters are asked to make their own transportation arrangements this time. But the following Saturday it is expected that buses will be lined up again for the junior skiers.

Girls' Sports In Schools Start Season

Beginning a second term, school sports for girls in Peterborough's three elementary schools, Kenner Collegiate, St. Peter's High and PCVS, are once more swinging into action. With the greater emphasis on basketball, there's also swimming, gymnastics, badminton and volleyball.

In fact, the basketball season officially opens tonight for all the girls' teams from the three schools. St. Peter's High juniors play PCVS juniors at 5 p.m. in the YWCA gym, followed by a senior game between PCVS and Port Hope. In Lindsay, Kenner Collegiate juniors meet the LCI lasses.

As in boys' sports this year, there are a number of new faces making their appearances in coaching the various activities. New instructors are Elaine Moors at Kenner and Ruth Sinclair at PCVS while Mary Scanlin is again directing St. Peter's High sports and Mabel Gillen coaching the basketball teams at PCVS.

Since both Kenner and St. Peter's are making only their second appearances in high school basketball, they'll have only one team, a junior quintette, until these players gain enough experience for senior play, probably next year. Meanwhile PCVS, the senior school, will have two teams, both playing in "A" school competition.

Sees Smythe As Top Tilt Contender

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—The best the world has to offer in the way of badminton players move into action today in the opening rounds of the seeded event of the 10th annual international invitation tournament.

By Sunday new champions will be declared in all divisions of this major Canadian badminton competition.

Heading the list of international stars are Eddie and David Choong of Malaya, considered the world's greatest players. They will be challenged by the top shuttle artists of Canada and the United States.

Toronto's Don Smythe, Canadian men's singles champion, and Gord Simpson of Montreal, who scored upsets over the Choong brothers in an exhibition match at Montreal Wednesday night, are seen as top contenders.

CONSIDERED SHOO-INS

Marjorie Shedd of Toronto, Canadian women's singles champion, No. 1 seed, will see competition from Judy Devlin of Baltimore, No. 2 seed, Peg Varner of Mt. Holyoke, Mass., No. 3, and Abbie Rutledge of Purdue University, Ind., No. 4.

The Choong brothers are considered shoo-ins for the men's doubles. They will face Smythe and Bud Porter of Toronto, seeded No. 2 and Williams and Clint Stevens of Baltimore, No. 3.

Montgomery Leads

F. Montgomery's 350 was best single in the Men's City Bowling League this week, P. Pryde's 867 taking triple honors. Novelty Shoe led teams with 3664 pinnage and 1346 single game. The 6-0 wins went to Payne's, Parkhill, Novelty and Royal York over Monumental, Family Credit, Golfers and MacDonald's; while the 4-2 victories were taken by Primeau's, McGillis, Cookie's and Ferguson against Sunocos, McBride & Anderson, Stopawhile and Wes Edwards'.

Good triples: V. Ferguson 826, M. Donaldson 753, S. Richardson 703, L. Anthony 715, J. Forst 736, J. Barnes 811, R. Lewis 702, E. Dunn 842, H. Gordon 839, G. Walton 717, J. Playford 737, W. Stanbury 758, A. Pilling 750, Tony Basciano 703, A. Mattucci 752, F. Montgomery 783, B. Pearson 704, M. Caccavella 815, G. Snape 725, R. Shaw 705, B. Harris 816; better singles: J. Barnes 343, B. Flint 305, E. Dunn 315, H. Gordon 343, A. Mattucci 321, M. Caccavella 344, P. Pryde 339, J. Frost 308, L. Anthony 314 and M. Donaldson 301.

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

This is the night when tribute is paid to our sports' champions of the past two years, no recognition having been given by the city for the 1952 winners. Reception committee of the city council (of which Ald. Gordon Powell is chairman) gives a dinner at 6:30 in the Kawartha Room of the Empress, and presents civic crests to all athletes on the winning teams. The Kearns Trophy will be presented to the city's outstanding athlete of 1953, and the Gould Trophy goes to Ross Powless, as most valuable player on the senior lacrosse squad, thrice Mann Cup champs, during last season. Guest speaker is a real authority on athletics, being Jim Vipond of Toronto, sports editor of the Globe & Mail.

* * * * * *

The 1952 provincial champs or better from Peterborough were the senior lacrossers, the juvenile "B" lacrosse team, the grid Orfuns (who went to Canadian intermediate "A" finals), the provincial soccer UEW titleholders in intermediate ranks, and the "B" badminton victors of Ontario in ladies' doubles, Mrs. Maurice Charlton and Verna Rose. Last year, the Trailermen repeated as Canadian senior "A" lacrosse champs, and the Orfuns captured the ORFU crown. The ornamental swimmers won an international meet and took the USA team title as well. Shamrocks were OMHA bantam "A" victors. Seven teams thus earned the civic tribute which is being paid tonight. A dinner for champions.

At The Petes' Expense

Officials of the OLA Petes' Trailermen figure that the reason they are being short-changed by the CLA on the Mann Cup money split of last September is that the Canadian body is trying at Peterborough's expense to make up for a poor gate at the 1952 cup series in Toronto, and also to build up a hefty financial cushion. Else why offer the 1953 champs but $500 while it is believed that the losing Victoria Shamrocks received something like $4,000? The arena there is said to have received 30 per cent of the take—something like $25,000 for the lucrative series—which would be around $8,000, half going to the club. Petes insist upon $2,000 to make up for losses they suffered by making the trip, paying time off, etc. The OLA has been asked by the Trailermen to go after the CLA for the $2,000.

Hilly Yudin is senior cage coach for St. Peter's High this season and Zoltan Temesy is senior skipper for the PCVS basketeers. The latter, along with the bantam and junior PCI-ers open school hoop schedules tonight in Cobourg, while St. Mike's play the junior and senior Saints this eve at St. Peter's gymn in OCC fixtures. Also this p.m. PCVS lasses are at home to Port Hope at 6.30 after a junior girls' tussle betwixt SPS and PCVS in the Collegiate, both scheduled jousts. Friday frays at the YW have Collis vs. CGE, and Black's vs. Nurses, commencing at 7.30 of the clock. Tuesday YM tilts: Orphans vs. Trojans, and Test vs. Apprentices. Whoops, hoops and oops!

Hockey On Tap, Too

But hockey fans here needn't go away mad—there's an 8.30 game tonight at Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" struggle featuring Orillia Pontiacs and the TPT Petes, with second place at stake. Standing has Oshawa atop the pile with 30 points, Kingston and Orillia next with 25 each, one point more than Peterborough, as Belleville is well down the ladder. A win for Ed Redmond's men would pull them up over the rugged Ponties, and the TPT-ers will be shooting the works to do this little thing. Kingston goes to Bella Villa this gloaming, while Saturday sees Petes at Kingston, and Memos at Oshawa. The Quinte crew comes here Monday, making it a busy weekend for Petes. Schedule runs until the end of February.

* * * * * *

Pleased at the Junior Petes' recent winning streak, which has jumped 'em into a good lead in the OHA junior 'B' group, Red Creighton plans to take the boys on a a weekend trip to Lake Placid Feb. 20, when the bobsled championships are on. They'll get expenses to play two exhibitions there with the intermediate team of that winter resort. A fine experience for the boys. Local lads are idle till next Wednesday when Port Perry comes, and the Ports are bringing a busload of fans for this joust. Junior executive here has arranged to have two of the Toronto Leafs attend this tilt as linesmen, the two being picked from Ted Kennedy, Tim Horton, Jimmy Thompson and Sid Smith. An OHA ref will handle the game. Door prizes are being put up in the hopes of drawing a hefty crowd that night.

Wolves Clip Trappers In NOHA Fixture

NORTH BAY (CP) — Sudbury Wolves defeated North Bay Trappers 5-1 in a Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group game here Thursday night. The victory was the seventh in eight games with the Trappers so far this season.

Rightwinger Tatter McLellan scored two goals to lead the Sudbury attack. Red Barrett, Hub Beaudry and Nick Tomiuk followed with singles. Mike Bukacheski notched the North Bay counter.

The game was the first of a three-game, three-day series for the two teams. Tonight they meet in Sudbury before returning here Saturday night, when North Bay centre Ab DeMarco will be honored.

Sport Referee, 50 Retires In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — William (Pean) Bennett, 50, Quebec Hockey League and Big Four football referee for 25 years, retired Thursday. He has been ill since the beginning of the year.

A former half-back and flying wing with Montreal's Big Four entry from 1923 to 1928, Bennett also played hockey with the old Montreal Victorias.

T. Dorrington Tops

Thelma Dorrington rolled high single of the season this week with 321 in the Mercantile Bowling League at Duffus'. She also had top three of 692. Gord Leonard led men in singles with a neat 286 as Art Robertson led in triples with 271-257-228 for 756. Team high pinnage was 2,998 by Empress Coffee Shop.

A 4-0 victory was captured by Baker's Meats over A & P No. 1, as Empress did a similar job on Austin's, and Prduential blanked A & P No. 2. Cal Nicholls topped Neill's 3-1, and Crowe's won 3-1 against East City Market.

Clubs Gain Two Wins Apiece In PMHA Action

Aces won two PMHA juvenile games here last night defeating IOOF 4-0 and Norwood 14-2. In this latter game, Kane got two in the first frame and Brooks and McFadden counted two apiece in the second and Kane one, the latter Ferren and Blodgett [illegible] Strickland and Chambers, were their scorers, as Kane, Ferren and Strickland had an assist each. In the second period, Hannivan and Chase tallied for Norwood. The other juve joust saw Parry score from Brooks in the first, the latter and Stewart counting next heat, with Godfrey and Brooks getting an assist. Godfrey lit the lamp in the third. Aces were rougher in this tilt.

WON A PAIR

Shamrocks won two in midget play, taking Aces 5-1 and Norwood 16-1. Towns got Aces' only goal as Darling and Baker each had two and Stewart one for Shamrocks, an assist each going to Darling and Baker. Hannivan got the lone marker for Norwood in that tilt in the third. Mahoney, Darling and Haig scored in the first heat with Baker, and Darling getting an assist each. Next period saw Coombes get two, as one each went to Pace, Haig, Shaw, Mahoney and Darling; two assists were garnered by Haig and one each by Daley, Stewart, and Baker. Jay and Daley got a pair each next period and Stewart and Pace one, Daley also helping on one.

Shamrocks won two in bantam play, beating Aces 3-1 and Optimists 5-2. In the latter fray, McCarthy, McCormick and Danahy counted in the initial inning, Copping getting one assist. Doughty scored from Danahy in the middle chukker, and DeNoble finished it in the third, the losers getting two then, Cain and Barrie hitting the mark as Morley help on one. In the other fray, Copping scored from Nicholls and McCormick counted from McFadden in the first. The latter added one from McCarthy in the second, while Fitzgerald tallied from Anthony in the third for Aces.

Hate Campaign Hurting Football

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Clair, coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League, said Thursday night that the "hate Canada" campaign directed by Bob Snyder in the United States is "hurting us to some degree."

Clair, who talked with a couple of northern all-stars after the annual north-south game at Miami Christmas night, said that Snyder, discharged coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, spoke at a pre-game luncheon Christmas Day.

"He gave them all kinds of reasons why they should stay home," Clair said. "He said the kids in the Canadian game had to take benzedrene tablets because the 60 minutes of football they had to play twice a week was too tough. He also told them the taxes were high and that once the Canadians got an American player up there they could cut him quick."

The Argo coach said: "The kids don't know too much about Canada, but I don't think they are so gullible that they will swallow all of that propaganda."

Col. Marshall Heads Ontario Jockey Club

TORONTO (CP)—Col. K. R. Marshall of Toronto Thursday was elected president of the Ontario Jockey Club for his 12th term.

Following his election by unanimous vote of the shareholders at the club's annual meeting, Col. Marshall said the club is doing everything in keeping with the march of time to increase the popularity of racing in Ontario.

He said that reaching a better understanding of the problems of horsemen and racing offers encouragement to breed high-class horses in Canada, the main objective of his organization.

Name Elmer Burkhart Richmond Manager

OTTAWA (CP)—Elmer Burkart, manager of the Ottawa Athletics baseball club for the last two years has been named general manager of the new Richmond, Va., club. Both teams are members of the International Baseball League.

It was learned Thursday that Mr. Burkart, who has been a year-round resident of Ottawa since 1951, will leave for Richmond today. He was released by Philadelphia Athletics recently.

Bentley Angry At Treatment May Not Join NHL As Player

EDMONTON (CP)—Doug Bentley, angry over treatment of his Saskatoon Quakers by the parent New York Rangers, says he may not join the National Hockey League club as a player.

"I don't think I'll go," the fiery little Western Hockey League coach said in an interview Wednesday night after Edmonton Flyers shaded Quakers 3-2 here.

"I don't think I will," he said, "I won't go while things are like this. They take defenceman Jack Evans from us, and then we start getting hurt."

Despite Bentley's 37 years, Rangers want to reunite him with brother Max in New York to help the Blueshirts in their drive for a playoff berth. Ranger manager Frank Boucher announced recently that Bentley had agreed to join the team.

"HELP US FIRST"

"They (the Rangers) have lots of players, but I know what's happening," the coach of the fourth-place Quakers said. "They don't want to disturb a winning combination now that they're [illegible] help us first."

Bentley's outburst followed a statement from Saskatoon by Quaker manager Norm Couch who said the coach will not be allowed to go to New York "until a suitable replacement is on hand from the Rangers."

Rangers Win 5th In Last Six; Blank Hawks 2-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The growls aren't audible yet but Boston Bruins must be snarling now that it looks as if they're going to have a real battle for a playoff berth in the National Hockey League. The Rangers are a different outfit these days. The changes they made to hit on a strong, coordinated winning line-up haven't been in vain and their new coach, Muzz Patrick, couldn't have taken over from Frank Boucher at a better time.

Thursday night, playing under Patrick for the second time the Rangers blanked Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 in the windy city and moved to within two points of the fourth-place Bruins, who dropped a 2-1 decision to the leading Detroit Red Wings in Boston.

The Rangers' win was the fifth in their last six games. All the Rangers have to do is to keep that pace up to start bringing back the New York fans in droves.

One of the keys to the Broadway Blues success has been the improved play of their defencemen, led by Ivan (The Terrible) Irwin. The other teams no longer find it an easy road to Johnny Bower's goal.

BUSY NIGHT

Bower had a busy night in handling 39 Chicago drives. Goalie Al Rollins stopped 19 New York shots and the two that beat him came off the sticks of rookie Glen Sonmor and Wally Hergesheimer. The defeat was the Hawks' sixth straight.

Sonmor fired the first goal at 6:09 of the second period, with another rookie, Jack Evans, assisting. Irwin set up Hergesheimer for his goal, which came just after the halfway mark of the third frame.

The Red Wings were extended to the limit before downing the Bruins. Glen Skov scored the winning goal with only seven minutes to play.

Metro Prystai got the other Detroit goal at 11:31 of the second period while Boston's Warren Godfrey was sitting out a penalty. That counter tied the score 1-1, wiping out Cal Gardner's tally for the Bruins at the 6:42 mark. Hal Laycoe lashed a 50-foot drive that was deflected by a Detroit defenceman. Gardner was in just the right spot to slam the puck past the startled Terry Sawchuk.

No games are scheduled tonight. Saturday night Boston travels to Montreal while the Rangers tangle with the third-place Maple Leafs in Toronto.

List Three Top Contenders For Boxing Titles

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian Boxing Federation Thursday issued its 1954 ratings, listing three top contenders for titles in all but one division.

Three of the titles—middleweight featherweight, flyweight—are vacant. National commissioner Gene Letourneau of Quebec said the CBF is willing to sanction championship bouts in the middleweight and featherweight divisions between any of the first four contenders in each class.

The three top contenders for the middleweight title are Louis Lawrence of Vancouver, Cobey McClusky, Dartmouth, N.S., and Roger Whynott, Mahone Bay, N.S., in that order. George Sinclair of Toronto leads the lightweights, followed by Montreal's Emile Lamarche and Tommy Corrick, Toronto.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHIEF

James Parker, Toronto, heads the list as contender for the heavyweight crown held by another Toronto boy, Earl Walls, who himself is logical contender for the British Empire heavyweight title held by Don Cockell of England.

The welterweight title is held by Rocky Brisebois of Montreal. Bryant Kelly of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Fitzie Pruden, St. Catharines, and Claude Fortin, Montreal, are respectively the top contenders.

Toronto Purses Increased 5%

TORONTO (CP)—Vince Sheridan president of the Ontario Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, announced Thursday that horse race purses on Toronto tracks will be increased by five per cent for the 1954 racing season.

At Fort Erie purses will be increased eight per cent. The total increases to $600,000 during the past three years. No stake race will offer less than a $5,000 purse as a result.

Cash Crop Prices At 1953 Level

RIDGETOWN (CP)—Prof. D. R. Campbell of the economics department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph said Thursday he thinks cash crop prices will be about the same this year as in 1953.

Speaking at a farmers' week gathering at the Western Ontario Agricultural School, he said in many cases Canadian production is not yet filling domestic requirements.

He said that in 1953 the south-western Ontario [illegible] sex produced 95 per cent of the soybeans grown in Canada, 85 per cent of the grain corn grown in Ontario and four-fifths of the Canadian output, as well as 95 per cent of Ontario's sugar beets, 35 per cent of the province's fall wheat and one-eighth of all the potatoes raised in Ontario.

Earle Nephew of Woodstock, president of the United Co-Operatives of Ontario, described development of the co-operative movement in Ontario. He said that last year there were 150 co-operatives, compared with 25 in 1938.

Launch Investigation Into Windsor Blaze

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An investigation is to be launched into Thursday's $500,000 fire that destroyed Windsor's biggest bowling alley.

Inspector Emmet Byrne of the Windsor fire department said experts from the Ontario fire marshal's office will be called in, partly to establish the cause and partly to gain information for fighting similar outbreaks elsewhere.

Mr. Byrne said he and Inspector Arthur E. Board of Windsor found the fire started in a finishing room where bowling pins were sanded and lacquered.

George Karrys, owner of the alleys, and two helpers were almost trapped in the spurting flames.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

SHOULD DEVELOP TALENT

TORONTO (CP)—A realistic attitude towards track and field in Canada is urged by Dr. Phil Edwards, one of Canada's former running greats.

"We need continual interest on a national basis for all athletics if this country is to take its proper place in the world of sport," Dr. Edwards said in an address Wednesday night to the Lions Club (central) coaches clinic.

Dr. Edwards, an Olympic runner in the late '20s and '30s, and now attached to the veterans' hospital at St. Hyacinthe, Que., said the immediate need is adequate coaching.

"By that, I mean coaches trained in track and field or whatever sport they are supposed to teach. Hand-in-hand with this need is proper facilities."

He called for more provincial and federal support for athletics in the provision of playgrounds, coaches and tracks.

"Each Olympic year they cry at Canada's poor showing. But what can they expect? The material is here, it just needs developing."

NOT WHAT HE EXPECTED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Porterfield, the American League's leading pitcher last year, Thursday joined the growing list of Washington Senators who think they're worth more money than the club has offered.

The 22-game winner said the Senators "didn't offer anywhere near as much as I expected."

Calvin Griffith, the club's vice-president, replied that "Porterfield has been paid extremely well since he has been with us."

Griffith said he believed the club would have difficulty only with Porterfield and Mickey Vernon, the first baseman who led the league in hitting last year with .337.

He expects the six other players who have expressed dissatisfaction to come to terms.

MAY MEET WINNER

TORONTO (CP)—Coley Wallace who portrayed Joe Louis in the recent movie about the ex-heavyweight champion, may get a shot at the winner of the Jan. 26 heavyweight bout here between Earl Walls of Toronto and Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles.

Promoter Frank Tunney said Tuesday night he is negotiating with Wallace's manager, Blinky Palermo of Philadelphia for a match here next month. Tunney said that Palermo has expressed interest in the proposed bout.

Tunney estimates a gross gate of $30,000 or more for the Walls-Harrison fight.

TOURNAMENT OPENS

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower's brother Edgar will be among the 240 contestants in Bing Crosby's annual pro-amateur golf tournament which opens today for a three-day run.

The 54-hole derby offers $10,000 in money prizes for the pros and merchandise awards for the leading amateurs. Crosby puts up all the money and turns the profits from gallery tickets, programs and concessions over to various charities in this area.

SHOULD BACK REFEREES

HAMILTON (CP)—George Redding, former National Hockey League player who now coaches Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series said Thursday the NHL isn't getting the calibre of refereeing it enjoyed 10 years ago.

Redding put the blame solely on NHL coaches and league officials for "panning referees in public." He said there are many experienced hockey veterans capable of refereeing but "under the existing set-up these fellows won't even consider the job."

"How are they going to get competent men if they don't back them up?" Redding asked. "There's Hugh McLean, Johnny Mitchell and I could name a dozen others who got out or were pressured out of the league because the breaks didn't go the right way and they were publicly panned."

Redding said that league and club officials who sound off against a referee in public should be fined.

Ontario Lawyers Favor Evidence Act Change

TORONTO (CP)—A meeting of Ontario lawyers Thursday night went on record as favoring a change in the Canada Evidence Act so that accused persons could not be cross-examined on past convictions unless they put their good characters in issue.

About 100 members of the legal profession from Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Windsor, Kitchener, London, St. Catharines and Welland attended the first meeting of the criminal justice committee.

The resolution was similar to one passed last September by the Canadian Bar Association.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

National Hockey League governors decided 13 years ago today to impose automatic $25 fines on players taking part in fights started by others. The rule was intended to discourage free - for - all-brawls. But the problem remains, with the record penalty total having been meted out for the Leafs-Canadiens fighting at Toronto Dec. 9.

Lumsden Seeks B.C. Strait Race

TORONTO (CP)—Cliff Lumsden, four-time winner of the Canadian National Exhibition swim, Thursday threw in another challenge for a swim across the strait of Juan de Fuca off the British Columbia coast.

Lumsden said he wrote a Victoria newspaper and a west coast paint company, urging them to open a proposed contest to both men and women. Earlier, the newspaper and paint firm announced they would pay $10,000 to champion [illegible] Florence [illegible] and 18½ mile stretch.

The announcement immediately brought a challenge from Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuszler of St. Thomas, who offered to race Miss Chadwick across the strait. Mrs. Leuszler is the only Canadian woman to swim the English channel.

Elect Dundas Doctor President Veterinaries

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Veterinary Association Thursday elected Dr. R. H. Wright of Dundas as its president at its 80th annual meeting.

Dr. R. W. Ford of Oakville and Dr. C. A. V. Barker of Guelph are vice-presidents. Dr. G. A. Edge, Toronto, is secretary-treasurer and registrar. Directors are Dr. Orlan Hall of Ottawa, Dr. R. W. Ford of Oakville, Dr. Claude Kealey of Ottawa, Dr. P. C. Wang of Brockville, Dr. George Cairns of Oakville and Dr. G. H. Collacutt of Toronto.

At the fourth annual meeting of the Ontario Veterinary College Alumni Association, held in conjunction with the OVA session, Dr. Ronald Gwatkin of Hull, Que., was named president.

Bartenders Request More Pay, Licences

WINDSOR (CP) — The Ontario Provincial Council of Culinary Bartenders and Hotel Service Employees in a one-day convention Thursday passed resolutions asking fewer hours, more pay and that all persons employed in beverage rooms, liquor and dining lounges and taverns be individually licenced.

The 75 delegates asked a minimum of 75 cents an hour for women working in the two businesses and not less than $30 for a 40-hour week. The scale ranges from $16 to $24 now.

The convention decided individual licences are desirable because where infractions of the Liquor Licence Act occur, often only one person is involved but an establishment may lose its licence.

Doubts Toll Roads Successful—Doucette

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucette, commenting on a proposed turnpike from Niagara Falls to Windsor, said Thursday he doubts that Canadians would accept the idea of toll highways.

He saidhe has received no word from a meeting of United States turnpike authorities at Kalamazoo, Mich., who were reported to have suggested the road.

William F. Slaughter, Jr., Michigan turnpike authority chairman, said at Kalamazoo he hopes Ontario will build a Niagara Falls-to-Windsor turnpike as a link to connect New York with Chicago.

Mr. Doucette said: "I doubt if people would accept the idea of paying turnpike tolls and taxes too."

Denies A-Bombs Carried

ROME (AP) — Admiral William M. Fechtler, commander of Atlantic Pact forces in southern Europe, Thursday denied reports in Italian left-wing newspapers that United States warships in Naples harbor have atom bombs aboard. He called the report typical Communist propaganda.

EARL WALLS, left, is being mentioned as a likely future opponent for Ezzard Charles, after the man on the right scored a knockout win over Bob Satterfield. But Walls is more anxious to get a crack at British Empire champ Don Cockell, and a $15,000 offer has been made to the Londoner to defend his crown in Edmonton. And Charles is after a bout with champion Rocky Marciano.

Boxing Writers Honor Gavilan

NEW YORK (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, Dr. Vincent Nardiello and Floyd Patterson have been honored by the American Boxing Writers Association as the outstanding men in the sport in 1953.

Gavilan received the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "fighter of the year," an award named in memory of the former Associated Press [illegible] writer who [illegible] presenting the award hailed Gavilan as "one of the greatest fighters of modern times."

Dr. Nardiello, former boxer and New York state athletic commission physician for many years, was given the James J. Walker plaque for "long and meritorious service" to the sport. Patterson, 165-pound Olympic champion in 1952, accepted the James Dawson Memorial Plaque as "rookie of the year."

Quebec Clips Hamilton In Twin Loop Game

QUEBEC (CP)—Raymond Cyr and Guy Rousseau Thursday night fired home two goals apiece to lead Phil Watson's Quebec Frontenacs to a 6-3 victory over Hamilton Cubs of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association.

A small crowd of about 1,000 fans saw the fast-moving, interlocking schedule game between the OHA juniors and the Quebec Junior League club. The Frontenacs are second in the QJHL and the Cubs sixth in their loop.

Says Price Sheets Had Same Sources

TORONTO (CP) — Sgt. C. E. Eves of the RCMP testified Thursday at the price-fixing trial of 27 fine paper firms that price sheets sent to groups of firms in various parts of Canada came from the same place.

The trial was later adjourned until Friday.

Sgt. Eves, the RCMP's senior document examiner, said that, in one case, 11 letters sent to various firms came from one master sheet. In another instance, 10 sheets sent to another group of firms had come from the same place.

Oxford Agriculturists Ask Rural Fire Alarms

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Delegates to the annual meeting of the Oxford County Federation of Agriculture said Thursday that "we want all our neighbors notified" in the event of a fire.

The meeting passed a resolution urging an efficient rural fire alarm system. Delegates said rural telephone companies used to notify everyone of a fire by a prolonged ring on the party line.

In other resolutions the meeting endorsed the price support policy of the federal government but objected to government officials stating, as if it were inevitable, that farm prices drop first and others follow.

Organist-Composer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roland Diggle, 69, for the last 40 years organist and choirmaster of St. John's Episcopal church, and one of the most prolific American composers of organ music, died at his home Wednesday night of a heart attack. Diggle had published more than 500 organ compositions.

Chokes On Apple

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—George Delvecchio, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Delvecchio, choked to death while eating an apple in his home Thursday. A piece of fruit apparently lodged in the child's windpipe.

NEW POSTING—George Bernard Summers, 47, of St. Johns, Nfld., will take over in March as charge d'affaires of the Canadian legation in Prague. He succeeds J. M. Teakles, 38, of Winnipeg, who is returning to Ottawa. A veteran of the Second World War, Mr. Summers left the army in 1946 with the rank of colonel and became legal adviser in the control commission for Germany. He held that post until he joined the external affairs department in September, 1950.

Church Becomes Home For New Canadians

TORONTO (CP)—The vestry of Donlands United church here will be the temporary home of a newly-arrived Bulgarian family until next week, Rev. J. G. Perkins, minister of the church, said today.

The family of four—Michel Nithis 26-year-old wife and two boys of six and four—have settled into the vestry to sleep and they do their cooking and eating in the church kitchen.

Mr. Perkins said an unfurnished apartment has been secured for them. "Next thing is to get furniture and we hope to have that arranged for in a few days."

Nitoff, an electrical engineer, is unemployed.

Contract Suit Fails

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $5,600,000 breach-of-contract suit that Oregon publisher Sheldon F. Sackett filed against Robert L. Smith, former publisher of the Los Angeles Daily News, has been dismissed. Sackett charged that Smith repudiated an agreement for sale of the newspaper last Oct. 24 but Smith replied that Sackett failed to comply with terms of the agreement. Smith sold the paper Dec. 24 to Clinton D. McKinnon, Democratic party leader.

Invitation Ski Meet Set For Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE (CP)—More than 40 skiers from southern Ontario will compete in a two-day invitational meet at the Huntsville Ski Club Saturday and Sunday, officials announced Thursday.

Chuck Austin of Sudbury, winner of the alpine combined title last year and Jorgen Myhre, nordic combined champion from the University of Toronto, are expected to compete.

I Remember

the night Lester Patrick played goal!

BY MIKE RODDEN

"The Stanley Cup Series of 1928 featuring the New York Rangers and the Montreal Maroons will always stand out in my memory as having been the most thrilling of them all—right from the era of the famous Kenora Thistles—Ottawa Silver Seven—Montreal Wanderers to the present time. This was a series in which incidents were numerpus, skill was paraded and almost everything that could happen did occur. It was during this set—all games being staged in the Montreal Forum—that Manager Lester Patrick replaced injured goalie, Lorne Chabot. Though he was 45 years old and had never played goal before, Patrick sparked the Blue Shirts to a triumph that prevented the Montreal forces from capturing Lord Stanley's battered trophy."

RCAF Officers Discuss New Jets For Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCAF's high command has discussed plans for a new super-sonic jet aircraft to bolster Canada's defences.

An RCAF announcement said only that "under the chairmanship of the chief of the air staff, Air-Marshal C. R. Slemon, the group reviewed RCAF plans for the coming year and discussed the major problems associated with these plans."

The RCAF will need before long an aircraft to replace the all-weather CF-100, designed especially for Canadian defence.

The CF-100 could handle any bombers which it might come up against now but it probably will be obsolescent in a few years.

As bomber speeds increase, Canada will need a new plane to meet the threat—a plane that will stand up to harsh weather and cover long distances quickly.

The CF-105, now about to go on the drawing boards at A. V. Roe, Ltd., Malton, may meet Canada's needs for a faster, longer-range jet fighter; or Britain or the United States might come up with a plane suitable for Canadian needs and which would be cheaper to buy than building Canadian-designed planes in Canada.

Moves Deeper Into Labor Relations

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower and his government will be a lot deeper in labor-management relations if Congress approves his proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

Two prime examples among the president's 14 proposals: A fact-finding board to make recommendations in a national emergency dispute; and a government-conducted [illegible] in the case [illegible] more federal [illegible] writing into law that the government must conduct a vote among the employees on whether they want a strike.

Eisenhower didn't say, in his message to Congress, whether the vote should be taken before or after a strike started.

PRESIDENT RECOMMENDS

Eisenhower asked that this be changed so that such a board president finds the national welfare is threatened by a strike, he appoints a board to investigate and report back with the facts.

For example: A union demands a raise of $3 a day; the company offers a raise of only $1. The board reports what is already pretty well known: What the union demands and the company offers.

PRESIDENT RECOMMENDS

Eisenhower asked that this be changed so that such a board would make recommendations on a settlement. Since the president handpicks the board, its recommendations become, in effect, his own.

Neither the company nor the union would have to accept the recommendations.

At present workers can vote among themselves on whether to strike. Or they may leave it up to a selected group of their union officials.

BILL PRODUCED

Almost at once Senator H alexander Smith (Rep. N. J.), chairman of the Senate labor committee, produced a bill calling for a vote after a strike had started.

Under a special war law, from 1943 to 1954, the government had to take a vote among workers before a strike could be called in a war plant or one connected with the war.

Strike votes were taken among about 2,100 groups of employees. In about 1,800 cases the vote was to strike, although only a small percentage actually went out.

Works To Cost $151,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will likely spend about $151,000,000 on public works projects in 1954-55 [illegible] ment of the trans-Canada highway and construc[illegible] buildings.

Informants disclosed Thursday that the $151,000,000 figure will be the public works department's estimates for the next fiscal year, a jump of $7,000,000 from the current year's estimates of $144,000,000.

The government plans to allocate about $20,000,000 for the trans-Canada highway, up from $15,000,000 in the 1953-54 budget.

The provinces, which have to match federal payments, have informed the works department they plan to step up construction next summer. Costs for the 4,900-mile project were originally estimated at about $300,000,000, to be completed by December, 1956. Now the feeling is that the total cost will be higher and that it will take more time to complete, perhaps two or three years.

Finds English Classes For Russian Pupils Cover Work Thoroughly

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP) — Science and mathematics teachers go about their business in Moscow's school 702 much as they did in Lisgar Collegiate when I went to school in Ottawa.

There are the same old bunsen burners in the chemistry lab, and mendeljeef's table and a chemistry symbol chart up on the wall. The apparatus in the physics lab's glass cupboard looks familiar, too.

But the second-year class in English has wrinkles I haven't come across before in a foreign country. These eighth-grade children study in a class where almost all the conversation is in English.

At school 702, English is the foreign language studied in all but four of the upper classrooms. Those four study German.

There is one school in Moscow where the whole curriculum is taught in English. In another all the instruction is in French.

School 702's English teacher, an efficient woman of 24, does little more than direct the questions and answers among the girls themselves.

One girl read the lesson prepared for the day, went to the blackboard and the other girls let fly.

"What is the English word for. . . ?"

"Answer the following question in English. . ."

Then another girl was put on the spot. All the questions were based on the day's preparation. Russian script varies greatly from the English, yet while I was there only one slight slip was made.

WELL-DRILLED CLASSES

Gymnasium exercises resemble those in Canada once the formalities are disposed of. A class is led to the gym floor by the top girl. She dresses them into lines like soldiers on parade: "Up the middle; back in the end. . ."

When they are ready she marches up to the teacher, stands to attention and says:

"Good afternoon, teacher. We are class . . . we are 35 present, six absent ill."

Fees for Moscow students are 400 rubles a year ($100 at the artificial exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar). Elsewhere the fees range between 200 and 400 rubles. There is no cost for students with wives, teachers' children, and children of war invalids.

TEACHERS ENCOURAGED

Teachers in primary schools earn 650 rubles ($162.50) monthly, unless they hold university degrees when they are paid the 800-ruble salary of a high school teacher. All teachers get automatic increases of five per cent after five years, 15 per cent after 15, and 25 per cent after 20. After 25 years a teacher automatically draws a pension of 350 to 400 rubles monthly but may continue to work and draw the normal salary also.

Mme. Taissia Ivanovna Khodorovskaya, principal of school 702, draws 1,900 rubles monthly. She has an apartment in the school.

At state-operated rest homes, teachers pay only one-third of the standard rate, their trade union paying the rest.

Teachers are eligible for honors by the state. For 10 years of good work a teacher may be awarded the Order of Merit. Good work for 15 years is recognized by the Order of the Red Star and 20 by the Red Banner.

HIGHEST AWARD

The Order of Lenin, highest decoration of the U.S.S.R., may be awarded to a teacher after 25 years' service.

Most of school 702's teachers are women, most are married and most have children.

There are parent-teacher associations and parents take part in extra-curricular school activities such as visits to the ballet or opera. Classes studying a play or opera usually go—if it is being presented at the time.

Seek Montcalm, Wolf Memorials

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal member of Parliament Thursday said that monuments should be provided on the Plains of Abraham for Generals Wolfe and Montcalm, victor and vanquished in the battle between Britain and France for possession of Canada.

Jean Francois Pouliot, member for Temiscouata, made the suggestion during discussion in the Commons of a government plan to increase to $125,000 from $100,000 the amount of money paid the commissions charged with keeping the historic battlefield at Quebec.

Furthermore, said Mr. Pouliot, if any descendants of the British General Wolfe or the French General Montcalm are living they should be appointed trustees of the 1759 battlefield or named to the battlefield's commission irrespective of their political views.

Telephone Costs Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's telephone bill for the 1952-53 fiscal year showed an increase of $133,030 as compared with the previous year. The increase was caused partly by higher telephone rates.

Gardiner In Clinic

REGINA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner is in for a medical check-up at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., Mrs. Wilfred Gardiner, his daughter-in-law, said Thursday night. She said the 70-year-old cabinet minister is not seriously ill. Mrs. Gardiner said that friends in Ottawa, in close touch with Mr. Gardiner, indicated reports from the clinic are good.

More TB In North

SUDBURY—(CP)—More people have tuberculosis in northern than in southern Ontario and the public needs further education in the disease, the Ontario Tuberculosis Association was told here Wednesday.

One out of every 800 persons in Northern Ontario has the disease, compared to one in 1,500 in southern Ontario, speakers said.

More than 50 delegates attended.

Coal Policies Undergo Review 1st In 25 Years

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—A general overhaul of the federal government's coal subvention policy, the first since the system went into effect a quarter-century ago, is under way.

The Dominion coal board, it was learned, has been directed to make a review of the subvention set-up and a report is expected by the cabinet shortly.

The board, composed of representatives of the government and the coal business, now is meeting in Ottawa. The subvention overhaul, under study by board experts for some time, is the big item on its agenda.

CHANGES MOTIVE

Changing factors in Canada's fuel situation, natural gas and oil undercutting coal, plus developing unemployment in the collieries are among motives behind the review.

The subventions, a form of subsidy, are paid out of the federal treasury to help the movement of Canadian coal to market against competition that comes mostly from United States coal. Chiefly, they assist Maritimes and Western fuel in the central Canadian market by taking up some of the transportation costs.

Since they were launched in the late 1930s, the subventions have helped move some 46,000,000 tons of Canadian coal to sales points in this country. They have cost the treasury $61,120,000, an average of $1.32 a ton.

$6,000,000 PAID

In the 1952-53 fiscal year, subventions of almost $6,000,000 were paid to bring 2,405,000 tons of Canadian coal into competitive sales position with the imported product.

Canadian coal production during the year was about 17,000,000 tons.

Nova Scotia mines got $4,770,000 in subventions on the movement of 1,625,000 tons of its 5,900,000-ton output. Alberta collieries received $1,018,000 on 597,000 tons of its 6,500,000-ton production.

The remainder of the subventions was distributed in relatively small amounts to New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Dying Man's Words Help Acquit Driver

BARRIE (CP)—A fatally-burned truck driver's last words helped Thursday to acquit William J Alford, 27, of Barrie, of a charge of dangerous driving.

Magistrate Gordon Foster reserved judgment until Feb. 1 on a charge of careless driving. The charges resulted from a collision between two trucks Oct. 24 in which trucker Peter Whiteduck, 29, of Thornbury, and a companion, Joseph Benham, 20, of Everston, suffered fatal burns from flaming gasoline.

The magistrate gave permission for Mrs. Edith Friend, wife of the Oshawa police chief, to relate a brief conversation she had with Whiteduck as she tended him at the roadside after the crash. She quoted Whiteduck as asking:

ASKS QUESTION

"Did I kill anyone in the other truck?"

When told no one in the Alford truck had been hurt, she said, Whiteduck replied:

"I'm glad."

Defence counsel J. D. Bell of Toronto said in summing up his case that Whiteduck's question indicated a feeling of guilt and that Whiteduck attached no blame to the other driver.

Police chief Friend said that while he was driving down a long grade at about 55 miles an hour, Whiteduck's truck passed him at "at least 70 miles an hour."

CHALLENGES RUSSIANS — Frank Anderson, 23, of Toronto, who holds the Canadian chess title jointly with Winnipeg's Abe Yanofsky, has challenged world champion Mikhail Botvinnik or one of the other Soviet grand masters. If arranged, the match would be played by cable as a feature of a hobby and homecraft show in Toronto February 5-11.

Ask Next-Of-Kin To Unveiling

LONDON (CP)—The next-of-kin of 286 Canadian airmen killed in the Mediterranean area during the Second World War have received invitations to attend the unveiling by the Queen of a Commonwealth memorial in Malta next spring.

Officials of the Imperial War Graves Commission said invitations have been sent to the Canadian relatives to attend the ceremony at Valetta, Malta, May 3.

The memorial, a 40-foot white marble column topped with a bronze, gilded eagle, commemorates about 2,300 Commonwealth airmen killed in the Mediterranean theatre and with no known graves. Their names, including those of 1,545 Britons, 286 Canadians, 211 Australians, 171 South Africans and 85 New Zealanders, will be inscribed on the drum-shaped base of the monument.

Officials said the Royal Air Force Association is planning a pilgrimage of relatives to Malta for the ceremony but that it is not known whether a similar project will be organized for Canadians.

City Growing 3-5% Yearly Must Keep Careful Eye On Finances—P. J. Anglesey

Peterborough's population is growing at the rate of from three to five percent annually and should easily reach 50,000 by 1960, Ald. P. J. Anglesey, chairman of the finance committee, and acting mayor told the Kiwanis club Thursday. This, he said, is a healthy sign in a progressive community.

Like any expanding, progressive city, Peterborough is "operating largely on borrowed money". Since civic expenditures will accrue to the taxpayers' benefit over the next 20 years or more, the city must go into debt to provide services essential to progress and expansion.

The City of Peterborough has a good record in tax collection. Mr. Anglesey told the group that of $2,833,639 levied in taxes in 1953, over 95% has been collected. This figure is "especially impressive since ratepayers may allow taxes to lapse for three years before the city takes action to collect.

ADD TO DEBT

Although $500,000 will be added to Peterborough's debenture debt in 1954, it is hoped that a net reduction will be achieved. Present debenture debt totals in the neighborhood of $7,500,000.

Advotcates of worthy causes must "bear in mind we're not philanthropists," Mr. Anglesey warned in presenting a financial look into 1954. The Peterborough city council "must spend frugally the money entrusted to us by the taxpayers."

Mr. Anglesey was chief speaker, at the Kiwanis Club's civic day, held early in January each year, in place of Mayor Norman Graham. Mayor Graham, who was in Ottawa, sent a letter regretting that he would be unable to attend.

SHOW MORE INTEREST

The annual civic day, said Kiwanian John Madden, thanking the speaker, "shows the Peterborough citizens are far more interested than ever before in civic affairs."

Special guests at the noon meetpring, presided over by president Bob Bastable, included representatives of city council, the Peterborough utilities commission, the board of education and the separate school board.

Next week's meeting will be a ladies' night at Gilmour Memorial church on the Chemong road. A fowl supper will be served by the ladies of the church.

Thursday's guest list follows: chairman Fred Hills and George Macdonald from the utilities commission; chairman J. T. McCarney, William Grady, Fergus O'Connor, Dr. J. R. Epping, Frank Shine, H. Bartlett, Campbell Rowatt from the separate school board, vice-chairman Mrs. Anne Rowell, Clarence Porter, Dr. Donald White, Ernest McWilliam, A. R. Hailey, J. Kitney and chairman Charles Huffman from the board of education; acting mayor Anglesey and alderman Harold Rehill, R. E. Knox, W. G. Powell, A. B. Burrows, J. A. Dewart and W. J. Beggs representing the city.

Half Nova Scotia Moose Out of Minds Biologist Studies May Be Help To Humans

By JOHN MURPHY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—A brain disease has taken hold of Nova Scotia's moose population and biologists who have tackled the problem say their studies may lead to developments in treating human mental illness.

It's safe to say that nearly half of the province's scrawny, tick-infested moose are out of their minds. Biologists are not yet certain but indications are that the sickness results from deterioration of the animal's brain.

With its motor and sensory nerves out of order, a moose is a pitiful sight. It lopes about the countryside, half blind and starving, smashing through fences because it can't jump over them.

DIET CURE

Biologists are working on the theory that malnutrition is the cause and they are hopeful that from their studies may come further light on the possibility human mental illness may be prevented or cured through diet. Canadian and United States neurologists are co-operating with the Nova Scotia biologists in the investigation.

Research by the provincial lands and forests department is far from complete, and although none of the biologists are making any predictions, it appears that the climate is a factor in the sickness.

D. A. Benson, provincial wildlife biologist, says there has been a considerable climatic change in Nova Scotia, and the rest of North America for that matter, since moose were plentiful.

The change resulted in the disappearance of certain types of plants that moose required as food. In Newfoundland and the northern parts of Quebec and other provinces, where the climate is cooler, moose are healthy monarchs of the forest.

NORMAL LIFE

It is also known that game is moving northward as temperatures rise and certain vegetatation disappears. Because of Nova Scotia's peninsular shape, however, moose cannot move northward where they would find plants needed for normal life.

As a result they are dying of malnutrition. Biologists have decided to try to cure this malnutrition—believed the cause of brain deterioration—in the same way they would treat cattle and sheep.

Dairy cattle on Nova Scotia farms are given supplementary cobalt—a mineral not found in their regular diet—to keep them in good shape. Six sick moose were treated with cobaltous chloride. Five died and one responded.

Mr. Benson says the five that died may not have been suffering from a deficiency or they may have been beyond treatment.

Biologists are hoping they may soon have proof that brain deterioration in moose is caused by mineral and vitamin deficiencies. If this is true, they say mentally ill humans may be cured or given preventive treatment through a prescribed diet.

MANY DIE IN ALPS—Swiss rescue workers ease a coffin down an incline near Spirigen, Switzerland. Avalanches roaring down the slopes of the Alps have taken many lives in Austria, West Germany and Switzerland. At least 144 persons are dead or missing and hundreds left homeless.

Airlift Restores Contact In Austria Avalanche Zone

By WOLF LEUTKINS

LUDESCH, Austria (Reuters)—An American helicopter crashed near the disaster-stricken village of Blons today as a United States airlift restored contact with Austria's avalanche-threatened Walsertal valley.

No one was injured in the crash, which occurred as the rescue craft nosed into a restricted landing space stamped out in fresh snow. The crew were evacuated by another of the five helicopters moving urgently needed supplies into the valley.

DANGER STILL ACUTE

The helicopters took off from there this morning after mist lifted from the mountains. Heavy snowstorms that turned to sleet during the night earlier had blocked ground routes into Blons and cut off all but telephone contact.

Main need of the 400 weary rescue workers in Blons is food, estimated this morning at little more than a day's supply. Nine persons are still missing in the mountain hamlet, where snow cascading down from the mountains Monday evening brought death to a known 64.

4-NATION TOTAL 144

Revised government figures today set Austria's total number of dead in four days of avalanches at 116. The four-country Alpine total rose to 144 as Switzerland reported 22 dead, Germany four and Italy two.

In the Grosse Soelk valley of central Austria, a fresh avalanche forced villagers to flee early this morning and blocked the rampaging Soelk river.

But police at nearby Gorebming said no one was injured and cold weather is lessening the danger of further avalanches. Those who fled from their homes are now retruning.

Mackenzie River Province Predicted By Robertson

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's bleak Arctic is governed by a tall, dark, soft-spoken public servant bent on showing that the vast northwest territories aren't as barren as people think.

He is R. Gordon Robertson, 36, deputy minister of northern affairs and natural resources, and commissioner of the territories whose 1,304,000 square miles cover one-third of Canada's entire area.

The territories, peopled by 6,800 Eskimos, 5,600 whites and 3,600 Indians, are rich in untapped, virtually unknown mineral deposits, basis of most of the north's growth to date. For inside the Arctic circle there is vegetable gardening during the short summer.

FUTURE PROVINCE

The north's growth is such that if development and population increase sufficiently it is "conceivable" there some day might be a province of the Mackenzie river, Mr. Robertson said in an interview. Most of the territories' 16,000 population live in the District of Mackenzie, north of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Most of the white man's activity in the territories revolves around gold mining at Yellowknife, about 500 miles north of Edmonton on the northern shore of Great Slave lake.

At Port Radium, some 300 miles further north on Great Bear lake, mining operations vital to Canada's atomic energy development programs are being carried out.

The Northwest Territories council now is planning to move Aklavik, near the northwestern tip of the territories, and Coppermine on the far north-central shore of the Mackenzie district, to new sites to be chosen next summer.

POOR WATER SUPPLIES

These shifts to new sites in the same neighborhoods are necessary because of poor water supplies, inadequate sewerage facilities and handicaps on expansion at their present sites.

Mr. Robertson's views on development of the northwest territories were previously expressed in an adress to the NWT council, when he said:

"Thanks to technological advances, the wealth of this storehouse is becoming more and more accessible. . . the minerals are also becoming more and more amenable to extraction. . . this potential wealth is becoming of steadily increasing importance not only to the economy of Canada but to the economies of all countries of the free world.

"Side by side with the economic growth which seems clearly to lie ahead of us will come growth in the institutions of government and social welfare, for these three facets of progress—economic, political and social—must be interdependent if a community is to flourish."

ACCEPT INCORPORATION

Although "the people of the north" might have aspirations for provincehood, Mr. Robertson doubted they would accept incorporation with any of the western provinces.

However, carving Canada's 11th province out of the territories would still leave about half the territories—the eastern and far northern sections—untouched politically. The territories, north of the 60th parallel, are bounded on the west by the Yukon, on the north by the Arctic sea.

Commissioner Robertson's position as head of the NWT council amounts to being "premier" of Canada's biggest "province."

The council, acting as a kind of provincial legislature for the territories, has jurisdiction over matters that would be of provincial resort if the territories were in fact a province.

LIKE HAVING 2 HEADS

Deputy-minister Robertson, concerned with problems of federal jurisdiction, said his dual-position is "like having two heads."

So far—he was appointed to the posts last September—neither has started writing angry letters to the other.

hf daweeh exaAltn teit eategrm

The council, which has signed a tax agreement with the federal government, also gets revenue from taxes on liquor sales, licences for mining developments, mining royalties and licences for trapping. Estimate of expenditures for 1954-55 is $1,341,176.

NEEDS MANPOWER

The council now is planning establishment of vocational training for the youth of the territories.

"They need plumbers, electricians and radio operators as much as other parts of Canada," Mr. Robertson said. "Perhaps more so if they are to continue to grow."

Married and the father of two children, the career public servant has moved up fast since he entered government service in 1941 after studies at the University of Saskatchewan, Oxford University and the University of Toronto.

He was in turn, third secretary in the department of external affairs, became second secretary to the prime minister in 1945, was appointed an officer of the privy council in 1949 and the following year became assistant secretary to the cabinet.

Roseneath Club Hears Wilson Gemmell

ROSENEATH (ENS) — "Conditions of the World Today" was the subject of the address given by Wilson Gemmell, manager of the Royal Bank, Peterborough at the January meeting of Roseneath Men's Club. Mr. Gemmell also stressed the personal attitude of one person to another in the present-day situations. The speaker was introduced by Douglas L. Coyle and thanked by O. J. Robins.

The meeting was held at Maple Lodge on Wednesday evening.

The president, C. W. Varcoe, presided. The Rev. J. R. Wheeler led in prayer.

The guest artists for the evening were Yvonne Adams at the piano, Faye Adams and Bill Murphy violinists. This trio gave a number of instrumental selections during the evening. Beecher McDonald moved a vote of thanks to these young artists for their entertainment. Elderidge Sherwin moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality. The singing of the National Anthem concluded the meeting.

170 Marriages Judged

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Rota, most ancient tribunal of the Roman Catholic Church, ruled on 170 marriage cases during 1953, declaring 94 of them valid and 76 invalid, it was announced today. During the last 40 years, the work of the tribunal has increased more than 10 times. Cases brought before the tribunal during the 1952-53 judicial year totalled 337 of various kinds, of which 321 concerned matrimonial questions.

Britain Helps Tito

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain is giving Yugoslavia £3,000,000 worth of economic aid in the financial year covering June 1953, to 1954 as her share of Anglo-American-French assistance, a foreign office spokesman said today. The money will be spent on agricultural equipment, including machinery and insecticides, as well as pigs for breeding.

MECHANIZED FLOUR-BAG—Although it looks as if it might be an atomic cannon, this is the latest thing in flour-hauling vehicles. The truck, pictured loading flour at Western Star Mills, Salina, Kan., was developed by the Trout Baking Co., of Booneville, Mo. It holds 20 tons of flour, eliminating the need for 400 bags, with a saving of 47 cents per hundredweight under the old bag method. Loaded in one hour, it saves considerable manpower hours. It is loaded and unloaded by gravity. The tank is elevated, filled from the front and the flour discharged from the rear.

Kirkland Miner Testifies In Murder Trial

HAILEYBURY (CP)—The case of Walter Okonski, 31, charged with murder in the bludgeon slaying of his wife in their Kirkland Lake apartment, is expected to go to the jury in Ontario Supreme Court today.

The Polish-born gold miner Thursday testified for 2½ hours about the events of the afternoon of Nov. 29 when he is alleged to have battered his 47-year-old wife to death with en electric iron.

Okonski, who burst into tears several times, said an argument started after another man kissed Mrs. Okonski during a drinking party in a neighboring apartment. he said he left the party and returned to his own quarters.

"At my home I cried and felt lonely. I returned and carried my wife to our kitchen in my arms. I put her down on a chair and placed my head on her lap and told her I loved her.

"She pushed me to the floor and I took the thing nearest my hand and beat her. There was a darkness over my eyes and I grabbed the iron and beat her."

Defence Counsel W. C. Inch asked the jury to bring in a verdict of manslaughter.

He said there was no hint of premeditation.

The crown attorney said wicked and evil intent fostered Okonski's desire to rid himself of his wife.

"The accused is able to recount the story in great detail up to the point where he picked up the iron. Then he says he had a blackout. I suggest the only blackout was that of the unfortunate wife whom, as I see it, there is a clear case he murdered."

6 Lives Lost, Damage High In Ontario, Quebec Fires

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six lives were lost and damage amounted to more than $600,000 in 10 fires in Ontario and Quebec Thursday. Eight of the fires were in Ontario.

Four lives were lost in Montreal, three of them in a hotel fire, and two children were burned to death at Englehart in northern Ontario. The biggest loss, $500,000, came in the destruction of a block-long Windsor bowling alley.

At Montreal three bodies were recovered from the charred wreckage of the Chateau Hotel. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Also in Montreal Mrs. Francois Ducros, 45-year-old mother of six, was burned to death when fire broke out in her home in suburban Notre Dame de Grace.

Two baby sisters, Lily Collingridge, 2, and one-year-old Ruth, died when fire destroyed their home on the outskirts of Englehart, 24 miles south of Kirkland Lake.

WENT TO CUT WOOD

Mr. Collingridge, 27, left to cut some wood for a neighbor, a widow. Mrs. Collingridge, a 21-year-old expectant mother, went out to ask him to bring in more fuel.

Other fires:

Port Arthur: Eight children, aged 5 to 18, were aroused when a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. Dewolfe burned to the ground.

Espanola: Len McDonald suffered second-degree burns in rescuing his wife and year-old son when fire destroyed their house.

Crowland: Fire of undetermined origin burned the stage of St. Michael's Greek Catholic church; damage estimated at $10,000.

Corbiel: Mrs. Raymond Savage fled into 25-below zero weather with her 18-month-old daughter as flames destroyed their frame home.

Bridgeport: Loss set at $6,000 in a fire which burned Max Lindner's frame workshop.

$5,448 Account Heir Sought By Post Office

OTTAWA (CP)—Post office officials are searching for the heirs to a savings account which has pyramided from $700 to $5,448 in 76 years.

The $700 account was opened in 1878 in the post office savings bank at Alexandria, 60 miles southwest of Ottawa, by Hugh McDonald, a "yeoman of the guard" or part-time soldier. The annual report of the auditor general says interest has built the account up to $5,448 as of March 31, 1953.

Efforts to locate Mr. McDonald or his relatives have failed over the years. A number of individuals have claimed the money but were unable to satisfy post office authorities that they were related to Mr. McDonald.

"Presumably the man is dead," one official said. "But we are still hoping to find some trace of his descendants. Meanwhile, the interest on his original and only deposit is piling up."

Gets Court Experience

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An Ontario provincial police officer was allowed a little practice in traffic court Thursday. Magistrate J. Arthur Hanrahan heard evidence from one officer and stopped the evidence of a second because it had already been heard. Crown Attorney Eugene Duschene said the second officer had never been in a witness box and the experience would do him good. He was allowed to continue.

Dog Power

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Todd investigated when he heard a whine instead of a purr from his engine after driving four miles to work. Lifting the hood, he discovered Speedy, a neighbor's small dog, who apparently had climbed up beside the engine the night before, seeking warmth.

Newspaper Buys Customs House In Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — C. B. Binder, publisher of The News-Chronicle, announced Thursday the purchase of the customs building, which will become the newspaper's new home in the fall of this year.

The four-storey structure, the second largest office building in the city, will provide The News-Chronicle with more than 30,000 feet of floor space, three times the space available at the present site.

Expansion plans to start soon include extensive remodelling of the interior and installation of a modern, high-speed press, complete with color units, in a separate building.

Mr. Binder said the new newspaper office will be "one of the most modern in Canada and will be a credit to Port Arthur. It is a fulfillment of a promise made by publisher Roy Thomson on his acquiring The News-Chronicle three years ago."

Sale of the customs building was officially approved Wednesday by order-in-council at Ottawa. It ended nearly a year's negotiation between the newspaper and Crown Assets Disposal Corporation representing the federal government. It was the largest real estate deal made in the city in recent years.

The amount of the transaction was not made public.

Date Set For Trial In Soldier's Murder

CALGARY (CP) — Preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Pte. William Cierpisz of Windsor, Ont., will open here Jan. 21. Date for the hearing was set Thursday during a brief appearance by Cierpisz in police court.

The 17-year-old member of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is accused of firing two shots from an army rifle into Pte. Robert Bilow, 21, in a barracks washroom here Jan. 6.

Canada's Stockpile 100,000,000 Bushels

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wheat stockpile, for export and carryover, was more than 100,000,000 bushels higher Dec. 1 than a year before.

The total increased to 713,900,000 bushels from 610,000,000 in the previous year, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday.

Total exports of wheat and flour in the first four months of the current crop year, which opened Aug. 1, dropped to 102,800,000 bushels from 138,300,000 from the similar 1952-53 period.

Tuberculosis Toll Tumbled In 1952

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's tuberculosis toll tumbled in 1952 to an all-time low of 2,457 deaths.

The bureau of statistics said Thursday the 1952 figures represented a 30 per cent drop from the previous year and attributed the decline in part to the "widest use of new drug treatments." It said the new low represented a drop of 56 per cent from the 1946 death toll, 66 per cent from the 1932 and 70 per cent from the 1926 figure.

May Have New Flag This Year For Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—The question of a national flag probably will be raised again in the Commons within the next three weeks and Canada may have its own distinctive flag this year.

It was learned Thursday that members of all parties are studying a new design and that it apparently is receiving the approval of the majority.

The design suggested is Canada's coat-of-arms on a red-and-white background. The coat-of-arms, authorized in 1921, includes a crown, Union Jack and Fleur-de-Lis.

Those behind the latest move for a national flag say the coat-of-arms is acceptable in Quebec and should also find favor in English-speaking Canada because it contains the Union Jack. The white background would represent French-speaking Canada, the red English-speaking Canada.

NO ACTION TAKEN

The national flag question was first broached in 1946, when a committee studied 2,695 designs. It finally recommended to Parliament in July, 1946, that the Canadian flag be the Red Ensign, with a maple leaf in a bordered background of white replacing the coat-of-arms in the fly and a smaller Union Jack in the upper lefthand corner. However, this design was never submitted to Parliament and no other action was taken.

Kitchener Youth, 21, Near Journey's End

When he rode up to a farm here Wednesday night Bill Martsch, 21, had ridden across Canada from coast to coast and back again. He started the trip May 1, 1952, after a doctor told him to quit work because of a lung ailment.

Said Bill, now only a few days from Kitchener, his home town: "I lived off the land wherever I could, sleeping outdoors in the summer and with the horse in the winter." He made a vow not to shave or cut his hair until he got back.

Drama Director Touring West

WINNIPEG (CP) — Drama director Cecil Clarke is visiting western Canada on a trip he describes as a start toward making the Stratford Shakesperian Festival "truly national."

Mr. Clarke, who last summer assisted Tyrone Guthrie in the presentation of the first festival, auditioned Winnipeg actors and actresses Thursday.

The former Old Vic production manager flew from London to Toronto last week-end to hold the first auditions for the 1954 festival.

"Even if we only take one or two western Canada actors at first, at least it's a start," Mr. Clarke said. "Mr. Guthrie and I feel that plans for the Stratford festival must sooner or later — and the sooner the better—include sending out a prong to the west.

"This may mean either bringing the Stratford actors here, or even better, duplicating the theatre by establishing one or more out west."

Charge Cochrane Man In Murder Of Friend

COCHRANE (CP)—Adelard Latart, 65, Thursday was charged with murder in the ax-slaying of his friend, Henry Deschene, 61.

Deschene's body was found Wednesday in a pool of blood on the floor of his home. Police said they thought the slaying may have followed a drinking party argument over who should go outside to get wood for the fire.

Night School Group Wins Praise For Play

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto night school group's production of Joseph Kramm's "The Shrike" Thursday night won praise from adjudicator Graham Suter at the Central Ontario Drama Festival.

He said of the performance by Toronto West End players of the Western Technical Commercial Evening School under the direction of Leslie R. Salisbury:

"The group chose a play of high repute, in fact a very challenging play. Its production was done with great sincerity and was exceptionally well cast."

NOT TOO LOYAL

He advised the players not to be too loyal to production notes.

Ivy Beck, producer of the tense psychological drama about a man whose wife drives him to the brink of suicide, co-starred with Steve Orpen.

Tonight's play will be Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," performed by the Sudbury Little Theatre.

Canal Director Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Karl Franklin Mickleborough, a native of St. Thomas, has been named director of canal services for the transport department. He fills a vacancy created by the elevation of C. W. West to the position of deputy minister. Mr. Mickleborough, 64, formerly was assistant director of canal services.

Dolan Says Grey Cup Game Lessens Hate Of Toronto

TORONTO — Toronto's Grey Cup hospitality was credited Thursday with doing much to destroy the old "hate Toronto" sentiment of the rest of Canada. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, told the annual meeting of the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association at the King Edward Hotel that he doesn't hear the same denunciation of Toronto in other parts of Canada that he had 20 years ago.

John C. Porter, general sales manager of the Robert Simpson Co., in a panel discussion scored the lack of teamwork in the tourist business in Toronto. Too many businessmen, he said, feel that it is someone else's business.

Despite a dearth of publicity in other countries, Mr. Porter said Toronto drew a record 535 conventions in 1953. The convention attendance of 160,000 visitors spent some $10,000,000 here, he said. Total vacationing visitors to the city was 5,400,000.

E. A. Gee Retires As Magistrate

Served 20 Years On Bench In Lindsay District

LINDSAY (ENS). — Magistrate E. A. Gee heard his court closed for the final time this morning, after almost 20 years on the bench of Victoria, Haliburton and surrounding counties.

He will be succeeded on Monday by Col. R. I. Moore, QC, of Lindsay, who for the past year has acted as magistrate in Mr. Gee's absence, and also has filled in for Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, at Peterborough during holidays.

Crown Attorney Jordan introduced the subject of Mr. Gee's retirement from the bench after court closed today. In extending his felicitations for the magistrate's years of leisure, he commented on his attachment to the bench in Lindsay, since his father, G. A. Jordan, preceded Mr. Gee as magistrate.

He brought the greetings of the Lindsay Bar Association, the Crown, and law enforcement officers throughout the town and county to the retiring magistrate.

H. E. Richardson, Lindsay lawyer, brought greetings on behalf of the defence attorneys who have appeared before the magistrate during his years on the bench, and Col. Moore also spoke a few words, expressing his hope that he would be able to show half the common sense and fairness in his dealings with prisoners before the bar.

An official banquet, tendered by members of the law society and the local and county officials will be held for the magistrate next Monday.

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT of the Peterborough County Law Association was William C. Grant, reeve of Lakefield, and practising lawyer in Peterborough.

Wm. C. Grant Re-elected Head Bar Association

William C. Grant was re-elected president of the Peterborough County Law Association at the annual meeting Wednesday. Also re-elected was vice-president Walter H. Howell.

Honorary presidents of the association are Judge John de N. Kennedy and Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC.

Alexander Fleming was elected chairman of the entertainment committee. Other committee members are Ralph Standish, Frank G. Foster, QC, R. B. Batten and J. W. Corkery.

The purchasing committee for the law library comprises Judge Kennedy, R. H. Carley and Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

Mrs. David Carstairs Dies In Calcutta

Her many friends in the Peterborough area have been shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. David Carstairs, the former May O'Halloran, in Calcutta, India, January 3. Mrs. Carstairs was the mother of Trevor Malcolm Scott, bookkeeper at the Kawartha Garage, and sister of Arthur O'Halloran, of 319 McDonnel St.

On her only trip to Canada, in the summer of 1950, Mrs. Carstairs was accompanied by her husband, Cold. David Carstairs, stationed with the British army in India. Her first husband died several years ago.

Mrs. Carstairs was born in Ireland 50 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Halloran. Another brother, Patrick, operates a cinnamon estate in India now.

When he learned that his mother was sick with cancer in Calcutta a few weeks ago, Mr. Scott phoned his stepfather in Calcutta. This is believed to have been the longest call ever put through by the Bell Telephone Co. in Peterborough.

Theatre Sign Taken Off Regent

The house sign of the old Regent Theatre on Hunter St. was loosed from its moorings and lowered to the street this morning. The place has been dark since Gordon Miller moved out to take charge as first manager of Paramount Theatre.

Regent had hundreds of loyal patrons, including the Saturday night regulars, and those who turned out for the amateur nights with Dick Lush as M.C. Its programs turn back to the period of the serials and such as Pearl White in "The Exploits of Elaine" to Francis Ford, Grace Cunard, Charlie Chaplin and the stars of the 'westerns'—Tom Mix, Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, Jack Holt.

Some of the musicals were the Desert Song, Firefly, Viennese Nights which Mr. Miller gratefully brought back once or twice by request from those who couldn't interest the other houses.

Regent was classed as the top serial house in the city. The vanishing of its front lights brings back memories of earlier movie stars and a movie era before 3D and other innovations brought out to combat the appeal of TV where old westerns found a new lease of life.

Store Thieves Not Loaded By $4.50 Loot

Had Little Trouble Finding Way To Buehler's Office

Thieves broke into the Buehler Bros. Ltd. food market, 174 Charlotte St., sometime during the night, and they stole $4.50 from an office drawer.

They were lucky: they didn't have to use force at any time in getting from the rear of the store, through a coal chute, into the upstairs office.

The plywood door of the coal chute, leading into the basement from the rear of the building, wasn't fastened; so they had no trouble getting into the building. Then they went upstairs, climbed over a partition that doesn't go up to the ceiling, and they were in the office. The desk drawer containing the petty cash wasn't locked, either, so they just pocketed the money and left.

The theft was not discovered until 10 a.m. today when it was noticed by Elgin Cowling, store manager. He phoned city police and Detective Douglas Farthing is investigating.

MPs Appoint 13 Chairmen For Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Standing committees of the Commons, which do the main spadework in examining legislation before the House, were launched for the session today.

A 50-man general committee representing all parties named 13 committee chairmen who will get the smaller bodies working in the next few weeks. All the chairmen are Liberals.

Chairmanship of the main committee for this session — banking and commerce — went to David Croll, veteran lawyer from Toronto Spadina. Chairman last year was Hughes Cleaver, member for Halton, who has retired.

A new chairman also was selected for the external affairs committee — Philippe Picard, lawyer from Bellechasse, Que. — who succeeds Joseph Bradette, now a senator.

SAULT MP APPOINTED

George E. Nixon, member for Algoma West, a merchant in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., became chairman of the industrial relations committee. Last session's chairman, Fred Macdonald, was defeated in Edmonton-Strathcona.

Public accounts went to C. A. Cannon, Quebec City lawyer who represents Iles (Iles-de-la-Madele). This committee did not sit last session.

Other chairmen:

Agriculture: Rene Jutras, Provencher, Man.

Railways: Henry B. McCulloch, Pictou, N. S.

Elections: Roy McWilliam, Northumberland, N. B.

Private Bills: John Hunter, Toronto Parkdale.

Mines and Forests: Joseph Lafontaine, Megantic, Que.

Council Names 1954 Committees

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Standing committees were appointed at the inaugural meeting of the village council and are, finance and industry, Councillors A. G. Buchanan and J. R. Hull; fire, property and police, Councillors J. A. Kingdon and G. S. Dunford; roads, sidewalks and street lights, Councillors Dunford and Kingdon; parks, recreation and health, Councillors Hull and Buchanan; legal and waterworks, Reeve W. C. Grant. The first named, in each case, to be chairman.

It was decided that the meetings will be held the second Monday in each month and clerk and treasurer, Harry T. Hill, was authorized to sign all cheques and vouchers for the village.

As the balance of the 1953 road subsidy had not been received the clerk was asked to apply for same.

The tractor, which the village was using on approval, was considered satisfactory and the first payment of $800 will be made. The Snow-Blo machine, which was also on trial had not met with complete acceptance and the dealer, Reuben Wilson will be asked to grant a further trial of it.

Snow will be removed from both sides of Queen street from the post office to the north boundary of Davis and Charlton property and to the Hendren funeral home property front on the opposite side of Queen street and not more than 50 feet from in front of other places of business on the connecting link of Highway 28 in the village.

Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Dunford were appointed members of the board of management of the Lakefield and District Memorial Centre for 1954.

Mrs. William H. Fife was appointed to the public library board for 1954 and 55, and Harry W. Sherin was appointed to the park committe for the same period.

Bylaws were passed to appoint a board of health and one setting the amount of $17,600 to be spent on the village streets in 1954 and applying for the approval of this amount for subsidy purposes.

What Is It? Where Is It?

Caretaker Percy King at the Post Office was grime to his elbows today as he struggled to fix a minor repair in the mail elevator. He was glad of a respite when an Examiner reporter called to ask him what he grew in "that queer-looking greenhouse" on the roof of the building's north wing.

It turned out that is wasn't a greenhouse after all but its very existence is interesting. Except for Post Office employees who have occasion to climb to the second floor, or employees of the old Trent Canal office who tenanted the building, few Peterburians have ever seen the small structure.

Built of matched lumber, about eight feet by ten feet, with a glass porch enclosed by storm windows on the east side, the structure was originally built by Trent engineers as an all-weather "laboratory" to make daylight-printed charts and blueprints. When they moved to George St. headquarters, a modern blueprinting machine replaced the old skylight method. The building was of little use.

However, Mr. King's son, Kenneth, who now lives at 473 Armour Rd., was, and still is, a radio ham. He used the lab building as a ham shack for many years. Ken talked to far corners of the world from the roof of the Post Office and other hams in Timbuktu, Tipperary, or Tristan da Cunha little realized that station VE3AXQ was talking from the roof of Peterborough's Post Office. After he moved to his own home, Mr. King Sr., tried sleeping in it on hot summer nights.

"A spider bit me once and that was that," he recalled, "but it is a great spot for small songbirds to gather and feed."

Mr. King allowed that there would be no such structure on the roof of the new Federal Building now abuilding on Charlotte St., nor will there be caretaker's quarters.

The conversation on the "greenhouse" had been exhausted and Mr. King was anxious to get back to his repair job on the elevator. He appeared to know just what to do and having been on the job at the Post Office for the past 24 years (on Saturday) rolled up his sleeves and went to work.

31 Cases Of Poliomyelitis Reported In City During '53

Peterborough had 31 cases of poliomyelitis during 1953, Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, said today. This compares unfavorably with 1952 when there was only one case, but favorably with 1951 when there were 34 cases, including four deaths.

In 1953 no infants contracted the disease; there were 18 cases in the 1-5 age group (four of them were accompanied by paralysis and three went to the Hospital for Sick Children); there were eight cases in the 6-16 age group (four paralysis and two to the Hospital for Sick Children); and five cases in the adult group (two paralysis and two went to Riverdale Hospital, Toronto).

In 1952 there was just one case and it was not accompanied by paralysis. An adult contracted the disease.

The bad year was 1951 in which there were 34 cases of poliomyelitis in the city.

There was one infant suffering from paralysis and he was taken to the Hospital for Sick Children; nine cases in the 1-5 age group (two paralysis, one weakness and three to the Hospital for Sick Children); ten in the 6-16 age group (six paralysis, one death, three to Riverdale Hospital and one to the Hospital for Sick Children); and 14 adult cases (six paralysis, one weakness, three deaths and four to Riverdale Hospital).

Check Examiners Of Swimmers At Clinic In YM

The Ontario branch of the Red Cross swimming and water safety club will hold an examining clinic at the YWCA, Saturday, to requalify swimming examiners Gordon Minty and Mrs. Pansy Forbes.

Roselyn Stone, Betty Merrett, James Wilkinson, Herb Cardwell, Mrs. Norma Douglas, Mrs. Bev. Dunford and Mrs. Norman Armstrong, have also been invited to register for the examining clinic and possible qualification. In the past Mrs. Forbes and Mr. Minty have had to examine all the Red Cross classes in the district.

The clinic will be supervised by Warren Clayson, director of Red Cross swimming and water safety for Ontario, assisted by Graham Warren and Miss Charlotte Keens, all of Toronto.

Registration will begin at 9.00 a.m., Saturday, at the YWCA. Pool sessions will be from 10.30 a.m. to 12.00.

Butter, Margarine Production Higher

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's production of both butter and margarine was slightly higher in December than a year before, with butter output for the year about three times that of the non-dairy spread.

The bureau of statistics today reported that preliminary totals for 1953 indicate a rise of eight per cent in butter production and an advance of four per cent in domestic sales.

Output of cheddar cheese increased 21 per cent in December to 2,365,000 pounds from 1,949,000 in December, 1952, bringing the year's aggregate to 7,050,000 pounds from 66,574,000 in 1952.

2 Separate Groups Seek TV Licence

Omission of a few lines from the Ottawa report that two groups are applying for a licence for a privately owned television station in Peterborough tended to fuse the two, possibly with confusion of reader impression.

One group includes Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy Thompson of newspaper and radio interests. The name of Herb May, Toronto radio personality, appeared to be included with them.

Mr. May is associated with the second applicant group with Garth Braund and Ed. V. O'Toole of this city, Kenneth MacDuffee, formerly of Peterborough, and now head of Slyvester Steel Products Ltd., Lindsay. Mr. May is a prominent Toronto actor and announcer, especially with the Wayne and Shuster radio program. Also associated with them is G. A. Reynolds of Toronto. That information distinguishes the one group from the other.

E. Garth Braund is manager of the stock brokerage office in Peterborough of Picard & Fleming; and Mr. O'Toole is in real estate and insurance, Charlotte St.

Shot Bull Moose Hunter Fined $100

Michael McGrath, Toronto, was fined $100 and costs in Minden police court Thursday when he was convicted of shooting a bull moose during the last deer hunting season. The offence is alleged to have occurred in Bruton township, north of Haliburton.

Slippery Streets Blamed For 6 Crashes

Poor traction because of slippery roads was credited with being the chief cause of six accidents Thursday on city streets. Total damage was estimated at $1,180. Nobody was injured.

A car driven by Kenneth J. Byrd, 27, of 520 Glengarry Ave., going south at 1 p.m. was in collision at Parkhill Rd. and Park St. with a westbound truck driven by Jack Turcotte, 52, of RR 3, Peterborough. The left front wheel, fender and headlight were damaged on the Byrd car, as well as the grill rad and bumper. The right front fender, headlight and front bumper on the Turcotte truck were damaged. Cost of repairs will be about $450.

An estimated $325 was caused when cars driven by John C. Dennison, 42, of Norwood, and Joseph Rivard, 42 ,of 211 Perry St., were in collision at 5:15 p.m. on Aylmer St. Dennison stopped in the line of rush-hour traffic on Aylmer and Rivard ran into his rear.

G. Ormand Wright, 35, of 327 Downie St. was driving his panel truck east on Morrow St. when he came into collision with John B. Deyell's car at Sherburne St. There was $200 damage to the car and $90 to the truck.

PLOW HITS PARKED CAR

A parked car, owned by Robert Huycke of 384½ George St., was struck early Thursday night by the left wing of a horse-drawn snowplow. The plow was being driven along the sidewalk by Oswald Crowley of Perry St., when the plow grazed the car, parked in front of 627 McKellar St., scratching the paint.

Damage estimated at $125 was suffered by a truck driven by Wesley Johnson, 36, of Apsley at Curtis St. and Parkhill Rd. Mr. Johnson was in collision with a car driven by John R. Broadhurst, 293 Swanston St. Mr. Broadhurst said that his vision was obscured by a passing milk truck. Damage to the Broadhurst car was estimated at $50.

Lack of traction at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart Sts. caused $55 damages in a two-car crash. Stuck halfway across the intersection on glare ice, Leonard Vyse, 23, of 172½ Hunter St. was hit by a car driven by Sidney M. Ward, 54, of 1314 Monaghan Road.

One of the most spectacular accidents caused by the icy weather also occurred on the Parkhill road between Benson and Aylmer. While travelling down a slope, W. E. Perry, 23, of the Chemong highway found that his gas pedal was stuck. His car went out of control, careened from one side of the street to the other, sheared down a hedge, bounced off a drain pipe and demolished a garbage pail. Mr. Perry's car finally came to rest on a lawn at the bottom of the slope. Total damages were estimated at $45.

Skating Memories In Park Prompt Artificial Substitute

Remember when skaters used to crowd the frozen surface of the ornamental lake in Jackson Park? Lots of old-timers are reminiscing about that scene now that scores of children are taking advantage of the cold spell to use the natural ice rinks operated by the city's parks department. But as the temperature began to climb today, kiddies were faced with the prospect of Mother Nature curtailing their fun in mid-season, as she has so often in recent years.

According to Parks Superintendent Armar Butcher, there were only 30 days during the 1952-53 winter season when the weather was sufficiently cold to provide really first class natural ice for skating. The season before was even worse, with only about 15 days when the ice was smooth and hard. Kids used the rink on other days but only at the hazard of a wetting from surface water or dulling their skates when they cut through the mushy surface.

SUGGESTED REVIVAL

The suggestion, made by ex-Ald. Syd Black, at one of last year's meetings of the parks committee, that skating on the Jackson Park lake might be revived, brings even more difficulties than that produced by warmer winter weather. The banks of the creek around the dam where the water used to flow into the lake have eroded away so that the level of the lake has dropped several feet. As a consequence, the ice surface in winter is only a fraction of what it once was.

Admittedly, and this is a point stressed by those who remember the lake as it was, conditions in Jackson Park are ideal for skating. With high banks to the east and west and a profusion of evergreens, the park is free of the blustering gales that sweep snow onto the ice surface and make the task of putting on skates a miserable ordeal. Moreover, the beauty of the park in winter-time, with a white tracery of snow on the green branches of the trees, provides a natural setting unsurpassed anywhere in the city.

Mr. Butcher would go further than that.

"In my opinion, this is one of the most beautiful parks in Ontario," he told an Examiner reporter as the two trudged along the road beside the creek today. "The people that left these parks to the city were some of the most far-sighted citizens of any community anywhere."

But the question of how to revive the skating in the park of the old days remains.

WHY NOT ARTIFICIAL ICE?

One of the solutions—an exciting one—meets with the concurrence of board of works chairman, Ald. Art Burrows, who ruminated on the problem as chairman of the parks committee last year. Why not an artificial skating rink in Jackson Park? Not a hockey rink. But one where the entire family could enjoy the pleasure of what used to be one of Canada's favorite winter past-times, in a beautiful natural setting and right inside the city, five months a year.

The idea was stimulated by news the other day of the successful operation of outdoor artificial rinks in Toronto and Hamilton.

What about a site in the park? Mr. Butcher pointed to the space surrounding the picnic pavilion, north-west of the ornamental lake and west of the creek and road. He paced off a space 150 feet wide and more than 200 feet long. By removing only a half dozen trees and levelling the ground an even larger surface could be obtained.

The idea spurred the superintendent's enthusiasm.

"Why, we could build a beautiful bob-sled run along the bank right behind the rink," he exclaimed as the vision of a winter playground formed itself. The sledding course would run from the site of the Kiwanis club's old day camp, obliquely down the bank to the north end of the proposed rink, curving around until it ended up facing south along the road.

Yes, there could be a heated lodge for taking off overcoats and putting on skates and the sale of refreshments.

Mr. Butcher was rhapsodic as he recalled the old days in Jackson Park, with skating, skiing and snow-shoeing in winter, outdoor movies, band concerts, swimming and model sail-boat races in summer.

The difficulty is that, in these days, the interest from the $50,000 trust fund simply won't pay wages of the men required to keep up the appearance of the park.

A project that the 1954 council might consider is the use, with the necessary concurrence of the trustees, of the $50,000 for capital development, preferably an artificial rink, letting the city take over the operation of the park as a year-round playground for the citizens.

$87,000 INVESTMENT

According to Cliff Meadows, who has built Toronto's outdoor artificial rinks, cities can invest as little as $87,000 and forget about the weather.

Right now it's costing Peterborough close to $20,000 to operate natural rinks for an unpredictable period each winter, usually less than a month in the total number of days on which there is ice fit for good skating.

The facilities and the enthusiasm of those responsible are available to provide the city with one of the best year-round playgrounds in the country, accessible to all the citizens, whether they are car-owners or not.

Assure Board Wishes Be Respected

Action by city council and Morrow park trustees, concerning the amendment to the Morrow Trust to allow a Memorial Centre to be built in the park, will continue as planned following a temporary delay due to disapproval on policy by the exhibition board.

A resolution was presented to the exhibition board, Tuesday, by city council, which in the minds of the board members, did not grant the board enough authority as to the location and use of the proposed building.

A delegation from the exhibition board met with representatives of city council and Morrow trustees, Thursday and the matter was solved to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Board members were assured that their wishes would be respected as to the location of the building.

It was pointed out that the government agricultural grants were substantial enough to ensure the board's use of the centre.

Actually the debated resolution was a formality, requiring the board's authorization necessary for further action in amending the Morrow trust.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Brucellosis Action May Result In Several Townships From Tuesday Meeting . . . District Butter Makers Win Awards . . . R. S. Meiklejohn President of Ayrshire Breeders' Association.

Calfhood vaccination has been adopted by approximately 70 per cent. of the cattle breeders of Otonabee and North Monaghan townships.

This fact was emphasized at the meeting of township municipal representatives Monday at the office of the Department of Agriculture. The general average in this voluntary acceptance of a scientific method of safeguarding herds against the contagious Bang's disease is around 27 to 30 per cent. in the southern townships of the county.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said the meeting was exceptionally well attended.

From some of the intimations it may be that two or three of the Peterborough townships will adopt the 1953 Brucellosis Act this year, Mr. Paterson said.

"There wasn't anything new about the percentage of our farmers who took up calfhood vaccination of their own accord," he remarked. "After all that is to be expected of farmers who are alert to their own advantage at a time when they have to watch every dollar of expense.

People have learned through grievous experience how costly Bang's disease can be in the essential income-getting activities of the farm, in the loss of animals and milk production.

It has been found that vaccination in calfhood is the only practical way of getting control of this disease. It can't be done by blood test. Then, there is the protection of the health of families consuming milk that is not pasteurized.

The farmers who adopted vaccination are those whose judgment told them they should make use of the findings of science."

Mr. Paterson said that the next step by any of the townships will depend on themselves, and 70 per cent. voluntary townships must be indicative of a sentiment that leaves comparatively few farmers willing to take a chance against the financial and herd risks of Brucellosis infection.

Breed Meetings

Hereford breeders are meeting Friday, Jan. 22, at 8 p.m., and Shorthorn breeders Saturday at 2 p.m.

✦ ✦ ✦

Stressing Good Seed

The sowing of registered or certified seed will be discussed at the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association's convention in Toronto, Jan. 26-29.

Greatly increased yields have been reported from the use of certified seed. That experience has recommended the special papers that will be directed to better planting practice. More attention is also being given to the use of clean seed.

John D. McLeod of Dunvegan will explain functions of the seed cleaning plant, and W. E. Breckon will describe how new foundation seed is distributed.

With Junior Farmers

"Barn management", a new topic induced by farm labor shortage, is the subject for discussion by the young men of the Junior Farmers Tuesday, Jan. 19, 8 p.m. at Teachers College. The girls' section will give their attention to "party refreshments".

John Waterman, chairman of program planning committee, writes the notice informally. A sample is his "Attention ladies: Are you planning a party for some time in the near future? If so, does it leave you in a quandry as to what to feed your guests? Fried chicken IS delicious—but that would be expecting too much. Something simple and quick to prepare would fill the bill—and your guests. So if you would like to know what to feed the gang, come to Teachers College (Normal School) Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. for some timely tips on the topic 'Party Refreshments'."

That is a departure from the bare announcement of place and date, and should bring out every member.

Ayrshire Officers

R. S. Meiklejohn of Peterborough was elected president of the Peterborough-Durham Ayrshire Breeders Club Thursday. Vice-president is Howard Northey of Lindsay; secretary-treasurer W. Clarence Mann; directors: Durham, Clarence Allin and Charles Naylor; Peterborough, Clarence Coons and Earl Rosborough; Victoria, Ron Swanston and Harry Jackson. One of the projects for this year is a Red and White Show at Lakefield Fair.

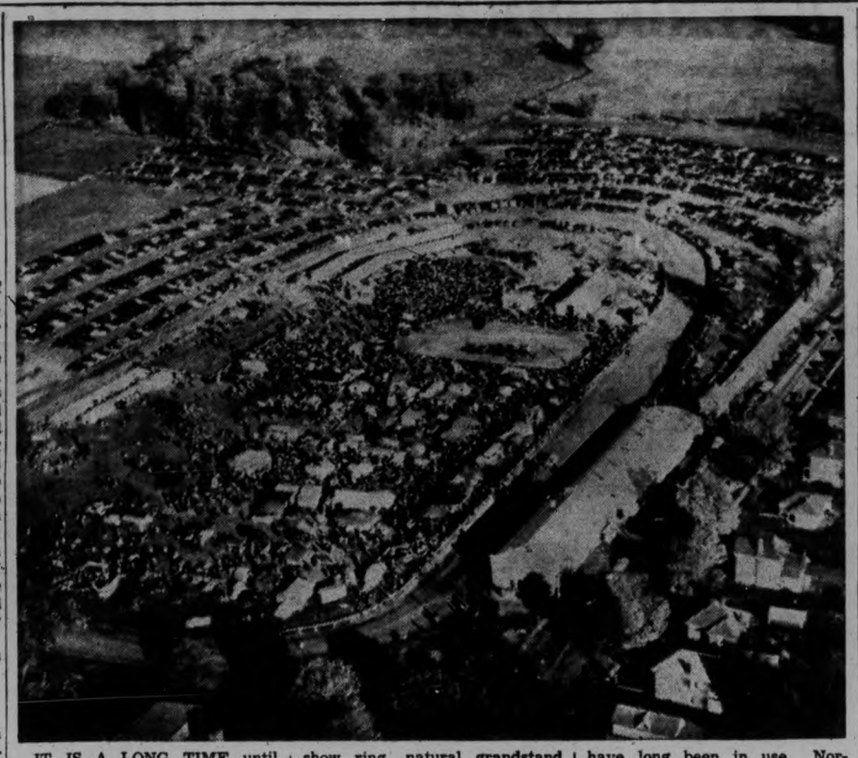
Win Butter Prizes

Dairy branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has announced winners of special butter quality improvement awards.

Of the Ontario cream producers marketing board prizes, open to creameries manufacturing 75% of their butter from farm produced cream, the fist award went to Carl V. Stephens, Trent Valley Creameries, Campbellford, for 189,840 lbs. of high scoring butter.

Awards for increases in high scoring butter over the previous two years, open to creameries manufacturing 75% of their butter from farm produced cream, and donated by the Ontario cream producers marketing board, were: 1 Gerald Fitchett, Trent Valley Creameries, Campbellford, 144,760 pounds; 2 Harold West, Stirling Creamery, 49,112 lbs.; 3 Gerald Williamson, Campbell's Dairy Products, Peterborough, 38,872 lbs.



IT IS A LONG TIME until Norwood Fair (Thanksgiving Day, Oct.), but President G. A. Brethen recently received some prints of an airview of the show last fall, "and some people still may not realize how we have developed since we started all over again since the war". Well, there it is, new buildings in the right foreground, new parking areas, show ring, natural grandstand and bleachers for 1,300 people, two new cattle barns each 200 feet long; pig and sheep pens (new) 30 ft. by 75 ft.; horse sheds 300 feet long; and altogether 23 acres of agricultural exhibition facilities. Floor space in the new exhibition building is 7,500 sq. ft. extending the armouries, which have long been in use. Norwood Fair Board started from scratch when it decided a few years ago to put new life into their society and show. This photograph is convincing evidence of their accomplishment. "With good weather next fall we expect even a bigger cowd than is seen in this picture."

Consumers Tell Producer Type Of Bacon

How do you like your breakfast bacon? About one-third lean and two-thirds fat, as recorded by more than 3,000 of the visitors at the Royal Winter Fair.

And that constituency is about what you would expect from a Grade "A" hog. That is a consumer verdict, supporting leaders of the industry in their appeals to producers to maintain the type of bacon hog which they know how to raise.

People wrote down their names to the choice, turning thumbs down on the fat pig.

This information was obtained at the bacon exhibit at the Royal by the federal department of agriculture.

Six different samples were shown at the booth, and the public was asked to rate them good, fair, poor. Cards were offered to three groups—men, women and young people under 21 years.

"When the cards were sorted out (3,000 or more of them), the choice made by each group differed so little from the others that the three groups could be considered as one," the department reports.

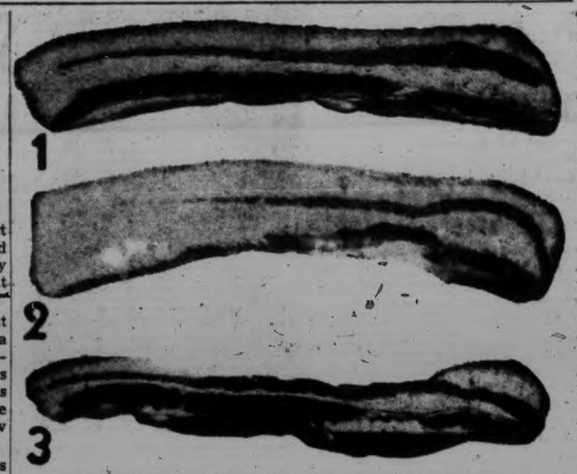
"The sample chosen by the majority as the best was a breakfast bacon one-third lean to two-thirds fat.

"It was quite evident that most of those voting preferred a lean type of bacon but one with layers of fat between the layers of lean."

Another survey will be made in Montreal this month, and there will be some sampling of opinion at meetings of consumers in western Canada.

This sounding of public opinion affords further confirmation, if any were needed, to the hog producer that his moderately lean bacon is what consumers want. And it is the type the Ontario farmer has learned to send to market through his years of experience. He has become a specialist as a bacon producer, but he is being warned that there is no letting up for him. This farmer helped in the cultivation of the popular breakfast bacon. His public know by this time the bacon types to which he has accustomed them.

And that is the kind of bacon they are willing to pay their money for at the retail counters.



THE POPULAR CHOICE—Sample slices of the type of bacon selected by visitors at the Royal Winter Fair as: (1) Their first choice; (2) The type they liked least; and (3) The sample some liked for its high percentage of lean, and an equal number rejected as lacking the general quality they they demanded in breakfast bacon.

Forums Advise Economies

St. Helena is the name of a new Farm Forum which revives the designation of old locality in Asphodel township. The community is in the vicinity of the school on the Keene-Hastings Road in the Ernest Fife locality, east of Birdsall.

St. Helena Forum was organized Monday night at the home of Ron Warner. Chairman for the coming year is Max Humphries, nominated by Jack Elmhirst and Mrs. Alex Wilson.

Alex Wilson was elected secretary-treasurer for the season, and a motion by Mr. Warner and Harold Fife decided that a second chairman be appointed for each meeting.

Harold Fife is the Forum's representative to the Federation of Agriculture, appointed in a motion by Mr. Humphries and William Brackenridge.

In their first discussion meeting Monday night on the radio broadcast, "The Forum Trend," St. Helena Forum agreed that a cut in the cost of production was necessary. "A careful study should be made as to the most profitable methods of farming, and culling out non-profitable undertakings . . . More exchange of work among neighbors to cut expense of buying costly machinery . . . A farmer should be thrifty in his buying and should use his crop to better his own being . . .

"A marketing co-operative is fine in case of surpluses; also some co-operative organization should be formed to take care of the marketing of fowl (turkeys, geese) previous to the festive season . . . A producers' marketing board under provincial legislation is very beneficial to control the sale of wheat, beef and eggs . . . We are not in favor of purchasing co-operatives owing to the fact that so many United Farmer Co-operatives are operating in the county."

Stewart Hall Forum, 19 present at the home of Mrs. Viola Jackson, with W. W. Dawson leader, proposed in their confronting of farm price trends: pool machinery; grow as much of your own feed as possible; stay with our own line of farming; support co-operative enterprise and educate ourselves to back up our farm organizations and marketing boards . . . We think we need beef and wheat marketing boards."

Central Smith Forum, 14 at the home of Elmer Telford: "Farmers in our area might adjust to a period of unfavorable prices by growing more grain and buying less commercial feeds. The use of grass silage and improved pastures would also help along this line . . . We would like to see a producers' marketing board under provincial legislation to regulate the sale of winter wheat."

"This proved a rather difficult topic," says Lily Lake Forum, ten present, "but our Forum were of the opinion that the pooling of resources for purchasing and maintenance, especially machinery used for a short time each season, would help; and to have the same operator to operate and care for it; also the culling of inferior poultry and animals, keeping the better grade of stock . . . We would like to see beef sold on rail grade basis, as hogs are now." Mrs. Ken Darling was secretary.

Westwood Forum at the home of Mrs. Wm. Mood, saw advantage in cutting cost of harvesting and storing hay, and consider grass silage; analyze chores to see where slight inexpensive changes in method and layout of barns might result in saving time. There is one successful co-operative serving the area; but, we think producer marketing boards have more influence and are less unwieldy especially for common products, and that we need one for almost everything we have to sell, particularly eggs."

As to a purchasing co-operative this comment was expressed: "There are enough firms retailing farm supplies, etc., to ensure reasonable competitive prices and services."

Fairview Forum, at the home of E. Coburn, Leo Allen leader: "The majority of our Forum thought that we did not need a marketing co-operative to handle the sales of our produce, but we feel the need of a producers' marketing board for winter wheat. We are fortunate in having a co-operative in this area acting as a retail store."

Insects Exceed All Other Life

The international farmer is faced with a continuing battle against weeds, weather, insects, plant and animal diseases, CIL News comments in leading up to this statement:

"There are some 685,000 species of insects in the world and their total weight is estimated to outweigh the combined poundage of every human, animal, bird, reptile and fish by three to one."

"Insects take a $350,000,000 bite out of the annual Canadian crop and loss from plant diseases is estimated at $700,000,000 a year. A recent book listing plant ailments run to 1,192 pages of fine print. Some plants are attacked by as many as 300 different disorders."

On the mechanical front, the wooden plow was used for almost 8,000 years without a change. The sickle was the best harvest tool for centuries. The inefficient cultivator, made of two pieces of wood bound with hemp, was a back-breaking tool for hundreds of years in Egypt.

Modern farm equipment has brought about a revolution in the escape from labor with power implements, steel plows, tractors, combines and so on, but insects survive.

EXPORTS RESUMED

Care In Pasture Seeding, Short Or Long Term, Pays Off In Production

A pasture mixture of two varieties of forage plants will produce a heavier yield than the multiple mixtures, but only for a short term of two or three years, Ken Fallis of the crops and seeds department of Ontario Department of Agriculture, said at the Jersey Breeders Club lunch here last week.

For example, he mentioned alfalfa and brome. The farmer who does an intensive job with that mixture would be repaid in tonnage, but the pasture would have to be broken up sooner than with a long term complex mixture.

"It is a matter of choice between the short and long term seeding," Mr. Fallis said. "The two-variety field would cost more to keep worked up and seeded, but the advantage is in the bigger yield. Over the longer period, the other varieties would come up to take the place of the two. It depends on the value of the land, and whether you want heavier production at more cost, or lighter production at lower cost. You should reckon the overhead cost."

Mr. Fallis spoke about the number of seeds per square foot, using the recommended rates, and also the essential preliminalies of preparation of the seed bed and general management.

SEED IS CHEAPER

"You can get a catch of brome as surely as of oats if the seed is not buried too deep, say a maximum of not more than half an inch. I think farmers should make note of the fact of cheaper seeds this year. Ladino that was $1.10 is down to 65-70c.

Other seeds are correspondingly down in price. At six pounds of alfalfa to the acre you should get about 30 plants on a square foot of seed bed. Put on Ladino at the rate of one pound, and that should give 18 Ladino plants. Eight pounds of brome to the acre should give you 22 brome grass plants to the square foot; four pounds of orchard grass 60 plants. That mixture should produce about 130 plants to the square foot. If the rate of germination is 75%, you still have 100 plants to the sq. ft., and that is far more than there is room for the most of these seeds. However, probably half or more of the seeds never grown anyway.

An average of one lb. of alfalfa, two of brome, two of ladino, four to ten of orchard grass is not too thin.

The soil may be too loose, the sowing too deep, or the surface is packed over the young plants and they can't push through. If the soil is too loose, the young roots do not get close enough contact with its particles, that is the soil in granular form.

We like a seed bed that is not too deep, with the fertilizer down three inches below the seed level, the soil packed reasonably firmly, and the seed broadcast on top; press in with a roller or cultipacker or with chains behind the drill. If it crusts after that, use the roller or cultipacker to crumble that crust. By that means you could cut the rate of seed in half."

IMPORTANCE OF PASTURE

Mr. Fallis said that pasture was so vital in farming today that it should receive careful study. "This is a plea for better seeding methods. Under unfavorable methods you could get close to a failure. Otherwise you can almost guarantee against failure."

There is not much plant food stored within the seed coat, Mr. Fallis said. All you need do to realize that fact, is look at the small seeds of the pasture mixture varieties, alfalfa, ladino, and so on.

"The young plant has to send its blande up to and through the surface, and thrust roots down. If buried too deep, it has to send up longer shoots, so it takes more of its own plant food, maybe more than the seed had to begin with. If soil is fairly loose, the seed sends up its shoots all right, and its roots down. If the soil is of the right consistency, the seed makes the necessary contacts and draws nourishment. If not, it could starve to death. The fault in that case is the soil is too loose for the seed to make those contacts.

With moisture and fertility and good seeding, the plant should grow rapidly. At six inches above the ground the growth invites livestock for grazing. Otherwise the pasture falls over and tends to smother. But, at the start don't graze too severely."

Farmers generally know good seeding practice, Mr. Fallis said, "but I would like to stress again the importance of getting a field off to a good start. That comes under the head of soil management. The pay off for good care in the seeding stage will come in the yield."

Pressure Grows For Change In Trade Barrier

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pressures are mounting on the Eisenhower administration to lower some of the barriers of the Cold War to permit more trade between the United States and Russia and its satellites.

Many top officials responsible for international economic policy feel some decisions will have to be made soon. Meanwhile, splits appear to be developing between U.S. interests favoring trade and those wishing to maintain maximum economic pressure on the Communist bloc.

The issue may come into focus upon an application by a Minnesota business man, Dwayne Andreas, for permission to export 20,000 tons of butter and 3,000 tons of cottonseed oil to Russia. These are not strategic materials and there is no policy barrier against them except a general policy under which the U. S. government reserves the right to bar any exports to Russia contrary to the security interests of the country.

BEING CONSIDERED

Officials today said the Andreas application now is before an interdepartmental committee made up of representatives of the state, agriculture and commerce departments. It deals with broad issues of economic security embracing the particular problem of East-West trade. This, of course, is not exclusively an American problem. In fact, it has been mostly an Allied problem.

There are several forces pressing strongly for official sanction of greater trade with the Soviet Union and satellite countries. They are:

1. The development of a buyer's market, meaning a supply of goods running consistently above the demand.
2. The accumulation of vast stores of surplus agricultural commodities in the U. S.
3. A slow move toward general easing of international tensions.

On the other side are powerful arguments such as:

1. A major policy of the administration has been to exploit differences between the rulers and the ruled in all the Communist countries. A major source of trouble for the Soviet leaders has been low agricultural production.
2. Agricultural surpluses for foreign sale are often in effect subsidized by the U. S. government.
3. A basic rule of U. S. foreign economic policy is not to export surpluses in such a way as to interfere with normal trade patterns of friendly countries. Western Europe normally trades with the Soviet Union.
4. Despite the relaxation of Cold-War tensions, there has been no real evidence of any change in Soviet policy or purposes.

Instal Hitching Post

TORONTO (CP)—A hitching post will soon be erected here in front of 82 Bost St., the home of William Lyon Mackenzie, politician, rebel and Toronto's first mayor. The civic works committee granted permission to the Mackenzie Foundation to install the hitching post but Alderman John A. MacVicor said he doubted that the post will ever be used because "it's a souvenir."

Believe 1954 Will Be Big Year For Mining Industry In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The year 1954 may be a big one for the mining industry in British Columbia.

The gold mines picture is still clouded, but there is promise of increased development in the prodution of other minerals.

Dr. Harry V. Warren, president of the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines, told the annual meeting this week of the prospects of "big developments" in the north.

"Some of the reported discoveries and developments may turn out to be the great mines that we are looking for," he said.

Interest is growing in prospecting and development of uncommon minerals such as nickel, uranium, iron, chrome, manganese, asbestos, fluorite and others.

"This is the first significant production of the mineral in western North America," Dr. Warren said.

SEES NEW DEVELOPMENT

Cheap hydro power in the north offers the prospect of new developments, running into millions of dollars.

The hunt for the uncommon minerals has offset to some extent a slump in lead, zinc and gold. Some 20 mines were closed in 1953 because of depressed prices, especilly for base metals.

Dr. Warrn said coast business men must hustle to capture a share of new trading opportunities in the north.

"They will have to be on their toes," he told the mining men, "or much of the resulting business will go to rival centres."

Name Calgary Lawyer To Conciliation Board

MONTREAL (CP)—M. M. Porter a Calgary lawyer, has been appointed representative of the railways on a conciliation board established to consider a dispute between the railways and 17 non-operating unions.

The unions are seeking a variety of so-called "fringe benefits" in a new contract. The railways have claimed the demands would cost $60,000,000 a year.

Using Radio Phones

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario veterinaries have started to use radio-telephones to keep track of their scattered patients and to enable farmers to reach them quickly in case of emergency. Dr. R. E. Lawrence, who practises with Dr. A. F. Codlin at Lindsay, told the 80th annual meeting of the Ontario Veterinary Association that 20 Ontario veterinaries are using the radio-phones.

Speed Boat Has Thrilling Race With Royal Train In Pleasant River Trip

By GOMER JONES

MASTERTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—A speed boat today engaged in a thrilling race with the train which brought Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to this farm town 65 miles from Wellington.

Len Southward, Australasian water-speed champion, piloted the boat and paced the royal train as it chugged along the bank of the river Hutt. At times boat and train were speeding neck and neck at more than 50 miles an hour.

For five miles the racing craft, frequently hidden by clouds of spray, kept level with the train until the track curved inland from the shore. Then it turned away as Southward gave a final wave with a small Union Jack he held in one hand.

After leaving the town of Upper Hutt, the train wound upward through tunnels in the scrub-covered hills of the Rimutaka mountains to the 1,150-foot summit.

This change was made for a one-in-15 grade.

At the tiny settlements at the summit, the inhabitants were allowed to crowd around the royal observation platform to have a close view of the Queen and the duke. The royal couple came out to wave and smile.

At Masterton, main town of one of the most productive farming areas of New Zealand, the Queen and the duke drove for half an hour through flag-waving, cheering crowds to Masterton Park.

Newsmen Beef On Secrecy As Security Takes Effect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man named to handle them says he has received "around a dozen" complaints about news being bottled up since President Eisenhower's new security information order went into effect a month ago today.

"Some of the complaints deal with matters that don't seem to come within jurisdiction of the order at all, while some of the others may — there hasn't been time to decide," said Bernard M. Shanley, Eisenhower's special counsel.

He added in an interview that about half the protests filed so far deal with reporters' unsuccessful efforts to have the administration make public a breakdown of reasons why 2,200 workers have been "separated" from federal jobs as security risk since Eisenhower took office.

The president has said his information order was designed to assure the public a freer flow of news about the government without jeopardizing national security.

It replaced a set of rules which former president Truman put into effect in 1951. Attorney-General Herbert Brownell termed those rules repressive and said they smacked of "dictatorship."

Truman denied similar assertions by others when he issued his order. He said the only purpose was to keep security secrets from potential enemies, and that the order actually would promote the flow of news.

The Eisenhower measure called for pulling secrecy tags from thousands of documents which had been stamped "restricted." It abolished that classification and instructed federal officials to make sure there was good reason for using the three higher categories retained—top secret, secret and confidential.

Car Strikes Pole

COLDSPRINGS — (ENS) — A motor accident occurred on pine hill, north of Coldsprings, Wednesday evening, when a car driven by Bill Babbs of Gores Landing failed to make the turn at the top of the hill and struck a telephone pole, knocking it over and damaging the front of the car. The driver was uninjured. Provincial police investigated.

HOW TO PREVENT BACK CRAWL IN HEAVY TRAFFIC

If stopped for more than a few seconds, pull on hand brake.

- Shift into first gear, press accelerator and let up on clutch as in normal starting.
- Release hand brake as you let up on clutch. This transfers force smoothly from brakes to engine without interruption.
- If you are stopping for only an instant, use clutch to brake your car. Shift into first gear, let clutch out partly and press accelerator slightly.

Church Yr. Funds Totalled $1,463, Are Allocated

Annual meeting of the church year of St. John's Anglican church was held in the parish hall on Wednesday evening. In the absence of the "Year," Mrs. David Whittaker, the vice year, Miss Margaret McCulloch, took the chair. A motion of appreciation to the retiring "Year," Mrs. David Whittaker read by Miss Margaret Stevenson, said in part:

"It was largely due to the personal efforts of Mrs. Whittaker that the church year became an accomplished fact in March, 1952. Supplied with the names of those who had signified interest in the Church Year in the Every Member Canvas, she headed the small group who worked to set up the organiaztion with its officers, months and weeks, and finally to allocate days to the various weeks. When no one was willing to head the organiaztion, Mrs. Whittaker agreed to be the Year and called the first meeting. Unfortuniately she then left Peterborough for a time but returned to act as the Year in 1953.

We feel that the organization is now established and it is hoped we may carry on in the fine tradition which has been left us. We regret very much that Mrs. Whittaker has now left Peterborough and wish her happiness in her new home in Victoria, B. C."

Following the annual reports by the officers, the allocation of funds to the amount of $1,462 was made: $800 to expense of redecorating the rectory; $100 to Bishop Wilkinson of Amritzar, India; $25 to Theological Students' Fund; $50 to installation of lights in front and side entrance to parish hall; $40 to purchase of new prayer books; $200 to improving plumbing in wash rooms of parish hall; $248 the balance remaining was allocated as a Reserve Fund for any need arising during the year 1954.

Report of nominating committee was accepted as follows: — vice years, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. J. R. Johnson; secretary, Miss Grace Caddy; treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Thompson; membership convener, Mrs. T. H. Floyd; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. E. Stanton.

Months: January, Mrs. Percy Roper, February, Misses Betty and Jean Castle. March, Miss M. Stevenson; April, Mrs. H. Howell; May, Mrs. M. J. Swanston; June, Mrs. F. Buckland; September, Mrs. Romeyn Stevenson; October, Mrs. B. D. Hall; November, Miss Florence Hutchinson; December, Mrs. Walter Blackwell.

Elect George St. Choir Executive

The choir of George Street United Church held its annual election of officers Thursday evening. The nominating committee, convened by Mr. A. B. Burrows, presented the following slate for 1954:

Honorary presidents, the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews, the Rev. E. W. Rowland and Mr. William Hamilton; past president, Mr. A. B. Burrows; president, Mr. R. L. Beck; vice-president, Mr. S. Booth; secretary, Miss Joyce Trotter; assistant secretary, Miss Marjorie Brown; treasurer, Mr. Reginald Peters; social conveners, Mrs. S. Wildman, Mrs. E. Beatty, Mrs. William Young; recreational conveners, Mr. George Bedford, Miss Betty Scollard, Mr. Donald Timmins; visiting committee, Mrs. C. McBride; flowers and cards, Mrs. C. Mrs. E. W. Sargent Hostess To WA

The first vice-president, Mrs. Ronald Warner, conducted the meeting, opening with the theme song and a hymn.

Mrs. Aubrey Wood took charge of a devotional period and referred to time, talents and possessions. She closed with a poem.

Readings were given by Mrs. Alex Wilson, Mrs. Clayton Brackenridge, Mrs. Ed Sargent and Mrs. Hugh Neilson. Piano solos were played by Mrs. Wilbert Graham and Mrs. Max Brackenridge.

Several reports were given, including those of the former secretary, Mrs. W. W. Graham, and treasurer, Mrs. Max Brackenridge.

Ms. Alex Wilson was appointed secretary for 1954.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

4 Join Kinettes

The Kinette Club met for dinner Tuesday at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, with 26 members present. Mrs. D. Coughlin, Mrs. G. Schwindt, Mrs. B. Burton, and Mrs. J. Folster are new members who were introduced and welcomed by president Mrs. C. A. Craig.

It was decided that a rummage sale be held at the end of the month, and Mrs. W. Jones agreed to be convener, with Mrs. E. Henwood to assist.

Plans for the annual "gentlemen's night" were formulated. Mrs. H. Carr is convener of this, and Mrs. Stone director of the stage show to be presented.

A film depicting the work of the United Nations International Refugee Organization was shown. It revealed problems of war victims similar to the Italian orphan the Kinette Club aids through CARE, and was of much interest to members.

The meeting concluded with a singsong.

Humphrey-Crawford Rites

A wedding of interest to a number of Peterborough friends took place recently in Dryden United Church of Elsie Goodal Crawford, a graduate of the Civic Hospital School of Nursing, to Mr. Keith Vaughan Humphrey of Dryden, where the couple are making their home, following a wedding trip to Saskatoon and Edmonton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crawford of Kenora and was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was of white shantung faille with appliqued lace flowers on the strapless bodice, topped with a fitted jacket with stand-up collar faced with appliqued lace flowers. A waist-length veil of net was faced with material of the gown and she carried feathered carnations and gardenias with trailing ivy.

Bridesmaids Misses Dorothy Forgey and Jean Endersby were in similar gowns of taffeta with overskirts of tulle in blending shades of green and mulberry and they wore stoles and headdresses of tulle and carried white 'mums. The groom's attendant was Ronald Swail of Winnipeg and Dryden, and ushers were William Haviland of Dryden and Maurice Crawford of Winnipeg.

The church choir was in attendance and sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Hebrew Benediction" and "O Perfect Love." with the congregation joining in.

For going away the bride chose a fitted dress of blue velveteen, a winter white felt hat and coon coat and wore a corsage of gardenias.

New Shoes Lift Doldrums

This is the time of the year when you get that real low-down "I've-got-nothing-to-wear" feeling. Christmas shopping has put a real crimp in your budget and you're saving clothes money towards your new Easter outfit.

The answer to this problem can be to pep up your winter wardrobe with leather. Leather shoes, bags, gloves and belts, and what you buy now to brighten up your dark winter clothes will serve equally as well to augment your early spring costumes.

This is one winter when you can walk into any shoe store and find a myriad of new bright colors in leathers. They range from the palest pastels and champagnes to the most brilliant reds, greens and electric blues in clear polished kid and calf leathers. You'll see combinations of suede and calf leathers, reptiles in brilliant glazed alligator, ostrich, pig and snakeskins, sometimes all-over and sometimes combined with the suede or calf leathers.

JEWELED LEATHERS

Your column-like slim skirts draw attention to your feet . . . so make the most of them! Many of the shoes now on view have decorative vamps, jeweled and embroidered. Even the spectator pump has been dressed up. There's one in a wonderful soft aniline calf in briarwood, highlighted by a lacy white kid leather trim around the throat and sides.

For evening you can find steel beads and lightly traced star patterns studded with rhinestones on suede leathers in light and dark shades. Daytime styles also reflect the dress-up-your-costume-trend in vamps, featuring cut out patterns, intricate perforations that form fetching designs and diagonal treatment with color and leather texture contract.

Delicately carved slim heels in a variety of heights set on flexible soles come in a variety of heel heigths. For daytime wear with you more casual suits and sweaters and skirts there are a variety of butter-soft, feather-light, incredibly flexible leathers in shankless moccasin type wedgies. Then there's the new slim version of the medium heeled shoe with the D'Orsay cut sides and long Spanish toe. These can be found in the new lighter tan aniline calf.

OPEN LOOK

The open look in shoes will be worn winter through spring, and today you can find a great variety in all types of leather. This type of shoe bought now will go equally well with the new open touches which will predominate in spring ready-to-wear.

One in navy suede is a halter sling with an open shank brightened by white piping on a low square throatline and white cross-stitching and mailhead trim on the vamp. Another red calf sandal sling has white piping trimming the vamp band and strips. This shoe features an asymmetric toe opening.

"TOTE" HANDBAGS

Another importan accessory to pep up your wardrobe this time of the year is a new bag. Here, too, you'll find every conceivable tpye of texture and color.

Today's woman doesn't carry her bag anymore . . . she "totes" it . . . and the tote bag continues in popularity, and will do through many more seasons to come. The tote bag you buy now can be used to accent your winter wardrobe and will be good this spring and summer too.

They come in luscious pastel leathers and are stunning in the bronze and gun metal patent leathers too. Pale pinks and blues in buckets and boxes, elongated as well as horizontal, and the little clutch are the types of bags you'll be buying. Lovely soft shades of avocado as well as wedgewood blue are popular.

Don't forget too that in sprucing up your clothes the addition of a few new leather belts will be a great aid.

Lily Lake Group Plans Card Games

LILY LAKE (ENS) — Mrs. Clarence Hancock was hostess to the members of the Lily Lake WA for their monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. Arthur Hancock, was in charge of the meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. Ackison, reported a balance on hand of $1,230.85.

A letter from the Unitarian Service Committee was received, expressing thanks for a contribution, also letters of appreciation from Mrs. Mary Tully, and for a sunshine basket from Miss Grace Tully.

It was decided to purchase 15 card tables and covers. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tully and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hancock were to be responsible for looking after the first card party, to be held Friday evening in the school. It was decided to hold the card parties every two weeks.

A nominating committee of Mrs. E. McConkey, Mrs. A. Beardsmore and Mrs. Hatherly was named. The roll call for the next meeting is to be answered with a snapshot taken of the early years of a member's life.

The committee for the cook book was reminded to start working on it.

KENNER COLLEGIATE

Three grade meetings have been held at Kenner Collegiate since the beginning of the school term in September: on October 14 for grades 9-A-B-C; October 29 for grades 9-D-E-F-G and on November 18 "open house" was held, and "graduation night" for pupils successful in passing from grades X to XI last June.

Mr. K. S. Wightman presented certificates to 86 students, with scholarships given as follows: David Donaldson, the Eastwood Scholarship for mathematics and science; William Thompson the Norman E. Elliott prize for grade 9 general proficiency; Margaret Robertson the Norman E. Elliott prize for grade 10 general proficiency.

Each grade meeting was held in the library with president Mrs. A. Malby in the chair. After short business periods principal Dr. E. P. Ray spoke briefly to the parents and introduced the teachers present who outlined the subjects they teach. Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Myles and her committee after each meeting.

Next meeting will be held on March 10, for parents of all grades, and will be in the form of a panel discussion.

Nomination forms will also be given out at the March meeting.

Toronto Girl Given Roles In Great Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Canada, Hollywood, Britain—that's the tour map indicating the radio, film and stage career to date of Toronto-born Kay Callard.

The 27-year-old blonde came to London from Hollywood last March after a spell in radio and small-part film work. Like some other Canadian actors she figured she could do better in Britain.

"At least I've got time to sit down and think," said the five-foot-five actress. "In Hollywood it was a 24-hour life. If you did get time to sleep the phone started ringing."

So far Miss Callard has been pretty lucky in Britain, with a "good supporting part" in an American comedy that goes into rehearsal soon.

She has also a film role in the offing, possibly in May. To make the stage role, she passed up Christmas fare to reduce from 125 pounds to 118.

TELEVISION ROLE

Soon after arrival, Miss Callard walked into a television film role opposite Hollywood's Douglas Fairbanks and has since played in two films and a two-hour television play which starred Toronto's Mari Aldon, a newcomer to British TV.

"I was scared stiff at first," she said of working with Fairbanks. "But no one could have been nicer to work with. He almost handed me the most important scene."

FIRST IMPORTANT ROLE

Kay's first British film role was with Moria Lister in "The Limping Man." Her part was small but eye-catching. After a few facetious remarks she drunkenly toppled over a stair bannister at a party.

This blue-eyed photogenic Canadian says of Britain: "I haven't been so contented since I worked for the Little Theatre in London, Ont."

Canadian-born daughter of a British father and Canadian mother, Kay spent her wartime years in Britain while her father served with the RAF. Her mother, one-time foreign correspondent with the Toronto Telegram, did not approve of stage work so Kay started in commercial radio and advertising. She went to Hollywood in 1949 after the deaths of her parents.

Mrs. H. Neilson Hostess To St. Andrew's WMS

The president, Mrs. C. Brackenridge opened with a hymn and led in prayer.

Plans were discussed for the coming year. The Peterborough Presbyterial was announced to be held in Mark street church on January 26.

Mrs. H. Neilson took charge of the program. A chapter of the study book "Where'er the Sun" was presented. Responses were given by Mrs. A. Wood, Mrs. J. Clysdale, Mrs. E. Sargent and Mrs. C. Brackenridge.

The hostess served lunch.

London's January Sales Biggest Free-For-All

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—London's January sales provided the biggest free-for-all in years. The mad rush started earlier than usual—after Christmas instead of New Year's Day—and spaced-out sales gave bargain seekers a chance to make more than one first-day killing.

Retailers vied with one another in cutting prices and women fought snatched and pushed to get at heavily-laden rails and counters. In most large stores nurses were stationed to give first aid.

There were real bargains. One Oxford street store sold 10 coats a minute at prices ranging from £2 to £20. There were evening gowns at £3, suits, rainwear and dresses at give-away prices and occasional fur coat "prizes" such as an £80 coat of mink pieces which sold at less than £9.

Fur stores had many coats and capes at under £5, including good quality mouton. Muskrat, known here as musquash, was priced at £40 for a full-length coat.

This time, London's retailers seemed bent on clearing winter stocks before the first cold snap. Exceptionally mild weather prevailed until Christmas.

The impression that British women in 1954 will be wearing only the latest in styling is far from the truth if newspaper comments on sales buying are considered.

One fashion writer stressed that the comment heard most often in various stores was: "There's nothing about it to make it date." Women were happily buying sales clothes with the same old lines and greyish tinge.

Other writers said the January sales are getting things out of proportion. They come too soon, often before the real winter sets in.

After the sales, it is hard to get a well-styled winter outfit, since retailers have cleared winter stocks to make room for spring and summer wear. Yet February and March are often colder than December or January.

Stores would lose less on cut-price goods if they sold what the customer wanted when the weather demanded it, the fashion experts say. Women also grumble that when the late British summer really gets going shops are stocking up for autumn and winter and smart summer styles are hard to find. So the fashions are always outpacing the seasons.

Mrs. G. Webster Hostess To WMS

COTTESLOE (ENS) — Mrs. George Webster opened her home for the January meeting of the WMS. Eighteen ladies answered the roll call.

Miss Helen Tedford conducted the meeting, using the worship service in the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. J. Blakely read the scripture and Mrs. John Gallagher read a short story and lead in prayer. Master Donald Webster received the offering.

Mrs. Russel Tedford was in charge of the program, "The Four R's in Europe", taken from the study book. Those helping her were Mrs. Howard Harnden, Mrs. H. Patterson, Mrs. D. Barr and Miss H. Tedford. Mrs. A. Tedford read a short clipping "The AA at Work."

Mrs. Fred Toms and Mrs. Fred Bolton were appointed delegates to the presbyterial in Mark Street church in Peterborough, January 26.

A letter of thanks was read from the Fred Victor Mission in Toronto, acknowledging a small Christmas parcel sent recently; also a card from Miss Mary Blair of Metcalfe, Ont., a missionary remembered in prayer by the auxiliary.

Mrs. D. Barr and Mrs. George Webster served lunch.

Barbara Ann Goes 'Savage' As Star Ice Revue Skater

By BILL HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Don't tell the Olympic committee, but Barbara Ann Scott has "gone savage."

That's the surprise the Hollywood Ice Revue and its petite Canadian star sprang Thursday night as the show opened its 17th season in Madison Square Garden.

(Mark Barron, Associated Press theatre reviewer, said the show follows the general line of previous ones but Miss Scott "is lovely and a melody of rhythm as she performs as a top ballerina on ice." The revue generally was an "exciting show.")

The first-night crowd seemed delighted with the new and exciting phase of Miss Scott's personality.

But when she swivelled her hips in a flashing rhumba, and cringed excitingly before a whip as a slant-eyed, exotic captive princess, the little girl from Ottawa left no doubt that she's a big girl too.

How does she like displaying on skates this other dimension of a hitherto demure personality?

"I love it, really. It's such fun. It's so new for me, so different."

The show has other skating champions including Peter Firstbrook of Toronto, three-time Canadian singles champion and Olympic contender.

Another champion starred in the show was Jacqueline Du Bief who holds most of the skating titles in France. Svelte and dark-haired, she brought a Gallic touch to the Garden in her two featured numbers.

The cast also includes Bobby Blake, comedien Freddie Trenkler, and the spectacularly acrobatic skater, Skippy Baxter.

BARBARA ANN STAR

Back stage after the show, wearing a red polka-dot dressing gown and cuddling a tiny white poodle in her arms, she looked like Goldilocks again. She said she was eagerly anticipating later in the season when the show plays Toronto and Montreal.

"It's like going home," she said.

"I think so," she said.

And there was a twinkle of mischief in those big, baby-blue eyes.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband To Be Alone With Thoughts

DEAR MISS DIX: Perhaps you'll be kind enough to devote a word to a minor grievance of mine. Why can't wives appreciate the fact that a man might like an occasional evening alone? The ladies have the run of the house all day, and it never occurs to them that a husband could use a little privacy. Being with people all day is nerve-racking and exhausting and I, for one, would be easier to live with if my wife would leave me alone one evening a week and let me cook my dinner, if and when I got around to it. If I suggested such a thing, she'd think I was tired of her or didn't appreciate her. Nothing could be further from the truth, but I would like the luxury of a few hours to myself occasionally.

JUST COMPLAINING.

AN ORIGINAL DESIRE

ANSWER: To you goes the honor of having submitted the most original problem to come my way in a long while. Piles of letters bemoan the husbands who go out several nights a week, or those who won't take the little women out, or those who refuse to let their wives have an evening off by themselves. But, a husband who longs for solitude is a rara avis. Most people don't like to be alone—ever. They need constant entertainment and companionship, or they feel neglected. You are, apparently, a man who just would like a chance to be alone occasionally with his thoughts. Your only hope is to get your wife interested in something that will take her away from home a few hours a week. However, you must be warned that there could be a kickback in this idea. She might get to like being away from you and become involved eventually in too many enterprises.

I think you'll just have to resign yourself to the idea that matrimony pretty well marks the end of solitary hours. As a matter of fact, the reason some people marry is to avoid loneliness, which is an accepted synonym for solitude. Actually, loneliness is cheerless solitude, which certainly isn't what you were asking for. I'm afraid I haven't been much help concerning your problem, but be assured that I am at least sympathetic. However, dont' risk a happy marriage to secure your privacy.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do I owe my stepchildren? Fifteen years ago I married a man with three children, the youngest only two. We also had my mother-in-law with us. I worked steadily to put the children through school, and saw them all married. My husband died five years ago. Now I have tuberculosis and none of the children will come to see me. One girl offered to buy my house (a small one, and the only thing I have in the world), paying me $25 a month. I refused, knowing that I wouldn't have a home if I sold it. I never considered myself as a stepmother, or them as stepchildren, but now I must face it—they aren't my children.

MARY D.

ANSWER: It's hard to understand how people can be so ungrateful and unsympathetic, or how any hearts can be so hard. Your consolation will have to lie in the thought that you did your best, and that you'll never have to live with an uneasy conscience, as they will. Trust in God in your trouble.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has become involved with a girl 35 years younger than he is. She is 27, he is 62. He can't realize she is making a fool of him. He gives her beautiful presents; she goes out with other men, of which he is aware, but in his infatuation it makes no difference. I am several years younger than he is, and not unattractive. I feel it might be best to go out on my own

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Such an infatuation as your husband has is usually short-lived. Since your marriage has been happy up to this point, and will undoubtedly go back to its old basis when your man recovers his senses, it would be better for you to stick to him through this crisis. When he does realize what a fool he's been, he'll sorely need someone to stand by, and that seems to be the traditional role of some wives.

Officers Named By S.S.

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The annual meeting of St. Andrew's United church Sunday school was held at the home of Mrs. Lavern Gibson.

The Rev. A. M. Butler presided for the election of officers. The following slate was returned: Superintendent, Herbert Patton; assistant superintendent, Mac Ingham; recording and envelope secretary, Alvin Trew; assistant, John Rowe; treasurer, J. J. Powell; director of music, Miss Beverley Patton; temperance superintendent, Mrs. N. V. Weatherilt; missionary superintendent, Mrs. B. E. Ingram; superintenednt of nursery department, Miss Marjorie Skitch.

It was decided to ask Trevor Fallis and Peter Crowley to assist John Rowe as projectionist in showing film strips.

The teachers for 1954 will be: Beginners, Miss Yvonne Richards; primary, Mrs. Lavern Gibson; junior girls of 8-10, Mrs. Homer Oullette; junior boys, Mr. Fred Fallis; girls, 10 to 12, Mrs. Herbert Patton; girls, 12-14, Miss Jean Burnham; senior girls, the Rev. Margaret Butler; senior and intermediate boys, Mac Ingram; adult Bible class, Miss Estella Hetherington.

It was decided to ask Don Spicer to organize a young men's Bible class and be its first teacher.

February 7 was set as the date for the opening of the Sunday school, following the renovation program begun in the fall.

It was voted to accept the offer of the CGIT to buy a screen for the projector as their share in the renovation. The procuring of a worship centre was left to a committee. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $75.

Christian Humility Topic Of Y.P.U.

Myrtle Seymour, culture convener, was in charge of arrangements for the program. Films depicting scenes in Mexico, Rome and Scotland featured the entertainment.

Hazel McIntosh led the worship service. Her topic was "Humility in Christian Service". The humblest tasks done for the Lord are acceptable to Him, she said. Christian service makes our life count for something. The truly great people are the most humble.

She closed the worship service with prayer and John Oxenham's poem, "What Do I Owe To Christ". Marie Hooten read a poem.

Roger Hanbidge, Gordon Clifford, Ray Kelk and Neal Whitfied sang the Negro spiritual, "Then Let Us Have a Little Talk With Jesus".

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. W. Seymour and daughters and the lunch committee.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Have been interested in your column for some time . . . have a request of a different nature . . . a friend received a German cookbook and we've been trying to figure out some of these recipes. However, the measurements in many instances are in grams. To give you an idea of what I mean I will give the recipe for what to me looks like angel marble cake: 250 g. butter or margarine, 250 g. sugar, 1 pkg. Dr. Oetker vanilla-sugar, 3 or 4 eggs, 1 bottle Dr. Oetker rum-aroma, pinch of salt, 500 g. white flour, 1 pkg. Dr. Oetker baking powder, ⅛ l. milk, 3 oz. cocoa, 25 g. sugar, 2 or 3 tablespoons milk. I've tried to find out how many grams would be equivalent to our cup measurement, unsuccessfully. I wondered if you would know or could find out for me. Could you imagine what might be meant by that ⅛ l. milk? I can't. The illustrations are very attractive and I'm sure if we can get our measures straightened out should prove very palatable.—Mrs. Linda G.

ANSWER: The ⅛ l. means ⅛ of a liter. A liter is roughly equivalent to 2 pints, so the ⅛ l. means about 5 oz. which is ⅝ of a measuring cup. In Canada we use avoirdupois system and the gram is equivalent to 1/28 oz.—nearly. So the 250 g. of butter and sugar (first amount) about ½ pound or 1 measuring cupful. Dr. Oetker is a trade name for various flavorings; instead of the vanilla sugar use 1 teaspoon vanilla extract—pure. The rum-aroma really floored me but my Venice-born friend Thilde says use 1 teaspoon rum flavoring. The 500 grams flour is about ½ pound so weigh it then sift it, then measure it in a measuring cup and jot down your findings—on my scales 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour weight 7 ounces. As for the baking powder we'll have to guess how much Dr. Oetker puts in each package and I'd suggest using 3 teaspoons since the recipe calls for 3 or 4 eggs. You may be able to reduce this to 2 teaspoons on second experiment. The cocoa, thank goodness is in ounces. If you sift this it will measure about 1 cup. The 25 g. sugar is almost 1 ounce which is 2 tablespoon roughly. The last 3 ingredients mentioned must be for a topping don't you think. I hope this helps and that you enjoy the product you turn out. Let me know.

LETTER: Again I come about scalloped potatoes. My meaning could not have been quite clear. Just arrange potatoes in dish of your choice, ready for oven cooking, but do not add salt until you know the milk has reached boiling point in oven, then sprinkle some over the top of potatoes. It is the salt that curdles unboiled milk. Milk soup or anything with milk is liable to curdle if salt is added before milk comes to boiling point. —Lillie E. W.

ANSWER: Lillie I am grateful to you for writing again when I misinterpreted your meaning and for this knowing tip on when to add salt, especially to scalloped potatoes. Do let me help you sometime.

LETTER: I saw the letter in the paper from Ruth H. asking for a recipe for Boston Cream. I have a recipe my mother used to make.

BOSTON CREAM LEMONADE
(Courtesy Red Rose)

Two pounds white sugar, 2 quarts water brought to boil. When this is cold add 2 ounces tartaric acid, juice of 2 lemons. Bottle. Put about 2 tablespoons of this in a glass and fill with water for a beverage.—Red Rose.

ANSWER: Thank you Red Rose. I loved your letter which I received in November but had to use all my allotted space for answers to readers who wanted recipes for Christmas baking.

SLIMMING DIET

LONDON (CP) — The British Medical Journal recommends as staples for a satisfactory slimming diet eggs, lean meat and lettuce. But the Journal also suggested another method would be to impose a tax on fat people.

6—In Memoriam

COLEMAN—In loving memory of Mr. Albert Coleman, who passed away January 15, 1950.
We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

FLEMING—In loving memory of Mrs. John Fleming, who passed away January 15, 1953.
—Ever remembered by Eva, Lloyd, Vernon and grandchildren.

FERGUSON—In memory of Pilot Officer William Kennedy Ferguson of 401 Spitfire Squadron, RCAF, killed in active service January 15 1943. Buried in the Communal Cemetery of St. Martin des Entrees, France.
Faithful unto God and man,
And to his duty true.
He died to live forever
In the hearts of those he knew.
—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson and family, Strathroy, Ontario.

STINSON—In loving memory of Albert E. Stinson, who passed away January 15, 1946.
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughter.

2-Headed Baby Ready For Home

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana's two-headed baby, now 33 days old, was reported in satisfactory condition today and ready to leave Riley Hospital whenever the parents are able to take the child.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hartley, who live near Petersburg, in southern Indiana, have said they want to take their son home as soon as possible. However, their family physician, Dr. Joseph W. Elbert, insists that they first move into Petersburg.

Their log cabin, three miles from the town, has no electricity, plumbing or running water.

Physicians at the Indiana University medical centre discontinued oxygen treatments more than two weeks ago. They said the oxygen improved the color and condition of the baby's left head and no longer was needed.

The Hartleys also have three daughters. Hartley, a $50-a-week ordnance plant worker, pays $40 a month for support of two children by a previous marriage.

OBITUARIES

MRS. W. RICHARDSON

The death occurred recently in Twining, Alberta, of Mrs. William Richardson, formerly Elizabeth May Coolidge, of Peterborough.

Born and educated here, she was the daughter of Robert Coolidge and Alice Chateu. After the death of her parents, she moved to Alberta with her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Chatteu. Married to William Richardson, she spent the rest of her life in that area and is survived by her husband, a daughter and a son, and two grandchildren. She was a niece of Mrs. A. M. Fife, 677 Elgin St.

JOHN J. TORPEY

The death occurred in St. Joseph's Hospital, today, of John Joseph Torpey, formerly of 264 Hunter St. W., after more than two years' illness.

Born in Douro, son of the late Patrick Torpey and Esther Carey, he was educated there, then came to Peterborough as an employee of the Quaker Oats Co., from which he retired three years ago. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Fanny Redmond. He was a member of St. Peter's cathedral.

Surviving are: a daughter, Miss Mary Torpey, of Peterborough; two sisters, Mrs. Howard Beattie (Agnes), of Mich., and Mrs. Laura Sullivan, of Detroit; and a brother, Redmond, of Mich.

Funeral services will be Monday from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's cathedral for requiem mass at 9.00 a.m. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

GEORGE EDWARD SHANNON

Funeral services were held, Saturday, in Niagara Falls, Ont., for George Edward Shannon, formerly of Douro.

Born in Douro, the third son of the late George Shannon and Annie McNaughton, he moved to Campbellford following the death of his parents. He married the former Ethel Darral, of Marmora, in 1909, and following the First World War they moved their residence to Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Shannon is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Green (Margaret), of Allegheny, N.Y., and Mrs. Paul Cascarelli (Marion), of Niagara Falls, Ont.; and five sons, Robert, of Buffalo, Gerald, of Ottawa, Jack, Charles and Murray, of Niagara Falls, Ont. There are also two brothers, Richard, of Orlando, Florida, and William, of Lakefield. A younger brother, Wilbert, pre-deceased him in 1948.

The funeral was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Shannon, of Lakefield, their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMaster, of Toronto, Mrs. James Gibson, Mrs. Lilian Elliott and John Darral, all of Peterborough.

Road Graft Shades Currie Report—Oliver

CHATHAM (CP) — Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader in the Ontario House, said Thursday irregularities in the Ontario department of highways district office at Fort William will make the Currie report "fade into insignificance."

Mr. Oliver told the annual meeting of the West Kent Liberal Association that the disclosures "may well run into hundreds of thousands of dollars."

(Highways Minister Doucett has said the amount involved in charges against four of the five accused employees is $18,625.)

Mr. Oliver said he objected to the government "naming their own prosecutor instead of appointing a royal commission to sift the whole business."

Munroe Nuptial Big News

LONDON (AP) — Marilyn Munroe's marriage wiped a good deal of politics and disaster news off front pages in London's space-pinched papers today.

The austere Times, in a brief notice, identified the bridegroom as "Mr. Joe DiMaggio, a former baseball player."

"I'm yours for keeps, Joesy Boy," said the Daily Mirror headline.

Blonde Marilyn has been getting a great deal of attention lately here. Two of her pictures are showing simultaneously in glittering West End cinemas—"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and "How to Marry a Millionaire."

BEAUTY BY THE ACRE

Critics who had just seen "How to Marry a Millionaire," a wide-screen study of complicated love which opened Thursday night, said Marilyn remains lovely no matter how big the cameras make her.

"Marilyn is available by the acre," said The Daily Mail. "The recumbent form is long as a cricket pitch."

The close-ups, said The Daily Sketch, are so close that they have to be shown in bits. "The famous torso is rationed," a critic wrote.

Blizzard Grips Montana State

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Blizzard conditions gripped Montana early today and a severe winter storm pushed into Wyoming and spilled over the continental divide on the heels of 40-mile winds.

The cold wave, spawned in Canada, is expected to cover six northern states by Saturday.

Forecasters said the cold air mass is by far the largest to push down from Canada this winter. A major portion still hovered there early today, sending temperatures down to 33 below at Edmonton and 2 below at Calgary.

Helicopter Seen Being Major Short Run Craft

SUDBURY (CP)—J. T. Dyment, director of engineering for Trans-Canada Air Lines, predicts that all short-haul flying will be handled by helicopters within the near future.

Discussing the development of flying in an address Thursday night to the Sudbury branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, he also said that though atomic-powered aircraft are theoretically possible, they will be too costly for a long time to come, other than in experimental aviation.

Ask Capital Stock Raised To $15,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Howe will ask Parliament to boost the capital stock of the crown-owned export credits insurance corporation to $15,000,000 from $5,000,000.

He gave notice today of a resolution to that effect in the Commons order paper — a move that will enable the corporation to take on another $100,000,000 in new export insurance business.

The corporation was set up by the government in 1944 to ensure exporters against the possibility of non-payment by foreign buyers and blockage of funds.

$1,500,000 School As Sudbury Grows

SUDBURY (CP)—A fact-finding committee on secondary education has reported that a $1,500,000 building program is probably the way to supply Sudbury and district with enough high school space to meet growth during the next five years.

The program proposed would see either a new 1,000-student high school in Sudbury and a $500,000 addition to the Sudbury mining and technical school or the building of other high schools in neighboring municipalities.

Suspicious Police Arrest Pair With Car

ORILLIA (CP)—Frank Ellis and Bernard Deshane, both 18, of Elmvale, 22 miles west of here, were arrested early today when local police became suspicious after noticing them driving around town.

Charged with car theft and breaking and entering, they were taken to jail in Barrie, 18 miles south of here. Police said the car had been stolen from a parking lot in Elmvale.

Key Red's Wife In Ceylon Called U.S. Spy

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Ceylon's Communist party today accused Roda Miller, American wife of a Ceylonese Communist leader, Joe de Sylva, of being a secret agent for the United States. The Reds picked up her party membership card last week on "ideological grounds."

The party blamed her for a split in its ranks and ousted her and four others from membership Jan. 7.

The Communist journal said today that party secretary S. A. Wickremasinghe had been tricked "by the apparently sincere Communist Roda Miller." The paper acknowledged that a book she wrote about the executed American atom spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, had been "an excellent exposition of American policy and frame-up tactics." But the paper termed the book a facade to hide her "spying" and said it was "very reminiscent of American psychological warfare board strategy."

Rhee Insists Keep Fighting

SEOUL (Reuters) — President Syngman Rhee of South Korea today said his people cannot allow "A Communist force of 1,000,000 men to occupy half Korea." He aded: "We have to fight all we can."

"The Communists will not cease fighting till we show them we are determined to stop them," he said, speaking to the United States 40th Division which he awarded with a presidential citation.

"The Communsts will not voluntarily abandon their ambition to conquer unless we all stand up now and show them our determination to make them fear us," Rhee said.

15 Persons Die In Czech Crash

VIENNA (AP) — A passenger plane of the Czechoslovak state airline crashed near Prague Jan. 12 killing 15 persons, it was revealed today when a Czech newspaper reached Austria.

The accident was announced by the Prague newspaper Rude Pravo which gave no details.

The dead included 11 passengers and four crew members. There were no foreigners on board, the airport told the Associated Press by telephone.

Douro Council Names Officials

Municipal officers appointed by Douro council Monday are: — Livestock valuers, Edward Moloney and E. Garbutt, William McKeiver and John Allen; pound-keepers, Frank Scott, Wilbert Abbot, Clem Garvey Stanley Condon and R. Sheehan; fence-viewers, B. Leahy, Joseph Coughlin, Frank Heffernan, Joseph O'Connor, Edward Carlow, Harry Garbutt and Ronald Frankish; school attendants officer, Alphonsus Condon; member of board of health and sanitary inspector, J. J. Leahy and janitor John F. Leahy.

James Moloney, a former assessor was appointed assessment commissioner at a salary of $1,350.

Douro council decided to join the Good Roads Association allowing $20 expenses to any member wishing to attend the good roads convention.

Accounts passed were: general township accounts $137.77 roads $907.23; relief $324.

Buckhorn Institute Honors Treasurer

BUCKHORN (ENS)—Fourteen members and two visitors were present at the January meeting of the Buckhorn Women's Institute, held at the home of Mrs. Harry Shearer, the president.

Mrs. Shearer was in the chair. In the absence of Mrs. Woods, the treasurer, Mrs. Tommie Mason was appointed to act in that capacity. Standing committees gave reports. A play is underway and will be presented soon.

An invitation to visit the Selwyn branch on January 20th was accepted.

In appreciation of Mrs. Woods' service, the ladies decided to send her a subscription to the Peterborough Examiner.

Mrs. W. Pearson gave a fine report of the convention held at Toronto in November.

Mrs. Branscombe was in charge of the program and gave a discourse on the history of Curve Lake Reserve and surrounding country.

Mrs. Ruffus Bullock, the guest speaker, spoke on the life of the two Queens Elizabeth.

A contest in accordance with the topic of historical research was held and the lunch committee served refreshments.

Thin Thief

LONDON (CP) — A burglar squeezed through an 18-inch gap between bars over a window in the Peckham railway station and escaped with £35. It was the seventh raid on the station in 18 months.

CHOWTIME—It's dinnertime for Bambi, a pet deer, and her pal, Duchess, and this means lots of fun for the Frank J. Northeys, superintendents of cabins at Clear Creek State Park, near Brookville, Pa. The young doe survived the recent hunting season and is fattening up on daily meals provided by the Northey family.

Tourists Set Record At National Parks

OTTAWA (CP)—Record numbers of tourists visited Canada's national parks and historic sites during the seven-month tourist season last year.

The influx continues during the winter months in those parks where there are winter sports, but officials stopped their count last October when they recorded 2,915,707 visitors since last April 1—an increase of about 500,000 over a similar period of 1952.

Most visitors toured the 16 national scenic parks where the land is left as much as possible in its natural state. All but five of these parks—located in every province except Newfoundland—reported an increase in visitors in 1953.

Banff, which has grown from a 10-square-mile tract to Canada's second-largest at 2,564 square miles headed the list as an outdoor attraction. It had more than 584,000 visitors, about 150,000 more than Riding Mountain park in Manitoba.

Banff was Canada's first national park. It was established in 1885 as a tract surrounding the mineral hot springs which still are a big attraction. From this small tract, the national parklands have grown to an area of more than 12,000 square miles in 68 years and this is expected to be added to when Newfoundland gets a national park.

The Newfoundland government is understood to be considering an offer of a tract of land in the Bonavista area on Newman sound. It would be offered to the federal government free of encumbrances and Parliament then would be asked to incorporate it as a national park.

One stumbling block to this plan lies in the expectation that Newfoundland's section of the trans-Canada highway would run through this area. If the land was federal property, the federal government would have to pay the entire road-building costs instead of the present equal sharing of such costs with the province.

ADMINISTRATION COSTS

The annual cost of administration, operation, maintenance and construction of the national parks is about $6,000,000.

Banff 584,702 (512,177); Cape Breton Highlands 32,191 (35,372); Elk Island 172,232 (134,020); Fundy 109,296 (100,622); Georgian Bay Islands 14,255 (9,417); Glacier 479 (835); Jasper 129,411 (100,294); Kootenay 219,485 (167,068); Mount Revelstoke 13,177 (13,880); Point Pelee 417,375 (299,656); Prince Albert 118,720 (105,034); Prince Edward Island 145,827 (122,290); Riding Mountain 436,344 (366,054); St. Lawrence Islands 42,541 (32,937); Waterton Lakes 207,533 (195,562); Yoko 22,216 (40,389).

Historic parks and sites — Fort Anne 18,926 (20,319); Fort Battleford 10,846 (10,644); Fort Beausejour 21,430 (23,249); Fort Chambly 64,767 (68,976); Fort Lennox 9,236 (9,643); Fortress of Louisburg 19,995 (18,366); Fort Malden 14,663 (13,016); Fort Wellington 8,116 (8,562); Halifax Citadel 75,868 (38,604); Port Royal Habitation 15,740 (15,119).

USSR May Make 500% Profit

WASHINGTON (AP)—If a proposed deal for sale of surplus American butter to the Russians goes through, the Soviet government stands to make perhaps 500 per cent profit.

The Russians will sell the butter through their state retail channels at prices comparable to those charged for Soviet, Argentine and Danish butter now on sale—roughly 30 rubles per kilogram, which is the equivalent of $3.40 a pound.

Since the butter will presumably have been purchased at the export prices of the United States Commodity Credit Corp.—40 to 50 cents a pound — the Soviet government stands to make a profit of $2.90 to $3 a pound, minus of course the costs of shipments and distribution.

Meanwhile the whole thing will have cost American taxpayers from 15 to 25 cents a pound, since the U.S. government price to American farmers is 65 cents a pound.

Distributed 13 Boxes In Christmas Season

STIRLING (ENS) — Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. M. Megginson on Wednesday afternoon with president, Mrs. S. McMurray in the chair.

Thirteen boxes of Christmas treats were reported delivered to families in town during the holiday season. A quilt was donated to the Salvation Army. Mrs. S. Kirby had completed five scrap books of Christmas cards to be sent to surrounding hospitals. Mrs. L. Rodgers donated a portrait of the Queen to be placed in the Community hall.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke of West Huntingdon are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on January 20. They will be at home to their friends from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9.

Canon J. Brownlie, rector of Marmora Anglican church, was guest speaker at the Stirling Rotary Club luncheon this week.

Africa Crash Kills 1 In USAF Bomber

CASABLANCA, Morocco (Reuters)—A United States Air Force bomber based in North Africa crashed near Mazagan, 55 miles southwest of here, Thursday night, killing one of four men aboard and injuring two others.

Reports said the plane was trying to make a forced landing outside Mazagan. The co-pilot was reported to be the only fatality.

Roosevelt To Sponsor New Seaway Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., made a partial turnabout Thursday and came out for New York state construction of the Niagara river power project, but said he would fight any plan to sell power transmission rights to private enterprise.

The New York Democrat said he and Senator Herbert H. Lehman (Dem. Lib., N.Y.) would introduce in Congress a new power bill providing for state construction and operation of the project. The bill, he said, would specify that the state — in disposing of the power — must give a preference to "municipalities, other public bodies and co-operatives."

Group Asks $300,000 For 1954 Polio Fight

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario chapter of the Canadian Foundation of Poliomyelitis has announced an all-out campaign against polio in 1954. There were 2,080 cases of polio in Ontario last year.

The Foundation is seeking $300,000 for its work. The first donation was a cheque for $1,400 to purchase a portable iron lung. It was raised through donations to the Dr. Douglas Rae Memorial fund.

Dr. Rae, a 30-year-old Etobicoke township doctor, died of polio last Aug. 27.

Find Oil Puts Money In Indian Hands

The department of citizenship, which administers the government's Indian affairs branch, reported today that the oil industry in 1953 paid Indians $860,000 for exploration rights on reservations and in royalties on producing wells.

The majority of the reservation Indians live in Alberta and Saskatchewan, where oil exploration and production is most active. They are using their new-found riches to buy farm machinery, build houses, improve medical services on reservations and as personal income.

SHOW FINANCIAL WISDOM

The Enoch band, on the Stoney Plain reservation west of Edmonton, now earns about $8,000 a month in leases and royalties. About half, amounting to $15 for every man, woman and child in the band, is distributed in cash and the remainder goes into the tribe's fund for special reservation projects.

"Indian bands show considerable wisdom in money matters," the department said. "They set up well-planned annual budgets and, in general, operate quite as well as any efficient town council."

Pilot Dies To Save Houses

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—A student pilot flew his crippled jet plane into rocky ranch country rather than bail out and risk it crashing into a residential area of this west Texas city of 17,000.

Killed when the training plane burned Thursday as it hit the ground was Lieut. David K. Rae, 22.

Two other pilots flying over the area saw the crippled plane as it wobbled over the city and then crashed two miles beyond the edge of town.

Rae's plane brushed another jet as a flight of four started down for a landing at Webb air force base. Part of the tail control surface was broken off.

Rae righted the plane and climbed to 1,500 feet. He could have easily bailed out.

Kitchener Transit To Clear $25,000

KITCHENER (CP) — Statistics presented at today's inaugural meeting of the Kitchener public utilities commission indicated that though the passenger total was down by almost a million in 1953, the transportation system still will make a profit of about $25,000.

Estimated profit for the 12 months was given by chairman Harvey Graber.

PORT HOPE REHIRES POLICE FORCE

Reduce Car Insurance Rates Feb. 1

Accident-Free Drivers Given Credits For Safe Driving

TORONTO (CP)—A greater number of Canadian accident-free motorists will soon be eligible for safe-driving credits which will cut their private passenger automobile insurance rates, it was announced today by the Canadian Underwriters Association and the Independent Automobile Insurance Conference.

The two groups represent most of the 200-odd competing automobile insurance companies in Canada.

The credits will apply both to renewals of existing policies and to new applicants for insurance who can qualify, the statement said.

STARTED IN APRIL

The "preferred risk rating plan" was first introduced in Canada last April to provide reduced bodily injury, property damage and collision rates for a limited group of accident-free automobile owners. It will be broadened Feb. 1 to include most of the other groups into which private passenger cars are divided for purposes of rating.

Size of the credits may vary slightly because of differences in various insurance classifications but they will average about 15 per cent.

The plan is being extended to owners of cars used for business purposes, and most pleasure-car owners, if they have established three-year accident-free driving records.

Up to now the plan has been confined to persons owning motor vehicles used for pleasure purposes only, who have driven for at least three years, who have not been in an accident for three years prior to the application for insurance and who have no driver in their households under 25 years of age.

HOW CREDITS APPLY

The credits apply to public liability—or bodily injury—property damage and collision coverages, the main insurance categories affected in accident claims. Fire and theft coverage are not affected.

"The plan has been in operation only nine months and this has not permitted the development of sufficient statistical data to give a complete indication of just how successful the experiment has been in promoting safe driving," the statement said.

"There has been some indication, however, of improved driving practices and so the plan is being extended to most other classifications of drivers."

"The class comprising the under-25 owner-operators continues to show the most unsatisfactory accident record and so the plan is not being extended to these drivers for the time being."

Investigate Comet Sabotage

LONDON (AP)—British Overseas Airways Corporation said to day a special investigation has started into theories that sabotage caused last Sunday's Comet jet-liner crash in the Tyrrhenian sea in which 35 died. BOAC, owners of the plane which crashed off Elba, said a week-long inquiry has shown no evidence of structural weakness in its remaining seven Comets. A statement issued by Sir Miles Thomas, BOAC chairman, said: "The possibility of sabotage cannot be overlooked and special security investigators are being sent to points along the route to the Far East."

Talk of possible sabotage grew here after Thursday's crash of a Philippines Airlines Cloudmaster that killed 16.

That crash — just like the Comet's — came just 7½ hours after the plane stopped off to refuel at Beirut.

A BOAC pilot who flew in from Beirut Friday said he heard rumors there that Britain's MI5 investigation bureau had started a new inquiry.

There have been persistent but unconfirmed reports that the mysterious crash may have been due to a bomb concealed in the baggage hold of the plane.

It appeared to explode and crash immediately into the sea, according to eyewitnesses. A doctor who examined the bodies of the 35 victims said there was evidence they died from an explosion before the plane crashed.

Meanwhile, a Labor member of Parliament disclosed he will ask Aviation Minister Alan Lennox-Boyd for a statement in Parliament Tuesday on the Comet crash.

While Desmond Donnelly, former member of the RAF, prepared his questions, aviation experts assembled in Rome and pushed invstigations of a Philippine Airlines and that of a Philippine Airlines DC-6 Thursday in the Italian capital. Sixteen persons were killed in the crash.

Special Cameras Record Eclipse

TORONTO (CP)—At least three Canadian astronomical expeditions will set up telescopes, cameras and other equipment in northern Ontario June 30 to observe a total eclipse of the sun.

Dr. John F. Heard said Friday night in his presidential address at the annual meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada that it was hoped their observations might help answer some of the mysteries about the sun.

Dr. Heard said parties from the three major Canadian observatories will establish themselves in the Kapuskasing area where the total phase of the eclipse will last about 90 seconds.

One group from the Dominion observatory at Ottawa will set up 40 miles north of Kapuskasing, a second from the Dominion astrophysical observatory at Victoria will locate at Hansen, 17 miles north of Oba, while Dr. Heard's party from the Dunlap observatory will observe from Mattice, about half-way between the two groups of government scientists.

883 Toronto Teachers Rebuffed In Plan

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's 883 secondary school teachers were rebuffed again Friday night in their attempt to get the board of education to give up its policy of a single salary schedule—equal pay for equal qualifications, regardless of the grade or school in which an employee teaches.

The board's finance sub-committee met for 7½ hours with the provincial executive of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

The sub-committee held to the board's Dec. 11 statement reaffirming its salary policy.

Another meeting between the teachers and the sub-committee, without federation or board officials present, will be held next Wednesday.

Clark Rink Downed 11-4

OSHAWA (CP) — Bert White's Oshawa rink won top honors in the Oshawa Curling Club's 10th annual five-day bonspiel which concluded Friday.

White's rink won the McLaughlin trophy by trouncing Ralph Clark's Peterborough foursome 11-4 in the final game. The Peterborough group placed second, Andy Grant's Toronto Royal Canadians third and Stan Sarjeant's Orillia rink fourth.

Bill Tudhope's Orillia rink copped the Fittings Limited Trophy, defeating Al Parkhill's Oshawa foursome 11-7 in the final game. Ed Johnston's Parry Sound rink was third and Bill Brownlee's Oshawa entry fourth.

Believe Meteor Set House Afire

OTTAWA (CP) — A meteor which flashed over Ontario at dawn last Wednesday exploded over Parry Sound and may have set fire to a home there, Dr. Peter Millman, astro-physicist at the Dominion Observatory, said today.

Dr. Millman reached this conclusion after studying more than 50 detailed eyewitness reports.

He said the meteor, a 10-pound core of stone and iron, disappeared in a shower of sparks about 35 miles over Parry Sound.

FIRE FROM FRAGMENT?

He mentioned a report that 20 minutes after the burst, a fire broke out on the roof of the home of Ray Bissonnett just north of Parry Sound. It was "entirely possible" the blaze was started by a fragment from the fireball, dark, but still combustibly hot.

The fragment would have to be tiny or it would have punctured the roof, and it is unlikely any of it will be found. However, if it were found, the observatory would pay money for it.

Four-Power Talks Re-open On Site

BERLIN (AP) — Four-power talks to decide a site for the foreign ministers conference in Berlin Jan. 25 will be reopened late today in the British headquarters of West Berlin.

Britain, in the chair this month for four-power questions, issued a communique saying:

"A meeting of the representatives of the United Kingdom, the United States, France and the U. S. S. R. takes place at British headquarters at 5 p. m. (11 a. m. EST) today."

The three Western commandants received instructions to resume the interrupted discussions on location of the Big Four meeting, now an urgent matter with the opening date only nine days away.

Big Fire Rages In Alta. Town

INNISFAIL, Alta. (CP)—A big fire raged today through adjoining buildings on the main street of this town 73 miles north of Calgary.

By 11 a.m. EST, two hours after it broke out in a cafe, the blaze had destroyed five business premises and left at least one family homeless. Six other stores were threatened as firefighters attempted to control the flames in 30-below-zero weather.

There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Sheep Dog Steals Show From Royalty

NELSON, N. Z. (AP)—An amiable white sheep dog stole the show at the royal tour reception today for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

While the Queen and duke were greeting local dignitaries, the dog leaped up on a balustrade behind them and surveyed the crowd.

The onlookers roared with laughter. The duke, puzzled at the outburst, turned around and spotted the dog.

The duke tapped the Queen on the shoulder. She turned and joined in the laughter. The duke went on shaking hands, but kept his left hand behind him trying to attract the dog.

The dog leaped on the duke's chair, and watched until a constable approached. Then the animal neatly evaded capture and sauntered away through the crowd.

Special Survey Shows Post Office Dept. Needs General Housecleaning MPs Told

OTTAWA (CP) — William Hamilton (PC—Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) said Friday night that an independent survey of the post-office department shows the need for a "general housecleaning."

Mr. Hamilton read to the Commons excerpts from the Toronto firm of J. D. Wood and Gordon, management consultants, hired to make a survey of post-office operations in 1952.

The report was prepared for Postmaster-General Cote, who made it available to Mr. Hamilton in the midst of a two-day debate on proposed postage increases for first-class mail.

75 RECOMMENDATIONS

Mr. Hamilton said the report contains 75 major recommendations, ranging from suggestions for a "radical reorganization" of lines of authority to modernization of mail-handling methods in post offices.

Many problems raised by district postmasters were referred to headquarters which were already swamped with them. The post-office could make "substantial savings" through better layouts of equipment.

In the Toronto post office, for instance, rearrangement of sorting tables would mean a 45-per-cent saving on cost of operations.

Special delivery services operated at a loss, yet the report said it was believed that users would be willing to pay more if it met their requirements.

There would be a "tremendous saving" if the post-office department would smarten up, Mr. Hamilton said.

PURCHASING UNDER FIRE

The report also had found savings of $30,000 could be made on stationery and purchasing alone.

Mr. Cote said the Montreal member's use of the report was not fair. Mr. Hamilton had no idea of what recommendations in the report already were being implemented.

The minister said he will give the House a summary later of what has been done on the report. As soon as it had been received, the department had organized immediately to put the recommendations into effect, but most of them could not be done in one year.

Will Free Meyer September 7

Nazi War Criminal May Soon Play Vital Army Role

OTTAWA (CP)—A German war criminal, Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, to be freed soon from a life term in prison, may play a vital role in a new German army.

He was highly regarded in the German army during the Second World War and at 33 became its youngest divisional commander.

The West now is looking for ways to rearm Germany as a partner in Western defence and may have its eye on Meyer as a likely reorganizer of German military strength.

Defence Minister Claxton last month attended the North Atlantic Alliance council meeting at Paris and may have discussed Meyer's case with NATO military leaders. Any military appointment for Meyer, however, probably would go down hard in Canada.

It was recalled that while in prison at Dorchester, N.B., the gimlet-eyed Meyer told his guards he was convinced he would ultimately be freed to fight with the West in a war against Russia.

ANNOUNCED IN COMMONS

Mr. Claxton announced in the Commons Friday that Meyer, whose 12th S.S. (elite guard) Hitler Youth Division slaughtered 144 Canadian prisoners-of-war in Normandy in 1944, will be released from Werl prison in the British occupation zone of Germany "within a matter of months."

He said Meyer's sentence of life imprisonment has been reduced to

Paid Millions, Work Not Done

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story the Ontario government paid upwards of $1,000,000 to highway construction firms for work that was not done on sections of two roads in the Fort William district.

"Most of the swindle, it was stated by one man close to the investigation, occurred on the $7,000,000 stretch that completed a link between Fort William and Atikokan," the paper said.

Quoting a "well - informed source," the story said contract bidding had to be "rigged" to accomplish the swindle. This was done by collusion between engineers on the highways department staff and the contractor, one of a number working on that stretch of road, the paper added.

Another Toronto paper says in a newspage dispatch from Fort William that firings, demotions and retirements — as well as the laying of five criminal charges — have resulted in a top-to-bottom shakeup of the highways department branch there.

Storm Damage Costly

VANCOUVER (CP)—Logs worth $1,000,000 were abandoned to turbulent seas here Friday as the winter's worst storm howled out of the Arctic to lash British Columbia. Ten tugs, after battling 24 hours against icy spray from 10-foot waves in an attempt to round up the logs, scurried for port. The logs, owned by several logging firms, broke from their mooring in Howe sound Thursday. Lumber officials said much of the timber would probably never be recovered.

April Deadline Set By Rhee For Unification

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today set an April deadline for the peaceful unification of Korea and warned that "we will not sit back and wait until we are sold out."

Rhee told a press conference that 180 days after the start—last Oct. 26—of preliminary Korean peace talks, South Korea will be "free to take our own action—good, bad or indifferent."

This would make the deadline April 23.

Rhee reiterated the 180-day warning three times during the press conference. But six hours later Dr. Karl Hong Ki, official government spokesman, said the president "did not set a definite deadline of April 26 for Korean unification. . . ."

DIFFERENT STATEMENT

Robert Eunson, Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief, said Rhee's statement apparently does not coincide with what he has told the United Nations command.

The feeling at UN headquarters is that Rhee will not break the armistice, Eunson said.

The South Korean Army, while a powerful fighting force, would run out of ammunition in about six days if deprived of UN support, it is estimated.

Eunson said Rhee presumably would order his troops back into battle only if he felt UN forces would have to join him or be overrun.

Rhee said that even if a peace conference convenes "I do not expect any great achievement."

Asked about the possibility that no conference will be held, he replied:

Rhee said he would give Allied and Communist diplomats another month to "settle the time and place for a political (peace) conference."

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario - Quebec Intercollegiate Football Conference voted today to oust Hamilton's McMaster University entry from the league.

Five Men, Chief Get $150 Increase No Pension Plan

Port Hope—The Port Hope police department was back in harness as of 5:30 Friday night. The afternoon before, town council fired the sergeant and four constables because the officers would not accept a wage increase of $100 a year. The men wanted $300. After the men were dismissed, Chief Charlie Graham, ex-staff sergeant of the RCMP, resigned in sympathy with the men and indignation over the council's action. Council and the ex-police force got together Friday afternoon, following a request from Chief Graham for re-opening of the wage discussion and the upshot was an agreement under which the police are to receive an increase of $150 a year, but no pension plan.

In addition the chief, who had not asked for a wage boost, received an increase of $150 also. Life of the contract is for one year, as compared with a two-year term in the agreement by which the council had earlier expressed willingness to pay an increase of $100 or a pension plan which would cost the men $135 a year each, the amount to be matched by the corporation of the town of Port Hope.

TOWN RILED UP

By noon Friday most of the town was pretty excited over the matter and in previous municipal upsets, they have not minced words. It was unofficially reported that the Legion and labor unions would line up in support of the police force. The Board of Trade held an emergency meeting Friday morning and passed the following resolution:

URGED RE-INSTATEMENT

"That the executive of the Merchants' Division of the Port Hope Board of Trade unanimously urges that the police force be re-instated and that negotiations be re-opened immediately."

The resolution was forwarded by messenger to the clerk of the corporation for the attention of the mayor and council.

Meantime some of the provincial police from Cobourg, under Corporal Douglas Wilson, were on duty at Port Hope, ready to act in any

$340,000 Jewels Stolen By Bandits

DETROIT (AP) — Professional diamond thieves, who may have trailed their victim from New York are being sought after a reported $340,000 gem hold-up here Friday.

"It seems obvious those two men knew exactly what the salesman was carrying and when he would have the jewelry in his room," said Inspector Carl Falk of the Detroit police hold-up bureau.

Anthony Seaton, president of Antoville Galleries of New York and a jewelry salesman, reported the hold-up and said he "had a feeling" he had been followed since leaving New York.

The pistol-packing bandits got 11 pieces, Seaton said. He had left seven, worth $150,000 in the hotel safe.

Seaton said the stolen gems were worth $340,000 on the retail market.

Guided Missiles For U.S. Forces In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is arming its forces in Germany with guided missiles capable of carrying atomic warheads hundreds of miles into Red-held territory.

The U.S. air force announced tersely Friday night that it will send two pilotless bomber squadrons to Germany this year. No details were given.

This move seems to fit into basic American strategy defined by State Secretary Dulles in a speech Tuesday and affirmed by President Eisenhower at his press conference the next day.

This strategy, Dulles said, is based on "massive retaliatory power" to deter Soviet aggression.

In this connection, the decision to augment the fire-power of American forces helping defend Western Europe immediately raised a question:

The two squadrons bound for Germany will be equipped with B-61 Matador missiles. These have been in mass production at the Baltimore plant of the Glenn L. Martin Co. for more than a year.

The air force did not disclose the number of missiles in a squadron, but it is believed several hundred may be allotted to each. By comparison, a squadron of jet fighters numbers about 25 planes.

British Reject Spanish Request

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has rejected a Spanish request that the Queen should call off a planned one-day visit to Gibraltar next May, authoritative sources said today.

The Queen will call at Gibraltar on her way home from her six-month world tour of the Commonwealth.

The Spanish request to cancel the visit came as the latest round in a lengthy campaign Gen. Franco has waged against Britain's continued possession of the strategic rock at the mouth of the Mediterranean. Franco claims it as part of Spain.

"The British government cannot entertain representations from any foreign power in regard to a visit which Her Majesty may make.

MEYER GETS HIS FREEDOM. Claxton Berates Peck's Speech On Armed Forces

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Friday any officer who made statements such as attributed to Lt.-Col. H. W. J. Peck would be "unsuited to command any unit in the armed forces."

Though some remarks by Col. Peck were "injudicious or unjustified," his speech at Vancouver earlier this week before the ad and sales bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade was a "well-intentioned effort to arouse interest in the reserve army."

No action need be taken against Col. Peck, he said.

READ REPORTS

Mr. Claxton said he had read newspaper reports of Col. Peck's speech in which he was quoted as saying that the Canadian army was almost non-existent as a defensive fighting force.

Mr. Claxton said:

"On the understanding that the speech was given as he says it was given and according to the text that was made available to us, no further action need be taken. I would point out that Colonel Peck, as a member of the reserve was not on duty at the time and consequently was not subject to the code of service discipline."

Requests Pilot Given Decoration

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier has recommended a decoration for a Canadian pilot who kept himself, a pregnant Indian mother and three children alive during six days of isolation in frigid northern Manitoba last December.

Mr. Chevrier said in an interview Friday he recommended a decoration for 37-year-old Paul Rickey of St. Vital, Man., in a letter to State Secretary Pickersgill.

Mr. Rickey, a pilot for Central Northern Airways, was on a routine, 20-minute flight from Bigstone lake, Man., to Island lake Dec. 21 when he was forced by heavy weather to land on God's lake, 340 miles northeast of Winnipeg. His passengers included Mrs. Annanias Harper of Island lake, her four-year-old daughter, six-year-old son, and 12-year-old sister.

Mr. Rickey delivered the woman's third child, a girl. He wrapkept her alive for four days with powdered milk and melted snow. The baby died Dec. 26, apparently of pneumonia.

Temperatures Icy But Harwood Still Poetic

HARWOOD (ENS) — Coldest weather of the winter sent temperatures in the Harwood, Rice Lake area to 16 below zero Monday. Tuesday it was 14 below, and Wednesday again 16 below.

The WA of St. John's Church met on Wednesday for their Annual Meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Young, and Miss Muriel Young. Reports of the various activities of the organization were given. Following other business, a pot luck supper was planned for February 5th.

Readings were given by Mrs. Patch, and Miss Muriel Young. The hostess entertained the WA at a supper party after the meeting.

Mrs. R. S. Johnson attended a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Davey in Baltimore on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold and daughter, of Toronto spent several days recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Patch and family.

The Girls' Supper Club met again on Saturday evening in the Community Hall, and dedicated this poem:

"An evening meal is such a gracious thing,
It matters not how plain may be the fare
So long as love and loyalty are there.
The Supper Hour — a magnet drawing home
The ones who have the need of food and rest,

Will Ask Parliament Boost MP Salaries

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent gave notice today he will ask Parliament to boost the indemnities and salaries of all members of the Commons and Senate.

He gave notice on the Commons order paper of a resolution which will also increase the pay of the prime minister, his cabinet, Opposition leader Drew, as well as the government and opposition leaders in the Senate and the speakers and deputy speaker.

No mention was made of what increase Mr. St. Laurent had in mind, but there have been reports the boosts will raise sessional allowances of MPs and senators to $10,000 from $6,000.

Youth Injured

An 18-year-old youth, Donald Hockney of 631 Stewart St. was admitted to St. Joseph's just after midday today suffering from injuries to the head and eye. His condition was reported to be not serious.

MORE ABOUT—

Five Men,

emergency requiring the attention of the police. Five "substitutes" for the regular town police staff had been on duty on shifts during the previous night and Friday.

Early Friday afternoon, the ex-chief typed out the following letter which he sent to the mayor and council:

"On behalf of myself and the members of the police department, I respectfully request that the mayor and council meet with us in a special meeting to discuss the salary problem."

MEET WITH COUNCIL

Shortly after the letter had been received, the ex-chief and his men were notified that the police committee would meet with them at two p.m.

The matter of the wage dispute was gone into again and out of the discussion emerged the new agreement. Council members assembled after the meeting was over and ratified the agreement entered into by the police and the police committee. The agreement re-instated the sergeant and the constables.

The sergeant and constables then asked the council to rehire the chief. Council agreed and the entire police force was back on the payroll.

A point cropped up later and it was in regard to whether the men could simply be re-instated by resolution of the council or if they would have to be sworn in again. Russell Honey, town solicitor, was contacted and he advised that the entire force be sworn in again.

GLAD IT'S SETTLED

"I am glad that the whole thing is settled," said Mayor Wilbur Moore. "The police force had received previous increases and we did not see why we should grant their request for an increase of $300. However, we were quite willing to authorize a $150 per year increase for 1954."

"That is the way I feel about it," said Deputy-Reeve Art Smith. "The whole thing is over now. The men can go back to work. It is hard to say how a thing like this can end up once it starts rolling."

Chief Graham said that he appreciated the response of the council to his request that negotiations be resumed.

"On behalf of the men and myself, I want to thank the people of Port Hope for their patience in view of the serious situation which developed. I am graeful that the council came so courteously and swiftly to an agreement. Some may wonder why I asked the council to re-open the matter, but I was keeping in mind the interests of my men and the people of Port Hope," declared Chief Graham.

Fred Gruber was on the desk when the Chief walked in to take over his temporarily disrupted duties Friday evening at 5.30. Mr. Gruber was one of the men sworn on the night before when the police committee scurried about to find emergency replacements for the men they had fired a few hours before.

The Chief was in civilian clothes. He sat down at his desk to await the arrival of Deputy-Reeve Smith and sharp at 5.30 the deputy-reeve walked into the office, handing the keys to the chief and shook hands. Both men were smiling broadly.

SHOULD HAVE HELD OUT

Comments from men on the street vary. Some think the chief and his men should have held out because mounting public opinion was expected to prod council into a reconsideration of their action. Some considered that the council had violated the Police Act by firing the force before they could start arbitration proceedings.

However, the majority of the people appeared glad that it was all over. They recalled the rows of the past in Port Hope and the subsequent lament over the bad publicity the town had received. There was no doubt that the council and the police were happy that the affair had been straightened out and that the men were back to work.

An immediate move to have a police commission set up to administer the police department, is rather expected.

One prominent businessman said: "I have lost track of the number of chiefs we have had and the rapid turnover of men in the police department. This latest eruption could have developed into a battle that would have dragged the name of Port Hope into the mud of bitterness and hard feelings. There is no telling where it would have ended up.

"It would be infinitely better that such things never got started and the only insurance we have that some time in the future we don't have another such occurrence, is to start right now to secure the appointment of a police commission. It has been done in other places and it is the best policy for Port Hope."

Guelph Legion Sends Strong Meyer Protest

GUELPH (CP) — A strong protest over the proposed release of German General Kurt Meyer eight years after he was sentenced to be shot for war crimes against Canadian soldiers, went from the Canadian Legion here today to H. A. Hosking, MP, for South Wellington.

Bud Runstadtler, secretary of Guelph branch of the legion, said all the members of the branch are up in arms over the proposed release.

The note of protest is to be followed by an official resolution from local veterans to the provincial command at Toronto.

Single Goal Gives Albions League Lead

LONDON (Reuters) — Forward Ronnie Allen today sent West Bromwich Albion to the top of English Soccer League division I with a single goal against London's Tottenham Hotspur.

He scored the only goal of the game, a 12-yard piledriver with his left foot, to give West Bromwich 30 points, one ahead of Wolverhampton Wanderers.

The Wanderers, league-leaders last week, were downed 2-0 by London's Arsenal and now hold second spot with 29 points. The nearest opposition is Huddersfield and Burnley, five points behind with 24.

Leicester, leader of division II, was defeated 4-3 by Birmingham and now shares first place with Everton, which tied 0-0 with Bury. Doncaster is one point behind with 33 points, despite a 3-1 defeat by Hull.

There were no changes at the top of division III (Southern) where Ipswich has a comfortable lead with 43 points after defeating Leyton Orient 2-1. Southampton and Brighton won their games and follow with 36 points.

STILL FIVE AHEAD

In the northern section, League-leader Port Vale lost 1-2 to Hartlepools United but with 43 points is still five ahead of Gateshead, 2-0 winner over Crewe. Barnsley, held 1-1 by Chesterfield, is in third place with 36 points.

In Scotland, Hearts swamped St. Mirren 5-1 to hold the leadership of division A with 28 points. Queen of the South took over second spot against Dundee, the former holder now in third place.

Motherwell, leader of division B was held to a 0-0 tie by Queen's Park but with 33 points is eight ahead of Kilmarnock, Stenhousemuir and Albion Rovers, each holding 25 points after winning their games today.

Soviet-Canadian Trade Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—A Soviet diplomat Friday urged greater Russian-Canadian trade, but Canadian officials said many complexities are involved including price, quality of goods and continuity of delivery.

And some feel there still is lack of evidence that Canada has non-strategic goods which Russia is willing to buy.

One official said Russia at one time showed interest in purchasing surplus beef from Canada, but the deal fell through when the Soviet suddenly lost interest."

The cold war has virtually eliminated Russian-Canadian trade, but Vladimir P. Bourdine, the Soviet embassy's first secretary, said in an interview that it is time a fresh start is made.

"RELATIONS BETTER"

"Don't worry about details for the moment," he said when asked what kind of goods could be traded. "The main thing is to start trading. Let us get things going. I am sure there will be ample scope for trade on both sides."

Mr. Bourdine said trade matters were discussed between Trade Minister Howe and Soviet Ambassador Dmitri S. Chuvahin. A recent statement by Mr. Howe that Canada is willing to do more business with the Soviet in non-strategic goods has stimulated a flow of letters by Canadian business men inquiring about Soviet trade procedure, he said.

"This statement of Mr. Howe's has created a good spirit and I feel that relations between Canada and my country are better today than they have been for a long time."

Ladies Vote Aid Korea Plan 1954 Activities

FRASERVILLE — (ENS) — A well-attended meeting of the Women's Association of Fraserville United Church took place Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Eric Clarke.

The president Mrs. W. G. Waterman was in the chair and the meeting was opened with the singing of the hymn "More Love to Thee."

Mrs. J. O. Pue then gave a reading entitled "Inventory". A Psalm was read by Mrs. L. Hewitt and Mrs. Frank Lackey offered a prayer.

Roll call and minutes of the previous meeting followed.

During the business period it was decided to hold a pot luck supper before the congregational meeting next week.

The parsonage committee for the coming year was then appointed: Mrs. K. Moncrief, Mrs. J. O. Pue and Mrs. Stewart.

A committee in charge of a social to be held in January was then appointed: convener Mrs. K. Larmer with Mrs. Eric Clarke, Mrs. John Flett and Mrs. Lee Hewitt. It was decided to continue the pledge money in order to get funds.

The group voted $50 for the Korean Mission Fund.

The meeting was then turned over to the Missionary president Mrs. Keith Larmer who gave a very interesting talk from the first chapter of the Study Book.

The meeting closed with the Mezpah and lunch was served by the hostess assisted by some of the ladies.

Driver Is Charged

Mine Strikers Reach Terms

TIMMINS (CP)—The strike by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) against McIntyre Porcupine Mines Limited is over.

About 1,000 of the 1,400 men who struck Sept. 23 to enforce demands for a "substantial" wage increase and the check-off of union dues voted Friday night to accept a settlement plan worked out in Toronto earlier this week.

The union said the settlement calls for a general increase of five cents in the basic hourly rate of 93 cents but no check-off.

A strike by the same union against the Hollinger gold mine was settled last month. The union still is on strike against six other mines in this Northern Ontario district.

Viet Nam Premier Pledges Independence

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Prince Buu Loc was installed today as premier of Viet Nam and pledged to make it his first task "to negotiate Viet Nam's total independence" from France.

"This independence will be total only when our country will have received all the prerogatives which international law recognizes for a sovereign state," he said.

Fell Off Roof

PORT DOVER (CP) — Edwin Soles, 31, was killed Friday when he fell 18 feet from the roof of a garage where he was working. Workers with him said he was mopping tar on the roof of the garage, backing up as he worked. He fell over the edge and hit a scaffold on his way to the ground.

U.S. Citizens In Canada Get Break - McCann

FORT ERIE (CP) — Revenue Minister McCann, in a letter, today told United States citizens in the Dominion that they get a good break in import duties on United States-bought cars. He suggested they buy their cars in Canada if they want unrestricted use of them there.

Mr. McCann was replying specifically to a complaint from Stuart B. Wilkes, a U.S. citizen who is president of the Federation of Property Owners in Bertie township, adjacent to Fort Erie.

Wilkes took exception to a ruling that Americans with year - round residences in Canada can drive their cars only between their homes and the border crossing point.

"They must not use them to go to a doctor, drive to church, buy their food, visit a movie or call on friends," he complained.

TAKEN UP BY MP

W. L. Houck, Liberal member of Parliament for the Niagara riding took Wilkes' criticism to Ottawa.

McCann replied by letter that United States citizens who live more than 183 days a year in Canada must be considered residents of the Dominion. Canada has gone so far as to give these "permanent" residents special border crossing permits which exempt them from regulations that apply to Canadians, he pointed out

"The government could have required them to pay duty and taxes on their autos, even when used only for transportation between their Canadian homes and the border," he said.

14 years. A defence department official said that, with time off for good behavior, Meyer can be released as early as Sept. 7 this year. The official added that Meyer's conduct in prison has been exemplary.

A five-man Canadian military court sentenced Meyer at Aurich, Germany, Dec. 28, 1945, to be shot for inciting his troops to deny Allied soldiers quarter and for responsibility in the mass shootings of 18 Canadan prisoners. He was found not guilty of ordering prisoners to be shot.

The death penalty was ordered by Maj.-Gen. Harry Wickwire Foster of Halifax and Picton, Ont., commander of the 1st Canadian Division at that time. It was commuted to life imprisonment by Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, head of Canada's occupation force in Germany and now chief of Canadian Western Command at Edmonton.

LEGION PROTESTED

The Canadian Legion and other groups protested vigorously at the reduction in sentence but Gen. Vokes said Meyer's degree of responsibility did not warrant execution.

The defence department backed up Gen. Vokes. It said at that time: "The Canadian military court did not find that Meyer personally had ordered or authorized the killing of the prisoners. . . on the other hand, there was a failure on Meyer's part to take adequate measures to prevent the murder by forces who were under his immediate command and control."

Meyer, now 43, was brought to Canada in May, 1946, to serve his life term at the federal penitentiary at Dorchester. He was transferred back to Germany in October, 1951, the government saying then that "his transfer will not change his sentence." His return to Germany evoked more protests from the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Claxton also announced that the life term of German marine Sgt. Johann Neitz also has been cut to 14 years. Neitz, serving his time at Werl, tried to kill FO. Rudolph Anthony Roman of Regina, an RCAF pilot who parachuted out of his crippled plane and landed on a beach.

Telescopes Being Moved Away From City Smogs

WASHINGTON—Today's astronomers not only are searching the skies—they are searching the land as well, looking for new observatory site far from the big cities.

The plan of the Naval Observatory here to move its largest telescope to Arizona marks but the latest development in a trend necessitated by the shifting needs of modern astronomy. There have been some noteworthy changes of location in the past. More are to come.

Only recently England's Royal Observatory has been busy moving from its world-famous site in Greenwich on the Thames at London to a 15th century castle in Sussex, 60 miles southeast, says the National Geographic Society. As with American observatories, it was a case of too much industrial smog and too much glare from street and neon lights.

HEADING FOR ARIZONA

Now the U.S. Naval Observatory intends to take its 40-inch 9-ton reflector to Flagstaff, Arizona, where "seeing conditions" are 16 to 20 times more favorable than in Washington. If Congress appropriates $225,000, as expected, the job probably will be accomplished in 9 to 18 months. First, the instrument will be modernized at the observatory's shops here, then shipped by train or truck.

Five miles west of Flagstaff, one permanent and several visiting civilian scientists will scan the immense perspective of the heavens from a new, domeless building. They can conveniently exchange information with the astronomers of Lowell Observatory, also at Flagstaff.

The Navy's 40-inch telescope will glean new knowledge about the sun's minor planets, too dim to be observed from Washington. It will also help analyze light from the paler stars.

Gerald M. Clemence, director of the Naval Observatory's nautical almanac office, points to the 20th century movement of observatories to new sites. The Yale-Columbia Southern Station recently shifted from Johannesburg, South Africa, to Mount Stromlo near Canberra, Australia.

Earlier, Harvard University set up an observing station in the Massachusetts countryside outside Cambridge. The University of Pennsylvania expects to transfer its instruments away from Upper Darby, a suburb of Philadelphia. The University of Tennessee observatory has just relocated well outside Nashville.

The newer California telescopes have been mounted in isolated spots. The 200-inch Hale — the world's largest—probes the universe from atop 6,138-foot Palomar Mountain, 92 miles southeast of Pasadena. So does the 48-inch Big Schmidt, busy making the National Geographic Society-California Institute of Technology Sky Survey.

The Naval Observatory in Washington houses 26- and 15-inch refractor telescopes as well as the 40-inch reflector. Each contributes directly or indirectly to the Navy's job of keeping its almanacs and charts up to date for marine and air navigators.

They also play a role in assisting the Navy in its perpetual task of keeping the nation's clocks accurate to a fraction of a second.

Man Reports Seeing Missing RCAF Plane

Alex Lizotte said he heard a jet fly over the area Tuesday night. He said it was headed out in the bay and reported seeing sparks flying from the aircraft.

To Treat PoWs As Civilians Hull Declares

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. John E. Hull, United Nations Far East commander, told the Indian prisoner custodian command tonight that the UN will accept unrepatriated anti-Red prisoners but not "in accordance with the terms of your proposal." He said the UN will regard the returned prisoners as civilians after midnight, Jan. 22.

Indian Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, in letters to both Hull and the Communist command, said he would turn unrepatriated PoWs of both sides back to their captors, but that it would be an armistice violation if either side altered their status from prisoners to civilians and released them.

"The United Nations command cannot accept custody of these prisoners-of-war in accordance with the terms of your proposal," Hull replied in a letter made public here tonight.

"However," Hull continued, "in view of your stated intention to release unilaterally the prisoners-of-war starting Jan. 20, the United Nations command must necessarily be prepared to arrange for their accommodation and disposition."

Hull told Thimayya the UN command would regard as civilians the anti-Red PoWs received by the UN at midnight Jan. 22—the deadline for holding them as prisoners under the UN interpretation of the armistice agreement.

"The United Nations command," Hull wrote Thimayya, "in accordance with the agreement on prisoners-of-war, will honor its obligation to treat them (the PoWs) as fully entitled to their freedom as civilians on Jan. 23."

10 Planes Continue Hunt For Aircraft

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Ten planes will continue the hunt today for a missing civilian light aircraft with one person aboard.

The Piper Cub plane, owned by Eastern Provincial Airways and on loan to the Newfoundland Flying Club, disappeared on a flight from nearby Torbay to Gander Friday.

The lone occupant was not identified.

Statesman Cremated

LONDON (Reuters) — Viscount Simon, British elder statesman who died Monday, was cremated privately Friday in his Oxford graduation gown, according to his own wishes.

GET HIGH QUALITY MILK

During December Peterborough milk drinkers were given the highest quality product they have ever had. F. J. Harden, public health veterinarian, said that the quality of fluid milk before bottling was 96.36 per cent satisfactory, the best percentage ever. Manufactured milk (to be processed, not bottled) was 89.39 per cent satisfactory. Commented Mr. Harden: "This is certainly a credit to the milk producers supplying the Peterborough market and it is hoped that this high standard of quality can be maintained."

Gives India Plan Cold Shoulder

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States, with the support of other big powers, has given the cold shoulder to India's proposal to recall the United Nations General Assembly Feb. 9 for debate on Korea.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, the assembly president, issued the call earlier this week, asking for replies by Jan. 22.

The U.S. said Friday night it would not be able to decide by that date—which means that the U.S. doesn't want a session called while the prisoners question and the Korean political conference talks remain up in the air. The U.S. left the door open for a later meeting by adding that it is keeping the proposal under consideration.

Reported taking the same view are Britain, France, Australia and The Netherlands—all members of the UN Allied force in Korea.

The Soviet bloc, except for Poland, went on record supporting Mrs. Pandit's plea for the resumed session. Iraq alone among the 16-member Asian-African bloc also reported it would support the call.

Gun Battles Rock Town Martial Law Imposed

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP) — Martial law was imposed on one town in the rich mining and agricultural state of Chihuahua today and authorities kept careful watch lest major political violence erupt in the wake of gun battles which have already claimed seven lives.

The trouble started Friday at Delicias, a cotton-growing centre of 6,000 population about 260 miles south of Dallas, Tex.

Authorities said 30 members of the opposition party of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman attacked a federal troop barracks. The soldiers returned the fire and five of the attackers were slain. The others scattered in the hills.

Two police officers were shot to death Friday night at Meoqui, a town 10 miles north of Delicias, when they sought to question a Henriquista—a member of the party which supported Henriquez in his unsuccessful attempt to defeat Adolfo Ruiz Cortines in the 1952 Mexican presidential elections.

Car Strikes Tree 2 Youths Injured

BRANTFORD (CP) — Two youths were admitted to Willett Hospital in Paris Friday night suffering from severe head injuries, after the car in which they were riding left the highway and crashed into a tree, five miles west of Paris.

They are Ernest Birdsell, 17, of Harley, and Harold Albin, 21, of Paris, both of whom were reported suffering from possible fractured skulls and severe facial lacerations. A hospital report describes their condition as "fairly comfortable."

Damage to the car was assessed at $1,500.

Liner Loses Propeller

ROTTERDAM (AP)—The 8,338-ton Holland-America liner Duivendijk messages from the mid-Atlantic today that she has lost a propeller. The Dutch tugboat Zwarte Zee, stationed in England, is speeding toward the scene.

Strike Threatens To Close 19 Pulp Mills

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today in a dispatch from Windsor a strike by 20,000 woods workers that would shut mills operated by 19 pulp and paper companies is threatened in northern Ontario.

Its newspage story says a walkout would leave 4,000,000 cords of pulpwood, ready for hauling to the mills, piled in the woods.

"The dispute stems from failure of wage negotiations between the companies and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union, a branch of the AFL Carpenters' Union," it says.

SEEK CONCILIATION BOARD

"Layne Sawyer, president of Local 2995, one of three locals involved, said tension among workers has reached the breaking point because of the refusal of the labor relations board to appoint a conciliation board to hear the dispute.

"A master contract with the 19 companies expired Sept. 1, 1953. Mr. Sawyer said the employers and the conciliation service insisted on 19 boards to deal with the dispute."

The union is seeking a wage increase of six cents an hour for hourly-paid workers and six per cent for piece workers. This contrasts with the employers' offer of a three-per-cent increase, with a minimum of five cents an hour. The companies' offer is based on the settlement reached last fall with 11 AFL unions representing 15,000 mill workers.

New Storm Batters Europe

LONDON (AP)—Gales howling across the British isles and western Europe quieted down today, leaving in their wake a heavy death toll and costly wreckage. Four died in Britain and five in Germany.

A blizzard, the third in 14 days, lashed Sweden today, but the worst appeared over for Britain and continental Europe after a nightmarish night.

Holland's repaired dikes withstood their most gruelling storm test since their repair after the great floods of almost a year ago.

WORST IN 50 YEARS

Winds whipping along up to 80 miles an hour blew down bombed-out buildings in Germany, where five persons died of storm injuries. Three were buried alive in wreckage in Hannover, a man was killed in Muenster by flying debris, another in Wandsbeck by a falling power line.

Ask Investigation Into Gambling

TORONTO (CP) — Reeve Mrs. Mary Curtis of suburban Long Branch said today she will press for a provincial attorney-general's investigation of reports that gambling, bootlegging and dope-peddling under control of a three - man "syndicate," are flourishing in three Toronto suburbs.

She said she will call an emergency meeting of Long Branch police commission to press for the Ontario government investigation. Other communities named as being under the syndicate's control are New Toronto and Mimico.

"Mothers have come for help," said Reeve Curtis, "after they found their teen-agers with marijuana. But they are afraid to tell me more than that the stuff is being peddled."

Domata Whips Past Favorite To Win

LONDON (AP) — Domata whipped past the favored Shaef three jumps from home today and won the Mildmay Memorial Steeplechase.

Domata won by four lengths going away from Holly Bank and Red Rube, which finished in that order. Shaef, 7-to-4 favorite, was the only Grand National entry among the first four.

Queen Mother Elizabeth flew to London to watch her hunter, M'as-Tu-Vu, run sixth among 10 starters and 10 finishers.

Visiting Priests To Conduct 5-Day Mission

Monsignor P. P. Butler, pastor of the church of the Sacred Heart, announced today that a second pulpit has been placed temporarily at the front of the sanctuary for a five-day mission beginning Sunday night by two priests of the Paulist Order.

The use of two pulpits signifies the dialogue form of presenting subjects chosen for the Week of Discussion of teachings of the Catholic Church. This series opens Sunday night with the quesion: who can tell you how to live?" and closes Friday night with: "What does marriage mean to you?"

The visiting priest will be Rev. Thomas Halloran and Rev. Edward Gleason of Toronto.

A native of Tennessee, Father Halloran studied for the priesthood at St. Charles College, Baltimore, and at the Basilian Foundation and St. Paul's College, Washington, D.C. His first appointment was in the Tennessee Mission Band conducting missions in the southern States. He was assigned to Johannesburg, South Africa, and returned to the U.S. in 1946 where he became rector of the Paulist seminary in Washington, and subsequently engaged in preaching many series of sermons in Washington, New York and Baltimore. Last June he was appointed to the Paulist mission band in Toronto.

Father Gleason was born in Toronto, and educated at De La Salle, Toronto, Baltimore and Washington. In 1940 he was appointed a chaplain of the Canadian Army, serving in Canada, England and on the continent of Europe until the end of the war in 1945. With the Toronto mission band since then, his work has taken him extensively through Eastern Canada and the states of Ohio, Michigan and New York.

Dog Dies For Master

CHIETI, Italy (Reuters)—A dog died Friday defending his master against a hungry wolf at the village of Guardiagrele in the wild Abruzzi mountains near here. The wolf, driven from his mountain lair by the cold, attacked peasant Domenico di Prinzio near his cottage. Di Prinzio's dog Fido pounced on the wolf but was killed in the struggle—which gave the peasant time to reach his cottage and slam the door.

Returning From Germany

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of about 40 wives and children of Canadian servicemen will sail from Hamburg this week-end aboard the SS Atlantic, to arrive in Halifax Jan. 28, the army announced Friday. Also aboard will be 40 members of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery Band, returning after six months service in Germany entertaining Canadian troops.

Russian Scientists Give Lie To Classless Utopia Dream

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The possession of wealth is creating problems for some members of the growing class of rich persons in the Soviet Union, the Moscow press indicates.

A class of well-to-do citizens exists in Russia mainly as a result of liberal rewards to scientists and military men whose work is highly regarded by the government. The wealth, in turn, has attracted social parasites.

Moscow newspapers in recent weeks have disclosed scandals involving a marriage for money and a society murder case.

Izvestia related the case of an heiress described as citizeness L. She was the daughter of a scientist who earned large sums during his lifetime and left her well provided for, by Soviet standards. She had a big apartment on Kaluga chaussee, a Moscow boulevard where wealthy scientists and generals constitute a sort of Russian "gold coast." She also had a country residence, an automobile, a large library and considerable money.

HANGER-ON ATTRACTED

Citizeness L. was dying of an incurable disease. Her situation, according to Izvestia, attracted a "hanger - on on the fringe of science," a certain M. K. Rastsvetayev.

How this character persuaded citizeness L. to marry him is not clear. It's also not clear whether she knew he had an unregistered and therefore illegal marriage of long standing with the mother of his four children, now aged 16 to 30.

Rastsvetayev married the heiress last May and she died 18 days later. He took over her property with the approval of all legal institutions, since under Soviet law he clearly was the heir.

Izvestia protests this whole situation, though it fails to point out the legal loophole through which Rastsvetayev will be deprived of his inheritance. The paper does raise the question of his party membership. It looks as if he will be expelled from the Communist party.

THEFT AND MURDER

Komsomol Pravda recently described a sensational case that began in a den of iniquity on Gorky street known as "Kokteil Goll," or "Cocktail Hall." It's a typical story of easy money, boys from wealthy families with no conscience and light fingers, girls, automobiles, orgies in the country, and the inevitable crime.

Money, rings, books and other things were stolen to obtain funds.

Then an acquaintance of one of the boys found out what was going on. It was feared he would "squeal." His body was discovered in a forest near Moscow.

Two of the youths drew 20-year terms, two others 10 and 15-year terms.

The paper blames the mess on the parents, who spoiled their children even to the point of ignoring thefts in their own homes.

Shipboard Fire Out

OSLO (Reuters) — Salvage vessels Friday night finally extinguished a sugar fire which had raged for a week aboard the 499-ton Panamanian - owned freighter Maystar. The vessel's sugar cargo caught fire last Friday off the Norwegian coast, north of Bergen. She was grounded near Fedje with a list. The crew was taken off when salvage ships moved in.

Governor Leaves Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Sir Alfred Savage, governor of British Guiana, left Friday for talks with the colonial office in London on financing the colony's development program and other important matters.

IT DIDN'T LAST LONG—Port Hope was just 24 hours without its regular police force. Fired Thursday afternoon, they were hired again Friday afternoon after they accepted a $150 pay increase. But in the intervening chaos the town was peaceful as this photo taken Thursday night shows. For Sidney Wakely it was a brief tour of duty as a policeman. Regularly he is a freightman with the CNR.

New Snow Storm Hits N.Y. State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Winter dumped a new load of snow on eastern New York today, just as the state had ploughed through an earlier batch.

The storm threatened to deposit up to eight inches on the Hudson valley and the Catskill mountain area as it blew up from West Virginia and Pennsylvania. A lighter fall—about two or three inches—was forecast for the Mohawk valley and the eastern Adirondacks.

Colder air moving into western New York later today was expected to bring flurries and squalls to a wide area west of Syracuse and Elmira.

Temperatures today and tonight will range from the 30s to the low 20s.

WATER MINERAL

The mineral mirabilite is found in brines of many saline lakes in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

CREW SAVED AS TANKER SINKS—The tanker F. A. Verdon lies awash against a bulkhead in New York's East River after having been in a collision with a converted LST, the Beth Coaster. None of the six crew members of the Verdon was seriously hurt.

A SERIES OF

Friendly Discussions On The Catholic Religion

Conducted By

Rev. Edward Gleason, C.S.P.

AND

Rev. Thomas Holloran, C.S.P.

AT

SACRED HEART CHURCH

208 ROMAINE STREET

Sunday, Jan. 17 Through Friday, Jan. 22

EACH EVENING AT 7.30 P.M.

The purpose of these discussions is to afford Catholics and interested people of other denominations an opportunity to gain a greater understanding of the teachings of the Catholic Church. The Paulist Fathers have been invited to conduct these discussions because they were the first community established in this country for the express purpose of explaining Catholic truth to their fellow Canadians. The Society was founded in the United States in 1858 by five American converts to the Catholic faith.

The method that the Paulist Fathers will use in these discussions is the dialogue form, which is an interesting approach to religious questions. Both priests will be in the sanctuary at the same time occupying two different pulpits. One will advance the current objections and popular difficulties and the other will defend the Catholic teaching on the subject treated. A lively and instructive development is assured. The subjects covered will be the basic teachings of the Catholic Church.

HERE ARE THE SUBJECTS:

- Sunday, Jan. 17—Who can tell you how to live?
- Monday, Jan. 18—How do you select a church?
- Tuesday, Jan. 19—Why should you confess your sins?
- Wednesday, Jan. 20—Can you live with Christ?
- Thursday, Jan. 21—What happens to you after death?
- Friday, Jan. 22—What does marriage mean to you?

TRAVEL: with Jean Stenton

Miniature Railroad, Barless Exhibits Features Of Detroit Zoological Park

If I were choosing a nearby city for a long weekend or for a vacation where distance and money were a prime factor for the traveller, I think I should put Detroit at the top of the list. It is easily accessible by car, train or 1½-hour flight from Toronto by plane.

Detroit is an attractive city to the perceptive visitor. With its Grand Circus Park, a surprise right in the middle of the busiest streets of the metropolis, where traffic makes Toronto look like a piker; with its nices stores and attractive restaurants, modestly priced; its friendly people and many interesting and inexpensive amusements, it takes many days to exhaust its pleasures.

A whole day could be devoted to the Zoological Park which holds a fascination for adults and youngsters alike. This park which was opened in 1928, was the first zoo in the United States to be designed with barless exhibits.

The visitor has the impression of being in a sanctuary. Huge mounds of cement have been moulded in the shape of rocky cliffs to make the animals feel in their natural habitat. At first sight, the lack of cages gives the onlooker a funny sensation. It almost seems that a few steps would bring the animals to your side. But a closer glance shows cunningly concealed moats which keep them in their proper place.

FASCINATING RAILROAD

There are 2,000 mammals, birds and reptiles living in the 122-acre spot. There is fine landscaping and although you are in the heart of a great city, the visitor feels miles away. There are shrubs, streams and pools; a clover leaf lake, elephant show, monkeys, baboons and bears to mention but a few.

But one of the most fascinating things is the Detroit Zoological Park Railroad. The railroad was opened in 1931 by a Detroit newspaper and carries more than a million passengers a year. There are four trains hauled by streamlined locomotives and the coaches are roofed, but open on the sides. A nickel will take you to the end of the line.

The whole business is operated in a most railroad-like manner. The stations are built in rustic style and have the usual ticket wickets, announcement boards with the arrival and departure times noted; benches, etc. Engineers and conductors wear regular railroad uniforms and red wigwag signals sound at track crossings. The half way station into the park is known as North America and the end of the line in the centre of the park is Africa. Many, adults, including myself, could spend half the visit riding on the miniature railway.

There are several fine restaurants scattered throughout the park as well as picnic areas; refreshment stands; chairs, carriages and roller chairs for rent. For those who have a limited time or are too lazy to explore the park on foot, there is a smart tractor train which provides a 45-minute conducted tour for visitors. It follows the pedestrian walks and affords a view of the moated exhibits.

CAN VISIT CAR PLANTS

Several of the automotive plants such as Ford and Chrysler permit daily tours of their factories by visitors to the city. Such tours can be easily arranged at the main offices and are well worth taking. Detroit also has some good and interesting museums.

It is unusual to find as many attractive eating places on or within a block or two of the main business streets. Some of the nicest include: Childs, Cafe Rouge (Statler Hotel); Hudson's, Stouffer's and the Wolverine Coffee Shop. Victor Lim's Chinese restaurant is a delightful dinner spot for evening. Its most attractive decor and service is augmented by excellent meals — American style or Chinese. I can heartily recommend the latter.

Although the many one - way streets in the heart of the city may slightly confuse the motorist at first, he soon becomes accustomed to them. Detroit drivers are among the most courteous I have ever encountered and this despite the fact of a terrific flow of traffic and its accompanying problems.

For a delightful holiday not too far from home, an excellent shopping spot which is better than that of Buffalo, Detroit should be placed near the top of a visitor's list.

Committed For Trial

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — William Jacobs, 32-year-old interior decorator from nearby Weller Park, charged with the slaying of 67-year-old Alfred Hindrea, was committed Friday for trial following a five-hour preliminary hearing. Hindrea's battered body was found Christmas Eve lying in a pool of blood in his two-room shack at Weller Park.

Spring Show In June

HENSALL (CP) — The South Huron Agricultural Society announced Friday it will hold its annual spring stock show here in June. Some 90 calves, valued at $10,000 are expected to be shown and sold. William Decker of Hay township was elected president of the society.

The Annual Meeting of Shareholders

The Royal Bank of Canada

Canadian Export Trade, Domestic Living Standard, Endangered by "High Cost Economy." Costs must be Competitive with Foreign Producers, Says President

Flexibility needed to meet new conditions. "Time ripe for dollar countries to show good faith by reducing trade barriers and red tape as aid to Britain in making pound convertible."

The tendency to become a high-cost economy in which natural and artificial barriers prevent Canada from achieving the degree of flexibility and mobility required for orderly adjustment was the main theme of the address of James Muir, President, at the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada. Increased flexibility is needed, he maintained, if Canada is to make those price adjustments necessary to maintain stability and prosperity at home and insure a competitive position in world markets. Canada, he declared, should also further in every possible way the movement towards a world of liberalized trade and convertible currencies.

"A thriving export trade," said Mr. Muir, "is a means not only of paying for imports, but of securing, through quantity production, lower costs for Canadian goods whether these are exported or consumed at home. Canada can hope to maintain her standard of living only if she keeps her costs completely competitive with those of producers abroad.

HIGH COST ECONOMY

"Costs and prices in the Canadian economy tend to be insulated in two way: first, there are business taxes, sales taxes, excise taxes, and customs duties which, because they are largely at the manufacturer's level, are embedded in the cost base. Second, there are certain "invisible insulators", whose existence is none the less evident, which make some Canadian prices even higher relative to foreign prices than the disparity warranted by taxes, duty, and costs of transport. For example, a certain British book that retails in the United Kingdom for 28s. (or at the current rate of exchange 3.92) sells for $5.00 in New York and $7.50 in Toronto. A certain piece of British manufactured equipment retailing at £41 in the United Kingdom (the equivalent of about $112 Canadian) brings $219 in the United States and $275 in Montreal. An American-made article of household equipment sells for $77.50 in New England; but the price of the same article in Montreal is $149.00.

MONEY MARKET NEEDED

"We must not ignore the fact that the attitude of our government is generally one that favours freedom of international trade and exchange. Pressure for special treatment, even when backed by evident hardship on the part of some producer groups, has been met by clearly moderate concessions. Moreover, as I have already said, our monetary authority has adopted a policy appropriate to a nation that must maintain a competitive position in foreign markets. Not the least important aspect of this policy has been the active encouragement by our central bank of a money market in Canada. The Bank of Canada's activities and its co-operation with financial institutions in this respect have led to great improvement. But today something more is needed. It is time now for the chartered banks and all other financial institutions in Canada not only to support the efforts of the central bank but to take positive steps to increase their own initiative and activity in the development of a Canadian money market. Such a market is not only a symbol of economic maturity and strength but is in fact prerequisite to continued progress in a country, like Canada, whose economic future depends on the expansion of world trade and investment.

DOLLAR AREAS' ROLE

"We seem nearer to convertibility today than we have been since the imposition of wartime exchange control throughout most of the world; but the prerequisites to convertibility have not changed.

"Since the end of the war the world's hopes for convertibility have waxed and waned with Britain's exchange reserves. Today with reserves at $2,520 millions and steadily improving, Britain can afford once more to consider freeing the pound sterling with the great advantage that now she will move from a position of strength rather than weakness.

"I think we can say that Britain and her partners in the sterling area, as well as most of her NATO partners in western Europe, have not only accepted convertibility as desirable in principle, but have in fact subjected themselves to the discipline in their domestic monetary and fiscal policy which is one of the prerequisites to convertibility.

"I believe the time has come for the dollar area to show evidence of good faith by reducing trade barriers both in the form of tariff duties and in the form of customs formalities and red tape. The dollar area must in addition show willingness to undertake certain responsibilities in the international monetary field.

ULTIMATE REWARDS GREAT

"I have emphasized the seriousness of the problems we have to face both in the immediate and in the more distant future. This does not mean that I have anything but the most abundant faith in our ability as a nation to solve our problems; but I have thought it better to risk some over-emphasis than to encourage false hopes. The economic policy required to solve these problems will involve the sacrifice of expediency to sound principle in a number of matters where the choice must be politically very difficult. But the ultimate reward is great: no less in fact than the growth of Canada to the economic stature she needs to take her place among the great nations of the world."

GOOD PRESS ABROAD ENCOURAGES COMPLACENCY

"The means to our stability and prosperity involve an increasingly mature attitude on our own part towards our future role in the society of nations. The amiable charge commonly levelled by critics at home and abroad that, as a nation, Canadians tend to be unduly conventional and complacent is not without foundation. These characteristics may actually be further encouraged by the good press we continue to get abroad. Yet nothing could be more dangerous than the bland assumption that as a people we are impressing the world with the superiority of our character and accomplishments.

"More correctly, perhaps, our situation is akin to that of an heiress who can never be sure that she is admired for herself and not merely for her wealth. Our great wealth of natural resources is an inheritance which, like an individual's inheritance, is evidence of good fortune rather than talent. We have still to prove that we can make the most of these natural resources in building a great nation.

"It is true that foreign investment is a relatively small part of Canada's gross public and private investment; but it is precisely this foreign investment that has provided in good measure the risk capital needed in resource development. This is the usual course of events in a rapidly growing country. Nevertheles, until we prove ourselves, it is safer I think to proceed on the unflattering assumption that our popularity abroad is based not so much on what we are as on what we have.

"Canada is so dependent for prosperity on a healthy flow of goods, services, and investment funds across her borders that the maintainance of favourable opinion abroad is an especially important consideration.

"But, if we are not to disappoint our friends abroad and even more important if we are not to fail in achieving the economic development promised by our great natural resources, we must adopt those long-run measures that remove or reduce certain special barriers to our economic growth. The most important of these barriers is the smallness of our population with a consequent narrowness of our national market."

General Manager Reports Assets Over $2.8 Billions

T. H. Atkinson, General Manager, in reviewing the bank's 1953 report, stated that total assets of The Royal Bank of Canada have now reached the imposing total of $2,895,856,189. This, he said, was a new high mark in Canadian banking history, and is the highest ever reported by any Canadian bank.

Deposits likewise had reached record totals, said Mr. Atkinson. They now stand at $2,734,644,076, an increase of $207,133,639 over the previous year. "It is encouraging to note," said Mr. Atkinson, "that Canadians generally continue to save a reasonable proportion of their incomes. The increase in deposits of the bank has been accompanied by the expansion in the number of accounts on our books. We now conduct over 2,350,000 accounts, and it is of interest to note that the number of deposit accounts in Canada has more than doubled since 1942.

Mr. Atkinson reported profits for the year had increased $1,506,051 over the previous year. After providing for taxes, depreciation and dividends, the net profits for the year amounted to $8,635,136. The bank's Reserve Fund now stands at $70,000,000. This, the President noted, was for the first time in the bank's history, equivalent to twice the bank's Paid-up Capital. This year's increase in this fund, he said, had resulted from the transfer to it of not only a part of the year's earnings but also of $12,000,000 from the bank's reserves for contingencies.

The bank's programme of branch improvement continued during the year. Construction of a new building to house its Calgary business was commenced, and a new building for its Hamilton Branch will be underway shortly. Six new branches and 4 sub-branches were opened in Canada, and 3 branches and 4 sub-branches were opened abroad, bringing the total number of branches up to 793, of which 70 are in the foreign field.

ROYAL BANK ABROAD

Mr. Atkinson dwelt on the growing number of the bank's branches abroad, especially in the West Indies and British Guiana. The bank now operates 66 full-time and 4 subsidiary branches abroad, and now has under consideration the opening of two additional offices in the Caribbean area.

"Naturally the volume of our business abroad fluctuates with the trend of conditions in the many countries where we operate. From time to time exchange restrictions imposed in certain countries delay remittances but, on the whole, over the long period your bank has operated abroad, a satisfactory solution has always been found to such temporary problems, and the contribution made to the overall earnings of the bank by the foreign division has always been worth while. It is, therefore, gratifying that I am in a position to report that profitwise and in other respects results have been excellent from our overseas division for the period under review.

"With respect to the general character of our business abroad, we continue our policy of wide distribution of risks and our portfolio of loans and investments is diversified and sound from the standpoint of liquidity."

PRAISE FOR STAFF

"The past year's business, the biggest in the history of Canadian banking, was built on precisely the same foundation as has served this bank so well ever since its first days. There is little spectacular or dramatic about it: there are no secret weapons in our armoury. The base of our success is the superior service given by our front line staff in courtesy, friendliness, helpfulness and genuine interest in our customers' welfare. The work of executive officers would be of little avail without it.

"Wherever we go, we hear from customers—some of them old-established, some new, and some casual—about how graciously they have been treated by our branch officers. That reputation is an asset beyond calculation, and in behalf of the executive I thank every member of the staff for his and her part in building it."

Industrial Patrons Of Painting

There came to our desk yesterday a twenty-page booklet issued by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association which tells the story of the pulp and paper industry in an unusually distinctive way. Carefully printed, designed and written, it relates how the forests generate one quarter of the income of all Canadians. It is not the story in words, important as it is, which excites our admiration, but the pictures.

* * *

The pulp and paper industry has commissioned from time to time outstanding Canadian artists, "in the belief that ideas are better conveyed by fine art rather than by illustration, no matter how slick or how competent the draughtsmanship". These canvases, depicting both the operations of the industry and the forests, are reproduced in the booklet, in colour. There is a beautiful print of a canvas by Thoreau MacDonald showing a spruce swamp by a northern Canadian lake in autumn. Franklin Arbuckle has done a pillared stand of western hemlock in B.C. There is a rhythmic pattern of hemlock branches by Albert Cloutier, and a dramatic sweep of hill and lake, poplar-clad, by A. J. Casson. Other paintings illustrate the processes by which the timber is brought to factory and made into pulp and distributed as paper.

* * *

If a private patron were to commission sixteen such works of Canadian art he would be called a benefactor not only of the artists but also of Canadian culture. Because an industry, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Industry, has commissioned sixteen paintings in no wise lessens the benefaction; indeed, it may even be said to augment the cultural value by thus proving a business faith that art and the work-a-day world belong together. When an industry asserts (and pays commissions to support its assertion) that "ideas are better conveyed by fine art than by illustration", art is put where it belongs, and from whence it springs —in the life and work of a nation's people.

* * *

Industrial patronage of painting is not a new thing under the Canadian sun. The Canadian Pacific Railway company has long been a friend and supporter of visual arts. Lately the Seagram company paid artists to do a series of paintings interpreting Canadian cities. Other Canadian businesses have patronized the arts. The Pulp and Paper industry of Canada is worthily following a tradition as old as European guilds which commissioned works of art and as Canadian as the forests in which our landscape painters have found inspiration for more than half a century.

Holy Men Lead The Bathers

Since the weekend is a time when some people turn their thoughts and practices more keenly to religious observances than on other days, our readers may be interested in a mass demonstration of faith and hope which began in India Thursday. Religion may be a matter for each person, but its expression takes on national or denominational characteristics, and the observances vary widely with the faith and country. The varieties of religious experience and the disimilarities of religious expression are not in themselves reason to discredit or scorn the religion, or all religions. Because an Oriental practice seems queer in Occidental eyes is no reason to scoff at it.

With these prefatory remarks we return to the religious festival in India which began on January 14th and will reach a climax on February 3rd. It is the festival known as Khumbmela, which takes place at the same spot every forty-eight years. Last Thursday an estimated three million people bathed together at the exact place where the Jumna, the Ganges and the Saraswati rivers meet. The peak of the festival comes on February 3rd, when five million people will crowd down to a narrow, quarter-mile long beach for their bath.

The festival is a gathering of India's holiest fakirs, sadus (ascetics) and mahatmas (sages), who are the leaders of millions of believers in them and their faith. The holy men descend from the wilderness in which they spend their lives, to teach abnegation according to their particular discipline. They lead millons in processions and prayers.

As is usual in any great gathering anywhere, there are hangers-on, entrepreneurs and showmen. At the Ganges there are snake charmers, sorcerers, devil dancers, sword swallowers, and rope trick performers.

As is also usual in any great crowd, there is officialdom. The Khumbmela presents a large problem to the Indian government—in transport, hygiene, housing and policing. It also presents it with an opportunity for propaganda and uplift. (Is any great congregation for some religious fete not also the occasion for politicians and improvers?)

In India the civil servants have taken the festival in hand, and organized it. They are vaccinating the millions of pilgrims and haranguing the crowd about the Five Year Plan. Many of these civil servants put more faith in the Plan and the vaccine than they do in the promises made at the confluence of the Jumna, the Ganges and the Saraswati, whose waters became holy after the gods had spilled holy nectar there in the dawn of time. Bathing at that spot on February 3rd this year is as holy an act, we are told (and pilgrims believe) as walking around the earth, praying, one hundred thousand times. It will bring release from the misery of worldly life. Sincere, dedicated bathers can be released from the cycle of reincarnation, and will finally leave life on earth and all its miseries.

Before taking off, the government will try to ensure that they are vaccinated, and that they will know that if their corporeal frame persists another five years, they will have even an earthly chance of a happier lot.

Magistrate Gee

Magistrate Gee of Victoria County has retired. He presided over the Lindsay court for twenty years, and often in those years held court in Peterborough during the absence of the Peterborough magistrate. If a magistrate can be said to be popular in his practice, Magistrate Gee was. Cracker-barrel quips and an old-fashioned informality would give his court an unusual affability. It has not been unknown for a man to receive from Magistrate Gee a three-month sentence with a smile on his lips. The rule of law was, by Magistrate Gee's experienced hand, established as often as not by rule of thumb as by a finger on a Revised Statute. We wish Magistrate Gee happiness in his retirement.

Flux And Reflux In Korea

A dispute nearly a year old and which delayed settlement of the Korean War, will end next Wednesday by default rather than by decision. The disposal of prisoners of war could not be agreed upon, because many of the captured men, particularly the tens of thousands in American-UN hands, did not want to go back to their own lines following an armistice—so their captors said. Special arrangements were thereupon made; a neutral power (India) took over custody of the prisoners.

The confined soldiers were to be interviewed by the two sides which would find out to each others' satisfaction what men wanted repatriation, what ones did not. But the interviews were never completed. The Indian garrison has therefore been left with more than 22,000 prisoners, and the period allowed for interviews has passed. The Indian commandant has determined to transfer the remaining prisoners back to their captors. This means that the 21 Americans, one Briton and 325 South Koreans who refused repatriation will be returned to the Reds. The 22,000 North Koreans and Chinese will be handed back to the United States-UN command. Thus the settlement arrived at by default is the one which the Americans sought.

The transfer of prisoners may be the last action in the Korean War theatre. Ordinarily a peace would follow, but since no headway is being made in the preliminary meetings, a conference is unlikely; so is a peace treaty.

The spectacle of an undeclared peace is now becoming as familiar as undeclared war. There has been no peace treaty with Germany, none with Austria. The world will probably feel no more uneasy without a Korean treaty. Such is the flux and reflux of international relations today.

Can There Be Too Many?

The Ottawa Journal and the Victoria Times are sorry for the Queen because she has encountered so many manifestations of what they call 'Raleighism' on her present tour. People keep wanting to throw their cloaks under her feet, or over her shoulders, as Sir Walter Raleigh did when her great ancestress, Elizabeth I, had to cross a puddle.

We do not feel sorry for the Queen. We think that she is lucky to provoke such gallantry, and lucky to recall the great days of the mighty Gloriana. Of course Sir Walter Raleigh was a man of flamboyant manners, even for his time, but he was none the less a great man for that. And the people who now want to offer the Queen wraps which she does not need are simply expressing their love and concern for her in a rather ostentatious way. But better ostentatious love and loyalty than none at all, and we think the Queen knows what a gesture is worth. Too many Raleighs, says the Victoria paper. What surplus could be more welcome, say we.

MOSCOW KNOWS HOW

Television On Tap

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE IDEA of television in the Soviet Union has so far been treated by the outside world as something of a joke. In fact it is far from being that. Television is one of the things in which Russia really can teach the Western world a thing or two.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE ARE so used to the extravagant claims of Moscow in the field of scientific invention that we have come to discount all such claims almost automatically. The Russians have only themselves to blame for this; but actually by no means all their claims are false. For example, the Soviet Union really was the first country in the world to achieve a practical form of stereoscopic film and to show it regularly in a public cinema. Again, it seems probable that the Russians are leading in colour television; although the development of television as a whole lags far behind the West.

✧ ✧ ✧

RUSSIA'S television programmes, however, do not lag at all. Anyone who looks at the latest United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisattion report called "Television: A World Survey," will be struck by the high cultural level of Soviet television programmes, and particularly by the evident superiority of Soviet television drama over its counterparts in Britain and the United States.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT THE MOMENT the number of television sets in operation runs only into tens of thousands, and screens tend to be small. But the number of viewers is a hundred times greater, for television is perfectly suited to the communal organisation of Soviet life, with its innumerable clubs and social centres. It is questionable whether the Soviet Union will ever, like the West, bristle with television aerials. In the cities, where families live in single rooms, or, at the most, two-or three-roomed flats, television will develop towards a "piped" system—already in Moscow and elsewhere there is an elaborate relaying system through which the studio transmission are wired to sets in individual apartments and club rooms.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS IN the countryside that television aerials are increasingly seen. But these do not stand above individual cottages. They belong to collective farms, clubs and cooperatives, and are used for communal viewing. So far television is limited to the regions around the great cities—Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev. Stations are being completed at Stalingrad, and at Sverdlovsk, in the Urals. But the Government has announced its intention of going steadily ahead with the construction of a network of some eighty stations, which will cover large areas of the more heavily populated parts of the USSR.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO EXPENSE is being spared on this. And Russia is a country where long-disance wireless communications have for long been enterprising, bold and highly efficient—in a land the size of the Soviet Union they need to be, unless administration is to break down. The tallest mast of all has been built for the television transmitter at Kiev: 624 feet high.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Soviet Government has reason to take television seriously. Although the vast extent of the Soviet Union and its widely scattered population call for a multiplicity of stations, television may be seen as an aid to Government that is worth a heavy outlay. On the lowest level, which the Kremlin knows so well how to exploit, it is an instrument of propaganda of almost terrifying potency. But propaganda is not all, and the Government is also very much aware of television as an educational factor, which could, imaginatively handled, be of untold value in raising the general level of culture in what is still a backward country.

✧ ✧ ✧

PROPAGANDA speaks for itself. The television service is run by the State for the State, and in the Soviet Union may be seen that tremendous concentration of power to disseminate a single line of thought which frightens those who in Britain shrink from the notion of such a mighty weapon being left in the hands of a single authority, however immediately well intentioned that authority may be. On the one hand, the Kremlin does not scruple to use television in its constant struggle for ascendancy over the minds of the Soviet people. On the other hand, the concentration of power makes for infinitely richer programmes. Already Soviet television has shown what can be done in drama and opera in a land with a strong and magnificent theatrical tradition in which all the arts are directly controlled by the State.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WOULD be wrong to believe that the Soviet theatre consists merely of propaganda. Nothing could be farther from the truth. It is the new plays, the new novels that are required to toe the line, although even her there have recently been signs of a marked relaxation of ideological pressure. But most theatres are, most of the time, playing Russian and foreign classics. And through television the finest actors in the Union are for the first time taking these plays to remote villages scattered about the great plains.

THERE are no patched-up and inferior productions. When the Moscow director of television drama wants to put on a performance of, say, "Anna Karenina," he goes straight to the fountain head and films a classic performance of the Gorki Theatre. Already many of the greatest productions in a land of great productions have been filmed specially for television. And in addition to the filming of stage productions, television directors, commanding the best talent available — since the best talent is also commanded by the State—are throwing themselves with enthusiasm into devising new television techniques in which film sequences are dovetailed in with acting—techniques which may one day startle the West.

Indeed, it is not too much to say that provided the television directors are given their heads, and in spite of present technical limitations, the world may soon be looking to Russia for ideas in television, as it used to look towards it in the great days of silent film.

OUTLOOK FOR THE BERLIN CONFERENCE

The Need For Unity

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL (in Berlin)

This is the fourth of a series of four articles on the outlook for the Berlin conference.

THE NEED to restore German unity and freedom has for years been in the foreground of all public discussion of the German problem. Obviously there is no prospect of German unity unless the Western Powers and Russia can achieve a compromise solution assuring them mutual security. But equally clearly, the Western Powers, now in secure control of by far the larger part of the human and industrial potential of Germany, have no reason to compromise on the security issue unless the Russians are prepared in their turn to release the Soviet zone from the Communist regime they imposed, and to permit German unity and freedom.

Even assuming that the security problems can be solved, the road back to unity of the two Germanies at present divided by vastly different political, economic and social systems, will be far from simple and straightforward. The Western Powers and the West German democratic Parties have long made it clear that the decisive step on that road must be the holding of free and secret elections for an all-German national assembly, and that the freedom of the electorate before, during and after the poll should be assured by some form of international control. Only after the elections can an all-German Government be formed on a democratic basis, a Government which would then have to proceed to unify the administration and economy and to negotiate a peace treaty.

Lately there has been some dispute among West German politicians as to whether such a Government could immediately assume full executive responsibility, or whether some period of transition must necessarily intervene during which separate East and West German administrations would continue to discharge the daily business of government and to fulfull their respective international obligations, until the new all-German constitution came into effect. But while this dispute serves to illustrate the tremendous technical difficulties of the problem, it does not affect the fundamental position of the West.

THE RUSSIANS and their East German satellites, have in contrast always insisted that the formation of an all-German Government by delegations from the present West and East German Parliaments must precede elections, because only such a Government could organize them. They have always rejected any idea of supervision of the election by neutrals, although they have left the door ajar for some form of four-Power control. There is, however, literally no one in the West who would think the idea of a "mixed Government" worthy of even a moment's discussion: the East German Government of Herr Otto Grotewohl and Herr Walter Ulbricht is held in universal contempt as utterly unrepresentative of the people it rules, and any ideas of introducing its delegates into an all-German provisional Government recalls all too obviously the tricks used to bring the whole of Poland under Communist control. It is safe to say that Russian insistence on such a provisional Government would by itself be sufficient to wreck the negotiations on German unity.

On the other hand, many Western experts admit that it would be difficult for the Russians to afford the loss of face which they would suffer if "their" Government were suddenly swept away by all-German elections, probably amidst much popular rejoicing and inevitable acts of revenge by the people against their defeated tyrants. As it would be technically impossible to hold such elections without a considerable period of preparation, the idea has been mooted in neutral circles that Russians should be given a chance to "democratise" the East Zone regime before elections — as it were of their own free will; the examples of Finland and of Eastern Austria have been quoted as proof that the Russians are capable of tolerating a genuine democratic regime in a country under their military control if it suits them for reasons of wider international policy.

BEFORE the East German rising of June 17, 1953, there were indeed indications that the Russians might consider such a period of adaptation preparatory to the restoration of unity. The declaration which introduced the economic "new look" in Eastern Germany at the beginning of June, drafted under the direct influence of the Soviet High Commissioner, Mr. Semeonov, blamed the previous policy of hasty Sovietisation not only for lowering the standard of living of the East Germans, but also for creating unnecessary obstacles to unity. If the Russians now meant to come to terms, they would presumably have to fall back on this idea.

The recent Communist Press campaign about the need to implement the Potsdam decisions on "democratisation" and "demilitarisation" in Western Germany may have a meaning in this context: it may prepare the ground for demands for a similar period of adaptation in Western Germany before all-German elections are held. Of course, if the Russians should really back all the demands raised by their East German mouthpieces, who have lately declared that there could be no democratisation without the expropriation of the "monopoly capitalists" and landowners of Western Germany, they would simply indicate that they are not serious about the whole subject of German unity. Conversely, if the Russians confined themselves to complaints about West German leagues propagating far-reaching frontier revision, or upholding the traditions of the Wehrmacht (armed forces) they might make an effective propaganda case under cover of which they would find it easier to accept changes in their own zone.

SO PERHAPS the best hope for the outcome of the Berlin conference — and not a very considerable one — is that, following an understanding among the Powers about their security problems, a number of preliminary steps would be agreed for steering the East German regime in a democratic direction and simultaneously reducing the barrier between Eastern and Western Germany, preparatory to election at a later date. From a Western point of view, there is, however, one evident danger in such a course: the West would be asked to stop its preparations for West German rearmament within the Western Alliance, while German unity would not come about immediately and the modification of the East German regime would still depend on Russia's good will.

At the very least, the West would therefore have to insist on an earnest of Russian intentions in the form of some immediate changes. There could be no better symbol of an intention to turn over a new leaf and to move towards unity and freedom than Russian consent to restore the unity of the city of Berlin, based on city-wide elections under four-Power control, and the freedom of access of Berliners to all part of Germany.

Letters To The Editor

APPROVES ACTION IN FIRE

Sir: No doubt there will be some comment, maybe quite a bit; some will be hasty, some will think before expressing themselves; so before too much comment is made I would like to, in as few words as possible, say that I think the Mayor or any Mayor would be using common sense in doing what Mayor Graham did Tuesday, January 12, 1954, it goes to show what some people like to do for humanity, and in any case such as this I think the Mayor should have the authority to do just what he did, also that the Chief and his men should be praised for their part too. Thanking you for the space and will be looking forward to other letters along the same views as I have.

GEORGE W. LINSDELL.

HOMAGE TO MAYOR GRAHAM

SIR:

Now city officials please listen
And I know you'll feel the same;
A noble deed has just been done
By our Mayor Norman Graham.

A by-law may be a by-law,
But when someone is in need,
It's only a scrap of paper;
Please, listen till I proceed.

Now over on Maniece Ave.
'Twas cold as it could be
And a mother and her children
Were heading for misery.

When help from the Fire Department
Was requested from Mr. Graham;
He sent them without hesitation;
By gosh, I'd do the same.

For God above as you all know
Said love thy neighbor, friend;
And Mr. Graham was right I think
There's no use to pretend.

There's some folks that will go to church
Every Sunday for years and years,
But when there is a cry for help
They're deaf in both their ears.

Now you know as well as I do,
You cannot live that way,
When others are in trouble
You must help them on their way.

So fire reels or a helping hand
No matter what you do,
Give to the world the best you've got
Then the best will come back to you.

And now in closing I will say
As Mayor, long may he reign
With all his might to do what's right,
Here's to you, Mr. Graham.

Yours sincerely,
J. HOWARD ROSE.

COMMENDS MAYOR GRAHAM

Sir: Congratulations to our new mayor for the fine stand he seems to be taking on two highly important issues. I'm sure he felt he was backed by every Christian in the city (official and non-official) in sending aid to those poor stricken people on the occasion of the fire. It was the one thing to do in such a case. If I were mayor I think I'd have it pre-arranged to send the Fire Equipment a long way out of the city too. When we put the poor farmers' noses out of joint so badly about the market, surely we can help them in case of fire or atom bombs. Even from a selfish standpoint, it's exceedingly good business to keep them in condition for producing for us.

And with regard to the rent controls, I say: More power to you Mr. Mayor! Push the keeping of them on with all your might! Judging from my own experience, I think that many tenants would be in for an almost insupportable burden if de-control commences in Peterborough with housing as it still is—control of the rents charged—yes!—and also and most particularly, de-control of evacuation notices. The six-months' notice that was required to be given was a great protection for worthy tenants.

Very sincerely,
A DILIGENT OBSERVER

LORD'S DAY ACT AND HOCKEY

Sir: As a grandmother and not particularly interested in sport, I would like to know what kind of a Lord's Day Act, permits of Civic Arena to be full of children on Sunday afternoon and yet our outside rinks are closed to children playing hockey which would seem to be innocent enough. In my opinion the law could be better employed trying to watch and catch the boys breaking windows in the schools and costing ratepayers money. Hoping someone will look into the matter.

Yours,
GRANDMOTHER

No Buyers Of Debentures Town Trust Problem, Pressed Council For Funds

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough Town Trust Commissioners began their administration of the property and capital debt of the municipality on August 24, 1861, three months after the passing of the special legislative Act by which they received their warrant of office.

The minutes of that first meeting for the purpose of organization merely affirmed the appointment of the commission. "under statute 24, Victoria, Chapter 61. Present: Charles Bradfield, Samuel Dickson, James Stevenson, Edmund Chamberlen and William Hall."

Business of that session was as brief as might be expected. Mr. Bradfield was appointed chairman by motion of Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Chamberlen. Ivan O'Beirne was engaged as secretary, and the chairman was authorized "to procure the necessary books and stationery."

At the second meeting on September 17, a letter from John Stark requested the commission to exchange two debentures of the town, held by him, for £300 each, "which were overdue, and which he desired to have settled." A motion by Stevenson and Dickson directed the secretary to take the necessary steps for complying with the Stark request.

The first new borrowing is recorded in a minute instructing the secretary to apply to the town council "to issue forthwith and hand to the commissioners for negotiation ten debentures for $400 each at ten years, and that the chairman be authorized to dispose of them to the best advantage but not at any lower rate than 15% discount."

That price reflects the scarcity of money 93 years ago, perhaps, too, some uncertainty about municipal security, and generally the "hat in the hand" approach of the borrower to brokers of debentures.

The secretary was ordered to collect at once all arrears of rent.

Oct. 16 the commission granted use of the town hall to St. Patrick's Society for a soiree (social); to Robert Dennistoun and John R. Benson for drill purposes; to Mrs. Stafford Kirkpatrick for Sunday school. It was also ordered that Mr. Cluxton be given $30 to procure a chandelier with six burners to light the town hall.

Secretary O'Beirne properly omitted the context of his minutes. He was not writing for a posterity, in his own community, that has been left without explicit information about many minor phases of social life less than a century ago.

DRILL IN TOWN HALL

Possibly the chandeliers in the town hall were for candles. The means of illumination can only be surmised. And, in that reference to military drill there is a hint of local concern about the Trent affair in those first months of the American Civil War. Two agents of the Confederacy, Mason and Slidell, embarked at Havana on a British vessel bound for England. It was intercepted by a U.S. ship of war, and the two southerners were virtually made prisoners of the North. As a neutral, Britain protested against that action, and President Lincoln ordered the release of the two men.

The incident caused considerable tension in Canada. Military men began recruiting militia, but lacking an armoury here they had to apply to the council for permission to drill in the town hall.

Mr. O'Beirne's salary was set at $200 in March, 1862.

The authority of the commission to levy on the town council for funds to meet debenture interest and sinking fund requirements was first exercised at a meeting June 28, 1962. Actually, this was the larger responsibility of the Trust, to maintain the credit of the town by meeting promptly the liabilities of borrowing.

The phrasing of the minute was: "That the council be instructed to raise $5,706 to pay the interest and 1% of the sinking fund upon debentures up to Dec. 31, 1862, and discount on notes now running in the Bank of Montreal in consequence of not being able to sell our debentures."

That is another reminder of the difficulty of municipal borrowing some 90 years ago. The whole financial fabric had yet to be developed as it is today. It was expected that several brokers would be interested in the $4,000 loan on which the commission had set a restriction of "not more than 15% discount."

When the council couldn't get the money by debenture borrowing, they had to go to the bank for a current loan.

Peterborough is still borrowing from the bank for current needs, but financing of capital accounts is done by issuing debentures.

SOUTH END SQUATTERS

Apparently 1863 passed without a meeting of the commission, but in 1864 they turned attention to a municipal problem: squatters on the town reserve south of Townsend St. Incidentally, the Sandford Fleming map of 1846 indicates the boundaries of Peterborough as the Otonabee River, Smith St. now Parkhill road, Park St. on the west and Townsend St. on the south.

The commission decided in 1864 "to take legal proceedings to eject squatters from that area south of Townsend St. through Rink, Perry and Lake streets. Probably in the 20 years since the Fleming map was drawn, central blocks then vacant were becoming occupied. The authorities had paid no attention to those people who had settled south of Townsend and built houses. By 1864 it was considered time to take action.

On Aug. 20, the commission decided to get each (squatter) to select the land required by him and accept a lease or give up possession at once, the lease to be for 21 years (at rental), paying 4% for the first seven years, 6% the second seven, and 8% for the final seven years.

"Each squatter to be bound to erect a building not less than 18 ft. by 24 ft., clapboard, brick or roughcast, with shingled roof, for dwelling, one storey high at least." At the end of 21 years the tenant was allowed a percentage of the value of the property towards final payment.

Mar. 27, 1865, the commission directed that the old building on the southwest corner of the market block be disposed of and removed immediately. That may have been one of the log houses built in the thirties. Another old building adjoining it and used as a barroom, and all the shedding "in the rear of same be at once advertised for sale by public auction to be removed as soon as sold." The tenant was given a discharge of his lease, but his application for return of a month's rent was not allowed.

DEBENTURES UNSOLD

But, to return to the primary concern of the commission. Mar. 27, 1865, a motion by Samuel Dickson that "the secretary call the attention of the town council to the fact that there is a large sum due the commission from the town and that on account of the difficulty of disposing of the debentures and also of obtaining money from the bank, the commissioners are compelled to urge on the council the necessity of placing moneys due the commissioners at their disposal so as to enable them to pay the claims falling due against the town."

The next meeting of the commission was not until Sept. 21, 1866. They had a letter from the council asking for information about the investment of the moneys appropriated for the sinking fund of the debentures, also the security of the investment and the amount.

It was a long time before any question about such investments was again sounded at commission meetings.

The salary of the secretary was cut in half to $100. Chairman Charles Bradfield left Peterborough. He was succeeded by Wm. Cluxton, appointed in 1868 by the council, and William Hall became chairman.

The commission decided to hold its meetings at 9.30 a.m. Only one session was called in 1869. In 1870, the commission asked the council to provide $5,635 for interest and sinking fund purposes.

August 19, 1870—The secretary was authorized to sell by auction all that part of the town reserve south of Perry St. and east of the railway (to Port Hope).

LIGHTING BY GAS

Social progress is recorded in the commission's approval of putting gas fixtures in the music hall (east side of the market, about the centre of the block) for the purpose of having it lighted by gas.

October 14, 1870, a record of buyers of town reserve lots on Perry St. west of George St.: Cornelius Halpin at the southwest corner, Thomas Corkery, Patrick Murphy, John Lynch, Adolph Guerin, Thomas McMahon, William Helm, William English, Joseph Lundy, John McMahon. Highest price was $275, gross receipts $2,101. Three of these lots were on the north side of Lake St.

November 20, 1871: White & McCullough were granted lease of part of the market block as site of a shoe factory to employ 40 persons; tax exemption was limited to the land.

March 13, 1872—Thomas Bradburn applied for lease of part of the market reserved for a town hall, undertaking to build a town hall within two years, and provide offices for use of the town at reasonable rent, and use of the hall for meetings when called by the mayor. The commission recommended adoption of the plans drawn by John E. Belcher. Wm. Cluxton voted against the proposal, and as a minority left the meeting.

LOCKS BRIDGE LOAN

Town council asked for a loan of $2,800 in 1873 to help pay for the Locks Bridge. Commission concurred, as soon as the debentures for the bridge were made out and handed over to the secretary; the loan to be for six months and drawn out of railway income.

In the municipal need, an important one at the time, the commission wasn't handing out sums of money, but merely lending it to the municipality. In 1874 they

How To How-de-do Horses, Steers

Blow gently down your nostrils, the lady says, and the fiercest horse will come to you like a lamb. Horse sense it may be, but the fellow in the right picture above says it sounds like hog wash to him. Maybe there's a bit of sex-mixed up in all this human whinnying to horses, but the English lady talks to cows, too, who promptly let down their gallonage for her.

By BARBARA WOODHOUSE

I used to live in Argentina, on a lonely cattle estancia 100 miles from my nearest English neighbour. I spent my time breaking in the wild horses from the herd of 6,000 on that estancia. Whilst doing this one day I met a very old "Guaranee" Indian, of which tribe there are very few left now.

I stopped to talk to him about the beautiful little mare he was riding, and he told me that his tribe do not have to break in their horses the way we do; they just catch them with a lasso, and then stand near them, with their hands behind their backs, and blow gently down their nostrils. The horse understands this as "How do you do?" in its own language, and returns the greeting by approaching the human being and sniffing up his nose. From that moment the horse has no further fear, and the breaking is simply a matter of showing the horse what you want.

I tried this simple trick on a horse that was a killer; three men had lost their lives trying to master her, and I bought her for 15s. It worked. She stopped trembling and came slowly up to me as I blew down my nostrils, whilst standing quite still in the corral where she had been penned for me. She raised her head until her nose touched mine. I blew gently up her nose and then put my hand out to caress her. She never moved. I fondled her ears and her neck, and then stroked her all over. I went to the house for my saddle and bridle and saddled her up. She stood quite still; I mounted her and away we went.

I never want a more glorious creature. Years later I brought her home to England and she was put down in the war, after having been the most faithful mount of myself and my children.

BREAKING HORSES

This trick I employed on all the future horses I broke out there, and I used to reckon to get a horse going quite nicely, having never previously been handled, in two hours. All that was needed was to teach the horse what to do. Never once did a horse, after having had "How do you do?" said to it this way, attempt to do anything bad. It seemed to have complete confidence in me.

To cut a long story short, I proved that this language not only applies to horses but to cattle as well. One day I was watching a cattle market at Chippenham when a steer went mad while being driven by some hateful men with sticks. It charged everyone, so I bet the drover a fiver that if he would leave it to me I would put a head-collar on it and lead it into the lorry.

The language was not exactly complimentary, but he agreed. I approached the brute, who promptly headed for me. I stood still and blew down my nose. It stopped a few feet from me; then slowly advanced, sniffed my nose and stood near me looking quite quiet. I slipped a halter on to it, and walked away towards the cattle truck; it followed me like a lamb, although it had never previously been haltered. I walked it into the box and removed the head-collar. The bet was won—but I never found the drover.

POWER OVER ANIMALS

This power over animals served me well. I could buy an unbroken horse and sell it as "safe" in under a week. The company out there in South America approved of my methods, and paid me the grand sum of $2.00 for every horse I broke.

The inspector was sent to try one of my horses to see if I really had broken it properly. He tried one which I had had for only two hours. It was quiet and would walk, trot, canter and stop easily. It had a lot to learn, but it was harmless and safe to handle.

I believe that all animals can be controlled by knowing their language, although there are some bad animals that have learnt to be vicious and cunning, and then this does not work. It is a trick that overcomes fear in animals, and most wickedness in animals is caused by fear.

DOG TRAINING

I run four voluntary dog training classes a week, and ordinary people bring their dogs to be taught to behave. I find I can take any of the dogs from their owners (with a few exceptions from dogs that are so vicious that one cannot get within speaking distance of them) and I can make them do just what I like by stroking their heads and speaking to them in a loving tone of voice.

I feel that my will-power is being transmitted to them through my fingers, and, as long as the owner does not keep talking and breaking the bond between the dog and me, I can make that dog want to do what it is told.

I do not know any direct language with dogs, but I do know that they are very susceptible to suggestion and that if I can be left alone with the dog I can do what I like with it. The trouble in training classes is that one has to train the owner to train the dog, and to transmit the gift of will-power to the owner is a very different matter.

In Spanish the word simpatica is the one that, I think, covers this feeling for animals, and I believe it is what is lacking in most dog owners. I am always astounded when people tell me that if their front gates are left open their dogs run out and do not come back for hours. My dog will not leave me. If I get up to go out of the room my dog goes too; she would die if I left her for any length of time.

We have complete understanding. People marvel that I speak to her like a human being and that she understands every word I say, If I get cross with anyone in my household, the dog gets so upset she is promptly sick. My worries are her worries.

COWS, TOO

The same sort of understanding applies to my cows. Recently one of them was asked to act in a film with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and everyone on the set wondered why this cow behaved like a human being. She had a big part in the film, and did exactly what she was told by me, including going down a street by herself, walking into a pub, etc. Why? Because she had perfect faith in me. If I said it was the thing to do, the cow had no fear. My small children ride my cows like horses if they want to.

I once sold one of my old cows to a neighbour. For three days she gave no milk, and he called me in to see her. She was literally silently crying. I gave the man his money back and took her home, and she immediately gave down her milk. She never left me again, and averaged over 1,100 gallons a year for the next eight years, when I put her to sleep.

I still have one old cow of twelve who was sold in Aylesbury nine years ago as no good. She came to me and has never given less than 1,200 gallons a year, and she will continue to do this as long as I milk her myself. If I leave for a holiday, she is ruined in a week.

My life is ruled by animals. I often wonder whether it is worth it, never being able to go away or happily leave my animals. But in my inner heart I know that such undying affection, such unquestioning love, is almost only found in the animal world.

BARKING UP THE WRONG TREE at a cat puts me in the doghouse. Perhaps I deserve it because I use some mighty strong language.

HAVE I ANY WOOL? Mister, I'm loaded. The only people who talk to ME fleece me, each spring.

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

One of the most important phases of newspaper reporting is the writing of obituaries. Staffers on the Examiner have sat through hour-long conferences more than once while management outlined the importance, style and accuracy required for writing each one. We try not only to give bare statistics but also all information pertaining to the deceased and his family and forefathers if they were well-known in the district.

This week an elderly gentleman died in Northern Ontario. He was born here but we were unable to get a great deal of information from relatives or friends and conequently it was a statistical report. Delving into old records, which takes more time than the pressure of newspaper deadlines allows, the following information might have been incorporated.

His people were large lumbering and sawmill operators prior to 1880 in the Kawarthas. Their company in those days, when there were many similar firms operating, could be compared to any of the city's major industries today.

Aside from his father's large mill at Nassau there was one at Harwood that turned out 100,000 board feet of lumber every 12 hours, plus a lath mill, steam plant, boarding house for 120 men, 17 acres of piling yards, ten workmen's dwellings, blacksmith shop, two stables, etc., etc., and a sales office in Cobourg.

This sort of material is important to any man's background but it is hard to find. We cannot expect the memories of relatives to supply his sort of thing but think it might be wise, for the record, to have a lot of people write their own obituary material. We know they never will and the record will be the poorer for it.

The Numbers Game

Unhappy motorists swamped the license issuing bureau, Chamber of Commerce, for three days in a row until cold weather kept them at home. They groused about waiting too long, paying too much and generally didn't enjoy themselves.

However, there is one element that tries to wring a little fun out of new license plates but they cause a lot of trouble and confusion in the process. These childish types want certain number and letter combinations for the most childish reasons and issuers, in trying their best to please them, are needlessly harried at a very harriable time in their business.

These folk want plates the same as their house numbers, their phone numbers, initials and even groups of "lucky" numbers. They are so determined that if their issuing office can't oblige they appeal to the Department of Highways at Queen's Park who go along with the silly game of keeping the taxpayer happy.

It must be getting them down in Q.P. for the minister has announced a new method of numbering plates in 1955 that may stop the crazy business.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Though I do not tramp far afield to observe winter bird life, I am an habitual observer when it is close at hand, say, from the front window. The open river in front of our door is a winter feeding ground for merganser ducks. They are shy, pretty things that keep well out in the stream. Occasionally, I have sneaked up on one feeding in early mornings under a bank overhang.

There are half a dozen working the shallows now beside the dock and they have been joined by a lone gull that we call "Gus". Nature Clubbers would be able to name Gus' specie right away and probably tell why he is here. At a guess, he could be either Ringbill or Herring and a disgrace to his kind.

Gus is the frumpiest, dirtiest, most dejected gull in the country. Whether he was grounded on the river due to fog during his flock's migration or whether he is a rank individualist, we will never know. His movements are ponderous but he seems to be eking out a living of sorts and we are concerned about him. We would take him into the house these cold nights but where would the dog, cat and pet pigeons go? Gus is a problem.

Is your WILL Up to Date?

Many people review their Will at the beginning of each year. Your executor may have moved away or become ill or become unable to give sufficient time and attention to administer your estate. In view of the considerable changes in dollar values your Estate has probably changed in value.

You may have given too many legacies, or too large in amount, under your Will and have deprived your wife and children of sufficient to provide for their care and keep. You may have to adjust some of the shares going to beneficiaries. Births, marriages and deaths in your family may have made your estate plans obsolete. Increased succession duties and income taxes may affect the estate plans made by you for your family.

Your Will is one of the most important documents you will ever be called upon to sign. If you have a Will, we suggest that you review it now—and if not, make your Will now and appoint Victoria and Grey Trust Company as Executor.

Petes Turn Back Pontiacs In Fast Rugged Tilt To Take 3-0 Puck Contest

Flashing fine fighting form before a good-sized OHA senior "B" crowd here last night, the TPT Petes downed Orillia Pontiacs 3-0 to climb over Orillia and Kingston into undisputed possession of second place in the group standing. Belleville (in the cellar) beat Kingston 8-7 last night, and this leaves Oshawa on top with Petes next, one half game in front of the K's and Pontiacs. It was the first of four tough tilts in five nights for the Redmond men, as they go to Kingston tonight, have Belleville here on Monday, and trek to Orillia on Tuesday. They dropped a decision earlier in the week to the Memos on Quinte ice.

WINS THE TROPHY — Ace senior lacrosser Ross Powless won the Joe Gould Trophy as the most valuable player to his team, the Petes' Trailermen, the past year. This was announced here last night at the "dinner for champions" put on by the city council. Powless took about all the individual honors possible in senior lacrosse in 1953.

TOUGH ENOUGH

Last night's fray was a rugged one, a typical Orillia-Petes' tussle. It wasn't dirty, but they were hitting each other hard at every opportunity, and several times fights threatened as the rival players tired from the heavy going. They kept up a fast clip most of the route, and it was plenty close in each period. The local squad drew nine of the 15 penalties, one being a double penalty to hustling Bill McMaster, a sentence which drew boos from the hefty crowd on deck.

The count was 1-0 in the first period, and 2-0 going into the third as the Petes tallied a marker a frame. Ssorers were Chum Fryia, Ted Collins and Rod Belisle, while playing coach Eddie Redmond drew two assists in a smart showing, and Gus Leonard and Bert Hill one each. Both goalies went good, with Jack Donlevy earning his shutout with a first-rate performance between the pipes. He had plenty of help from a solid defence, the Petes boasting the best blue-line shock troops in the group. The Hill line shone at fore-checking.

AN EVEN PERIOD

Play was speedy and pretty even through the first heat. Crowley returned from a hooking penalty and Pearsall got the nod for elbowing. A little later, Armstrong (playing his first game in weeks for Petes) was gated for high-sticking. He was back when Chum Fryia, floating beyond the blue line, picked up a neat pass-up from Gus Leonard and tore in to finish off neatly for the first goal. Vasey went away for tripping later, and Fryia followed for interference but no damage was done in their absence.

Plenty of stiff and hard checking marked the close middle chukker and players came off puffing for replacements frequently. Both goalies had lots to do and did it well. Orillia had more close-in chances most of this frame. McMaster drew a double penalty for high-sticking and boarding while Bowen got off with a high-sticking penalty in a mixup in the corner. All were back when McCrone got it for boarding. Play was up and down at a hot clip when, with but five seconds to go and the Petes pressing furiously with the odd man advantage, Collins cuffed the disc into the hemp in an in-close scramble, Hill and Redmond being in on the play. They skated off at the gong with a 2-0 lead.

SCORED ANOTHER

Petes cashed in again on McCrone's penalty in 46 seconds of the third period when Belisle batted home Redmond's rebound, the O's kicking on this one and claiming Calhoun had blown his whistle in the scramble around the net. But the goal was allowed. McCrone returned to the ice, and Montgomery went off for high-sticking but the Petes held off the Pontiacs till his return. Armstrong got it later for elbowing as play roughened up, and a fight threatened right afterward near the Petes' goal. McMaster went away for clipping, leaving Petes shy two for 10 seconds, but Bowen was chased next for interference, and eventually all returned to play. Montgomery got the last penalty for interference and Redmond and Prentice almost scored on a breakaway near the close.

Havelock Gains TVL Win Over Marmora

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Havelock defeated Marmora in the TVL series, Friday night at the Havelock Arena by a score of 7-3, before the largest attendance this year. It was the first game the locals won on home ice this season.

Nicholls in goal for Havelock gave a brilliant performance of net-minding, robbing Marmora of what appeared to be many sure goals. Brooks performed the hat trick for the locals by scoring one goal in the first period and two in the second. Hannah played a strong game on defence for Havelock, by breaking up many Marmora rushes. It was a real fast game throughout with 14 penalties being handed out by Referees B. Kingdon and H. Payne of Peterborough. The Marmora goalie received a bad cut on the side of his head from the first shot on his goal. Despite his injury he played a good game for his team. Havelock's victory was the more spectacular because they were minus three of their players.

Havelock— Goal, Nicholls; defence, Berardi, Mortimer; centre, Eakins; wings, Doris, Floyd; alternates, Hannah, Laing, Ruttan, Brooks, Kane, Scott, Brown, Hill sub-goalie.

Havelock Triumphs

HAVELOCK (ENS) — In the first game of a double-header at the Havelock Arena Friday, Havelock bantams defeated Stirling by a score of 3-1. It was a closely-fought game from the drop of the puck with only three penalties being handed out by Referees H. Hunter of Havelock and Rose of Stirling.

Scott Little was the top scorer, with two goals for his team. Gary Whitney played a steady game in goal for Havelock, replacing goalies Keith Scott who was injured during practice. B. McLaughlin had a goal and an assist, and B. Watson an assist. W. Munroe scored for Stirling.

Stirling: Goal, D. Green; defence, D. Fairs, J. Ray; centre, D. Hubble; wings, W. Munroe, M. Tanner; alternates, D. Harding, B. Hewton, F. Palmer, G. Uniacke, G. Rose, E. Mayheu, R. Faire E. Martin, G. Scott.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

No doubt the Lakefield puck officials, players and fans will be somewhat surprised at this fanciful forecasting by the Port Hope scribe: "We expect to see Cobourg Coments stay in top position the rest of the reason. If they do they will no doubt meet Lakefield in the first-round playoffs since it appears Lakefield will never leave the cellar this year. Cobourg will erase Lakefield in playoffs with the Lumbermen being lucky to extend the series to four games. It possibly will happen in three." He expects the winner of Port Hope Lindsay to meet Cobourg in the finals, but admits that playoffs are a different matter. Well, let's just wait a month and see, eh?

* * * * * *

Jack Gatecliff of St. Catharines comments on the Petes' request for more Mann Cup mazuma from the CLA, saying the $500 offered "is not much of a profit for a team which advanced to Canadian finals. The Trailermen are attempting to dig some extra gold out of the CLA but their chances of receiving any are slightly less than nil. Bob Thorpe has decided to give up coaching but may return for another year of playing. He received an excellent promotion at the Timber Structures plant and will not be able to give as much time in the future to lacrosse. Doug Cove states he will not coach St. Catharines this year, but the job is his if he changes his mind."

Pair of Great Athletes

Two fine athletes were honored at the "dinner of champions" here last eve with the awarding of the Chas. Kearns Memorial Trophy to Bill Huntley and the Joe Gould Trophy to Ross Powless. Latter cup was to the most valuable senior lacrosser in '53, and Ross earned it with a dandy display all season. The big Indian is a first-rate player. Huntley has the honor of being the first recipient of the Kearns Trophy put up some years ago but never awarded before. This ace gridder with the Orfuns had a terrific football season in league and playoff games last fall, and had much to do with the squad winning ORFU honors again. In November, he was voted by ORFU officials as the outstanding intermediate gridder in Ontario. He earned the Kearns Trophy as Peterborough's outstanding athlete last year. A fine chap.

* * * * * *

Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel last gloaming was a great spot for a sportswriter. Star athletes on all sides as the city paid fitting tribute to its provincial or better winners of the last two years. There were the senior and juvenile lacrossers, the soccer players, the grid Orfuns, the two ladies who won badminton honors, the ornamental swimmers of international fame, and the minor hockey Shamrocks as provincial champs. A nifty layout lined up by Ald. Gord Powell, chairman of the reception committee of the city council. Lots of prominent sports' officials and others on deck, too, and recreation director Alex Sinclair, speaker Jim Vipond (Globe & Mail sports editor), radio and press, etc. A truly enjoyable championship affair.

* * * * * *

Civic Crests For All

Special civic crests — bearing the city's coat of arms — were presented to all the champs, there being some 150 present. Mayor Norm Graham and Ald. Jack Dewart, in particular, spoke highly of the value of sports to a community and the honor brought to Peterborough by so many championship clubs the past few years. It was a happy gathering, with good food and good entertainment to round it off. Jim Vipond, Globe sports' editor, spoke entertainingly on the subject of sportsmanship — and we had the hunch that he secretly sympathized with the muzzled Rocket. But he made it plain that he didn't go for dirty tactics in sports, pro or amateur. Ald. Stan McBride led the sing-song but firmly declined to discuss the DiMaggio-Monroe romance.

* * * * * *

A quick dash after the dinner to Civic Arena and in time to see the Petes earn a 3-0 victory over the rugged Orillia Pontiacs. As the upsetting Belleville Memos edged the cocky Kingston crew 8-7 last eve, this puts the TPT-ers alone in second place by a point over K's and Orillia, back of Oshawa. Nice going, but the Redmond men have three more toughies in a hurry, going to Kingston tonight, tackling Memos here Monday and travelling back to Orillia on Tuesday. They'll need a rest come next Wednesday. Goalie Jack Donlevy was in top form last p.m., and he had a potent defence in front of him. The local forwards worked hard, too, and they had to as the hard-hitting Pontiacs made it a real scrap. In fact, Petes got wto of their goals when McCrone was sitting in the sin bin. But they won, and that's all that counts.

Collis Hold Off CGE Rally Triumph 42-29

Taking an early lead, Collis girls staved off a last quarter rally by CGE lasses Friday night to earn a 42-29 victory in the girls' city league basketabll.

Pauline Stewart and Joan Dunk paced the Collis quintette in the first quarter to take a 14-4 lead. Then in a low-scoring, 8-5, second quarter, Collis kept the lead 22-9 at the half.

Stewart, Dunk and Shirley Bestard continued to roll up the score in the third quarter as Collis lengthened their margin to 20 points, 36-16 at three-quarters.

In the fourth quarter Helen Miller led a CGE rally but it fell short by 13 points.

CGE took the scoring honors as Helen Miller dropped in 18 points. Stewart led Collis with 15 while Dunk had 11.

PCVS Girls Whip Port Hope Srs. St. Peter's Jrs.

PCVS girls' basketball teams sucessfully opened their 1954 season Friday night as the seniors with a last-half rally defeated Port Hope 19-15 and the juniors turned back St. Peter's High lasses 38-21. Meanwhile in Lindsay, Kenner Collegiate girls were edged 15-12 by the LCI quintette.

Pat Thompson and Kay Karnes provided all the scoring for Port Hope in the senior game. In fact, all but three points were scored by these girls in the first half when Port Hope took a 12-10 lead. But points by Margaret Dobson, Mary Raddon, Betty Thomson and Marilyn Vint gave PCVS the victory in the second half.

Port Hope's Thompson led the scoring with eight points. PCVS' best was Mary Raddon with seven.

LED JUNIORS

In the first game Bernice Callan, a veteran from last season's PCVS juniors, paced the Garnet and Grey to a 14-10 first half despite baskets by the Saints' Joan Heard, Joanne Kearnes, and Mickie McNaughton.

But Callan hit a hotter pace in the second half and was joined in this scoring barrage by Janet Hughson and Joan Weir. With this trio paving the way, the Garnet and Grey whipped in a 24-point total for a final of 38-24.

Calaln led the PCVS scoring with 10 points, closely followed by the Saints' McNaughton with eight.

Meanwhfile, the inexperienced Kenner Collegiate girls were on the short end of the score in their opening game with Lindsay Collegiate's strong quintette. The Lindsay lasses jumped to an early 9-5 lead in the first half and kept ahead in the second half for a 15-12 victory.

Nancy Parker had six points for Lindsay, while Beverley Tully and Sally Somers had four each for Kenner.

M. Knights Leading

M. Knights has high average of 210, high single of 348 and top three of 859 so far this season in the Lucky Strike League for the bowling ladies. M. Whatman has a triple of 737 and a single of 301. Knights lead the set with 36 points, Callaghan and McBride having 31 each, Graham 30, Butcher, Parsons and Dunfield 28 apiece, Miles 27, Gibbons 21 and Reed 20.

In games this week, McBride blanked Gibbons, as 3-1 wins went to Graham, Callaghan and Durfield over Knights, Miles and Parsons. Butcher and Reed split 2-2.

Best triples: B. McBride 658, L. Griffin 590, V. Triggs 575, J. Steen 559, M. Hollowell 553, B. Aitken and M. Knights 536, J. Dunfield 523 and H. Parsons 516; better singles: B. McBride 286, L. Griffin 243, V. Triggs 225 and 203, J. Steen 215 and 206, M. Knights 215, A. Reed 212, M. Hallowell 204 and J. Dunfield 204 and 201.

PCVS Wins Doubleheader St. Peter's Drops Both Games In Basketball Tilts

PCVS won and St. Peter's High lost their double header junior and senior basketball games Friday night. The Garnet and Grey turned back Cobourg High 48-35 in the junior game and 71-32 in the senior while at St. Peter's gym, the senior Saints were edged 55-48 by the strong St Michael's College senior quintet and the juniors lost, also to St. Michael's 48-26.

Zolton Temesy's senior Garnet and Greys, although giving Cobourg High seniors several inches in height, had little trouble disposing of their taller opposition. In fact the collegians made the victory so decisive that the return game will quite likely not be played.

The collegians paced by Terry Roberts, Doug Ash and Bob McKinney, went to a 14-5 first-quarter lead, surged ahead 33-14 at the half and romped further ahead 51-23 in the third quarter.

ASH SCORED 19

Ash topped all the scorers with 19 while Roberts had 18 and McKinney, 14, his best game so far this season. The Cobourg scoring was fairly well divided between the lakeshore players.

The collegiate juniors had a closer game with Cobourg, especially for the first quarter when the lakeshore lads tied the PCVS quintet at eight-all. But after that it was completely the collegiate's game, taking a 25-17 lead at the half, lengthening it to 37-26 at three-quarters and running away with the game in the final quarter.

Paul Davis, lanky junior star, scored nearly half the Garnet and Grey points as he led the team with 32 points. Brian Bell was his closest rival with 13. Meanwhile Cobourg's best was Goody with 15.

At St. Peter's, the senior Saints, coached by Hilly Yudin, gave the St. Michael's seniors more opposition than expected. In fact for a while it appeared that the Toronto quintet would be upset.

Doug Galvin kept the Saints close to St. Mike's in the first quarter as Toronto took a 16-11 score. Galvin again in the second was the only scoring threat for the Saints and again Toronto held a four-point margin on the scoring, 28-20 half-time score.

WHITTLED LEAD

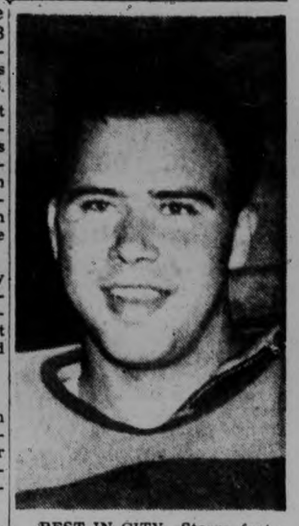
Ab Ryan joined Galvin in the third quarter and before St. Mike's could stem the rally, the Saints had taken a 17-12 score in the quarter and whittled the lead to three points, 40-37, at three-quarters. But there the Saints finished, being outscored 15-11 in the final quarter.

A 21-point total score by Barch for St. Mike's made him top scorer while St. Peter's best were Galvin with 23, his season's best, and Ryan with 11.

Coach John Lynch's junior Saints didn't fair too well in the other Ontario Catholic Conference game. They went down 14-4 in the first quarter and were behind throughout as St. Mike's took a 24-15 half-time score, stayed ahead 40-18 at three-quarters and finally were stemmed in the fourth by the Saints.

Hills led the St. Mike's scoring with 13. Quinlan had eight and Mackie six for St. Peter's.

WANTED MAN—Johnny Lattner, brilliant All-American halfback with Notre Dame this past grid season, is sought by at least four Canadian pro football teams. But Johnny says he'll sit tight until he sees what happens in the U.S. pro draft.



BEST IN CITY—Starry footballer Bill Huntley of the champion Orfuns here last night was presented with the Chas. Kearns Memorial Trophy for being the outstanding athlete in Peterborough in 1953. The presentation was made at the city's dinner honoring local sports' champions of the past two years.

Coach Curly Davis Business Manager

KITCHENER (CP) — Coach "Curly" Davis is to become business manager of the Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts Hockey Club and Toronto and western Ontario chief scout for the Montreal Canadiens organization.

A new coach is now being sought for the Greenshirts, Ontario Hockey Association Junior A entry, recently purchased outright by the Canadiens organization.

Greenshirts general manager Sam Pollock said negotiations are expected to be completed today with an unidentified former Ontario Hockey Association star player who also has seen service in the National and American Hockey Leagues to become coach of the club.

Coming To The Brock
Next Wednesday

Mighty Midgets Plus Famed Dusek Brothers

The mighty midgets of the mat game will invade the Brock Arena next Wednesday night when four of the biggest little men in the business clash in a tag-team match.

Little Beaver and Salie Halasie will combine their talents in opposition to the team of Sky Low Low and the Great Schultz.

When these midgets tangle, the fans are treated to the fastest and most crowd-pleasing stunts seen in a wrestling ring.

Little Beaver, who stands 42 inches tall and weighs 92 pounds is considered the most agile midget wrestler. Salie Halasie specializes in speed and is able to jump five feet in the air. Sky Low Low is acclaimed the "Little Atlas of the wrestling world", while the Great Schultz is the best-developed.

THE DUSEK BROTHERS

Another sparkling feature is the invasion of the Dusek Brothers, the notorious Nebraska ring disturbers. Ernie Dusek takes on Pat Flanagan in the main event while Emil Dusek wrestles Jimmy Sigsay, a newcomer from Detroit, in the opener.

It will be the first appearance here of the famous Dusek Brothers, two of the greatest grapplers in the business. The Brock management is arranging for extra seats for the sellout crowd expected, and the free list has been suspended for this card.

Ken Mosdell Enjoying Best Season In 10 Years In League

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Kenneth Mosdell is brittle, injures easily and heals slowly. Between fractures and bruises in the last 10 years, he has built a reputation around the National Hockey League as a strong defensive player. Many fans, looking over his hospital record, wonder why-particularly just now when he has blossomed into an all-star centre. Mosdell doesn't know. He says: "It's just one of those things. I've had my share of broken bones and now I'm having the best year of my career. You figure it out."

Mosdell doesn't know. He says: "It's just one of those things. I've had my share of broken bones and now I'm having the best year of my career. You figure it out." why—particularly just now when he has blossomed into an all-star centre.

Ken never was a great goal scorer. Montreal Canadiens kept him on the payroll because they could always call on him as one of the best defensive centres in the big time.

JUST HITTING STRIDE

At 31, when many players are thinking of a pension, Mosdell is heading into the most productive season since he joined Canadiens in 1944. He never was a 20-goal man, but is almost certain to hit that bracket this season. In 42 games he has scored 19 goals and 16 assists for fifth place in the individual scoring race.

He'll be going after No. 20 when the second-place Canadiens meet the fourth-place Boston Bruins in Montreal tonight. In the only other league game the fifth-place New York Rangers clash with the Maple Leafs at Toronto.

Mosdell, long, lean and still having trouble with a knee injury and sore thumb, says he was "surprised" when he was recently named all-star centre in the half-season selection by sports writers.

"Sure, I've been playing well. I should be. I'm centering Richard and Olmstead. You can't help but be better with wingmen like that."

Since he broke into professional hockey in 1941, with the old Brooklyn Americans, Kenny, a native of Montreal, has had only one year in which he scored more than 15 goals. That was in the 1948-49 season when he tallied 17.

SIDELINED

In those years, however, the 170-pound centre was sidelined by such injuries as a broken leg, broken wrist, broken shoulder, a couple of shoulder separations and sundry bruises and charleyhorses.

Mosdell will be back at his centre spot tonight, after a week's rest while Canadiens were on an exhibition tour. On the right wing will be Richard, who will be gunning for his 26th goal of the year and a chance to take over the scoring leadership from Gordie Howe of league-leading Detroit.

In three games Sunday night, the Canadiens return to Boston for a game against the Bruins, the Leafs meet the last-place Black Hawks in Chicago and the Rangers go against the Red Wings in Detroit.

Choong Brothers Battle Way To Victory

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The players ran through the books of smashing forearm and backhand drives trick shots and fakery Friday night to battle their way into the semi-finals of the Strathgowan Club's 10th Annual International Invitation Badminton Tournament.

By early morning it was clear that the top-ranking shuttle artists were unchallenged in their quest for the trophies of this premier Canadian competition.

Heading the list of international stars who battled successfully through the singles and doubles preliminaries of the seeded events were Eddie and David Choong of Penang, Malaya, acclaimed the world's greatest players.

The young brothers, students of law in London, will join Don Smythe, Canadian men's singles champion and Gordie Simpson of Montreal in the singles semi-finals this afternoon. Eddie, seeded No. 1, will meet the fourth-seeded Simpson and David, unseeded, will play Smythe, seeded No. 2.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

The winners will meet each other in the finals Sunday afternoon.

Smythe and his partner, Bud Porter, Simpson and his partner, Bill Purcell, of Toronto also advanced to the doubles semi-finals.

Two Canadians and two Americans will compete in the semi-finals of the women's singles. Marge Shedd of Toronto, Canadian women's singles champion and No. 1 seed, will meet unseeded Joan Hennessey of Toronto and Peg Varner of Mt. Holyoke, Mass., No. 3 seed, will play the second-seeded Judy Devlin of Baltimore.

NEVER EXTENDED HIMSELF

The 23-year-old Eddie Choong never extended himself in the preliminaries. His trickling drop shots and smashing backhanders were too much for perspiring Art Young of Buffalo who went down 15-7, 15-7 in the first round. Choong then left Jack Moon of Toronto breathless with the same treatment, winning 15-4, 15-2.

His brother David sent Jack Muir of Toronto to the showers, winning 15-7, 15-5 in the first round. He defeated Bob Williams of Niagara Falls, N.Y., 15-5, 15-6 in the second round.

Players Get 8-Day Injunction

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Ralph Hosking and John Shedden, defencemen with the Owen Sound Mercury hockey club of the OHA Senior A series, Friday were granted a temporary injunction restraining the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association from suspending them.

The injunction, granted here by Judge J. F. P. Birnie, is good for eight days during which time the players will apply to the Ontario Supreme Court for a further injunction.

Tuesday the two players were suspended by the CAHA for failure to carry out the provisions of option agreement "C" under which they were given notice to report to the Springfield Hockey Club, a Quebec Hockey League team owned by Eddie Shore.

Hosking and Shedden consider that certain circumstances in connection with the signing of the "C" forms, and certain things in the "C" forms make them invalid and contrary to CAHA regulations.

Say Hockey Player May Lose Eyesight

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Doctors said Friday George Burke of the Troy team may not lose his sight as the result of an injury suffered Thursday night in an International Hockey League game.

They said blood from the haemorrhage in the eye was being absorbed naturally. Burke was accidentally struck in the eye by the stick of Ted Lebioda of Marion. Troy won the game 10-6.

Remember When—

Toronto's George Young won international fame 27 years ago today by winning the 20-mile Catalina channel swim off the California coast. He won a $25,000 prize offered by William Wrigley, Jr., and sparked the introduction of marathon swims at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto—one of which he won in 1931.

Argonauts Have 1st Choice Pick Halfback McFarlane

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, who by finishing last in the Big Four Union last season got the first selection in the league's annual draft of college football players, Friday picked halfback Bill McFarlane of the University of Toronto Blues as their No. 1 choice.

The Big Four clubs made their selections alternately of the graduating college football players. The lowest-placed clubs had the first chance in each round of selections. Ottawa Rough Riders, who ended up in third place last season, got the second choice each time, Montreal the third and the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats the fourth.

Montreal picked guard Don Mattason of Varsity in the first round, and immediately traded him to Toronto Argos for fullback Jacques Belec of Western, Argos' second choice. This completed a deal by which Al Dekdebrun went to Montreal last season from Toronto.

The players, in the order they were picked:

Toronto: Bill McFarlane, halfback, University of Toronto; Don Mattason, guard, Varsity; Wilmer Crawford, halfback, McMaster; Dennis Higgins, tackle, Western; Bill Koski, guard, Queens; Bob Fitzhenry, guard, McMaster; Bob Dale, halfback, Varsity; Joe Bernoit, centre, McGill.

Ottawa: George Klein, halfback, McGill; Len Shaw, fullback, McGill; Vince Capogreco, guard, McGill; Jack Waytt, halfback, Western; John McCombe, guard, Queen's; Murray Hadlow, halfback, Varsity; Mark Hatt, guard, McGill; Jack Roberts, quarterback, Queen's.

Stratford Indians Hitting Stride Upset Kitchener Dutchmen 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Resolutions are made to be broken. But Stratford Indians of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series don't look at it that way.

The Indians have won five of their six games since the new year started and two of those victories have been over the league's top teams.

Last night in Stratford they put away the second-place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 4-2 and 3,397 fans were on hand to see them continue their hot streak.

The Mercurys continued to pull ahead of the rest of the league by shutting out Chatham Maroons 6-0 in Chatham. The victory increased their lead over Kitchener to four points.

In the league's other game last night Niagara Falls Cataracts spotted Hamilton Tigers a 1-0 lead and then fought back for a 4-2 decision in Niagara Falls.

Sudbury Wolves of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series edged North Bay Trappers 4-3 in Sudbury.

The Indians rode to their victory on the strength of a 3-0 lead built up in the first and second periods by Dinny Flanagan, Bill Cupolo and Herve Dejordy. Bob Mader tallied the final Stratford goal in the third period. Jack McKenzie and Doug Verity counted for Kitchener in the same period.

The Mercurys had no trouble with the Maroons at Chatham, taking a 2-0 lead in the first period and increasing it to 3-0 in the second before capping off the night with a three-goal upsurge in the last stanza.

Jerry Reid, Ralph Hosking, Roy Lecki, Tom Burlington, Bill Hagen and Vern Gardiner each had a hand in the Owen Sound victory.

Bill Young, Ted Fauteux, Red Olsen and Eric Unger scored the markers that gave Niagara Falls its victory over the Tigers. Eddie Busch and Harvey Jacklin cashed in for Hamilton.

In Sudbury Andy Milne's goal at 15:50 of the third period broke up a tight battle which featured a standout performance by North Bay netminder Bob Mitchell who kicked out 47 shots. Yacker Flynn scored two goals for the Wolves with Hub Beaudry tallying the other. Ivan Chasle, Mike Bukacheski and Don Hogan were the Trapper marksmen.

Chatham is at Kitchener, Stratford at Hamilton and Owen Sound at Windsor Bulldogs in the OHA Saturday.

In the NOHA tonight Pembroke Lumber Kings go to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to meet the Greyhounds while Sudbury is at North Bay for the third meeting between the two clubs in three days. The Lumber Kings will play the Indians in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sunday.

Football Union Tackles Imports

TORONTO (CP)—The Big Four Football Union, concerned over expressions of alarm by fans and officials on the import question, will give that subject top consideration at its annual meeting here today.

Necessity of reducing costs and warnings that the present policy hinders development of Canadian players are the background to the problem which some teams in the east and west believe can be solved only by retrenchment.

The Big Four clubs are reported split on how to tackle the problem and the recommendation that the league will make to the Canadian Rugby Union is expected only after a close vote.

Besides the question of what the import limit should be, the problem involves what should be done about the present rule that allows Americans to be classified as non-imports after playing four successive years in Canada. All Big Four clubs have expressed opinions that the CRU should wipe out this rule. They believe that unless this is done the clubs will have 16 to 18 Americans in their line-ups in a few years.

Refresh Players With Half-Time Sniff Of Oxygen

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Slow to accept new-fangled ideas, British soccer is watching the results of an experiment in which a half-time sniff of oxygen is used to refresh the players.

Four league clubs now are using the technique and the football association has said it doesn't object. Results to date are inconclusive, although all four clubs are at or near the top of their respective leagues.

The clubs concede the half-time inhalation of oxygen may be no more physically beneficial than breathing the ordinary fog-laden atmosphere. But the players seem to get a psychological kick out of it and they plan to continue the habit.

MEDICAL SUPPORT

Doctors back their findings. Tests involving athletes on treadmills showed that since the human body has no way of storing oxygen a runner is no better off for breathing oxygen five minutes before exertion. Nor does he recuperate better for breathing oxygen five minutes after his run.

The best way to employ oxygen in athletics, the doctors noted, was to breathe it during the working period, although it was found that some worked harder when they thought they were getting it before the test.

The way it's being used by Wolverhampton Wanderers, West Bromwich Albion and Arsenal in the first division, and Leicester City in the second division, involves a sniff of about 30 seconds' duration at half-time. The players are sold on it.

MANAGERS SATISFIED

Stan Cullis, Wolverhampton manager, says "50 per cent of the oxygen equipment's benefit is psychological but it is useful when the atmosphere is heavy." The team uses it for exhaustion and injuries, too.

Vic Buckingham, manager of West Bromwich Albion which has been contesting the first division leadership with Wolverhampton all season, says oxygen is the next best thing to a half-hour interval at half-time, which isn't allowed. "Don't forget we were top of the league before we tried oxygen," he added.

Leicester City leads the second division. The first time they used oxygen the team scored seven second-half goals. The secomd time around, they banged in four goals during the last half.

As far as the authorities are concerned, oxygen comes under the heading of legal stimulants, like the champagne that one club doled out years ago at half-time in a final. And it's far more welcome than the gland treatment that Frank Buckley toyed with in prewar days at Wolverhampton. No club followed suit then, but oxygen may be a different matter.

City Council Pays Tribute To Sports' Champions With Banquet And Crests

By Cec. Perdue

Sport's champions of provincial or higher honors from Peterborough were officially recognized by the city council at a banquet Friday evening in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. Tribute was paid to about 150 athletes, representing seven championship teams, with Mayor Norman Graham, members of the city council, the recreation commission, and other officials present. Jim Vipond, sports editor of the Toronto Globe & Mail, was the guest speaker at the enjoyable event. Entertainment included music by Miss Betty Ferguson, a sing-song led by Ald. Stan McBride, and a comic number presented afterward by Mrs. Evelyn Johnston.

THE CHAMPIONS

Those honored were the local victors of Ontario titles, or better, in 1952 and 1953, since no civic dinner had been given the champion athlete of '52. The winners that year were the Petes' Timbermen as OLA, Eastern Canada and Canadian senior "A" lacrosse champions; the football Orfuns as provincial and Eastern Canada intermediate "A" victors; the UEW team as soccer intermediate champions of Ontario; Mrs. M. Charlton and Miss Vern Rose as Ontario ladies' double "B" badminton titleholders; and the juvenile "B" provincial lacrosse winners.

Last year's champions were the Petes' Trailermen again as Canadian senior lacrosse champions, the ORFU victorious Orfuns, the ornamental swimmers who won the USA team title and an international meet, and the OMHA bantam "A" hockey Shamrocks.

MAYOR PROUD

Ald. Gordon Powell, chairman of the reception committee of the city council, was master of ceremonies for the occasion. Mayor Norman Graham spoke first and thanked the many athletes present for the honors they brought to Peterborough. He also paid tribute to the officials who worked beind the scene to make these championships possible, and expressed the hope that sports would flourish here and that further titles would come this way.

Ald. Powell then presented the crests to the coaches of the lacrosse teams, the soccer club, the footballers, the minor hockeyists and the badminton players. Ald. Burrows (speaking for Ald. Mrs. A. Holt, who could not attend) then presented the civic crests to the ornamental swimmers.

Joe Gould presented his trophy to lacrosse coach Bob Thorpe for absentee Ross Powless, the most valuable player on the Petes' team the past season. Alex Sinclair followed up by presenting the Chas. Kearns Memorial Trophy to Bill Huntley of the grid Orfuns as the outstanding athlete in Peterborough during 1953.

VALUE OF SPORTS

Ald. Jack Dewart, introducing the main speaker, spoke highly of the value of sports to a community, and congratulated the various victors on their achievements in the past two years.

Guest speaker Jim Vipond, drawing on a vast experience in professional and amateur sports as a writer and sports editor in Toronto, spoke entertainingly on "sportsmanship". He mentioned recent incidents in the National Hockey League and spoke disparagingly of the criticism levelled at NHL referees and the NHL president by high-ranking club officials. Mr. Vipond, who lived at one time in Lakefield, and won a DFC overseas in the last war, wound up his speech by saying he had no use for any player deliberately injuring an opponent. "If you must fight in a game," he said, "drop your stick and use your fists—then shake hands with your opponent and go on playing." He was thanked by Ald. Powell.

SCORES BEST "COMEBACK"

The fabulous athlete who has been a headliner for more than 20 years barely edged out Ted Williams, slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder, for the "comeback" honor in the 23rd annual year-end Associated Press poll.

The sports world was shocked last April when doctors determined that the Babe had cancer of the lower rectum.

An immediate operation was decided upon, amid predictions that even though she was cured, the Babe was through as a golf competitor. Some said she'd never play golf again.

On Aug. 9, the Babe finished third behind Patty Berg and Louise Suggs in the "world" golf championship at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago—earned $1,000 and proved she was on the way back.

Now she plans to compete in all the ladies professional golf association tournaments this year, saying she never felt better in her life.

WINS SHARE OF HORSE

LONDON (AP)—A court fight over one-fortieth of a horse has ended in victory for Bernard van Cutsem over the Earl of Dunraven.

The horse is Alycidon, one of the best distance runners in recent British turf history. He has been syndicated as a stallion, the Earl being one of 40 shareholders.

Van Cutsem claimed he bought the earl's share through an agent for $7,000. He said the earl tried to back out on the deal when two of Alycidon's first batch of colts won as two-year-olds.

The earl denied he had authorized the agent to make the sale.

Thursday the court ruled for van Cutsem.

TO CONSIDER PROPOSAL

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—"Something is going to have to give," Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Friday upon his arrival here for Sunday's special meeting of the IOC executive committee.

The group will consider a proposal that the 1956 games be withdrawn from Melbourne and awarded elsewhere because of Australia's refusal to lift her quarantine on imported horses.

"Any way you look at it, we're going to have to break a rule," Brundage said. "If we decide to let Melbourne keep the games, then we would do so in violation of the rule that all events should be held at one site.

"If we move the games, then we will go against our original commitment and also the vote of confidence given Melbourne at our Mexico City meeting last April. It isn't a pretty picture."

The executive committee can't take decisive action on the matter. It can only recommend to the IOC general body, which meets in May at Athens, Greece.

RUSSIANS INVITED

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't be surprised if the Russians start running around the indoor tracks of the United States this season. They've been invited.

This was disclosed Friday by Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union.

He said that after he inquired whether the Russians would be interested in sending one or two athletes for the winter series of indoor track meets, he was visited two weeks ago by an official from the Soviet embassy in Washington.

"He said Russia wouldn't be interested in sending over one or two men, but would like to send a team of 15 or 20," said Ferris, adding:

"I told him we couldn't afford to pay expenses for such a team and was informed: 'Don't worry about that, we'd pay all the expenses.' "

Mustangs Whip Queen's 62-39

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—University of Western Ontario Mustangs Friday night defeated Queen's University 62-39 in a senior intercollegiate basketball game here.

Accurate foul shooting by Walt Karabin, Western's acting floor captain, highlighted the game as he dropped 17 of 19 free throws. Karabin took the place of Chris Ellis, out of action with an ankle injury.

Western, seeking its ninth league crown, was held in check by strong Queen's defences for the first half. Score at half time was 27-25 for Mustangs. Both teams missed repeatedly in shots from the floor.

In the third quarter, Gaels pulled ahead 31-30 on consecutive baskets by Don Lyon and Frank Donnelly. The edge didn't last long—Mustangs broke up Queen's defences and hit for 14 straight points to take the lead.

Western held the lead to the end.

Andersen Gets Off To Slow Start

The Norwegian Olympic champion raced his heat in 47.7 seconds. He placed second to Taketsugu Asazaka of Japan who finished in 47.4.

The two chief Russian threats both registered better times. Boris Shilkov finished in 45.5 and teammate Oleg Goncharenko in 46.8. The latter is the defending world champion.

Lyndhursts Tie Canucks 7-7

TORONTO (CP) — East York Lyndhursts, making their final showing before leaving next week for Europe as Canadian representatives in the world amateur hockey championship series in Stockholm Friday night tied Avro Canucks 7-7 in an exhibition game.

Lyndhursts, an Ontario Hockey Association Senior B team, are scheduled to sail from New York Jan. 22 on the tour that will take them to six European cities for exhibition contests before the world series in Sweden.

Bentley To Join Rangers Next Week

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers said Friday Doug Bentley, 37-year-old playing-coach of Saskatoon Quakers, will join the National Hockey League club in time for next Wednesday's game with Boston Bruins.

To make room for Bentley, a standout with Chicago Black Hawks for 11 seasons, the Rangers sent defenceman Hy Buller to Quakers of the Western Hockey League.

The addition of Bentley reunites for the first time since 1947 the brother combination of Doug and Max. The latter joined the team last fall.

For a time Thursday, the Rangers' chances of obtaining Bentley appeared slim. Doug said Rangers hadn't sent replacements for his shorthanded Saskatoon team. The Buller deal evidently satisfied him.

C's Take Game By 10 To 3 Over Hastings

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Hastings came out on the short end of a 10 to 3 score when they tangled with Campbellford in a TVL encounter in the Community Centre here on Friday night. The one-sided score hardly indicated the play. Hastings performed many neat passing plays and their defence stood up well, but the Campbellford team was just a little faster and stronger.

Campbellford's defence was weak on many occasions. Although he was kept off the score sheet, Kemp of Campbellford played an outstanding game. He set up many plays and stickhandled through the Hastings team a number of times, but his efforts did not pay off in actual goals. Eady and Simpson teamed up on three goals, and netted two of them within 11 seconds of each other.

Campbellford: Goal, Nelson; defence, Baker and Free; centre, Simpson; wings, Eady and Kemp; Alts.: Blake, Pace, Garvey, Dooher, Jeffs, Fields, McComb, Cole.

Hastings: Goal, Mulholland; defence, Sullivan and McGillen; centre, Morrow; wings, Killen and Wert; Alts.: Moliner, Basciano, Vyse, Cupoli, Ford, Donoghue, Orr, Dodds.

Referees—T. Cousins and F. Stewart of Deloro.

London Rink Wins Main 'Spiel Event

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Charlie Haskett's London Curling Club rink Friday night won the main event of the London club's annual invitation bonspiel for the fourth time in four years.

Russ Armstrong's rink from Hamilton Thistles took the second event with an 8-6 win over Russ Miller of London.

James Howard of Fergus defeated another London rink, skipped by Alex Wright, to take the third event in a 13-4 game.

Pete Gilbert of Chatham, reputed to be one of the top skips in Canada, went down to a 9-8 defeat as Normie Himes of Galt took the fourth-event trophy.

Two Canadians Enter Bing Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal. (AP)—Two Canadians entered in the annual 54-hole Bing Crosby $10,000 pro-amateur golf tournament here were well out of the running after first-round play Friday.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver posted a 75 on the par 72 Cypress Point course, far off the record-setting 63 pace set by Tony Holguin of San Antonio.

Gerald Kesselring of Toronto and Kitchener played Monterey course in 43-38—81, compared with par 35-37—72, and teamed with Jay Bedsworth, Lafayette, Calif., for a best-ball 40-35—75.

Howe Celebrates His 67th Birthday

His Liberal colleague from the Lakehead, Rev. Dan McIvor of Port Arthur, relieved the puzzlement by congratulating Mr. Howe on his 67th birthday.

Mr. Howe, who represents Fort William, was born Jan. 15, 1886, at Waltham, Mass. He came to Canada in 1908 and has been in the House and in the cabinet since 1935.

Odd Sculpture Unearthed Fraser Valley

VANCOUVER (CP) — Origin of carved stone figures and "human figure" bowls found from time to time in the Fraser valley and on Vancouver island in British Columbia still puzzles anthropologists and archaeologists.

Most recent find has no bowl at all and facial features, especially eyes and mouth, do not follow the pattern common in previous discoveries. The figure, found by Mrs. Leon King on Mayne island, is carved from an extremely heavy type of granite.

Since 1900 about 30 of the figures have been turned up, mostly by farmers cultivating their fields. Only one is known to have been found in an Indian grave.

The seated human figure bowl is not the only form of stone sculpture found, but it is the most finely worked. Most of them are made of a form of soapstone, usually showing a seated human figure, arms encircling or clasping a vessel held between the knees. Nearly all have ornamentation on top of the head. The more finely executed have holes through ear lobes and nose septum, suggesting the custom of wearing ear and nose ornaments by Indian tribes.

It is believed all the finds belong to the same cultural period.

Wilson Duff, provincial anthropologist, said the bowls evidently were not used for food or drink as some were of merely teaspoon size. Nor were they used as mortars to crush pigments or herbs, as there is no indication of abrasion or wear.

Exchange Visits Show 32% Increase

TORONTO (CP)—Exchange visits of high school students between French-speaking and English-speaking Canada increased last year by 32 per cent.

This was reported Friday at the annual meeting of Visites Interprovinciales, which sponsors the visits. There were 479 visits to English-speaking homes and 217 to those where the mother tongue is French.

Jean Bruchesi, undersecretary of state for Quebec and president of the organization, announced that this year the society will seek additional scholarships from service clubs to help needy students to participate.

Teepees Swamp Guelph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The pickings for Ontario junior hockey teams during their interlocking schedule with Quebec clubs aren't as easy as they were last season. Just ask the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Hamilton Cubs.

The Cubs, currently making their road trip against Quebec Junior Hockey League teams, have had no luck.

Friday night even after holding a 2-0 lead the Cubs dropped a 4-3 decision to Jonquiere Marquis. It was Hamilton's third straight loss in Quebec.

In Ontario action St. Catharines TeePees retained a one-point lead in their leadership of the OHA league by swamping the Biltmores 8-4 in Guelph.

Toronto Marlboros kept hot on the TeePees trail by edging their inter-city rivals, St. Michael's College Majors, 4-3 and Barrie Flyers moved into a two-way tie for fourth place by outlasting Galt Black Hawks 9-7 in Barrie.

EARLY LEAD

Cummy Burton and Bill Stewart built Hamilton a 2-0 lead before the game in Jonquiere was four minutes old. Marlin McAleerdin wrapped up the scoring for the Cubs in the same period after Claude Chabot and Rousseau scored for the Marquis. Claude St. Jean tied the score near the 15-minute mark of the second period and Gaston Bordeleau won it with little more than two minutes remaining in the period.

Old standby Brian Cullen scored three goals and collected two assists for the TeePees. Nineteen penalties were asssed, 11 of them to St. Catharines.

St. Michael's also had a lead against Marlboros when captain Ted Toppazzini scored in the first period. But Gerry James scored his first of two goals before the period ended to tie it up. His second counter and Tom McCarthy's goal in the middle stanza put the Dukes in front for good and Wally Maxwell potted the winner in the last session. Marc Reaume and Les Duff scored the other Major goals.

MATAN SCORED FIVE

The Black Hawks followed suit by taking a 3-0 lead over the Flyers before the game was five minutes old. But the Flyers knotted the score before the period ended and went ahead 7-4 in the second. Johnny Martan bagged five goals to pace the winners. Cleland Mortson clicked twice and Jim Robertson, George Raneiri, Bill Hope and Bob White scored the others. Chick Chalmers, Neil McDonald, John Sleaver, Hec Lalande, Ed Switzer, Frank Bettiol and Ashley were the Galt marksmen.

Montreal Royals are at Galt for an interlocking clash tonight. Kitchener Greenshirts head for St. Catharines for the other Saturday game.

The Royals shift to Toronto to meet St. Michael's Sunday with Guelph and Marlboros filling out the other half of the doubleheader. Hamilton tries its luck against the Reds in Trois-Rivieres the same day.

A. Lucas Rolls High

In the Wednesday afternoon bowling loop, A. Lucas rolled 225, 231 and 199 for 655, while G. Milliken hit a 605, including 216 and 204. Terrors had high game of 923 and Rockets top three of 2509. Rockets won three from Wild Cats and Terrors three from Playfairs, as two each were taken by Eager Beavers, Whizz Bangs, Happy Gang and Cisco Kids over Dinkies, Bombers, Tornadoes and Ramblers.

Young Peoples' Party

BANCROFT — (ENS)—Thirty-five children attended the Young People's party sponsored by the Anglican church and held in the Community Hall at Lake St. Peter this week.

The youngsters played table and group games organized by the rector, the Rev. Owen E. Johnston, and a meal was served by the Anglican ladies of the village. Each child received a gift bag of fruit, nuts and candy.

The rector announced that confirmation classes would begin soon and hoped that the party would be the beginning of a revival of the work of the Anglican church in Lake St. Peter.

Work In Abbey To Sort Out German Records

AACHEN, Germany (AP)—In a Benedictine abbey near here a handful of former German soldiers are working over 650 tons of jumbled German army records.

The task has taken on importance because thousands of former Wehrmacht officers and men have volunteered for the 500,000 - man force West Germany plans to contribute to the proposed European army.

Before these men can be accepted, their records from the last war must be thoroughly checked. A special research centre will be set up near Bonn early next year.

The 650 tons of records have been gathered during the last year from points throughout West Germany. So far, 1,700,000 identification papers, 5,400,000 service papers and hundreds of volumes of health records have been collected.

The West German defence commission has stipulated that a former member of the Wehrmacht will not be accepted for the European army if his records show convictions for crimes during the war.

Pays Tribute To Church Group

BANCROFT —(ENS)—The annual vestry meeting of St. Michael's Church, Coe Hill, was held Wednesday at the home of Mr. A. Tivy. The rector, the Rev. Owen E. Johnston was in the chair. The treasurer's report, showing a satisfactory balance, was tabled by Fred Whitmore and Mrs. T. Davidson reported on the Women's Guild finances. A. J. Aggett said that all cemetery bills had been paid and several new pieces of caretaking equipment purchased.

The rector paid tribute to the work of the small group belonging to the church and to the work of his predecessor, the Rev. Walter Smith.

Mr. Aggett was elected people's warden and Mr. F. Whitmore appointed rector's warden for 1954. Mr. Whitmore was also elected secretary-treasurer and lay delegate to the Synod for three years.

A committee was appointed, consisting of the rector, the two wardens and two members to be selected by the guild, to consider the erection in the church of a memorial to the late R. S. Tivy. It will also consider the purchase of new furnishings and equipment and the establishment of a cemetery board. It was decided that the insurance on the church be doubled. Members also discussed plans for the expansion of the work of the Anglican church in the area.

Mrs. Tivy and Mrs. Davidson served lunch.

Trapper Found Guilty Of Murdering Wife

YELLOWKNIFE, N. W. T. (CP) Frederick Cardinal, 46-year-old trapper and former RCMP guide, Friday was found guilty of murdering his wife last May 8. He was sentenced to be hanged May 4 at Fort Smith, N. W. T.

Theatre is admittedly a risky field for speculation. But Fry's "The Dark is Light Enough" shapes as the logical vehicle on which Miss Hyland should ride to star status four jammed years after her professional debut.

"It's a part that—grr!" said Miss Hyland, clenching her small hands and her jaw. She's been served a meaty portion of Fry's versified wit and wisdom in his costume melodramatic comedy due to reach London early in April.

PREFERS COSTUME ROLES

"The theatre makes me so nervous I almost pass out before going on," said Miss Hyland. "That's why I prefer costume roles—the audiences can't see my knees knocking."

Since her debut in 1950 there's been time for just one week's holiday. The girl with the low, musical voice has strung together an impressive list of good and glowing reviews for work among London's most distinguished theatre people.

When Miss Hyland—or Franny—says this will be "my first really own big stage part, in a way," she means that her leading roles in "A Streetcar Named Desire" and Sir John Gielgud's "A Winter's Tale" were taken over from other actresses.

In television, whic she prefers for its "quiet, intimate and developing" techniques, she's appeared in five big British Broadcasting corporation dramas and won high praise.

CHALLENGE TO CRITICS

The critics grope for words in trying to assess her qualities. A sample verdict is TV reviewer Peter Black's speculation that her "unusual gift of forcing attention without apparent effort" lies outside her face, despite the high cheekbones, wide-set grey eyes and small chin in a sensitive face.

"Something rarer, a quality of feeling a part, which actresses can develop but not acquire," The Daily Mail critic decided.

Miss Hyland, whose witty, easy-flowing and expressive personality belies the inner tension that "tears me to pieces" in some parts, avoids such self-analysis.

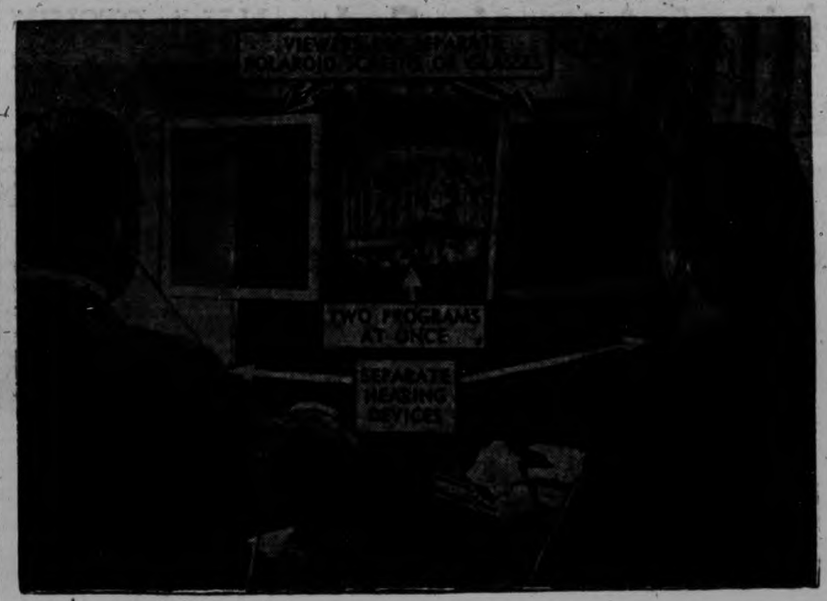
20 CIGARETTES DAILY

She prefers to chat about a host of things, her likes and dislikes in theatre, "where I'm often cast to suffer nobly, although I've always thought I could make people laugh." She likes films, people, cricket and Canada—and 20 cigarets a day unless she's in rehearsal.

Miss Hyland, a University of Saskatchewan graduate who attended the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art here on a scholarship, had to turn down a chance to appear at the second Stratford, Ont., Shakespearian festival with James Mason. Commitments permitting, she hopes to make the trip next year.

Minister Dies

PRESTON (CP)—Rev. Forham Clifton Gifford, 72, a minister of the United Church, died Friday after a heart attack. Born in Laurentian Valley, Que., he came to Ontario as a child, receiving his elementary education at St. Thomas. He was graduated from the University of Western Ontario in London and was ordained at St. Thomas in 1912.



DISPUTE SETTLER — A new TV set shown at the American Furniture Mart in Chicago, Ill., should do much to settle husband-wife disputes concerning which program they are going to watch. The new set solves the problem for them—it gets two programs at the same time. Each viewer can watch his favorite program by looking at the screen through a polaroid window. Separate earphones are provided for each viewer.

Holiday Air As Indians Ready To Step Out

By JOHN RANDOLPH

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Indian Village took on a holiday air today as Indian custodial troops completed plans for turning back to the Allies and Communists about 22,400 war prisoners who refused to go home.

"It's like the last day of school," one Indian major said. "Everyone is going around with big smiles."

The Indians went ahead with plans to start turning back the prisoners next Wednesday even as they awaited reaction from the two commands. A spokesman reiterated that answers due by midnight tonight would not alter plans to return the PoWs.

There was no further word from the Communist Peiping radio which Friday night told Chinese troops in Korea that the Allies would threaten the truce by accepting 22,000-Red Koreans and Chinese from the Indians.

The Reds were expected in most quarters to object violently to the turn-back proposal, but some Allied officers said there was a possibility of a startling Communist about-face. They did not elaborate.

The United Nations command put finishing touches on preparations for handling the first anti-Communist prisoners Wednesday.

Some 560 trucks, seven 21-car trains, three hospital trains, a new tent city and 16 big landing ships have been mobilized to handle the prisoners.

One train and eight truck convoys of 17 vehicles each will make "dry runs" Sunday to check preparations and to give control officers an opportunity to check times and drill their staffs.

The trains will be used to move about 8,000 Koreans south. More than 14,000 Chinese will be moved by truck.

The Koreans will be sent to South Korean induction centres for processing and release. The Chinese will be put aboard the landing ships for the trip to Formosa.

Each vessel will carry about 1,000 Chinese. The ships have been outfitted with heaters, sleeping mats, special cooking utensils and food to suit Chinese taste.

A Chinese - language Peiping broadcast Friday night told Red troops in Korea that American acceptance of the prisoners from the Indians would make the Korean situation more critical. It added next Saturday "will wreck the Korean truce."

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea told a press conference in Seoul that he personally will free North Korean prisoners after they are turned over to him.

London's Drama Critics Cheer Reginas' Tiny Frances Hyland

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Diminutive Frances Hyland of Regina, picked for stardom by London's demanding drama critics, seems destined to join the Claire Blooms and Dorothy Tutins this year.

Marked with the indefinable something even the critics can't nail down, the blonde, 24-year-old girl from the wheat belt has won a "prize" part in what should be one of the events of the London theatre season. It's a new Christopher Fry play, specially written in three years for Dame Edith Evans, who takes the main role among a strong cast.

U. K. Mission In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Twelve British textile machinery manufacturers arrived Friday for negotiations with the Soviet government. A spokesman said if their anticipations are realized they will get a "pretty big order." The group, which came here on Soviet invitation, said they expected their talks here would last a fortnight.

Few Ever See Panthers In New Brunswick

FREDERICTON (CP) — A New Brunswick wildlife expert says the reason that panthers have been reported more frequently in the province's forests of late is not that there are more panthers but that more people have been looking for them.

The expert, Bruce S. Wright who heads the northeastern wildlife station here, says records show that only six panthers have been killed in New Brunswick in the last 73 years. Wright and his assistants, none of whom have ever seen a panther, have been able to turn up unmistakable panther signs on an average of only twice a year.

Wright, taking notice of reports late last year that panthers were on the increase in New Brunswick, issued a statement about the situation.

"The great increase in the number of reports in recent years can be largely attributed to the following facts: There are many times more hunters in the woods today than there were 25 years ago. They also have many more miles of woods roads passable by car than they did then. There are, therefore, many more pairs of eyes looking for about the same number of panthers, and they are covering much larger areas than they ever did before," he said.

The wildlife expert has a good word for the panther, although he admits that no biologist would attempt to whitewash it as "an animal that should be preserved in close relationship with men."

"The panther is neither saint nor inveterate sinner, and it has lived here without doing serious harm longer than we have," he said.

"There is no reason why it should not be allowed to continue to do so and afford a thrilling sight for those very few who will ever be fortunate enough to see it."

Guiding Spirit of Atomic Sub Fought Navy To Win Goal

Note: This is the last of two articles on the history making first atomic-powered submarine.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When the USS Nautilus, history's first atomic submarine, grates into the water on its launching Thursday, a skinny, temperamental genius takes his place on the pages of American history next to such men as Robert Fulton, Thomas Edison, Robert Morse and the Wright brothers.

He is Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, the brains, inspiration and energy behind the A-sub which heralds a new era in weapons and opens the door to great new civilian uses of atomic energy.

Typical of Rickover's impatience with dwelling on past deeds is this snappish comment on his sub, made on the eve of a triumph few men achieve:

"We expect tremendous improvement in nuclear power utilization as we go ahead. It is the hope that we can use nuclear power directly instead of via steam; that we can put a few shovels full of material in a hopper, as some people have said, and utilize more directly th heat derived therefrom."

Talk like this from the admiral frightens the people who work with him. They know that when he sets his sights on some such goal he'll lash himself and everyone around into a frenzy of work until it's accomplished.

A-SUB'S SKIPPER—Comdr. Eugene Parks Wilkinson, of Long Beach, Calif., 35-year-old father of four children, who will be first commander of the Nautilus, was commissioned in the Naval Reserve in 1940 after graduating from San Diego State College and studying at USC. An A.B. in chemistry, he attended sub school at New London, Conn., served in submarines from June, 1943, to November, 1944, then was a sub school instructor.

DEFIES TRADITION

Rickover's consuming drive to accomplish a project in defiance of tradition—and accepted channels—makes him one of the most controversial figures in Washington today, despite the great vindication that the launching of the Nautilus gives to his unbridled efforts in its behalf.

The fascinating story of this eccentric, who nearly had his career nipped in the bud at the moment of triumph, is told in an interesting, inside report on him in a book to be published simultaneously with the launching of the Nautilus. It is called "The Atomic Submarine and Admiral Rickover," (Henry Holt) and written by Clay Blair, a Washington reporter.

Blair reveals for the first time the details of inner-Navy politics which Rickover had to fight to get his sub built and his promotion troubles.

Rickover's parents were Polish immigrants who moved to Chicago. He got through high school working as a Western Union messenger. He was a stubborn youth and "lone operator." His father once had to chip his teeth to force medicine down him.

He was overjoyed at his appointment to Annapolis in 1918 because it was a free education, he figured. At the academy he studied hard, avoided sports and most outside activities, couldn't afford the social life the others had and continued as a lone wolf.

Blair sums up Rickover's naval career this way.

"He would constantly criticize what he called the 'stupidity' of the Navy, the outdated, unnecessary regulations. He would challenge the unwritten rules which make politicking of importance to naval personnel; the unspoken regulation which made it mandatory to attend cocktail parties and other social events. He would make war against the lethargy, the laziness, the indifference which he found in some quarters of the peacetime, between-World Wars Navy. He would ferret out and attempt to eliminate waste and inefficency."

SEA DUTY

After graduation Rickover did duty aboard destroyers, battleships, subs and in shipyards, and became an electrical engineering specialist. At the start of the Second World War he was redesigning electrical systems of the fleet to make them more battleworthy and did a brilliant job of it. During the fighting he set up a ship repair yard on Okinawa.

Rickover got his nuclear theory grounding at the Atomic Energy Commission's lab at Oak Ridge, Tenn., just after the war. He headed a group beginning work on an atomic sub. After months of significant, pioneer work on the project he discovered to his dismay that a similar group had been created in the Navy's Bureau of Ships, but operating on the belief that the A-sub was something only for the far-distant future. Rickover was going on the assumption that it was achievable in a few years.

HIT SNAG

In the fall of 1947 Rickover's dream boat was grounded by a low-tide of interest in it in both the Navy and AEC. So he figured out a scheme to refloat it. He drafted a letter for the then Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Nimitz, to send to the Secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan for approval, figuring this would stir action. It called for more speed on the A-sub project.

Next was a needling attack sparked by Rickover against disinterest in the AEC. This he did by ghost-writing speeches on the subject for the admirals.

A selection board, composed of admirals, passed him over twice for promotion to admiral, which should have sent him into retirement. However, AEC spokesmen, congressmen and just about everyone who had worked with him on the sub sprang to his defense. The result was when the new Secretary of Navy Robert Anderson came in with the Republicans, Rickover was made an admiral.

There is one thing promotion to admiral did not do to Rickover. It did not make him or his atomic sub any less controversial within the Navy.

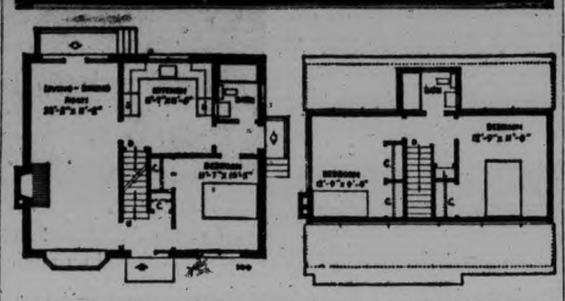
Just before the big launching his enemies began spreading the word throughout the Pentagon—making sure that the reporters there heard—that the Nautilus itself would never be able to get in combat if war came. They claimed that it was strictly experimental and that future atomic subs would be sharply different from the one Rickover had pioneered.

His reply to these claims: they are just more of the same sabotage which had been carried on against him ever since he got started on the sub. He says the Nautilus will be capable of combat if the time ever comes.

Rickover's new assignment is supervisor for the AEC of the first full-scale industrial reactor now being built. It's considered one of the commission's most important projects. Like the Nautilus, it gives Rickover a chance to show the way to new uses of atomic power.

THE MAN BEHIND THE NAUTILUS — The story of Admiral Rickover (right) by his biographer, Clay Blair (standing), will be launched the same day the submarine goes down the ways.

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH



This three-bedroom, 1½-storey house designed by architects Wilson and Newton, of Toronto, has a simple but pleasing exterior that should appeal to many prospective home-owners.

The roomy interior plan is just as attractive and features a large living-dining room which runs the full depth of the house. A bay window, overlooking the lawn, and two windows flanking a doorway leading to the back garden provide a pleasant and bright atmosphere. The fireplace serves as the focal point for the arrangement of furniture in the living section.

A large kitchen, with a U-shaped arrangement of cupboards and equipment, a bathroom and bedroom complete the lower-floor plan. Two additional bedrooms and a second bathroom are located upstairs.

The house has a total floor area of 1,210 square feet and a cubic measurement of 18,335 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions of the house are 30 feet two inches by 24 feet 10 inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 300, may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Twenty members answered the roll call by telling a way of saving money.

Mrs. T. Payton gave a talk on good eating habits. She was assisted by Mrs. Roy Farrow who demonstrated the making of salads.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Sanderson and her committee.

Collegians Get Allowance For High Grades In Russia

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—Every Russian university student maintaining a certain level of excellence draws an allowance from the state.

Dr. Pavil Zymine, deputy minister of education [illegible] Canadian Press that between 85 and 90 per cent of students training to become teachers draw the allowance.

It goes only to student grades "five" and "four" (equivalent to "A" and "B" in Canada) in university entrance examinations and must be justified from term to term by continued good work.

A "three" cancels the allowance for the next term. It may be restored by higher marks at the next exams. Similarly, a non-recipient may earn an allowance by obtaining the necessary marks at his examinations.

Students entering university-level institutes from high school with gold or silver medals are exempt from examinations and automatically draw the stipend.

For the first term it is 220 rubles. Requalification after the first examinations raises the "regular stipend," as it is called, to between 320 and 350 rubles monthly.

(For exchange purposes the Soviet government values the ruble at 25 cents. Its purchasing value is from five to eight cents.)

Additionally, outstanding students may be awarded a "personal stipend" for application and excellence. They are for a year and worth between 500 and 600 rubles monthly.

An outstanding undergraduate student, therefore, might have a monthly income of between 820 and 950 rubles.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

There have been three types of pedagogical institute: The four-year pedagogical school; the two-year-institute and the four-year institute.

Pedagogical school graduates may teach only the first four grades. Their salaries begin at 490 rubles a month in rural areas, 650 rubles in the city.

The two-year institute was an interim measure, introduced when compulsory education was extended from five to seven years. To teach higher grades under the compulsory system now being introduced, its graduates must requalify. Most are doing so by correspondence. Teachers of fifth, sixth and seventh grades earn from 605 to 765 rubles monthly.

Pay is based on an 18-hour week for specialists, 24 hours for elementary-grade teachers. Overtime is paid.

The four-year institute qualifies teachers for eighth, ninth and 10th years. Its graduates have BA status and earn 690 to 850 rubles monthly.

Teachers earning the title "honored teacher" obtain a 10-per-cent increase.

SALARY INCREASES

Teachers get automatic salary increases: Five per cent after five years, 15 after 15 and 25 after 20.

They are eligible, after five years' experience, for promotion to principal, worth 735 rubles in a small school, to 1,150 in a large one. A principal who teaches 12 hours weekly draws the full teacher's salary in addition. That can mean 2,000 rubles a month.

For post-graduate studies there is an elaborate system of stipendia and salary arrangements.

Dr. Zymine said extension of compulsory education to the 10th grade is producing a teacher problem which is being remedied in part by giving teachers more work.

School inspectors work in pairs, usually do one thorough inspection of each school a year, and a second to see how recommendations are being implemented. They have from 10 to 24 schools to inspect and are paid an automatic 10-per-cent increase over their former earnings as teacher or principal.

Professors in the institutes earn from 2,600 to 6,500 rubles monthly, depending on their responsibilities and scholastic or scientific attainments.

Your Garden:

Gardener Can Keep Busy Even In Chilly Weather

By HENRY PREE, (NEA)

Winter gardening is easy unless one has a greenhouse or tries to maintain a multitude of house plants of varying types of culture. However, the outdoor gardener can, if he is ambitious, find an outlet for his pent-up energy.

Pruning, at least a start at it on warm weekends, is a mid-winter chore. The old gardener warns the novice not to cut back any of the early flowering shrubs — like the lilac and forsythia — which should be pruned in early summer just after flowering.

The fruit tree pruning program, too, can be started, and it is a good time to apply dormant sprays to fruit trees and shrubs.

INDOOR BLOSSOMING

Since we have had a number of killing frosts the trees and shrubs are dormant, so when pruning apple, peach and pussy willow trees save some of the cutting for indoor blossoming. Place the cuttings in water and keep in a cool, shady place until the buds are ready to open.

Never put them directly in the sun when they first brought in. If by chance you do cut some forsythia and flowering quince, they can be forced into indoor bloom.

"There are few plants so useful as the English ivy and its many offspring," writes Montague Free, author of "All About House Plants". It will grow in full sun or dense shade; it can endure subzero temperatures, and also will thrive as a house plant in rooms where the temperature seldom goes below 60 degrees, providing the air is not allowed to become too dry.

It can climb trees and unpainted masonry walls by means of aerial rootlets which force their way into every chink or cranny and firmly hold its branches to the support. It is equally happy as a creeper, mantling the ground with a cover dense enough to inhibit weed growth. In home or greenhouse it can be grown in soil, or it can be kept for months on end in just plain water.

CAN CLIMB 60 FEET

The English ivy is as many sided in its appearance as it is in adaptability to its environment. Some varieties, if given the opportunity, climb to a height of 60 feet or more; others are comparatively dwarf. The leaf size may vary from about one inch to almost six inches.

The differences between varieties are not always apparent throughout the entire year — plants which seem identical in summer may be entirely different in fall and winter.

From some individual plant it is easily possible to select a dozen leaves so different from each other that anyone unfamiliar with the vagaries of ivy would swear they came from a dozen different varieties.

Gardening Questions

Q—Can tuberous begonias be propagated through cuttings in addition to the tubers?

A—It is practically impossible to propagate tuberous begonias except by dividing the large tubers when the new sprouts have become plainly visible, and then you must not attempt to get too many divisions or none may survive.

Q—After receiving a newly-potted Amarylis bulb — what to do is the question?

A—Water the soil at once, then place in a dark but moderately warm place and water every three weeks or so until signs of life are evident. Then place in a sunny window, water more freely as growth advances and turn the pot half around daily in order to keep the flower stem straight for it tends to pull toward the light.

Keene Women Hear Account British Tour

KEENE (ENS) — The January meeting of the Tillicum class was held at the home of Mrs. George Hawkes on Thursday evening. The new president for 1954, Edith Eason, was in the chair, and twenty-five members answered the roll call with "A New Year's Resolution. The meeting opened with a call to worship.

Velma McFarlane read a poem, "Three Minutes a Day." Marilyn McIntyre gave the scripture reading and Mary Mather read a poem "The Day Was Long." Evelyn Anderson led in prayer, Alberta Sexsmith read a poem, "This Moment," the hymn "The Day Thou Gavest Me" was sung, Evelyn Richardson read a peom, "Thoughts," and Isobel Wismer gave a reading, "How Long Since You've Looked Up?" The worship service closed with the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers."

A business session followed, during which cards and letters of thanks were read from persons who were remembered at Christmas. A notice was read from the Canadian Cancer Society announcing its annual meeting to be held on January 28. It was decided to send a contribution to the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Fred Eason, who gave an account of her trip to England during October and November of 1953, when she and Mr. Eason attended the unveiling of the Memorial at Runnymede.

Hostesses Grace Hawkes, Flora Stark, Dorothy Given and Ruth Nelson served refreshments.

Snow-Melting Systems 'Shovel' Snow

By MR. FIX

Snow is the fluffy stuff that white Christmas dreams are made on. But it's a figurative pain in the neck to homemakers when tracked into the house, and sometimes a literal pain in the neck to pedestrians. Besides being a bane to neat housekeeping and an accident hazard, it has to be removed, one way or another, from sidewalks and driveways.

One of the quickest and safest ways of doing so is to employ, not the neighbor's kid and his shovel, but snow-melting hot-water pipes embedded in concrete or "blacktop."

If you're thinking of resurfacing concrete walks and driveways, or of surfacing unpaved ones, it would be a good time to consider the advantages of such a system.

First of all, a 50-foot-long driveway might be equipped with a snow-melting system for as little as $300, but cost depends on local conditions — including the amount of snowfall to be expected, besides the area of the surface affected.

The cost of operation is surprisingly low, according to one manufacturer of steel pipe often used in snow-melting systems. It averages seven to 15 cents per thousand square feet of surface for every inch of snowfall. The typical automatic installation is designed to melt snow on sidewalks and driveways at the rate of one inch per hour, with a solution heated to only 100 degrees.

In many homes that have boiler heat, the same boiler that heats the house and supplies domestic hot water will be adequate for the snow-melting system, when a heat exchanger is installed. But it should be a separate system from the regular heating plant.

If your heating system is of the forced air or gravity type, a separate hot-water boiler can be installed to supply heat for snow melting.

Snow-melting systems are kept from freezing with a solution of a permanent antifreeze and water. Sometimes special light oils are used.

Likelihood of pipe failure is said to be extremely remote if the system is properly installed and tested. It is vital to keep any corrosive element out of contact with pipe coils.

A "blacktop" bituminous mix can be used in the heated slab as well as concrete. Snow-melting systems in operation do not raise the surface temperature of the slab near as high as does the summer sun, so softening doesn't become excessive.

In estimating the cost of the concrete or "blacktop" alone, bear in mind that the slab should not be less than five inches thick for sidewalks or driveways. The pipe coils should have at least two inches of paving above and beneath them. The installation also calls for six to eight inches of crushed stone fill beneath the slab.

Snow-melting systems can be operated manually—just a flip of a switch when snow begins to fall — or automatically with an electric-eye switch that sends the anti-freeze solution through the coils when falling snow reaches the point to which the "eye" has been adjusted.

What could be easier than that?

DANGER OF SLIPPING and falling and hazards of snow shovelling are eliminated upon installation of snow-melting systems.

Miner Sentenced To 12 Years For Mansaughter

HAILEYBURY (CP) — Walter Okonski, 31-year-old Polish-born gold miner from Kirkland Lake, has been sentenced to 12 years in penitentiary for manslaughter in the bludgeon-slaying last November of his 47-year-old wife, Maria.

Evidence was that he battered her with an electric iron after a drinking party argument during which he accused her of letting another man kiss her.

Okonski was tried for murder. A jury in Ontario Supreme Court deliberated for more than two hours Friday before finding him guilty of manslaughter, a verdict Okonski's lawyer had urged the jury to bring in.

PREMEDITATION LACKING

Defence counsel W. C. Inch of Cobalt said there was no doubt Okonski killed the woman he met and married in Europe but he contended the slaying was not planned in advance.

Crown attorney Howard Walter said in his address to the jury Okonski had sought to rid himself of his wife and deserved the full penalty of the law. Even if another man had kissed the woman, he said, "Is that motive enough for a brutal killing, either in law or in moral sense?"

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel asked Okonski if he had anything to say before sentence was passed. Okonski burst into tears and said:

"I have no mother. I have no father. Everybody was killed, all killed during the war. I am alone and everybody is against me."

Practice Bombing Missions Under Way

FOR. FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—The first of 10 practise bombing missions was carried out early today over northern Minnesotas' Upper Red lake, with sharp earth tremors signalling the event in Kelliher, Minn.

Residents of the community, 15 miles southeast of the bombing area, said they felt the rumblings but did not see the bombs or planes.

The "raids" are being conducted by the United States Air Force bases at Albuquerque, N. M., and Rapid City, S. D., using B36s and B47s.

The bombs were aimed at floating targets on the 25-mile-long lake, 60 miles south of the Canadian border.

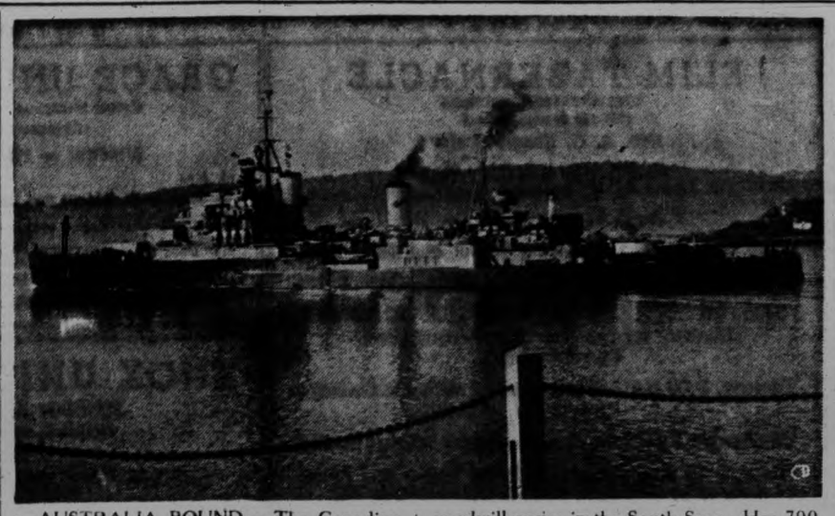
13 Provincial Ridings Will Hold Convention

PETROLIA (CP)—Gordon Bell, president of the Lambton Liberal Association, said today a convention of 13 provincial ridings will be held in Chatham early in March to lay plans to revitalize the section.

These ridings are expected to be represented: Windsor-Sandwich, Windsor-Walkerville, Essex North, Essex South, Lambton East, Lambton West, Kent East, Kent West, Middlesex North, Middlesex South, London, Elgin and Oxford.

Prepare For Stock

OAKVILLE (CP)—The stork has been making so many landings at the Oakville-Trafalgar hospital that the hospital has decided to buy a set of obstetrical instruments for home delivery of babies. Officials said the maternity ward was overcrowded by 33 per cent last month and expectant mothers will be advised to have their babies at home under hospital staff care if no room can be found for them at the hospital.



AUSTRALIA BOUND — The Canadian cruiser Ontario sails from Esquimalt, B.C., on the first leg of a three-month training and goodwill cruise in the South Seas. Her 700 officers and men will take part in ceremonies honoring the Queen at Hobart, Tasmania, February 11-23.

Canadian Legion Expects Protest On Meyer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

How have Canadians taken the news that German war criminal Kurt Meyer may soon be freed from a life sentence?

First reactions indicated few were jubilant. An official of one servicemen's and ex-servicemen's organization, the Canadian Legion, said he expects strong protests. Only two of the Canadian Army men concerned in his trial were outspokenly pro or con.

One of those who welcomed the news that Meyer soon will be released was Fred Lichtenberg, German-born contractor in Moncton, N.B., spokesman for a largely-anonymous group which worked for Meyer's release. Lt.-Col. Maurice Andrew of Stratford, Ont., who defended Meyer in 1945, also said he is happy to hear that the life sentence has been commuted to 14 years and Meyer soon will be freed.

USELESS SITUATION

Another view was taken by Lt.-Col. Clarence Campbell, one of the prosecutors who said in Montreal that Meyer's death sentence never should have been changed. But, since it had first been commuted to life imprisonment and now 14 years, "I can see no point in perpetuating a useless situation in maintaining him in custody at our expense for no useful purpose."

In Halifax, president James Turpin of Scotia branch of the Canadian Legion said his branch will protest the release. But R. V. Hogan, past-president of the branch, suggested that perhaps a "more charitable" view be taken—"perhaps he's learned his lesson."

The general secretary of the legion's Dominion command in Ottawa, T. D. Anderson, said "we're going to get some very strong complaints from our branches." He recalled that the legion always has opposed any reduction in the sentence.

HAS CONFIDENCE

From Windsor, Ont., Bruce J.S. Macdonald chief prosecutor at Meyer's trial, said he has "no critical comment." He said he has confidence in the recommendation of Brig. Sherwood Lett who represented Canada at a recent review of Meyer's case and that of Johann Neitz, convicted of trying to kill an air force officer.

The man who commuted Meyer's sentence to life imprisonment, Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, declined to comment in Edmonton. Similar remarks were made by H. P. Bell-Irving, member of the court which sentenced him, and Brig. Lett, now chancellor of the University of British Columbia.

Stock Market Activity Indicates Strong Year Now Shaping Up

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock market activity this week indicated a strong year shaping up.

Toronto and New York markets were sharply upward and Montreal although stronger, was quiet.

In Toronto, industrials moved forward on a wide front. Papers, steels, motors and banks were strong elements. Ford reached an all-time high of $70.50 Friday. The possibility of a stock split in the near future was considered one reason for the rise.

Several paper issues were strong. Powell River and St. Lawrence finished at new highs.

Western oils were strong at the close of the week.

MINES SLOW

Mines were all slow, although uraniums and New Brunswick base metals showed some strength late in the week. Golds and base metals slipped.

The Friday-to-Friday index comparison showed industrials up 1.71 at 318.15, golds up .12 at 71.09, base metals up .48 at 141.49, and western oils up 1.11 at 91.36.

In New York, an upswing began Tuesday. By Friday the market reached its highest level in eight months, with steels, motors and movies joining railroads and utilities in the higher trend.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $2.30 at $110.90.

PACE SLOWER

Montreal's pattern was almost a duplicate of New York's but the pace was slower. Mines had a strong start but tapered off toward the week's end. Western oils were about the same with only a few strong spots appearing.

The weekly comparison showed banks up .20 at 36.96, for a new high, utilities up 1.1 at 94.4, industrials down 1.9 at 185.4, combined down .9 at 155.1, papers up 10.67 at 779.67 and golds up .22 at 51.19.

On the bond market, there were two major items this week: The books were closed in record time on the $200,000,000 3¾-per-cent 20-year Canadian National Railways issue; and announcement was expected soon of a $15,000,000, 4¾ per cent Canadian Breweries issue.

Sudbury Theatre Guild Makes Successful Debut

TORONTO (CP)—Sudbury Little Theatre Guild made its debut in the Central Ontario Drama Festival Friday night with the presentation of Tennessee William's "The Glass Menagerie."

It was a successful first for the Sudbury drama group, with the audience appearing to agree with the adjudicator, Graham Suter, when he termed the evening as "time delightfully spent."

Mr. Suter explained to the audience that "The Glass Menagerie" is not quite as good a play as William's play "The Rose Tatto," presented by the Playcraftsmen Wednesday night. He added that Friday night's play did not have the range of understanding of Wednesday night's production, but blamed this on the author rather than on the cast.

"The Glass Menagerie" was directed by Mrs. R. R. Britton and Mrs. D. F. Roberts. It is a play of two parts with the entire action taking place in an alley and living room, in St. Louis. It is the story of a family deserted by the father, a crippled daughter, mother and son.

ESSENTIAL LIFE

The father never appears in the production, only his picture. The characters are the mother, played by Helen Grenon; the son, performed by Ken Gardner; the daughter, played by Jeanne Giroux; and a teneltman caller, played by Fraser Kent.

Generally speaking, Mr. Suter expressed his view that the direction "brought out the essential life and meaning of the play." He termed the settings as "singularly exciting."

However, the adjudicator felt that accidents were happening during the production, and he termed the "incidental music too loud," and the "lighting very cold."

Mr. Suter termed the acting of Helen Grenon "very expressive," but he said he felt she was "hard to follow vocally" at times.

He had high praise for the performance of Ken Gardner. The adjudicator told the audience that Gardner's performance was "very good, being full of attack and emotion." But he criticized him for using a "breathy" voice at times during his narration.

POOR LIGHTING

The adjudicator found fault with the lighting on Miss Giroux, saying it was difficult to see the planes of her face during a good part of the performance. Speaking of the performance of Fraser Kent, Mr. Suter said he felt the actor should have shown a little more cockiness in his role of Jim O'Connor.

However, the adjudicator finished his remarks concerning the play with this observation: "Tonight's performance would do credit to any group."

No Buyers

asked the Midland Railway to pay them the amount due without delay.

Secretary Ivan O'Beirne died in July, and John Carnegie was appointed in his place.

In 1874 the commission decided to sell $5,000 debentures at the rate of $941 for each $1,000.

Commissioner William Hall died in 1875, and was succeeded by John James Lundy. Mr. Stevenson was appointed chairman, the third since 1861.

John Belcher, architect, submitted a bill of $625 for plans of the town hall, but accepted the commission's offer of $400.

Succession Duties Outlined To Life Underwriters

The development and functions of succession duties (inheritance tax) in Canada were discussed in detail by J. E. McKay, manager of the Victoria and Grey Trust Co., at the luncheon of the Peterborough Life Underwriters' Association, Friday.

Originally imposed as a means of collecting funds to care for indigent widows, orphans, and to provide for charitable institutions and asylums, the duty has grown on a provincial and federal plane to such an extent that it may absorb 20 per cent of an estate.

The province of Ontario entered this field of taxation in 1892, and this was added to by a federal levy in 1941. At present Quebec and Ontario are the only provinces retaining this levy. The Dominion rate was doubled in 1946 so that provinces who had vacated the succession field could be reimbursed.

The amount of succession duty of the estate and to whom it is of the estaate and to whom it is left. Under the Dominion Act the initial rate varies from three per cent for an estate of $50,000 to a maximum of 20 per cent on five million dollars or over.

An additional rate concerns the relationship of the inheritants, and is divided into four classes from the wife and children to strangers-in-blood relations.

Succession duties are a first charge against an estate except for funeral expenses, just debts, encumbrances on real estate and the surrogate court fees up to a maximum of $100.

It is important in making a will that an amount of the estate be directly willed to cover the succession duty. Otherwise the inheritors are liable for the taxed sum.

Nicodemus Showed Courage Coming To Jesus By Night

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The third chapter of John's Gospel is notable for its great text, "God so loved the world."

But this, as one will see by a careful reading, is a part of what Jesus said to Nicodemus when the "ruler of the Jews" came to Jesus, inquiring by night.

The fact that Nicodemus came under the cover of darkness has been held against him. Some have thought him cowardly because he did not come openly and by day.

The emphasis that Jesus put in the conversation upon the contrast between light and darkness (John 3:19-21) might lend some color to this view, especially if one saw in it any implied suggestion that Nicodemus was of the darkness rather than of the light.

Such a view, however, does not seem to me justified by the facts. On the contrary, his open defense of Jesus when assailed by his fellow Pharisaic rulers (John 7:50-52), and his assisting at the burial of Jesus (John 19:39), would indicate the earnestness and sincerity of Nicodemus' inquiry and a vital change in his life that the night visit to Jesus had made.

Why, then, did Nicodemus come by night? Because he was as yet and inquirer, not fully convinced and not quite ready to commit himself.

In a sense he showed great courage in coming to Jesus, and possibly even more in coming by night.

If his coming in that way had become known to the rulers hostile to Jesus, its seeming implications would have been more serious than if he had come by day.

It was not the time of his coming, but the quality of his purpose, that counted in Nicodemus. He seems to have been in every way sincere. He was also officially-minded, groping apparently for something better than he had or knew, but hemmed in by offical and conventional Pharisaism.

If Jesus critized him for his lack of knowledge as a "master of Israel," he honored the sincerity of his inquiry by a clear statement of the Gospel.

Whether or not Nicodemus accepted it all, there can be no doubt that he left that visit by night with a great lead to think about and with a great deal of light where there had been darkness.

Since that original night-time visitor, there have been many Nicodemuses, sincere men bound by religious association and circumstance, conventional and conforming, but with a sense of something richer than they had found, and groping toward new truth and freedom.

It is an experience when such men meet the Christ and are led to say, "We never saw it after this fashion" (Mark 2:12).

Revolutions of enlightment and grace have often brought not only progress in individual lives, but also leadership, vitality and progress, establishing new eras for religious faith and life.

Great leaders have often come to intense and commanding convictions after groping through doubt and questioning.

Churches In Suburbs Need Of Christian World

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The slim, white spire of a new church today rises above the skyline on Oklahoma City's northern edge, symbol of a religious challenge.

It represents what church authorities term one of the most critical problems facing them. It is one of many churches that are pioneering the new residential frontier, the suburbs.

But many more are needed. In the last decade, millions of people have moved to city outskirts, often miles from the nearest church.

To provide churches in these new communities, said Thomas Chastain, head of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, is the "most crucial need of this generation."

MORE NEEDED

Denominations have strained their budgets trying to build needed new churches. But the gap still is large.

In the case of the new Oklahoma City church, the Nichols Hills Baptist church, its establishment offers an example of the solution church officials say is needed, iniatiative, work, will and belief.

One of Oklahoma City's leading ministers, Dr. Rupert Naney, left a big, influential downtown pulpit to heed the call of a long time vision, to help bring the church to those beyond its reach.

"In city after city," he said, "churches have lost the field by not following the suburban population. You see these new communities growing up, rimming our cities with new homes, new families and children. This is the dwelling place of our younger generation, the heart of our land and its future. The church must be there, too."

Striking out alone, Dr. Naney first held services in an outlying theatre auditorium. Then he set up Sunday school classes in homes and in offices of a lumberyard, donated for church use. About 100 persons became charter members of the new church. They elected officers, raised enough money to buy vacant lots and begin work on temporary quarters.

Last month, after two years' work, the $250,000 church was complete. All but $60,000 of its cost already has been paid.

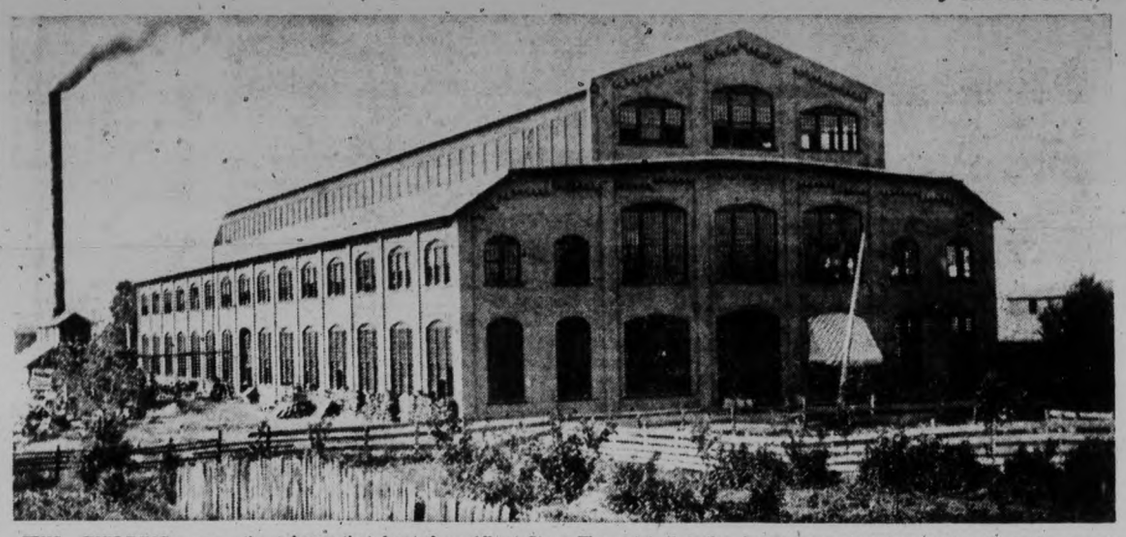
Builders Of Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH'S MAJOR INDUSTRY, the plant of the Canadian General Electric Company as it appears today from the air.
—(Harry Oakman Photo)



THIS BUILDING was the nursery of the electrical equipment industry in Peterborough. It was erected by the Edison Electric Manufacturing Co. in 1891-92 as their first and major building for the production of generators and motors. Eventually, Edison Electric was merged in the newly organized Canadian General Electric Co., and this building's outlines became fused in extensions. The photograph was taken from a garden of home that fronted on Albert St., approximately opposite the end of Lafayette Ave. Those properties were purchased by C.G.E. in the gradual expansion from the original site, northerly to Wolfe St. and southerly to Albert St. after its houses were removed, some of them being rolled away to vacant lots in the neighborhood. The enlarged building has always been known as the machine shop, and comprises to this day some of the biggest production machines in the works. The original boiler house is on the left side of the picture, and in that area there was a building in which street cars were turned out. It was a wooden structure afterwards part of the paint shop.

The first bipolar direct current generators of Edison Electric have gradually been refined out of existence. Alternating current machines didn't come into manufacture until about 1905. This building lies north and south. To the east of it a transformer and compound shop was constructed, and nearest to Park St., old No. 2 building, still in use, enclosed the wire department on the ground floor, and a large department upstairs. Peterborough works of C.G.E. have for years been the vital heart of the city's flourishing growth with present employment approaching 5,000 people. The old cradle can be traced in the central section of the machine shop, but it is virtually lost among all the offspring that have sprung up around it.

Peterborough's Big Industry Brought To City By Senator George A. Cox

To the enterprise of George A. Cox and a little group of community promoting citizens, Peterborough has long been indebted for its major industry, the Canadian General Electric Company.

Sixty-five years ago they began negotiations with the Edison Electric Manufacturing Company, offering them inducements to locate here the plant they were proposing to build. Discussions reached the stage at which the town council, representing the ratepayers, entered into a progressing phase of the project. By that time a committee had been appointed to obtain a suitable site for the industry.

CITY BOUGHT LAND

In 1890, the committee of the council reported that they had secured options on two ten-acre adjoining properties, fronting on Park St., owned respectively by the Chamberlen Estate and Peter Hamilton. The price was $400 an acre.

The council passed a bylaw authorizing the borrowing of money to buy this land, and the ratepayers endorsed it. The town agreed that, when Edison Electric had erected buildings to the value of $30,000, the site would be deeded to the company. An undertaking was also given by the municipality to provide water and sewer services, right of way for railway sidings, and ten-year exemption from taxation. (The Edison plant had previously been in Sherbrooke, Quebec).

Looking back over the intervening 65 years, it is interesting to realize that Peterborough had attracted a branch of the infant electrical industry before it had electric lights. It was not until 1891 that the incandescent lamp of carbon filament first came into use here in lighting public places, stores, and perhaps a few homes.

The public spirited citizens of that generation could not possibly have visualized the importance in the future development of Peterborough of the industrial plum they had plucked. In their day the new electric age was only beginning. To keen business men like George A. Cox, something of the potential of the new industry of their time may have been perceived.

The Park St. property must have been a site of unpromising appearance. It was partly a swamp of cedars and black muck with some areas of firm ground. Edmund Chamberlen, who had been owner of half of it, lived on the east slope of the Sherbrooke St. hill, above the present Prince of Wales School. Peter Hamilton was a manufacturer of farm implements at the southeast corner of George and King Streets, living across George St. on the present location of the Cherney building.

The town council performed its terms of agreement, and to provide a sewer outlet a deep covered drain was dug along Park St. and thence by Rink St. to the river. It was finally replaced when the city's sewage system was extended into that neighborhood.

CARBON WORKS ACQUIRED

Eventually Edison Electric was merged in the holding title of Canadian General Electric Company. The Carbon works on Townsend St. at Stewart St. was acquired in 1895. That plant was originally built by a stove company, and was occupied in 1889 by Thomas Brooks and others for the making of electric light carbons and porcelain insulators. The carbons were the illuminating elements in street lighting systems.

That C.G.E. property covered the block from Townsend to Wolfe St. on the east side of Stewart St. In recent years the company erected on the north section of it a plastic plant.

The purpose of these industrial sketches is not to describe products and techniques, but to recall circumstances of company origin, and especially to glance back at the personalities connected with their founding and their subsequent management and development. When the carbon works failed in 1895, the property was acquired by C.G.E., and has been for a long time the porcelain department of the company.

About four years after the first Park St. plant was completed, a main shop and several auxiliary buildings, the late E. G. Patterson became general manager. He continued in that responsibility from 1895 until 1931 when he was succeeded by Carl A. Salmonsen who came up from the Schnectady works of General Electric. During the Patterson administration, heavy capital expenditure had been spaded into plant enlargement and the installation of equipment. By that time the C.G.E. works in Peterborough had grown up with the electrical industry, and become one of the big industrial institutions of Canada. Its present estate has greatly enlarged its capacities and its place in the nation.

PETERBOROUGH WORKS of the Canadian General Electric Company has had six works managers since it came to Peterborough 65 years ago, then known as the Edison Company. During the managership of two men it was brought to its present size, E. G. Patterson RIGHT, (1895-1931) and Ian F. McRae, LEFT, (1941-1952) and assistant works manager from 1931.

Mr. Salmonsen was works manager from 1928 until 1941. Actually he had been for several years assistant to Mr. Patterson but that was in a stage of changing order with large influence from G.E. He brought a new atmosphere to the plant, a sheaf of new ideas and outlook, a lively and direct interest in youth, and particularly young men in the plant, a genial spirit emanating from his own youth and personality, and an air of confidence no doubt acquired from his experience and training in the larger works of G. E. When the United States began marshalling its resources for the second World War, Mr. Salmonsen was called back in 1941 to take charge of a new turbo-jet factory at Lynn, Mass.

He was succeeded as works manager by Ian F. McRae whose special contribution in the expansion of C. G. E. was the integration of Genelco Ltd. into the main body of the works.

He had been transferred from switchgear to the post of assistant to Mr. Salmonsen who left for Massachusetts before the Canadian government's wartime munitions departments, in buildings newly erected for them, came into production. The job of swift expansion moved along smoothly under the works managership of Mr. McRae. The postwar changes have been recent enough for public memory, and need not be recalled. They included switch over of the entire works, after the Genelco units had been merged by purchase into the C. G. E. estate, from wartime production to peace.

Mr. McRae remained as head of the greatly enlarged industry until 1952 when he was transferred to Toronto and the vice-presidency executive at head office. Peterborough paid its tribute to him on his departure, a recognition of his accomplishment both as company manager and public spirited citizen that is still a grateful memory.

The priority of manufacturing place which C. G. E. has built up in Peterborough is attested eloquently in its present payroll of 4,886 employees. In the developments that were taking shape after the war, one of Mr. McRae's older assistants predicted that the day would not be far in the future when it would be counting its entire working force at 5,000. The total is close to that figure now, depending on the continuing prosperity of the nation.

(In 1908 the total number of industrial employees in the city was 4,828, of whom 1,200 were working at C.G.E. The present payroll of the company is now more than the total of Peterborough's employed men and women in 1908.)

C.G.E. works in Peterborough were vastly transformed within the period of nearly 25 years of Mr. McRae's responsibility as manager and previously as assistant.

Main Street Topics

CHARGES TOTAL $3,300

Two charges of theft against Lloyd Babcock, Lindsay real estate broker, total $3,300, not $6,100 as reported Friday. The charges were laid as a result of complaints that Babcock had stolen $1,900 from Malcolm Calvert and $1,400 from Velma Raffen.

TELLS ABOUT IRISH

Rev. Gilbert D. Smith, minister of St. Giles' Presbyterian church, spoke on the Irish people and their customs at the YMCA Friday Night Club Friday night. He was introduced by the "Y" general secretary Jim McClenaghan, and thanked by Al Northcott.

THREE NEW TB CASES

Three new cases of active tuberculosis were reported in Peterborough during December. A summary presented to the board of health by Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, on TB follows: Number of chest clinics held, 2; total attendance, 86; new cases reported active, 3; admitted to sanatorium, 4; discharged from sanatorium, 2.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

The utilities commission Friday afternoon authorized attendance at the annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, March 1 and 2, of general-manager W. Howard Powell, business manager James Turnbull, H. G. Beatty and E. L. Burnham of the electrical department, and any of the commissioners who cared to attend.

USE MORE POWER

Peterborough's peak electric load was 27,100 kilowatts during December, which was 1,640 kilowatts or 6.4 per cent higher than in the same month in 1952. Consumption was 12,372,600 kilowatt hours, which was 1,026,840 or nine per cent more than in December, 1952. The load factor increased from 60.7 per cent in December, 1952, to 61.3 per cent in the same month last year.

STUDY DAIRY HEALTH

A course on health subjects relating to dairying is being set up by the department of health. F. J. Harden, public health veterinarian, reports that a large Peterborough dairy asked the department's assistance in providing a course of instruction for their employees. Subjects include general sanitation, personal hygiene, proper handling and processing of dairy products, and elementary bacteriology. Demonstrations, films and slides will be used to round out the program.

PUC Accepts CGE Bid On Substation

Slightly Higher Offer Preferred Will Cost $62,785

The utilities commission Friday accepted the Canadian General Electric Company's tender of $62,785 for the supply and installation of switchgear for the new electric substation on Bellevue St., subject to the approval of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

Although the tender of the Canadian Westinghouse Company was $342 lower than that of CGE, the commissioners concurred in the recommendations of general-manager W. Howard Powell to accept the price quoted by the local firm on the following grounds:

(1) All switchgear in existing substations is of CGE construction.

(2) CGE have co-operated with the commission at all times in the supply of repair parts and skilled labor.

The commissioners agreed unanimously that the difference in price was insufficient to outweigh the factors noted.

Specifications for the switchgear were sent out on November 4 to CGE, Westinghouse and the English Electric Company.

CGE submitted their tender on November 25, specifying shipment of the switchgear in nine months and of the transformer in 11 months.

On December 3, English Electric asked to be excused from bidding because they didn't at the time manufacture equipment which would comply with the specifications in all respects.

$65,604 BID

The same day, Westinghouse quoted a price of $65,604, with delivery of the transformer in four months and of the balance of the equipment in 8½ months. Their proposal, however, included a metal switch-house. As was pointed out at Friday's meeting, the PUC intends to house the substation in a simulated residence, to fit in with architecture of the surrounding residential area. Accordingly, Westinghouse were asked to submit a new tender, excluding the metal switch-house. Their amended tender was submitted January 4.

Although the residence-type housing of the substation is expected to cost close to $5,000, total cost of the substation will be lower than if outdoor-type equipment had been used.

Meanwhile, the temporary substation has been put in service at Bellevue St. with three 600-kilowatt transformers. New primary lines have been constructed from the station to distribute its power when it is put in service.

Dark Stranger

MARMORA (ENS)—That favorite character in the prophecies of palmists and tea-cup readers, the "dark stranger" has shown up at Pleasant Corners in North Marmora township, where he has been hanging around all winter, going from door to door to accept the gifts of food left out for him by residents. The visitor, a crow, appears to be getting tamer all the time.

Fred Hills Re-elected PUC Chairman

Fred Hills was re-elected chairman of the utilities commission at the 1954 inaugural meeting Friday afternoon.

This will be Mr. Hills' second year as chairman of the commission. He is serving his 13th year on the PUC. First elected in December, 1941, he was subsequently re-elected to four more three-year terms, receiving acclamations in 1947 and 1950 and at the nomination meeting last November.

The choice of chairman was unanimous by the other two commissioners, Dick Raine and George Macdonald.

For Mr. Macdonald, this year's inaugural meeting marked a return to PUC sessions after an absence of two years. First elected to the commission in 1940, he served continuously for 11 years until his defeat in the December election of 1951.

Last December he was appointed by city council to fill the unexpired term of Dr. G. R. Langley who resigned.

Market Restricted To Eggs And Fowl

Today's market was comparatively quiet with a small number of people passing in and out of the market hall doors. The products for sale were limited to fowl, eggs and pastry, with a few clothing vendors scattered about.

One tom turkey was on display selling for 60 cents a pound. Ducks, chickens and capons, all of which were in abundance, were selling at 50 cents a pound. Eggs ranged in price from 63 cents for extra large Grade "A" to 45 cents a dozen for pullets. Large Grade "A" were 60 cents a dozen, mediums 55 cents, and small 50 cents a dozen.

Some hand-made patch rugs were selling at $4, while hand-made pillows ranged in price from 50 cents to $1. Knitted socks and mitts ranged in price from 75 cents to $1.50 and children's sets (cap, sweater and booties) were selling for $3.

At the pastry stands, pies were 50 cents, tarts 45 cents a dozen, date loaf 40 cents apiece, cookies 20 and 25 cents a dozen, and buns 30 cents a dozen.

Apple and grape jelly was selling at 25 and 30 cents a jar depending on size.

Meanest Thief

HALIFAX (CP) — Theft of a "March of Dimes" can from the sergeants' mess in the armories here gave Halifax a candidate for title of "meanest thief." The can contained about $6.

Store Gypped Of $269 And Radio

Cheque Bounces, Second Try By Woman Fails

Shopkeepers beware! If you entertain the idea of selling articles for payment by cheque, then look over your buyers very carefully or you might end up with a depleted stock and a cheque that will bounce its way back from the bank.

Evidently there are (or were) a couple of smart folks in the city who figure it is best to buy by cheque—especially when everything about them is bogus, from their signatures to their bank "account."

On Thursday a woman walked into a downtown store and ordered a washing machine and a radio. She took the radio, and paid for both articles with a Bank of Montreal cheque, using the signature "Edith E. Davis." She also had a heart-rending little tale about being "Oh, so lonely . . . music will cheer me up." The storekeeper must have been the sympathetic type, because he cashed the cheque, valued at $269.45. "Edith E." made a comfortable retreat with a big smile and the radio. She gave a bogus address in Peterborough where the washing machine was to be delivered.

At 5 p.m. the same day, "Edith E." walked into a city jewellery shop, this time in company with a man. He was very attentive and he called her "Mama." (Perhaps he was her sugar daddy). So they ordered a railroad watch and again Edith put the finishing touches to a cheque, this time for $98.

DECIDED TO CHECK

Luckily, the store clerk thought he had better check with the bank before making the sale.

"Oh, that's okay," said Edith. "We have several other calls to make, so we'll come back later for the watch" . . . much later . . . they have not been seen since!

Police were called in only to find that Edith and her companion had made tracks for parts unknown. However, it is possible they might still try to hoodwink some other city storekeepers.

The woman is described as being about 29 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches in height, 125 pounds in weight and of a generally unkempt appearance.

The man, who so far has not revealed a name, bogus or otherwise, is about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, has dark wavy hair and a moustache. One store worker said he was wearing a fawn-colored station wagon coat.

Police would appreciate any information about these persons and also issue a warning to all shopkeepers.

Brown Property Hearing Stretches Into Second Week

The arbitration case over the expropriating of 20.4 acres of land from the Klondike Gold Brown farm will continue Monday before Judge John de N. Kennedy, arbitrator.

The land, a long strip running along the west side of Highway 28, just north of Marg's cabins, was expropriated by the city so the Peterborough utilities commission could expand their water storage facilities. Legal proceedings began five years ago and are still dragging on.

Meanwhile the city, acting for the PUC, have reduced their original expropriation from 20.4 to 17.7 acres.

Two expert evaluators, testifying for Klondike Gold Brown and his three sons and two daughters, were in the witness box earlier in the week.

First expert evaluator, testifying for the city, was Ed O'Toole, realtor. Mr. O'Toole gave a gross and a net estimate. In 1948 he appraised the land as worth $13,000. If a person at that time started to develop the land (grading and levelling to prepare it for subdividing into lots), he would have to spend $8,500, Mr. O'Toole estimated.

In short: a net value of $13,000, and a gross value of $21,500.

Gordon Hancock, called by the Browns, had valued the land at $27,000, less $5,000 for levelling and grading suitable for subdivision.

Bruce Sargent, also called by the Browns, had valued the land at $24,000 after grading.

The arbitration hearing began Jan. 7 before Judge Kennedy and, with the exception of Saturdays and Sundays, has been going on since then. It will probably go on for a couple of days next week—just short of a two-week session.

Adam Sands, the city's second expert evaluator, has still to go into the witness box and give his estimate.

The city reduced their expropriation claim because the department of highways in August, 1948, expropriated 2.341 acres of the Brown property to straighten the route of Highway 28. At that time the expropriated lands were in Smith township, but since the annexation of a year ago they have been part of Peterborough.

The case is continuing at 10.30 a.m. Monday.

Driver Charged After City Accident

Walter Kent, 39, of 120 Aylmer St., was today charged before Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, with having been intoxicated in charge of a vehicle and also with careless driving. The cases were adjourned until January 25.

Kent was arrested Friday night after his car had been involved in a collision with another vehicle at Aylmer St. It is alleged that Kent's car rammed into the back of a vehicle driven by John R. Casey, of 531 Chamberlain St. The Casey vehicle was stopped while a train made the crossing at Aylmer St. Total damage was estimated at $125.

INTERNATIONAL FAME—Clarence Tillenius, 40, Winnipeg painter, has won international recognition as an illustrator and artist of the outdoors despite loss of his right arm. His travels in painting of Canada's wild animals have taken him to the Rockies, the Prairies and the North. He is shown painting in his Winnipeg studio.

One-Armed Canadian Noted As Painter Of Wild Animals

By DAVE STOCKAND

WINNIPEG (CP) — Devotion to art and love of the outdoors keep Clarence Tillenius hard on the path he chose as a boy—the drawing and painting of Canada's wild animals.

They advanced the Winnipeg painter, as study brought greater understanding, to international recognition as an artist of the outdoors and illustrator of magazines and books.

And they survived the loss of his right arm while he was working with a construction company in northwestern Ontario to finance formal art training.

THREE-YEAR FIGHT

Tillenius disciplined his left hand in a three-year fight he regards as the normal reaction of any man serious about his art. Since 1939 he has lived entirely by his chosen career.

"The power to draw comes from the mind, and the hand just does what the mind orders," he says. "It is really immaterial whether you use the right or the left."

Tillenius was born 40 years ago and grew up in the wilderness region between Lake Winnipeg and Lake Manitoba.

His father came to Canada from Sweden and his mother, also of Scandinavian stock, from Minnesota.

As a youth Tillenius roamed from job to job, until the accident in 1936 which cost him the arm at the shoulder.

SCOTTISH TUTOR

Then, with the money he'd already saved, he studied in Winnipeg under Alexander J. Musgrove, a Scottish-born artist.

Tillenius' travels in search of ideas and accuracy have taken him to the Rockies, the plains and the north. He has sketched caribou from a low-flying plane and spent from dawn to dusk on the trail of a single deer to catch it in its natural poses.

In leaner days friendship with bush pilots and fur traders allowed him wilderness expeditions he otherwise couldn't have afforded.

To recreate wilderness drama dealing in death Tillenius reads the story the tracks tell. Records written in the snow give him the formation of attack of wolves closing in on a terrified moose or, perhaps, the outcome of a battle between two bull elk.

WILDLIFE SLEUTH

There are seldom eyewitnesses of these dramas. That's why Tillenius plays wildlife detective, ensuring at the same time that the terrain blends with the action.

"For instance," he says, "you wouldn't paint a moose in a wide-open field at mid-day because no moose in its right sense would be caught there. Whereas, he might be there early in the morning or in the evening."

The studio is a fascinating place with wolf pelts on the walls and deer, moose, elk and caribou antlers on the floor. They are translated into either oil or watercolor paintings or line drawings for magazines in the many mediums of illustration.

Tillenius, who is married and has one son, a boy with the same outdoor loves as his father, has a constant companion at his work—a she-cat named Gus who sometimes sits on his shoulder while he draws.

Tillenius is finding a growing private collectors' market for his paintings but greatest recognition to date has come in the field of magazine illustrations. These have appeared, among others, in Sports Afield, Rod and Gun, Nature Magazine, The Beaver and Country Guide.

Sometimes he illustrates books. A recent one was "Little Giant" by Olive Knox, a novel based on the life of explorer Henry Kelsey.

No Missionaries Left In China Soon – Bishop

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bishop Kenneth Turner of Montreal, free after a year of isolation "from any contact with Christians," said Friday "there won't be a Roman Catholic missionary left in Communist China" within months.

The tall, bespectacled cleric, consecrated a bishop in 1948, arrived here by plane Thursday.

He's resting at the Chinese Catholic centre where he once served and traced what he termed Communist China's "veiled destruction of the church."

He said there were 5,496 Catholic missionaries in Red China in June, 1947, when the Communist purge began.

A DIFFERENT STORY

"That included priests, brothers and sisters. On Jan. 7, there were 262 left and of this number 68 priests and three bishops were in prison.

"We have no rights," he said, speaking of "the terrible persecution of the church."

The situation in his diocese of Lishui, Chekiang province south of Shanghai, was typical of Red treatment, Bishop Turner said. But "in every case and every area it was a different story."

Gets Hearty Laugh From Speech Not Given

OTTAWA (CP)—Resources Minister Lesage got a "hearty laugh" next Monday. That's what the resources department said Friday in a press release which later was withdrawn.

The release, carrying the note that it was not for release until Monday at 8 p.m., had this statement about a speech Mr. Lesage is scheduled to make:

"During his address, Mr. Lesage drew a hearty laugh from his audience when he reminded them that the government, by entrusting him with the administration of the Canadian north, had made Santa Claus one of the citizens under his jurisdiction."

A revised version of the release, concerning a speech Mr. Lesage is to make to a joint meeting of social clubs at Montmagny, Que., dropped the reference to audience reaction.

The Movie Column

U.K. Favourites Martin, Lewis Keep Silent

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's hard to imagine Martin and Lewis being quiet about anything. But it's true.

The mad comics were recently chosen the favorite box office team in a British poll. That was something of a surprise, considering last year's blow-up between Dean and Jerry and the English critics who panned their act. I asked the pair for some words about their selection as British money favorites. They replied with a rare: "No comment."

They figure that their relations with the Britons are touchy enough and anything they might say could be used against them. The fact is that their bosses were much perturbed by last year's hassle. The British Isles account for a large percentage of the take on Martin and Lewis pictures.

Jimmy Stewart and his wife are off on a tour to help promote his latest picture, "The Glenn Miller Story." And how is the famous wartime flier going? By train.

But he has no phobia about air travel. "On these tours, the only rest you get is on the train between cities," he explained. "If you go by air, you're busy all the time."

The studios are no longer letting contract players remain idle. You can tell that by the Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz picture, "The Long, Long Trailer." Third and fourth billing in the film go to Marjorie Main and Keenan Wynn.

Miss Main is in the picture for a good minute. Wynn plays a traffic cop at an intersection, and his scene lasts no longer than 30 seconds. They are probably the highest-paid bit players of all time.

Los Angeles legit got a shot in the arm with "New Faces," the first sizable live show to play the town in months. It's a fast, rollicking show, blessed with the talents of Ronny Graham and Alice Ghostley. Eartha Kitt has returned to the show, and the smallness of her part puzzles some theatregoers who don't realize that she was virtually unknown when the revue started.

That was before the Los Angeles city council blast and "Santa Baby."

Farm Products In High Demand

KITCHENER (CP) — Ontario's population increase of 15 persons every hour means more farm products are needed to feed the increase yearly, Philip Wright, Ontario Agricultural College economics professor, told the annual Twin City Milk Producers Association meeting Friday.

"At this rate the equivalent of 350 new dairy farms a year are needed to meet the population rise," he said.

A three-per-cent Canada-wide dairy surplus is causing hardship in some branches of the dairy industry, said Gordon S. Weber of Kitchener, representative on the Ontario Whole Milk League directorate, who took a different view in his report.

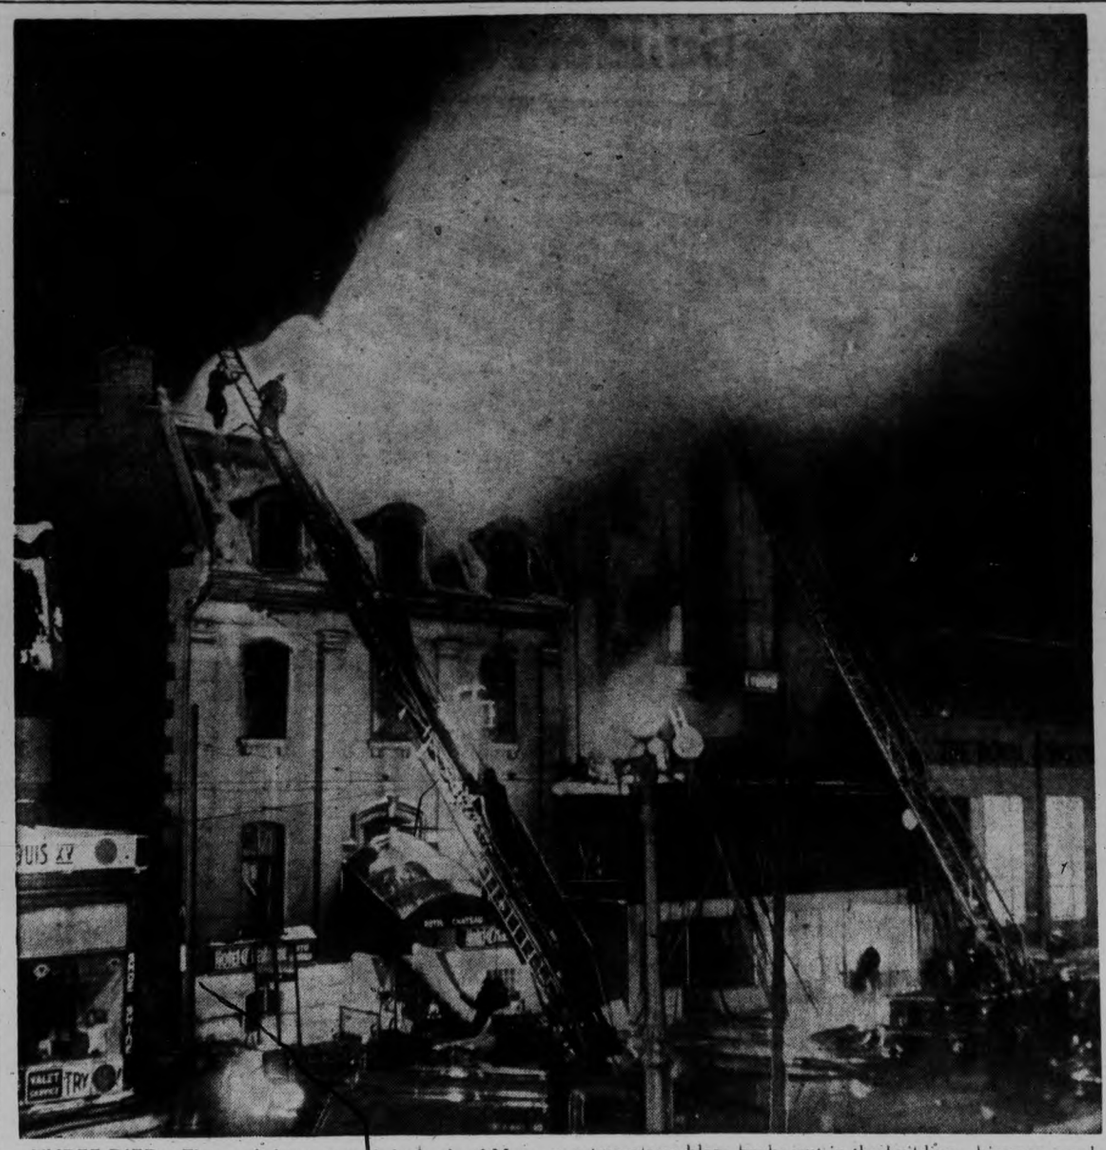
The association asked the dairy farmers of Canada to investigate the Institute of Edible Oil Foods and find out who is sponsoring its work.

Baby Born In Car At 20 Degrees Below

BROCKVILLE (CP) — A baby boy was born to a New Canadian family in the back seat of an auto Sunday night with the temperature 20 degrees below zero.

Word of the birth to Mrs. G. Berkelaar of Ventnor, 30 miles northeast of Brockville, reached here Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkelaar, immigrants from Holland, set out Sunday night for hospital. They drove less than 100 yards when the car plunged into a ditch. There the baby was born. It is the Berkelaar's sixth child and their first to be born in Canada.



THREE DIED—Flames, licking around the heels of Montreal firemen, gush out of the roof of the Chateau Hotel, after a two-alarm blaze broke out in the building. Firemen combing the gutted structure found the bodies of three guests who perished in the roaring flames.

Brooch Gift Recalls Singer's Career

By ED SIMON

NEW YORK (CP)—Dorothy Collins fondled her husband's Christmas present, a gold brooch fashioned into the shape of a cross-over bow tie.

Although 27 - year - old Dorothy earns a fair living as a singer, the significance of band leader Raymond Scott's gift to his wife will not be lost on those who have more than a passing interest in television.

The cross-over bow, mounted on a demure white blouse, has become the slim, honey-blonde singer's trade mark—and the source of a substantial side income — ever since she first donned the outfit to do a commercial for a cigarette pany.

The way Dorothy tells it, the brooch, the blouse and her singing career on "Your Hit Parade" all resulted from a series of accidents that began when she was a Windsor, Ont., teen-ager named Marjorie Chandler who entered amateur shows in her spare time.

WANTED BE SECRETARY

"I used to enter just for the fun of it," she told a Canadian Press reporter.

Her only singing lessons had come from her mother, who had turned down a chance for a singing career of her own in favor of marriage. Dorothy's chief ambition in those days was to become a secretary. When she won an amateur contest—as she usually did—it was so easy that it made no particular impression on her.

The first "accident" happened when Dorothy was visiting the family of a friend in Chicago.

"I didn't even know the girl very well," Dorothy recalls. "I haven't the slightest idea why I ever went in the first place."

But it turned out that the girl's father knew Scott, then a progressive young band-leader whose six-piece "quintet" and original compositions were rapidly gaining popularity.

GIVEN AUDITION

The girl's father heard Dorothy sing and suggested to Scott that he listen to the unknown 15-year-old Canadian.

Scott listened, pronounced her "not bad," and suggested that she go to New York for a year's vocal training and then come back to sing for him again.

Accompanied by her delighted mother, Dorothy went to New York as directed and returned for her second audition. This time the band leader's verdict of "pretty fair" was accompanied by an offer to sing a few dates with the quintet.

"He fired me three or four times," said Dorothy, "but finally I caught on as a regular vocalist." The career of Dorothy Collins, professional, as distinct from that of Marjorie Chandler, amateur, had begun.

TURNS DESIGNER

Singing with the quintet, Dorothy soon found the dresses she could afford on her modest salary were being duplicated frequently on the dance floor. For the first and only time in her life she turned costume designer in an effort to find something distinctive.

The result was the high-necked white blouse, crossed - over black velvet tie and full black skirt that, with a few variations in the blouse, has been her campaign uniform ever since.

But national prominence for Dorothy and her blouse was still a long step away.

Scott's brother, Mark Warnow, died suddenly in 1950. Called to New York to conduct in his brother's place on the "Hit Parade" radio show, Scott disbanded the quintet and Dorothy was out of a job.

While seriously considering a job as a department store clerk, Dorothy got a phone call from Scott. He had an entry in a singing commercial contest put on by "Hit Parade's" sponsor and wanted Dorothy to make a record of it.

SPONSOR IMPRESSED

The sponsor liked the vocalist as well as the jingle. Dorothy found herself doing commercials for all the company's broadcasts.

Two years later, "Hit Parade" switched from radio to TV and Dorothy's face began to peer at the world from the centre of a cigarette package. She made the first few telecasts in street clothes while the sponsors cast about for a suitable cigarette-girl costume.

Then Dorothy showed up one day in her blouse and tie. It went over so well that she was soon marketing "Dorothy Collins blouses" across the country.

Since July, 1950, Dorothy has doubled as a singer on "Hit Parade," doing two or three songs a week as well as the commercials.

What does she do in her spare time? In 1952 Scott took another look at his girl singer and finally decided she would do. He married her that summer and they set up housekeeping in suburban Babylon, Long island.

RCAF Plans To Have Winter Exercise

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF said Friday night it will carry out a winter operation in north-central Canada.

It denied a Flin Flon, Man., newspaper report that it plans to build an 1,800-mile winter trail from Flin Flon to Watson Lake, B.C., to link various military and civil installations.

The RCAF said it will conduct a physical survey of various areas under winter conditions and test winter supply and transport conditions.

OFL President Raps Blue Cross As Red Herring

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Smarting under the sting of the recently-announced increase in Ontario Blue Cross fees, president A. F. MacArthur of the Ontario Federation of Labor, today described the hospital plan as "a weak and ineffectual substitute, a red herring across the path of a real national health plan."

Speaking at the opening session of the federation's 8th annual convention in the Prince Edward Hotel, the president drew applause when he declared Blue Cross can never take the place of the national health legislation organized labor has been seeking for years.

"It would be interesting to know the genesis of this plan," he said, referring to Blue Cross. The subject of general health insurance is due to come before the convention in the form of resolution later.

400 DELEGATES ARRIVE

The meeting which opened here today is expected to carry over into Sunday afternoon. President MacArthur said today the Windsor meeting is the largest the federation has held. More than 400 delegates are registered from all parts of the province.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume was given a standing ovation when he delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Windsor.

He recommended that now is the time for governments to give careful thought to public works to counter any decline in employment. Referring to last summer's strike of truck drivers, he condemned the action of "a crown attorney in a city east of here" who told a "scab" truck driver to carry a shotgun with him and use it if molested by strikers.

"That was published in small print, but had it occurred here it would have made headlines," he observed, adding that it was the practice of "certain papers east of here" to hold Windsor up to ridicule at every opportunity.

Bethany Church Reviews Year's Work

BETHANY (ENS) — The annual congregational meeting of Bethany United church was held in the Sunday school room.

Following the supper hour, several hymns were sung. The Rev. Lawrence Norman read the scripture lesson and led in prayer.

Reports were given of the various branches of church work. The financial statement was read by Mr. Donald Lowes and stated all obligations met. Mrs. T. J. Jackson stated the Missionary and Maintenance fund had totalled $293.15 and this amount had been sent to Head Office.

The activities of the Women's Association were reported by Mrs. Wellington Fallis. Funds had been raised by a garden party, fowl supper, catering for a wedding and serving lunch at a farm sale. Donations were given to the church board, the manse trustee board, the Missionary and Maintenance fund and United Church Training school, with a substancial bank balance remaining at the end of the year.

WMS REPORT

Mrs. Henry Jakeman and Mrs. Herb. Coppins gave reports of the Women's Missionary Society. Through donations, sale of greeting cards and collections the 15 members had raised $171.50 which had been sent to the Presbytery. Bales of used and new clothing had been sent to mission fields.

Charles Weatherilt reported an average attendance of 35 for the Sunday school, all obligations met and all scholars and teachers supplies paid for. A donation of $60 was made to mission work.

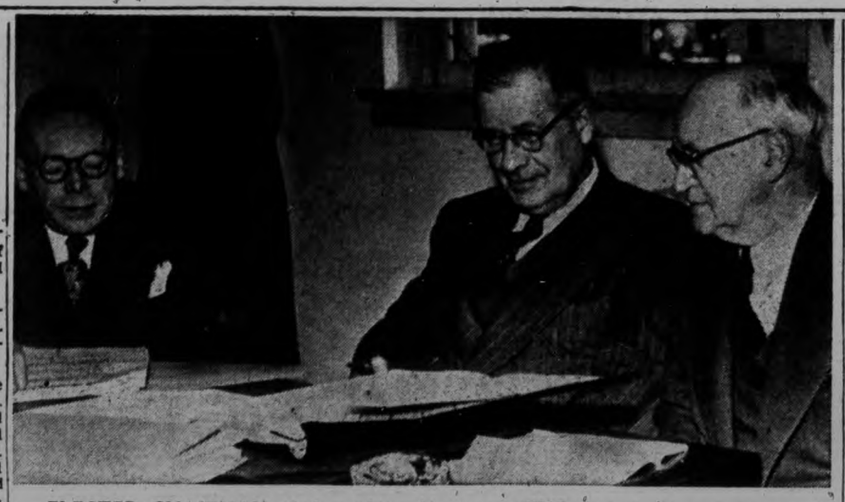
Mervyn Porteous gave the report of the parsonage trustees, telling of numerous repairs that had been made, including the insulation of the building and the purchasing of a new oil stove.

Mr. Clarence Rowan's treasurer's report of the cemetery board indicated that the cemetery was being well kept up, with a balance on hand to take care of next year's expenses.

In his ministerial report, Rev. Lawrence Norman stated there were 115 resident members on the roll, 23 non-resident members. Four deaths occurred and five marriage ceremonies were performed during the year.

CHURCH OFFICERS

Mr. Milton Weatherilt, clerk of the session, read the proposed slate of officers, which were accepted by the congregation and are as follows: Elders (appointed for life), Victor Grandy, T. J. Jackson, A. H. Monk, Henry Jakeman, Harry Preston, Donald Lowes, Leslie Challice, Allan Beer, Mervin Porteous, Milton Weatherilt (clerk of session); stewards: three-year term, Walter Rowland, J. C. C. Cummiskey, Mansell Finney, Victor Grandy, Milton Wright, A. H. Monk, Clarence Rowan, George Waddell, A. H. Watson, Milton Weatherilt, Weston Hutchinson; parsonage trustees, Mrs. W. L. Rowan, Mrs. T. J. Jackson, Earl Weatherilt, Mervyn Poreous (treasurer) Henry Jakeman (chairman); cemetery committee, Leslie Challice, Mansell Finney, Weston Hutchinson, Thomas Jennings, W. L. Rowan, Lloyd Kennedy, Clarence Rowan, Milton Weatherilt, Herbert Neals; auditors, J. C. Cummiskey and Frank Bigelow; recording steward, Allan Beer.



ELECTED CHAIRMAN of the utilities commission for a second year, Fred Hills Friday afternoon received the congratulations of his fellow commissioners, Dick Raine (left) and George Macdonald (right). For Mr. Macdonald, Friday's meeting marked a return to PUC sessions after an absence of two years. He was appointed by the city council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. G. R. Langley and will serve for the remaining year of Dr. Langley's two-year term.

New Zealand Tour Stirs Up Controversy With Maoris

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — The royal tour of New Zealand stirred up an unexpected controversy between New Zealand's native Maoris and the British newspaper correspondents.

Light-hearted comments about the appearance and actions of the Maoris in various ceremonials caused native leaders to accuse the correspondents of being "clowns lacking a sense of responsibility."

The correspondents reply the whole thing is a storm in a teacup, and that the Maoris have completely misjudged the sense of incidental comments.

STILL UPSET

British press reports have sought to still the controversy by giving studiously moderate reports of more recent ceremonies, and have paid due tribute to the Maori efforts to preserve their ancient culture and traditions.

The Maoris however seem to be maintaining a state of wary hostility.

New Zealanders themselves say there is something to be said for both sides. They have grown accustomed to the fact that Maoris no longer live like natives, and they seldom pay attention to the modern influences that permeate many Maori ceremonies—such as the Maori wearing rolled-up trousers and braces under his native mat covering, or the young Maori who has a camera concealed under his tribal cloak.

The controversy over newspaper accounts began when the Queen visited Waitangi, where a treaty was signed in 1840 under which the Maoris accepted Queen Victoria as their sovereign. Correspondents from the British papers arrived to find the Maoris bickering over the program.

One Maori chief refused to do a Sir Walter Raleigh act by spreading a feather cloak for the Queen to alight upon. He held it was against tradition for a sacred cloak to be used as a mat. A substitute was found at the last minute, to spread the cloak.

One gift was not given to the Queen at all because of differences of opinion as to who should present it.

ANCIENT AND MODERN

Correspondents were amused to find the mixture of ancient and modern at the ceremony. They learned that one chief, wearing a native mat and fiercely tattooed with charcoal for the occasion, was a civil engineer who has often summoned his tribe to meetings by telephone.

They reported that some Maoris were so unused to going stripped to the waist that they got sunburnt.

One correspondent declared "The whole turnout would have done credit to the very best amateur dramatic societies."

The reports aroused a storm of indignation among the Maoris. Rev. Rangi Rogers, chairman of the executive which organized the welcome, said the British apparently had never heard of a native race which had achieved equality with the Englishman, working at his trades and professions and being readily accepted by him.

"The very fact that these ancestral chants and songs can be taught today, letter perfect, to your younger men and women who are, as the English writers so naively protested, civil engineers, clerks, stenographers, lorry drivers and farmers, should prove that the acquisition of civilization has not entirely robbed us of our ancient pride and arts," he said. "Rather it should indicate that we are not a backward, indolent people, content to sit in the sun and sing."

OVER-SENSITIVE

British newspapers hit back at the criticisms. Some of our kinsmen in the dominions must cultivate thicker skins, said one. They should give up being over-sensitive and learn to laugh too.

Bernard Wicksteed, of The Daily Express, declared: "I have a wife and three children at home and for their sake I will eat my words if you will please, oh please, stop the Maoris from eating me. Honestly chaps, what's biting you? Should I write up the show using nothing but cliches and superlatives? I wrote home in a chatty way to tell people like me what I see. Must I only write things the government would want published in a book for intending immigrants?"

Institute Looks Wistfully For Folk With Hobby, Money

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution is looking around wistfully for people with most unusual qualifications.

These people must be (a) crazy about wildflowers and (b) so affluent they can spend $500 for the beautiful portfolio, "Wildflowers of North America."

The Smithsonian has good news for those who have the (a) but not so much of the (b). There's a poor man's edition selling for a paltry $100.

This comes up today because a commercial publisher has brought out a similar book, using pictures of some of the same illustrations, in a $10 edition. This is perfectly legal, since government books aren't copyrighted.

FAST SALE IMPROBABLE

Because "Wildflowers of North America" has been available since 1925, there appears to be small chance of a fast sale of the 500 copies or so of the $100 and $500 editions still around.

"I will say this, though," said Paul H. Oehser, who heads the Smithsonian's editorial division. "No one has matched the beauty of the pictures in our book. Fortunately, the commercial publisher mentioned our work in his and we're hoping that will stir up a little interest."

"Wildflowers of North America" didn't cost the taxpayers a dime to print, largely because of an extraordinary woman.

Mary Vaux Walcott was an artist, a botanist, and was married to Charles D. Walcott, at that time secretary of the Smithsonian. Both have been dead for years.

More important to the present discussion: Mrs. Walcott was rich.

SUBSIDIZED PRINTING

On field trips with her husband, who was a geologist, she painted the pictures. Then she subsidized the printing of 2,000 copies. Libraries and some garden clubs have bought the de luxe $500 job while the $100 edition has been more in demand from individual wildflower lovers.

"It's really a four-volume portfolio," Oehser said, "with 400 life size illustrations. A remarkable book."

And how had "Wildflowers" been selling before the $10 book came out and presumably slowed down sales?

"Oh, we've been selling them right along," Oehser said. "I'd say between four and five a year."

Many Colorful Bird Species Found On Atlantic Coast

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — On the reef barriers and storm-tossed waters of Canada's Atlantic coast, there are species of birds known intimately only by sailors, fishermen and hardy sportsmen.

There are ducks by the thousands with plumage as colorful as mallards and wood ducks, and birds as ugly and voracious as desert vultures. Except in rare cases, they live together peacefully.

Their world is one of simplicity and relative quiet. Their food is the abundant marine life—sea lettuce, crustaceans and tiny fish—and they nest on desolate islands.

WINTER HUNTING

They are governed by ocean storms, and their life on the seas and around the weed-choked reefs is disturbed only in mid-winter by duck hunters, usually fishermen themselves.

Considering their numbers, hunting pressure is negligible. Smooth-water—a rare thing on the Atlantic in winter—is needed for shooting from "gunning tubs," funnel-like contraptions with little freeboard that hide a hunter below water-level.

The white-vested murres — or "turrs"—are a staple food in Newfoundland's outports but are generally regarded as non-edible by the fisherfolk and sportsmen of the maritimes, who prefer sea ducks.

Perhaps best known of the sea birds are the gulls, or gannets that many tourists have seen and photographed at craggy Perce Rock and Bonaventure off the Gaspe coast. And the least known the petrels, tireless ocean wanderers.

The leach's petrel provides one of the rare instances of sea birds preying upon others. These trim birds of sooty feathers and white rump are beaten by gulls, who down their 1½ ounces in a gulp.

Most colorful of the sea ducks are the oldsquaw, ocean speedsters with pink-and-black bills, black waistcoats and long pheasant-like tails. Drake elders have black, white and pea green heads, cream breasts and black and white bodies.

The ugly, voracious cormorants, wide-ranging birds, live in such concentrations that in a short time they destroy all the vegetation on their island colonies. They are three feet long with glossy black feathers and a wicked yellow beak.

Milton once likened these wraith-like birds to Satan because of their evil appearance while standing with wings outstretched as the sun dried their feathers.

BETTER NOT MISS—Bimbo, star tiger of a circus in Munich, Germany, scores a bull's-eye with this spectacular leap over the head of V. Trubke, his trainer. Bimbo is probably just as thrilled as the spectators, because the stunt signals the end of the performance for him.

Iron Becoming Major Industry For Malaya

SINGAPORE (AP)—Malaya, experiencing a slump in its primary products—rubber and tin—is turning to iron as a major industry.

Bigtime operators are crashing the field—undeveloped till shortly before the Pacific war. And Japanese, who first started the industry in Malaya and lost their properties through the war, are this country's biggest ore customers.

Leases have been granted in recent months on about nine areas in Johore state, South Malaya, and in Perak, Pahang and Trengganu states.

Iron is believed available in many other areas but prospecting is being hampered by the Communist rebellion.

IN HUNDREDS OF HILLS

Malaya's iron deposits occur in hundreds of jungle-covered hills rising to 1,500 feet. The hills are made of pebbles and boulders of ore, believed to be the remains of ore mountains which have crumbled through the ages.

One of the richest iron fields in Malaya is believed to be in South Pahang state, a few miles inland from the South China sea. Japanese experts estimated before the war that this area alone contains at least 20,000,000 tons of high-grade iron ore.

200 Rescuers Toil In Snow

LUDESCH, Austria (Reuters)—Two hundred rescue workers toiled for the fifth day beneath the looming white peaks of Austria's "Death Valley" this morning, as the list of missing avalanche victims in this area narrowed down to four.

Police at the wrecked village of Blons fired a salvo of shots into the air to test the solidity of overhanging snow masses before permitting digging to go on. Two persons were located by Swiss dogs Friday night and saved after almost four days beneath the snow.

Reports reaching here from Blons, seven miles away, said three more bodies were recovered there late Friday. Austria's official avalanche death toll still stood today at 116, but unofficial estimates raised the total as high as 130.

Meanwhile wet snow and rising temperatures sent dozens of new avalanches crashing into the narrow valleys of the western Alps. Heavy material damage was reported but no deaths were attributed to the new slides.

Model Skyscraper Rushed For Milanese

MILAN, Italy (Reuters) — City authorities are rushing construction on a full-scale model of a modernistic 25-storey skyscraper here, so that culture-conscious Milanese can decide whether or not they like the building's design.

Work on the huge dummy began a few days ago. Within the next week the replica of what is planned as Italy's tallest building will tower a full 225 feet over this ancient city.

The unique project is aimed at settling a long-standing squabble over the design of a new apartment project. After critics attacked the skyscraper plan, drawn up with the advice of U.S. engineers, and proposed a short, squat building instead, the exasperated authorities decided to let the citizens decide for themselves by public vote.

JETS ON GOOD-WILL TOUR—Above newsmap shows the itinerary of a flight of 15 U.S. jet aircraft, which will make a one-month good-will tour of South America, starting today. Maj.-Gen. Reuben C. Hood, commanding general of the Caribbean Air Command, will head the tour. It is the first time modern jet Air Force planes will visit the Latin-American republics. Purpose of the trip will be to emphasize the need of hemisphere defence. The jets will return to the U.S. on February 14.

FALL IN AND COUNT OFF—Terence Albert, 2, of Minneapolis, Minn., pleads with mother dachshund to keep her brood in order, numerically, that is. Forming a sausage string, the pups are named Eins, Swie, Drei, Vier, Fuenf, and Sechs, which happen to be numbers one through six in German. Even though the pups are numbered, Terry has trouble distinguishing them.

Train Elephants To Pull Plows In Belgian Congo

By RONALD FRASER

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — African elephants, first put to use by the Egyptians as fighting animals in the centuries before Christ and last used for the same purpose by Hannibal in his attack on Rome, now are being trained to pull plows, clear forests and provide transport in outlying regions of the Belgian Congo.

For 2,000 years, elephant training has been a lost art to Europe and Africa, but now it is being practised once again in the village of Gangala Na Bodia, near the northernmost border of the Congo.

Isolated and surrounded by vast expanses of scrub and forest, this village of straw-thatched huts contains the only school for training and domesticating elephants on the continent of Africa.

The idea of training the African elephant, for many centuries considered impracticable because of its savageness, came from King Leopold II of the Belgians at the end of the last century.

He foresaw the ned to provide the Congo with a domesticated animal impervious to the climate and the tsetse fly, whose poisonous bite is often fatal to horses and cattle.

DIED IN CAPTIVITY

But the few elephants caught in the early years of the experiment died quickly in captivity, while four imported Indian elephants survived only a year after their arrival.

The primitive method of capturing elephants consisted of driving a herd towards a series of concealed pits. But the animals, agile despite their weight of up to six tons, detected and by-passed the man-made traps.

Occasionally, an elephant which had been trapped in a pit would be rescued by the rest of the herd. With loud bellows and charges at any pursuer, the elephants hammered in the earth around the trap with their feet until the captive could manage to scramble halfway out. Then, taking him by the trunk, the others would pull him out.

ANIMAL NOW LASSOED

The present method is to pursue a herd containing suitable young elephants, about 10 years old and six feet high, until one or more of the small ones drops behind. Then, springing forward, a native lassoes the animal around the hind leg and tries to drag it to a halt while the rest of the hunting team trusses it with ropes.

The captives are taken back to camp bound with ropes to a "monitor" elephant, chosen for its docility and obedience. The breaking in and training, which takes about a year, begins with a traditional melody chanted morning and evening by Congolese mahouts (elephant drivers). This calms the newly - captured young elephants and they are fed with delicacies such as sugar cane, bananas and pineapples.

After four months of being taken for walks attached to their "monitors," the young elephants are broken in for riding and later are trained for work.

Ladies' Guild Plan Fashion Show

BETHANY (ENS) — The Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's church met at the rectory, with Mrs. Charles Reynolds presiding and Mrs. T. S. Gault leading in the devotional period.

Plans were made for a fashion show and demonstration of cosmetics in February.

It was decided to hold a series of progressive euchre parties during the winter months. Mrs. Charles Smith offered her home for the first one, with Mrs. William Mark, Mrs. H. F. Rayson and Mrs. Marvin Smith in charge of arrangements.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hector Morton, Mrs. Rubert Woods and Mrs. Charles Smith.

CROSBY HALL, the International University Women's residence in Chelsea, England, showing on the right the dining hall which is a unique example of domestic architecture of the 15th century. In this hall there often are women in the dress of a variety of countries, women who do not speak any English and women who speak fluently a number of languages

Local Women Make Use Of Historically Centred Hall

History dating from the 15th century surrounds the English residence in which at least 2 Peterborough women stayed while sight-seeing in London this past summer.

It is Crosby Hall, the International University Women's Residence located on Cheyne Walk, Chelsea (London), near Battersea Bridge, overlooking the Thames. The grounds were once part of the summer residence property of Sir Thomas More, and the gardens open directly on to the Embankment.

But the dining hall is the historic part of the building, a beautiful and unique example of domestic architecture of the 1400's. It is the surviving part of an ancient residence built by Sir John Crosby which came into the possession of Richard III, and he enlarged it. (It is referred to in Shakespeare as Crosby's Palace.)

Later it was owned by Sir Thomas More as his downtown or city residence. After that the building fell on evil days and was partially destroyed by fire, the beautiful dining hall with its fine oak-panelled roof and minstrel's gallery fortunately escaping.

It was being used as a warehouse when the committee of university women interested in the erection of an international women's residence in London Purchased it. They had it moved from Bishopgate, down in the city proper, to its present fine location at Chelsea in 1924, and added modern residence wings.

The two Peterborough women who stayed in Crosby Hall most recently, Miss Alexandria Howson and Miss Margaret McCulloch, found much to interest them situated near the Hall. For instance there is the home of Robert Falconer Scott, the Antarctic explorer whose widow now lives at Hampton Court; the house where the famous painter and poet Rossetti and his friend Swinburne lived, and Whistler at one time lived in the area.

It stands near Chelsea Old Church which was destroyed almost completely by bombs. There, Sir Thomas More is supposed to have been buried and Henry VIII quietly married to Jane Seymour. Crosby Hall too suffered some bomb damage during the last war. It sheltered war refugees too and a plaque in recognition of this is on a wall of the dining hall, in which there is also hung a copy of Holbein's portrait of More and his faimly.

The Queen of Charles II had a summer home in this section, which still stands and is called Queen's House. It is on the site of a home of Henry VIII and was familiar to Elizabeth I. Well-known writer George Eliott also lived briefly in a home in this area. And perhaps best known of all is the nearby factory where Chelsea china was manufactured.

Women of many nationalities use the residence while studying or touring in England, with Canadians and Americans always well represented. Throughout the Coronation Year it was filled to capacity and this has led to plans to extend the accomodation, which is now about 150 persons. Miss Howson has received word from the warden, Miss Buckmaster, that she is coming to Canada shortly to launch an appeal for building funds.

Young Canadian Wins Renown On British Job

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian who has won a reputation in an unusual job in Britain is 22-year-old George Anderson of Toronto. He crossed the Atlantic with hopes of becoming a ballet dancer, but wound up dressing store windows in fashionable shopping districts.

He won first prize for the best coronation shop-window display in all Surrey, and later caught the eye of author Beverley Nichols, who wrote a feature story on the young Canadian for a British magazine.

Anderson says it's easier to get a reputation dressing windows in Britain than in Canada. He spent three years at the same job in Toronto, and says the difference is that British companies are not so discriminating as their Canadan counterparts.

MORE RESTRAINED

British retailers aren't prepared to pay the high cost of the huge, mechanized window displays of the type favored in Canada," Anderson said in an interview. "They prefer the more discreet display."

His current interest, in and out of office hours, is creating intricate display figures two or three feet hgh. These are developed through a process he used in Canada and which he believes has not been done before in Britain.

The figures, often made of rubber, are swathed in white sheeting later hardened by a special process. The sheeting then becomes a kind of canvas for hand painting, embellished by sequins, jewels and pieces of materials.

He studied painting at Toronto's art gallery during school days, and finds his work absorbing.

"I no longer want to be a ballet dancer," he said; "I started too late to get to the top in that field, anyway."

BORN IN CHINA

Born in Chungking, China, where his father went to open a dental surgery for a United Church Mission, Anderson came to Britain from Toronto in June, 1952. In Canada he had worked with the Volkoff Ballet Company and he hoped to join the Sadler's Wells Company school here.

But he arrived "just too late" for a scholarship and became a film extra for pocket money. After two months in pantomime, he bought a return ticket to Canada. Just before the sailing date, he landed a window-display job and decided to stay. Now he has no immediate plans to go back.

"I now think about Canada as some Canadians think about New York," he said with a laugh. "The pace is much too fast at home."

BRIDE AND GROOM — Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio smile happily after their surprise wedding in San Francisco. They were married in a closed door ceremony by judge Charles H. Perry while a crowd of about 100 newsmen, photographers and well-wishers waited in the corridor. The couple plan to go on a short honeymoon.

Home and School Association News

HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK (ENS)—"Citizenship Night" was observed by the Havelock Home and School Association when A. L. Jackson of Brighton, field secretary of the boy scouts was guest speaker.

Mr. Jackson, who was introduced by Principal H. Hunter, took as his subject "Citizenship—A live, Growing Responsibility for All".

There are three kinds of people, Mr. Jackson said. Those who can do things, those who oppose everything and those who do things.

Good intentions do not pay bills, he said. It is easy to plan. To wish is the play of an office boy; to do is the job of a man.

Show your children, he advised, more than one side of controversial questions and do not give them the impression that your social group, political party or religious sect are superior and right or have any sort of patent on truth. Never lie to your children, for they are entitled to the clear truth.

The conception of true training in citizenship is teaching the spirit of friendship and fellowship by cheerful willingness to help. The training for character is the prime step toward training for citizenship.

One aim of education, he said, should be to prepare the young citizen for his responsibilities in this line. School teachers and Sunday school teachers are of tremendous importance in the development of children.

The president, Mrs. J. Calnan, presided for the business session. Community singing was led by Mrs. D. Kirk with Mrs. G. Kennedy at the piano. Soloist was Mrs. W. Goadsby who sang two solos with Mrs. Kirk as the accompanist.

Mrs. W. Nobes Sr. gave a talk on "Why Must Hospitals Terrify Children"?

The refreshment committee served lunch in the home economics room.

Supper Club Has Box Lunch

The Friday Night Supper Club had a box-lunch supper at their weekly meeting in the YWCA. Movies were shown.

Miss Mildred Hayward, president, led a discussion on a proposed sleigh ride. The date has been tentatively set for Friday, Feb. 19.

The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Ellsworth Ingall of the Peterboroug Film Council. He showed a 30-minute film "Canadian Cavalcade of Sports", a reiew of most of the sports Canadians play.

Mr. Ingall was thanked for the entertainment by Miss Betty McDonald. About 30 members were present for the meeting.

BIG SUGAR YIELD

CANBERRA (CP) — Australia's raw sugar crop this season may reach a record 1,270,000 tons. This would be 320,000 tons more than the previous record in 1952. Production value is estimated at the equivalent of $122,000,000, an increase of $22,000,000.

India Raising Nursing To High Plane

It has been said that nursing is an old activity but a young profession, relates Caravan of India, and that is certainly true of nursing in India. Old medical books, compiled about 200 BC or earlier by Indian doctors, made a mention of nurses and nursing was recognized as an important factor in the cure of the sick. We do not know if nursing was a calling practiced for gain, or for which any training was given.

Modern nursing may be said to have spread to India from the West in the 1880s. The first training school for nurses was opened in the Cama Hospital in Bombay in 1886. Other institutions followed this lead and a number of schools for nurses and midwives were started before 1900. As early as 1911 registration of nurses was undertaken by the Bombay Presidency Nursing Association though state registration came into force much later.

The training of nurses and midwives, and later of health visitors, followed the traditional pattern developed in England, though for many reasons it could not attain the same high standards. One of the main difficulties was the small number of women who had the required education. Another, which was ot peculiar to India, was the prejudice against nursing.

DRAMATIC CHANGE

It will be recalled that it was the same 100 years ago in England. Daughters of respectable families did not leave their homes to earn their living unless forced to do so by poverty. The work of Miss Nightingale brought about an almost dramatic change in this attitude. In India the prjudice is dying also, though the idea that nursing is the refuge of the widow and orphan still lingers.

The established system of training nurses by apprenticeship and the prevalent notion, again not peculiar to India, that there was not enough content in nursing to call for a planned educational program, have also hampered the development of nursing. It is now accepted that scientific training is necessary to prepare nurses to carry out scientific treatment.

The old system of training, though narrow in many of its aspects, had its good points. At its best, it fostered a sense of responsibility and a sense of duty. Most of the leaders in nursing in the world today are the products of that system and have been the force behind the reforms, slowly achieved over the years, in nursing education and nursing practice.

Thirty or even 20 years ago the young student nurse was a member of the ward staff from the day she joined the hospital school—if four nurses were allotted to a ward she was one of the four. She was shown her work mainly by other students who had been there longer and, after seeing the procedure carried out two or three times, was expected to do her work. The fact that she could not pull her weight made her feel unwelcome in a new and confusing world. She was usually too concerned about coping with unfamiliar duties, too worried lest she make a mistake, to understand fully the larger purpose of the hospital of which she was a small but integral part from the day she entered it.

An intelligent girl would, however, soon learn her way about, and learn to enjoy the acquiring of new skills and the fellowship found in an essential social service. When this young student completed her general training and midwifery, two fields of work would be obvious to her—hospital nursing or private nursing. She might have a vague notion of public health and probably have none of who or what a health visitor was. If she wished to do more study to improve herself she had to look to schools abroad to attain her desire.

This picture is changing today. In a progressive school the young student, like her counterpart in many other countries, begins her course in a preliminary training school where she is taught the elements of nursing.

STRESS ON HEALTH

She learns something about the health problems and health services in the country so that she can understand what her own particular role will be in the health team. Her introduction to the hospital ward is more gradual and at first her practice is guided and supervised by the sister tutor. Her subsequent training, both in theory and practice, is more carefully planned though almost invariably the needs of the hospital for her service have priority over her needs for a balanced training.

When she is a qualified nurse and midwife many fields of special work are open to her. For some specialties she needs special training and now, as a rule, she can get it in her own country. She has the opportunity for more contacts with nurses, both in India and abroad, through her professional association, the Trained Nurses Association of India. She is better prepared also to take an active part in professional activities by having been a member of the students' branch of that association.

Crowd Of Nearly 700 Enjoys Purple And Gold Ball

In high favor are the nurses of the Civic Hospital Alumnae, with their annual Purple and Gold Ball which took place Friday night in Brock Ballroom. It is the first dance this season for which the demand for tickets has far exceeded the supply.

A limit of 300 tickets was first set, and this was stretched to allow 40 more couples, but since everyone couldn't be accomodated, it was thought best to stop there. Ticket convener was Mrs. W. Jones, who was assisted in taking tickets at the door by Miss Florence Vickers and Mrs. Eva Brackenridge.

Dance convener Mrs. Earle Wellman alloted the decoration planning to Mrs. Don Kerneghan and Mrs. Roy Taylor. They decided to make small nurses" caps, complete with black band signifying graduates, for the guests' tables, and a large replica of the Alumnae insignia, centred with the familiar Florence Nightingale lamp, to centre the bandstand. The insignia, done in gold, was hung between wide purple drapes and spotlighted throughout the dance.

Favors for the ladies, chosen by Mrs. A. Logan, were small vials of perfume.

Th main door prize was a pair of white woollen blankets, the usual lovely prize for this occasion, and the winners Mr. and Mrs. Eric McKinstry received the gift from president Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon. Two $10. gift certificates for shoes were also drawn for, and Mrs. Wellman handed these to winners.

The first spot dance prize, a box of chocolates, was given by Mrs. E. Roberts to Mr. and Mrs. Bart Grainger and a second prize went to Mrs. R. Mathews.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Kingdon were Mrs. Wellman and Mr. Earle Wellman, Miss Cornelia Wilson, representing the School of Nursing, and Dr. T. E. Currier, chairman of the medical staff, and Mrs. Currier.

The guests were:

ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST

A Talk on "Religious Education in the home" was given by the Rev. F. Mihilic, a refugee from Communist Europe, at the meeting of St. John the Baptist Parent-Teacher Association Thursday evening. First telling of his escape from his native land in 1945 and arrival in Canada six years later, he gave his conclusion "That Canadians do not thoroughly understand nor appreciate the privilege of freedom."

On his topic, Father Michilic stated: "No institute can substitute for parental teaching of children. This educational influence will be expressed in respect and good manners." He then stated "The greatest enemies of the home are bad books, magazines and papers."

"Make the home a happy one," he urged. "Many families are not happy because they do not pray any more. It is not enough to just know the catechism — it must be lived. Justice, charity and love must be instilled in the offspring."

The speaker was introduced to this audience by the Rev. C. O'Donoghue and was thanked for the address by Mr. Fergus O'Connor.

Vice-president Charles Boulter presided in the absence of Mrs. W. M. Larocque. Discussion of plans for a box social on February 19th was the main item of business.

The school choir under the direction of Mr. Heribert Michel entertained with several number.

Attendance prize was won by Sister St. Anne's Grade 1 class.

During a social hour lunch was served by Mrs. John Hodson and and Mrs. Ed. Curtin and committee.

DOROTHY DIX

Newcomer From Eire Told To Seek Out Gaelic Society

DEAR MISS DIX: Being a newcomer to this country I would like to know where I could meet some nice girls. I have attended a number of dances, but have been unable to meet the right girl. I came from Ireland three years ago with great hopes for my success here. Back home I could take a girl out and we would enjoy ourselves, but here it seems to me that the only thing that counts is whether you have an up-to-date car.

Pat C.

ANSWER: It seems quite impossible that an Irishman who can write as charmingly as you do (I shortened your letter somewhat) should have difficulty finding a girl. You'd meet some fine Irish colleen at Gaelic Societies, and I'm sure you can find such an organization not far from where you are, or you could sign up at a university in your city for a course interesting to both men and girls. College courses today cover an amazing range of subjects, many of them giving persons an opportunity of meeting interesting friends. Do try something along this line and I'm sure the luck of the Irish will sustain you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I met Fred several months ago at a place where we both worked. I am 17, he is 21. The first time we went out he met my parents, and the next time we dated I met his family. My folks liked him, and his people liked me. He asked me to go steady and I agreed. Then he left his job, got another, left that, and is now working in a new place. We have had several disagreements over his changing jobs so much and finally broke up. We made up a few weeks ago and he promised to come and see me, but he didn't. I haven't seen or heard from him now in over a month.

JOAN R.

ANSWER: You seem to be a very confused young lady, since your letter is almost incoherent in spots. I've done my best to decipher it in order to reach the core of your problem. Fred is not a very steady young man—but not many young men of 21 are. That's the time of their lives when they're making up their minds about so many vital ideas. You should go out with other boys—you're very young, too—and see if the next year or so doesn't mature you both so that you'll know at least your own minds. If Fred does offer to come back, don't accept him in too much of a rush. I think you've been overanxious with him. Take things a bit easier.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 28 and the man I've been going with is 31. We've been going together for six years. I'm very much in love with him and want to get married, but he won't make any promises or plans. He says he's satisfied just the way things are. He's a very hot-tempered person, doesn't want me to be friendly with anyone. He dates other girls, however.

ADA M.

ANSWER: You're being very patient, Ada, but I'm afraid your efforts will be quite wasted. The young man obviously wants to play around the field looking for a permanent attachment. Don't let him get away with it too long.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a man of 23, married to a girl of 18. We've been married just a year. Getting married was her idea—not mine. I wanted to wait until she had finished school, then she could get a job and help support us. I don't make much money. However, now she refuses to finish school or to work. All she does is shop and spend money we don't have.

ALAN H.

ANSWER: You began marriage on a very shaky foundation. Altogether too many ifs and buts. Certainly, now that your wife has accepted the dignity of marriage she should take on its obligations and, since she understood them clearly before the trip to the altar, she is being dishonest in shirking them. The very least she could do now would be to stay home (if she's allergic to work) and manage on your salary. You'll just have to clamp down on her spending sprees.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm keeping company with a man of 24 who drinks excessively about once a week—the rest of the week he is on the wagon. When he is intoxicated we quarrel over very trivial things. I love him very much, but wonder if it would be better to give him up.

SUSIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Without the slightest hesitation, I urge you to give the man up. The one time when a man will do almost anything for his girl is during courtship, and if your steady won't even consider giving up drinking for you, you're on your way to being a drunkard's wife, a frightful fate.

Strengthening Family Ties With Planned Recreation

BY NANCY CLEAVER

"In my day there was little talk about child psychology, but we did go out togethter as a family and had a good time too!" Grandma said rather wistfully. In the very many groups for different ages and people with varying interests, the idea of recreation for the family as a unit has been largely forgotten.

Homes broken by separation or divorce were very rare half a century ago. The family appeared to be on more solid ground. Pioneer life was much simpler than social life to-day. But there is no use harping back to "the good old days." What is being done at the present time to encourage family ties?

In Peckham, England, there is a fascinating Pioneer Health Centre which provides recreation for all the different ages in an ordinary home. Only families can join this club and members of the family go together to it. If they wish, they then separate in different directions, to the nursery, gym, concert hall, swimming pool or cafeteria. They make new friends, engage in fresh interests, but are not entirely removed from the family circle.

In smaller communities and rural areas, family picnics and social gatherings where young and old are welcome are held in many districts. It is in the large centres of population that the family as a unit rarely functions in leisure time activities.

RESULTS OF SURVEY

In a recent survey "across the line" on the Prevention of Juvenile Deliquency, it was discovered that only one-third of the older boys and one-fourth of the girls in the number of cities had "something to do" at a club or youth community or church centre. The results of a similar survey in Canada would likely be very similar.

Local churches should keep in mind this plan of considering the family as a group. "Family Fun Night," on a week night, sponsored by a Sunday School Staff is inexpensive and not hard to carry out. Let the family have a Sing Song, see one of the excellent National Film Board Movies. Then let the different age groups have recreation under a good director and finally all come together for simple refreshments. The old-fashioned annual Family Sunday School picnic has much to commend its continuance.

Family night at the movies is a happy custom in some households. But a family does not have to go away from home in order to enjoy their leisure! However, parents must begin to plan when their children are small to share their recreation with them. With what eagerness a small boy accepts his Dad's invitation to go fishing! Mother should realize that a game of checkers or darts with the children may have even more value to the home atmosphere than an elaborate dinner or a house without a speck of dust.

GOOD INVESTMENT

Play equipment, which all the members of the home are keen about, is always a good investment. A hobby, such as photography or gardening, which has a common attraction also strengthens the family bond.

How often does your family play together as a unit? If you don't share occasionally your leisure hours, you are certainly "missing out!" Once your children are grown and away on their own, you can never re-capture the opportunities you have now for good times in your home! Plan now for a new beginning in Family Recreation.

POWER DEMAND HIGH

TORONTO (CP)—The cold wave over the province earlier this week sent power demands on hydro's southern Ontario system to a record high of 2,945,350 kilowatts Tuesday. Hydro chairman Robert Saunders said Friday the system's ability to meet such a peak could be directly traced to the steam generating stations in Toronto and Windsor. Tuesday they contributed 614,000 kilowatts or 20.8 per cent of the demand.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

BEGINNING - OF - THE - YEAR EXPLANATION TO READERS:

Periodically I entreat you to include a stamped envelope with your letters. Most of you do this. If you do not I answer anyway. But there is all too often a letter from a reader with no signature but initials, no address and no return envelope, but with an urgent request for a reply. This reply presumably is to appear in the next day's column. I don't receive your mail on the day after you write it. It has to be forwarded to me. Furthermore I receive more than one letter per day—many more.

When I receive a letter like the one below—four days after the event with which I was to have helped — I am dismaved because I want to help.

I am writing this explanation so that you may understand the workings of a newspaper office and its contact with only one of its syndicated columnists.

If I have your address, and you enclose a stamped envelope, and you do not allow the required three weeks between time of request and my answer in the column, I then can write to you direct. Okay?

QUESTION: We are planning a home wedding and wondered when and if the register is signed at home. We would like a solo sung while the signing of the register is going on as it is done in the church. Also would like pictures taken going to car in wedding dress, but the reception is at home. We had thought of wedding party going upstairs and signing register and solo sung while they were away. Then when they come down to go out the door, speaking to anyone on the way, then go for a short ride and come back. By this time the chairs could be cleared away and rest of pictures taken. After this go to dining room for wedding breakfast. We, as you see, have no receiving line in this arrangement. Is it all wrong? You have helped us so much before so please do now. We are open to new suggestions in anything. Also if wedding is at 2.30 could we have hot meal at five or stick to cold.

ANSWER: This is the order in which the ceremony, signing register, singing, receiving and eating are carried out in a home wedding: Minister and groom and best man are stationed at your improvised altar. Bridesmaids precede the bride and her father down the stairs, and take their places—the bride, then the bridesmaids at left of altar. The father steps back to a seat immediately behind the bride and beside the bride's mother. Marriage ceremony. Bride and groom then move to where register is (in hall, dining-room or upstairs) and sign it while soloist sings. Bride and groom followed by attendants return (this is called recessional) and only smile and bow to guests. In your case they stop and speak because it is a home wedding.

Meanwhile your helpers (you do not do any of the work) clear chairs that you speak of away and put them in place in dining-room. In your case bride and groom go out to the lawn and have their "going-away" pictures taken in the vicinity of the car (and the short ride you suggest which in my opinion is entirely unnecessary). They return to living-room, for formal bridal pictures. Then they line up in receiving line this way, left to right: Bride's mother; Groom's father; Groom's mother; Bride's father; Bride; Groom; Maid of Honor; Bridesmaids. (Properly formal pictures are taken ahead of time.)

If you are having more than 20 guests in your home do not attempt a sitdown meal. Serve it buffet style but for older guests and some who would be ill at ease balancing cup and plate on lap provide small side tables.

I feel from reading both of your letters that you prefer to serve hot food. If so, this could be creamed chicken in pattyshells, or sliced hot turkey and ham, hot rolls, salad, ice cream or sherbet, fancy cookies like meringues and shortbread and brownies, and wedding cake, coffee and tea (the latter poured by your closest friends).

I know you must have some good reason for having the wedding at 2:30 but you would not be so puzzled at the time lag you mention in your second letter if the wedding were at 3:30, then meal time would naturally fall closer to 5 p.m. I wish you the very best of luck.

Housewife Wins Fight To Adopt Toronto Baby

TORONTO (CP) — A young Brooklyn housewife Friday won a ten-month fight to legally adopt and take across the U.S. border the baby of an unwed Toronto mother.

Mrs. Jack Shinder and her husband were arrested last February as they were about to board a plane at Malton airport outside Toronto with the five-day-old child.

The Shinders, a childless couple, were told by a Toronto physician in New York that they could have the illegitimate child of one of his patients as soon as it was born.

The Shinders then came to Canada to await the birth of the child.

LATER ARRESTED

Later, Mr. Shinder and the doctor were arrested and the former was fined for obtaining a false birth certificate. The charge against the doctor was later dismissed.

With legal aid Mrs. Shinder got legal adoption of the baby but was not allowed to leave the country.

She has recently been informed by U.S. consul officials that she can now apply for a visa for the baby and will be able to take him to her Brooklyn home as soon as he passes the medical examination and other tests.

6—In Memoriam

BRINSON—In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. H. D. Brinson, who passed awya January 16, 1952.
—Always remembered by Lillian, Roy and Family.

COLLINS — In loving memory of my dear dad, George Collins, who passed away January 17, 1952.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find;
Honorable and true in all your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, very upright,
Just in your judgment, always right;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
One in a million, dear dad, that was you.
If I could talk with dad today,
Laugh with him in the same old way,
Just to hear his voice and see his smile,
Life again to me would be worth while.
—Jean.

COLLINS — In loving memory of George Henry Collins, who passed away January 17th, 1953.
One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Always remembered by Wife and Family.

GARBUTT — In loving memory of a wife and mother, Ethel Jane Garbutt, who passed away anuary 16th, 1950.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you did four years ago.
—Ever remembered by C. W. Garbutt and Family.

HEARD— In loving memory of Mrs. Fred Heard, who passed away January 17th, 1950.
Four years have swiftly passed away,
But still we don't forget;
For in the hearts that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.
—Remembered by her Husband.

Open Exhibition Of Art Masterpieces

TORONTO (CP) — C. P. Fell, chairman of the board of trustees of the National Gallery of Canada, Friday night opened an exhibition of masterpieces from Canadian collections.

Mr. Fell said the exhibition at the Art Gallery of Toronto represents an attempt by the galleries in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, working together, to call attention to the existence of a considerable body of European paintings held in public and private hands in the three cities.

Blue Banner Group Plan Pot Luck Supper

WARKWORTH —(ENS)— Mrs. William Johnston was hostess for the Blue Banner group of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Mrs. John Carlaw, president presided. Mrs. M. Baird read the Scripture reading. Readings were given by Mrs. Percy Campbell, Mrs. William Johnston and Mrs. Bert Smith.

Plans were laid for a pot luck supper to be served in the church basement at the time of the annual congregational meeting.

Neighbors Fete Couple 50 Years Wed

NORWOOD (ENS). — Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calnan gathered at hteir home recently and gave a surprise party in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Calnan were married at the bride's home in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward county, by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, minister of the Methodist church. The bride's sister Ethel (Mrs. W. Nelson) was bridesmaid and Mr. Nelson was best man.

Mr. and rMs. Calnan came to this neighborhood seven years ago from Peterborough and bought their home from the late John McKay.

READS ADDRESS

The evening was spent in games. Ernie McDonald read an address and presented the couple with a clock.

"We wish you many years more with us and ask you to accept this clock, not for its intrinsic value, but as a remembrance from your neighbors on the Belmont road," Mr. McDonald concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Calnan thanked all for their kindness.

The ladies served lunch. The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Woman's Intuition Traps 2 Thieves

HAMILTON (CP)—Two Brantford men are in custody here today on housebreaking and theft charges—and all because of a woman's intuition.

Wilfred George Livingston, 25, and William Makarchuk, 22, are in custody after being taken from a bus at Brantford. They are to appear in court Monday.

Mrs. Harold Turkstra, RR 1, Hamilton, became suspicious when she saw them loitering about a neighbor's home, and informed her husband, who notified police.

Fraserville Euchre

FRASERVILLE — (ENS)—The L.O.L. 46 held their weekly euchre in the Orange Hall on Thursday night but because of poor weather there were only enough for three tables.

Prizes were won by Mrs. McGahey, Mr. Bruce Elliott, Mrs. J. O. Pue and Miss Olive Moncrief. Lunch was enjoyed at the close.

Will Investigate Development Of Township

HAVELOCK (ENS)— The Belmont and Methuen council is to ask the Quebec contracting firm, Flint and Spar Co., for information regarding plans for developing its project in Methuen township. Deciding this at the inaugural meeting, members agreed that the council should be informed as to what effect the company's hauling will have on the roads. The road which will be mainly effected, is between company property in Methuen and Havelock Township.

The resignation of Earl J. Pollock as assessor was received and accepted.

The salary for the clerk was set at $700.

Robert Marshall was instructed to return all arrears of taxes on the 1951 roll and also on the properties that are not paid up for 1952 and 1953. An auditor will be engaged to review the township books.

It was decided to make a request to the Havelock fire department for fire protection in Belmont and Methuen townships, until a fire zone is set up or other arrangements made.

Three residents were accepted as indigents.

The council will request the county clerk, to furnish an individual statement to the township clerk as soon as each indigent account is paid. This will allow the council to forward an account of indebtedness to each indigent.

The following officers were appointed at the meeting—Robert Wrightly, member of the Board of Health, the fee to be $3 per meeting.

Sheep valuators—James Toms, Robert Wrightly, Charles Barrons. The fee was set at 75 cents per hour and 13 cents per mile one way, with $1 for short trips.

The accounts passed included, Voucher No. 1, roads, $429.93, direct relief $78.30.

French Troops Kill 30 Guerrilla Soldiers

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — French army headquarters reported today that French-Viet Namese troops killed 30 Communist-led Vietminh troops and captured 100 in scattered mop-ups within the Red river delta.

At one point near Phat Diem, 75 miles southeast of Hanoi, Vietminh commando units raided a Viet Namese marketing place. Twenty-one rebels were wounded and captured.

French-Viet Namese tanks and armored cars continued to spearhead a wide series of clean-ups, village by village, in the southeastern sector of the delta.

BOMBERS STILL BUSY

French Union forces today released 300 Vietminh soldiers from prisoner-of-war camps in northern Viet Nam. All prisoners released signed pledges never again to bear arms against French Union forces or the Viet Namese national army.

HAPPY REUNION—Sister Marie-de-la-Charite, of St. Barnabe, Que., who was stationed in Manchuria for 25 years, is given a fond embrace by her sister, Mrs. Omer Gelinas, also of St. Barnabe, as she arrived at Montreal from Vancouver.

Postal Rate Increase Wins Approval

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's plan for a cent-an-ounce increase in first-class postal rates has won preliminary Commons approval after a two-day fight against it by all three opposition parties.

By a vote of 49 to 34 the Commons Friday night passed a motion preliminary to a bill to implement the increases. The bill then was introduced.

Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit members voted together against the motion, which was supported by the Liberals.

Opposition Leader Drew, entering the debate in its second day, charged that the postal boost is "the payoff on the political bait that was offered last spring" before the general election. The government knew it would lose money when it removed the stamp tax on cheques then.

HIGHEST IN WORLD

He said the increase will make Canada's letter rates the highest in the world. The rate for one ounce would be five cents, compared with three cents in the United States and twopence—slightly more than three cents—for two ounces in Britain.

Postmaster-General Cote replied that his department is faced with increased expenditures of about $13,500,000 a year and should pay its own way. The higher rates would yield an estimated $15,000,000.

The increased expenditures were required for wage increases and shorter hours for postal employees, together with improvements in rural delivery.

The changes in letter rates will make postage five cents, instead of the present four, on the first ounce of mail between different postal districts and four cents, instead of three, on the first ounce of mail within a district.

AIR SERVICE

All first-class mail within Canada will be carried by air, where facilities are available, eliminating the present seven-cent domestic airmail rate.

Mr. Drew said there had been increasing delays in the delivery of Canadian mail while other countries had increased the speed and frequency of deliveries.

Suggest Ontario Drivers Take Tests Every 3 Years

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Provincial Federation of Labor (AFL-TLC) has proposed that every Ontario driver of a truck or automobile be required to take physical and mental fitness tests every three years.

The recommendation was made in a resolution adopted Friday by the federation's annual convention.

James Robertson of the Toronto Street Railway Union said the province is licensing persons who could drop dead from heart failure while at the wheel.

"Since the end of the war there has been a 100-per-cent increase in the accident rate in Ontario, yet the qualifications for a licence have not changed," he said. "There are people in an absolute state of mental decay who can get a licence."

Alf Ward, Toronto delegate from the Carpenters' Union, opposed the resolution. He said tests should be required only for drivers with an accident record.

A TAG FOR THE MAYOR

Another resolution asked the federal government to gear immigration to the manpower requirements of industry. Fred Hutnick of the Windsor Carpenters' Union said immigrants are being "dumped" into Ontario, which has taken 52 per cent of those who entered Canada during the last year.

Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro Chairman, told the convention he believes atomic power will be available in Ontario in five or six years. Hydro was preparing for that development.

Mayor Arthur Reaume, welcoming the 400 delegates, invited them to send him their parking tags if a conscientious policeman tagged an out-of-town car. He had hardly stepped off the platform when a Toronto delegate flashed a parking tag at him. He pocketed it with a smile.

St. Paul's WA Plan Annual Bazaar

BETHANY—(ENS)—Mrs. T. S. Gault entertained St. Paul's Woman's Auxiliary at the rectory, with Mrs. Allan Gribble presiding. There were 14 members present.

Committees were appointed to look after purchasing and giving out of material to be made up in preparation for the annual bazaar. The ladies also decided to hold sales of home baking once a month to add to the treasury funds. Mr. A. H. Watson has kindly donated counter space in his store for their sales.

Following the closing exercises and prayer, the hostess, assisted by members of her group, served lunch.

Manitoba U. Retains McGoun Cup

WINNIPEG—(CP)—The University of Manitoba Friday night retained possession of the McGoun Cup, symbol of the western Canadian collegiate debating championship, by successfully defending and attacking the Kinsey reports on sex.

The debates are held annually among the universities of Manitoba, Saskatchewa, Alberta and British Columbia. This year's resolution: "That the Kinsey reports are a benefit to society."

The University of Manitoba was the only school which scored double victories. Its affirmative team won at home while its negative team was successful against the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

Some of the debaters turned their comments into comedy.

DRAWS PARALLEL

Virtually all 1,200 seats in the U. of M. campus were occupied when Elmer Martens, upholding the negative for University of Saskatchewan, said:

"My opponents would say that Kinsey did for sex what Columbus did for geography. And I would say that Columbus didn't know where he was when he got there."

Before the debate Dean Neville Scarfe, chairman, told the audience that even if sex was the subject, what it was about to see and hear was a "scholarly university competition."

Choice of the topic brought about the resignation in Winnipeg of one debater and the McGoun Cup chairman because they figured Dr. A. C. Kinsey's reports weren't suited for university debate.

University of Alberta debaters, upholding the negative, scored over University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon, where 300 persons braved 40-below-zero weather to attend.

Jim Redmond argued that the Kinsey studies are not yet complete but Dick Spencer said the studies were beneficial in stimulating an examination of our moral code and making people morally alert.

The U. of A. affirmative team lost out before a home crowd of 500 at University of British Columbia.

John Whittaker of the B. C. debaters said Kinsey, described as a zoologist, has been influenced in his reports by his previous work with animals.

Part Of Ceiling Falls Above Queen's Chair

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A workman testing the ceiling of the Australian Senate chamber in Canberra, the capita, dislodged a slab of masonry two feet square and three inches thick directly above the chair in which the Queen will sit to open Parliament, the Sydney Sun-Herald said today.

The newspaper said the slab crashed on the scaffolding on which the workman was standing.

Officials preparing the Parliament Buildings for next month's royal visit kept the fall a close secret, the newspaper said.

The whole ceiling was repaired and repainted following the examination, it added.

Two-Storey Building Destroyed By Fire

THOROLD (CP) — A two-storey building was gutted by fire today with loss estimated at more than $30,000.

Thorold and Thorold South firemen fought the flames in the Mark Kruluck Plumbing Company building for three hours.

An inspector from the fire marshal's office will attempt today to determine the cause of the blaze.

7 Perish In Fire

OTARU, Japan (AP) — At least seven persons, including three children, died today in a fire which destroyed a motion picture theatre here, Kyodo news service reported.

More than 20 persons were listed as injured.

How To Discourage Rabbits Or Grow Trees, Answer Soon

Some of the questions Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, receives from city and suburban people are tougher to answer than the larger problems from the farms.

"What can we do about four rabbits that have been lunching around midnight on our Chinese elms and other shrubbery?"

That was a poser from a woman whose home is somewhere between Hopkins Ave. and Parkhill Road.

"We spent up to $10 on shrubs last year, and they have been doing fine. But, what about rabbits?"

"If your husband has a shotgun he could sit up some night and shoot them," was Mr. Paterson's first suggestion. "But, you'd have to get permission from Chief Constable Thompson to use firearms."

"But, what about the neighbors?" the lady asked. "They'd be sure to hear the noise; might call the police. Dear knows what could happen. We have sat up until one o'clock and seen the rabbits arrive from somewhere. What about poison?"

"Oh, I wouldn't set out poison. There is a repellent mixture you could make and put on the shrubs. Break up fine 12 lbs. lump resin and mix with cheap alcohol, anti-freeze kind. That would give you about two gallons. Keep it away from the fire. Apply with paint brush in the late fall before the rabbits discover the juicy food. Hardly a job for five above zero."

Agricultural office has an OAC pamphlet on control of rabbits.

WHAT ABOUT SKUNKS?

Another question occasionally recurring: "How do you get a skunk out of the cellar?"

"Whatever you do, don't shoot it in the cellar, especially if it is damp. You could be reminded of that blunder for five years. One man put a wide plank through a cellar window. Evidently the skunk (they're more reasonable critters than they get credit for) walked up the plank and out."

"There's a bat in our house. How do we get rid of it?"

Mr. Paterson was stumped at that, and it was certainly no help to comment that the bat wouldn't do any harm, and would probably get out the way he got in.

But women folk are afraid of them getting in their hair. Then there's the pet apple tree, probably a brace of them.

How do you take care of them, you know, scab, apple coddling moth? Mr. Paterson would probably be tempted to say: "Get a saw, crosscut or otherwise, and prune the tree level with the ground."

You can't have healthy apple trees without regular spraying. And, there's no economy or sense in thinking of buying a spray outfit to reach up 15 or 20 feet. If you don't spray, the favored apple tree becomes a nuisance, windfalls that rot, and so on.

BERRY PROBLEMS

"Can I make any money out of black currants, raspberries, strawberries, and how?"

That is another sticker. How many acres? Quarter or half for the Sundown farmer, a suburbanite who likes to work some land when he goes home from the city at the end of the day; or 30 acres?

Raspberries have to be bought free of disease, mosaic, leaf curl blue stem, and they have to be kept healthy. That kind of work can be turned into a pleasant sideline—could branch out further at retirement, and full of knowledge. Knapsack spraying is cheaper and easy.

Black currants! That is one market which rarely appears to be hampered by surplus . . . At any rate, the Ag. Rep. is likely to say: "We have a really helpful bulletin on those plants. Take it home and study it, get all the other information you can, come in and see us again any time . . ."

"How can we kill twitch without injuring the lawn?" . . . This might be the line of reply. "You have to root up the twitch; those scars will show in the lawn, but you sow grass seed i nthe fresh bare spaces . . . Work and patience . . . You can't depend on an herbicide to kill twitch and have the Kentucky blue grass escape, because they are both grasses . . . If you want to attack mallow, chickweed and other pests that can be done with herbicide."

"Pigeons are getting to be an awful nuisance around our house—what can we do about them?" About the only satisfactory answer is—call the police and ask them.

MAPLES TURN YELLOW

"Our hard maples are turning yellow in the leaf. What about that?"

"Probably you have them in an unfavorable environment . . . See where they grow in nature. They like high good land. Look at the hardwood lot, usually good drainage."

The cut leaf birch?—Can thrive on moist subsoil. Planted in a dry place, and high, such as on a ridge—not likely to flourish; probably goes to pieces. Again, consider the natural environment . . . Even hose watering around the house may not be sufficient.

"How can you tell a goose from a gander?"—Mr. Paterson can possibly make pass remarks on that one, but he's not so sure about it. That's a question for the specialist.

One man was importing chinchilla feed from Independence, Mo.—had no trouble coming through one port of entry. Delivery was switched to another border point resulting in holdup and delay. "What would you do in that case?"

It sounded like a matter of reference at the customs house.

"Our lawn on the north side of the house is thin and poor. What can we do?"

NEED GOOD SOIL

"You can't hope to grow grass on poor soil and in the shade. Select trees that will give the lawn a chance, and again there is the element of environment . . . Off the record it might be helpful to join the Horticultural Society."

And so on through a wide range of topics from people who are earnest and need help, even the man who had goat trouble, and ag. reps. are probably few who can discuss the goat. That might even faze the veterinarian.

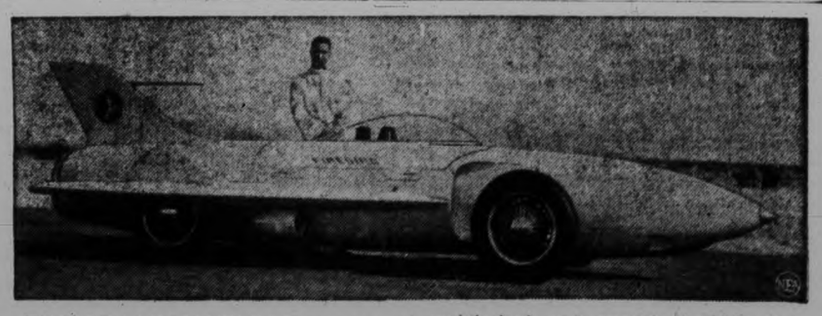
In that service you are likely to be called out from a curling game at 9 p.m. by someone who has a home problem to which he thinks the ag. rep. should have the answer, or might.

About cutting trees? Evasive of that might be: Call Armar Butcher or the chairman of the city's parks department.

Those are some of the variety of questions from within the city or on the suburban perimeter, apart from the bigger job of trying to be helpful to the people who have to make their living from their farms.

At least there are no rabbit difficulties from that sector. The farmer or his son settles them himself, and without police permit.

WINTER WONDERLAND—An unusually heavy snow covers the picturesque gondolas and the rest of Venice, Italy, with a wet, white blanket. The canals that run through the 80 islands of the city are almost deserted. In the background are the domes of St. Mark's Square.



TEST DRIVER MAURI ROSE stands by the "Firebird," the first gas-turbine automobile built and tested in the U.S. It is a single seater with a plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit.

Firebird

These are the first pictures of the Firebird, the first turbo-jet car built in the U.S., just unveiled by General Motors in Detroit, Mich. The vehicle, which is purely experimental and not intended for highway use, looks more like a supersonic plane than an automobile. Engineers believe the car can travel over 200 m.p.h. It has reverse pitch wings to keep it on the ground, and wing flaps like an airplane to slow it down. The engine has two units. The gasifier section is where the kerosene burns and turns the gas compressor. These gases are funneled through the power section that is directly connected to the rear wheels. The Firebird is comparable in size to the Cadillac 62 Special convertible now in production.

Man In Jail 28 Months, Found Innocent

TORONTO (CP) — Paul Cachia, twice convicted of armed robbery and who has spent 28 months in prison, was freed today.

Judge Robert Forsyth said in discharging Cachia, 21, that new evidence convinced him that he was not guilty of the offence.

Cachia had been charged with [illegible] robbery of a service station in suburban Swansea Sept. 21, 1951. He was first convicted by a jury in 1951, and again last year. Originally he was sentenced to four years in Kingston penitentiary and at the second trial to two years in reformatory.

Cachia was convicted on the evidence of one witness who identified him as one of a trio which held up the service station.

While Cachia was in penitentiary police interviewed Mrs. Marina Gore, then looking after her sick mother at Trenton. Her statement to police said that Ray Goodwin, Bruce Hilley and another man she called Bobby, to protect his family, were the three that held up the service station. A new trial was ordered but Mrs. Gore was in Nova Scotia and did not know of the second trial.

She was traced by Fred Thompson, Globe and Mail reporter, agreed to appear as a witness and signed another affidavit which resulted in a third trial being ordered.

Goodwin and Hilley, brought back from Kingston penitentiary, testified that a third man known to them as "Bobby," and who later died while serving in Korea, was with them when they held up the service station.

DIG THAT DIXIE BEAT—Downtown shoppers before noon today were treated to the sight of capering clowns and the music of the "Dixie Five," the latter a PCVS Dixieland band. This group of entertainers toured the downtown streets on a float, advertising the two-day "Happy Daze Minstrel and Variety Show" being held at the PCVS auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The Junior Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring this variety show of local talent. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Reindeer Herd Luring U.K. Tourists

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Britain's first reindeer herd is a long way from ending the country's perennial meat shortage, but the herd is earning its keep as a tourist attraction.

The reindeer were imported from northern Sweden during the last two years as an experiment based on the belief that they will multiply and in time provide large supplies of meat, milk, hides and antlers.

For the time being, the 15 reindeer and their Scottish-born calves do nothing more useful than provide a pretty picture as they graze on their 300-acre reserve at Rothlemurchus, in Inverness county amid the northern highlands.

HIGHLAND ATTRACTION

Travel agents list the reindeer as an attraction in their glossy "come to the highlands" brochures. Bus companies organize day trips to the reserve. Photographers arrive seeking something new in animal pictures.

This is all disconcerting for the Reindeer Council of Britain, guardian of the animals. Sightseers are not encouraged, the council said in its fourth annual report.

The reindeer are settling down well in the glens where their predecessors died about 800 years ago. Reindeer moss, their staple diet, is plentiful. The weather is the nearest thing Britain can offer to their native Lappland.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL —Senator W. Ross Macdonald, 62, has been appointed solicitor-general the first time in about 30 years a government leader in the Upper Chamber has held an active cabinet post at the same time. Senator Macdonald, born in Toronto, is a lawyer and a veteran of the First World War. He was elected Speaker of the Comomns in 1949 and appointed to the Senate during the current session.

East German Gov't Grants 6,143 Amnesty

BERLIN (Reuters)—The East German government today announced an amnesty for 6,143 persons sentenced by Soviet military courts after the war.

The announcement was made by the government press office and published by Communist radio Berlin.

People "who committed especially serious crimes and constitute a danger to democracy and a peaceful development of society" will not be included, the announcement said.

Anti-Communist organizations in West Berlin said the amnesty appears to include no people convicted after the anti-Communist revolt of last June.

Education Costs Top Budget For Year 1954

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's annual educational costs are greater than the entire budget for the province 20 years ago, Premier Frost said Friday. An average of 56,000 new pupils were ready to enter schools every year.

Mr. Frost assured a delegation from the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves that the government will carefully consider a suggestion that there should be a readjustment of educational costs between the provincial and federal governments without interfering with the administrative functions of either the province or municipalties.

The delegation urged full municipal taxation of all provincial properties. The provincial government now has property exempted to the value of $118,656,806 and the federal government property was assessed at $204,627,937. The province pays the equivalent of the general municipal rate and there is a limited payment by the federal government.

The association asked for a review of property liable. They gave as examples cemeteries or burying grounds, other than those owned by a church or a municipality; private property leased to religious groups and used as a place of worship and co-operative cold storage plants, exempt from both real property and business assessment.

Negotiate $35,000 Retirement Agreement

HAMILTON (CP)—A retirement plan involving $35,000 in its first year has been negotiated between the Hamilton Cotton Company Limited and the Textile Workers' Union of America, CCL. The plan is a partial settlement of contract negotiations which are to be continued on Jan. 19 and was given 548 to 24 approval Friday when put to Locals 723 (Hamilton), 974 (Trent Cotton Company, Trenton) and 979 (Dundas Cotton Company).

The retirement plan is government-approved and costs will be shared by company and employees, the latter contributing three per cent of their earnings, the company 10 per cent of its profits before taxes.

Invented Pool Betting John Bernard Dies

BROCKLEY, Eng. (AP) — The man who made millions — for other people — died today.

John Jervis Bernard, inventor of the soccer pool betting system, died in this tiny Cotswold village all but forgotten.

Bernard worked out the mail coupon system in Birmingham in 1921 after he was discharged from the Coldstream Guards.

For months he failed to take in enough money from English bettors to pay the mail bill, but Bernard never lost faith in his system. In 1938 he sold his interest to a large bookmaking company and retired through ill health.

The pool company grew. Now, almost weekly, lucky betters get tax-free huge jackpots up to £75,000.

Rene Coty Installed As French President

PARIS (AP) — Rene Coty, a 71-year-old veteran legislator from Le Havre, was installed today as the new president of the French republic. The outgoing president, Vincent Auriol, told Coty he was taking over at a time when the very "authority of the state, its independence and its efficiency are threatened."

The ceremonies were held at the Lysee Palace, official residence of the president. Coty, who has been in French parliaments since 1923, will make it his home until 1961. He was elected by Parliament Dec. 23.

St. James' WA Annual Reports

ROSENEATH (ENS) —Annual reports were presented at the January meeting of St. James' Anglican WA at the home of Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite.

The treasurer, Mrs. James Brown reported total receipts for the year were $408.83. There are 16 members enrolled. The affiliation fee and expense fund had been paid in full to the diocesan treasurer in Toronto.

Sunday School supplies were paid for in full. A donation had been sent to the Ladies' College Training School. The ill and the aged in the community had been remembered with boxes at Christmas. There was a balance on hand of $252.12.

Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite, good cheer convener reported 25 persons remembered during the year.

Mrs. William J. Robins, extra-cent-a-day treasurer, reported having sent $6.85 to the diocesan treasurer.

Mrs. James L. Timlin, Little Hepers' secretary, reported having a picnic for the Little Helpers. Prizes were presented and $8.40 sent to the Diocesan Little Helpers secretary in Toronto.

Mrs. J. Brown, Dorcas secretary reported having sent two large bales during the year, one to a missionary in a far northern outpost in the Arctic, the other to WA House in Toronto for further distribution.

The president, Mrs. Jack Webb presided over the devotional and business period with Mrs. James L. Timlin as pianist. Mrs. Earl Braithwaite gave the scripture reading.

The secretary, Mrs. Thomas Robins, read a number of letters from recipients of good cheer boxes sent out at Christmas.

New business included paying of membership fees. Plans were made to quilt a number of custom quilts on order.

It was decided to change the day of the meeting to the first Wednesday in the month, owing to the number of meetings being held the second week of the month.

Various ways of raising money by the auxiliary for 1954 are egg donations, birthday money and to hold a bazaar in the summer.

The meeting closed with prayer. The hostess served afternoon tea.

Miners Accost Union Director

TIMMINS (CP) — Charles H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers Union (CIO-CCL) was accosted by a group of miners Friday night as he left the Empire Theatre here where McIntyre miners had accepted terms of a settlement to end the strike at McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd.

One of the group threatened to "beat up" the union chief but Millard let loose a verbal broadside which finally dispersed the hecklers.

The accosting group, numbering about 10, were identified as miners from Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, where a strike settlement was reached last month.

They followed Mr. Millard along the street for a block. The argument began when the Hollinger men criticized union leadership in the Porcupine strike and switched to the subject of food vouchers.

The miners contended the union should continue to issue vouchers until after the men returned to work and received their first pay cheque.

Marmora WI Donate $25 To Building Fund

MARMORA (ENS) The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ed. Hewitt

Mrs. M. Knowii, president, was in the chair.

The financial statement given by Mrs. Percy Gordon showed finances to be in good condition. The sum of $25 was voted to the Belleville hospital building fund.

It was announced that the short course "Something to Wear" had been postponed until February.

It was decided to hold a bake sale in the legion room of the Memorial Hall on January 23.

The program was conducted by Mrs. E. Brady who gave a reading. Mrs. Ed. post gave a humerous reading. Mrs. P. Gray conducted a missing name contest, which was won by Mrs. Frank Leal.

The meeting closed with the national anthem. Refreshments were served.

Many Co-Ops

WINNIPEG (CP) — Membership in Manitoba co-operatives totalled 211,378 in 1953, says an official report of the agriculture department. This compared with 198,159 in 1952, and the report estimated 25 per cent of the membership lives in urban areas.

40 Men Dig Into Pipe In Search of Missing Dog

DANVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Forty men, guided by searchlight signals, dug into a tile drain pipe on a nearby farm for nearly four hours Friday night in search of a missing coon dog believed trapped in the pipe since Sunday.

But after the feverish digging in the freezing weather they found no trace of the missing seven-month-old pup. Six men continued digging throughout the night.

They said they were convinced the dog was still alive, though they had not heard any sounds. The owner of the dog said the pup had chased a raccoon into the pipe on the farm of Dr. Earl Ferree, a retired veterinarian.

Ferree Friday ordered the arrest for trespass of Lester Jackson, 34, Indianapolis, whose son owned the dog, and Otto Ray, president of the Indian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They were arrested as they dug into the drain pipe although they had posted a $1,000 bond to cover damages.

NEARLY REACHED PUPPY

Roy said he believed they were within a few yards of the puppy when they were interrupted.

The 40 farmers and business men of Danville and nearby Avon met Friday night and about 20 cars drove at intervals to the Ferree farm.

Ferree, ill with a heart condition, was reported in an oxygen tent in his farm home a few hundred yards from the digging. A stand of trees blocked a view of the field from his house.

Ferree's stepson, William Hornaday, said that Ferree himself would have had the dog dug out if there was sufficient evidence it was in the pipe. But, Hornaday said, so much clamor had been raised over the digging that the veterinarian had refused to give in, regarding the situation a matter of principle.

RCAF RANGE—Canadian jet fighter pilots will test their shooting skill on a French firing range in the Moroccan desert. This map shows the location of Rabat Sale, about 50 miles northeast of Casablanca, where 12 Sabre jet squadrons, based in western Europe, will practise. Defence officials said financial arrangements with the French government, which owns the range, are being worked out.

Community Friendship Reported To WMS

ROSENEATH —(ENS)— "Community Friendship" was an outstanding service in WMS work at Roseneath during the year. Mrs. Howard Macklin, secretary of this department, presented her annual report at the January meeting. There were 18 members enrolled.

Eight cards were sent from the society. Members had sent 219 cards; 71 calls had been made; 78 letters were mailed and 52 boxes of good cheer given.

The meeting was held at the parsonage, with the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Wheeler as host and hostess.

The president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, presided over the worship service, using as the theme "The Church." Mrs. Howard Macklin gave the scripture reading. Mrs. A. J. Campbell presented a meditation.

Mrs. Douglas Coyle was in charge of the study book and stresssed the problems of Christains working in Europe.

Mrs. T. S. Coyle gave a talk on Christian stewardship.

Miss Constance Wagar, a missionary in Trinidad, was chosen as the missionary for prayer by the society. Miss Wagar was formerly of Peterborough.

A letter of greeting was read from a member, Mrs. J. W. Pacey, a patient in Cobourg General Hospital.

The meeting closed wth prayer. The hostess served lunch.

Plan Conference Discuss Bullet

OTTAWA (CP)—Final barriers to production of a standard rifle bullet adopted by five North Atlantic powers may be overcome in a conference of technical experst here Jan. 25.

Defence Minister Claxton Friday announced that the experts will meet to draw up a clear statement of specifications, paving the way for production of the agreed .30-calibre cartridge.

This is the round adopted Dec. 15 as standard small arms ammunition by Canada, the United States, Britain, France and Belgium. Experts from all these countries will be at the conference.

Once agreement is reached on specifications, Canada will have to undertake a complete retooling job in the government-owned ammunition industry. Canada currently uses the .303-calibre round for its Lee-Enfield rifles.

Say Pole Barn Good Bet For Farmers

RIDGETOWN (CP)—New ideas in barn construction were discussed Friday at the closing session of the 16th annual farmers' week program at the Western Ontario Agricultural School in this Chatham district community.

Prof. F. H. Theakston of the engineering staff of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph suggested to the 250 farmers and students that they consider the "pole barn" for cattle. Its uprights have a minimum of six square inches at the top and are anchored in a concrete base. The poles support simple trusses and a peaked roof and any available material can be used for siding.

He said the barn interior provides a feeding storage area and a resting space for cattle, allowing 50 square feet an animal. One side of the barn is left open to permit freedom of movement to a paved yard and to a silage bunk placed beside concrete silos. If intended for dairy farming, the new-type barn has a milking parlor built in one end.

Prof. Theakston said the pole barn is cheaper to build than the old-fashioned kind. It also brings about greater production yields with less man-hours of work, he said.

Found Not Guilty

WOODSTOCK (CP) — George Sproule Friday was found not guilty of breaking and entering a feed mill Sept. 26 and was freed after almost four months in jail. Sproule was arrested late in September and has been in Oxford County jail until Friday, awaiting hearing of the two charges. A shortage of court reporters caused many adjournments.

Cabinet Studies Plan Raise Judges' Salaries

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet is studying a plan for a 25-per-cent increase in salaries of judges of provincial supreme courts and county courts, it was learned here Friday night.

This would raise the annual pay of provincial supreme court justices to $18,000 from $14,400 and of county court judges to $10,000 from $8,000. Provincial chief justices would be increased to $20,000 from $16,000.

Ask Frost Give Grant To Aid Indigent Costs

TORONTO (CP) — A committee representing the Ontario Hospital Association urged more assistance for indigent and public ward patients at a special meeting with Premier Frost and Health Minister Phillips Friday.

C. N. Weber, chairman of the committee, said that the loss on indigent care is increasing the burden on those who pay hospital costs either directly or through the Blue Cross and other pre-payment plans.

The chairman said that since the last adjustment in provincial grants hospital operating costs had gone up more than 50 per cent.

WANT FURTHER SHARING

The premier suggested that the federal government should share further maintenance grants.

Mr. Weber is chairman of the hospital commission of the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital. Another of the out-of-town delegates to the meeting was J. McIntosh Tutt, member of the board of directors of Brantford General Hospital.

Suggest MPs Give Full Addresses On List

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Cote said Friday MPs should make sure parliamentary postal lists show their full addresses.

He spoke in reply to Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) who introduced in the Commons Thursday night three letters and a card which he said were delayed by as much as three weeks during the Christmas mail rush.

Mr. Cote said investigation showed that the letters sent to "Donald Fleming, MP, Toronto, Ont." were not properly addressed.

The delay was caused because they were sent to the directory service branch of the Toronto post office for identification and delivery. During the Christmas rush the branch handled 3,000,000 pieces of mail.

The Toronto city directory and telephone book, he said, listed 23 Flemings whose initials or first names were D., Donald, Donald M., or D.M.

OMHA Award Winner Dies After Illness

SARNIA (CP) — Errol G. Russell, winner of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association's honor award for 1953, died Thursday night at St. Joseph's Hospital after a lengthy illness.

The award is made annually for outstanding contribution to minor hockey in Ontario.

Mr. Russell was one of the founders of the Sarnia Minor Athletic Association.

BLAMES THE WIND—Arthur Godfrey gestures with his hands as he explains to newsmen at Miami Beach, Fla., how his plane was caught in a high wind and nearly driven into the cotrol tower of the Teterboro, N.J., Airport. Godfrey denied that he buzzed the tower in a fit of temper and said anyone who says he did "is nuts."

Nurserymen Adopt Special Insignia

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Canadian Association of Nurserymen Friday adopted an insignia which will protect them from unfair competition and fly-by-night operators.

At the concluding session of the association's annual meeting several members complained of the low prices of many persons who sold without guarantee such things as trees that had been dug up in the bush. Many of these men, the delegates said, didn't even have a place of business to back them up.

The association has horticultural standards which will be part of the program of every nurseryman using the insignia of the organization.

Strike Of 27 Men Closes Windsor Chrysler Plant

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT—A late model car, driven by Al Foote, 588 Arndon Ave., skidded and bounced about 150 feet late Saturday night and came to rest on ice just two feet away from the Otonabee river. Going out of control on the filtration plant curve, Highway 28, the car skidded down an open culvert to the patch of ice on the river (top photo). The car, on its side by the river, is inspected by city policeman, Lou Rodreque (lower photo). Foote and his passenger, Helen Dunford, 129 Princess St., escaped unhurt.

Java Volcano Kills 25, 66 Injured

Heavy Clouds, Rain Force Ash Down In New Eruption

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (Reuters)—Twenty-five persons were killed and 66 injured by an eruption today in central Java of Merapi volcano, Jakarta messages reaching here said.

The Indonesian news agency Aneta reported that two earth tremors were felt early this morning, followed at about mid-day by a huge cloud of volcanic ash red-tinged by flames.

The cloud drifted in the direction of Bojolali. Heavy clouds and rain forced the ash to descend.

Most of the victims were believed suffocated by the ash and fumes.

EVACUATE 2,000

Police and troops were reported to have evacuated more than 2,000 persons from the threatened areas.

A huge stream of lava poured from the crater in the direction of Bobjolali Selo.

The settling ash was six inches deep and ground visibility was reduced to a few yards.

Rains of ash were also reported at Purwakarta and Ambarawa.

WARNING WAS HEEDED

Indonesian authorities have set up emergency kitchens at Selo. Evacuation measures and life-saving equipment were organized eight months ago when the volcano first showed signs of eruption. The organization quickly moved into gear.

When Merapi erupted in 1930 it killed about 1,300 people and destroyed 1,100 houses. Since 1560 it has had about 50 known eruptions.

Deny Alexanders To Sell Canadian Gift

Rumor Earl Intends To Resign As Defence Minister By August

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian government spokesman today said there is no truth in published reports that Field Marshal Earl Alexander and Countess Alexander plan to sell the modern kitchen equipment presented to them by Canadian women.

The spokesman said it is true that the Alexanders will move from their country home in Englefield Green, Surrey, to a house in Ashdon Vale, Sussex, which Lord Alexander inherited from an uncle. But that did not mean the "Canadian" kitchen would be sold.

The spokesman was commenting on a report published Sunday. Columnist John Gordon wrote in the Sunday Express that the "wonderful £4,000 all-electric" kitchen would be disposed of because there is no electricity at the Sussex house.

The Sunday Express, also said, in a separate article, that Lord Alexander has told friends he plans to resign as Britain's defence minister by August this year. The paper's political columnist, writing under the name Cross-Bencher, commented:

"I honor Lord Alexander for his great war services. But for 22 months he has been a politician, and he must be judged as a politician. In that capacity he has failed."

DECLINED COMMENT

Canadian officials declined comment. Reports published last December that Lord Alexander might resign because of a difference of opinion over war pensions were not substantiated. At the time, the defence ministry said anything authoritative about Lord Alexander's plans would have to come from Prime Minister Churchill's office.

Lord Alexander, governor-general of Canada from 1946 came back to Britain at Churchill's bidding early in 1952 to become defence minister. The model kitchen, which has been described as the finest in Britain, was installed in April, 1953, the installation taking three months and the electrical equipment occupying two rooms.

Says 6,000 Affected By Walkout

Lack of Heat, Air Forces Officials Send Employees Home

WINDSOR (CP)—A strike of 27 powerhouse employees at Chrysler Corporation of Canada has affected the jobs of approximately 6,000 production workers.

The powerhouse employees, members of local 944, International Union of Operating Engineers, (AFL), called a strike at midnight Sunday. They operate the power plants which produce heat and compressed air for the manufacturing plants.

This morning the day shift of some 3,500 (UAW-CIO) production workers reported as usual, but soon afterward were ordered home by the company when it was obvious that normal operations could not be carried on. Insufficient heat and lack of air for the various tools used in assembling cars made it impossible to continue production of the company's new 1954 models.

KEEP SKELETON STAFF

The striking engineers kept at work a staff sufficient to keep pipes from freezing. The company's office force went to work as usual. They are getting normal heat supply.

An Ontario government conciliation officer is expected to arrive in Windsor today to try and bring about a settlement.

Shortly after the plants were emptied of their day-shift workers the engineers placed pickets on the gates. AFL carpenters at work on construction jobs at the company's plant declined to cross the lines.

Last June Chrysler negotiated a contract with its production workers, members of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO-CCL), giving a six-cent-an-hour general increase. The same offer was made to the engineers,

Coldest Weather Of Winter But Ontario To Be Milder

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The coldest weather of the winter hit most of Canada during the weekend and weather officials said it will probably continue today except in Ontario. Southerly winds invaded Ontario Monday, raising temperatures 10 to 25 degrees. The winds brought low-lying clouds that weathermen said will hang over the province and keep residents from seeing Monday night's total eclipse of the moon. Weather officials say it was colder Sunday in most Canadian centres than at any time during the spell of sub-zero temperatures that hit most of the country about a week ago.

Coldest spot heard from in Canada's 10 provinces Sunday was Mitchequon, about 600 miles north of Quebec City, with 56 below. The warmest reported Canadian city was Sydney, with 34 above.

RECORDED LOWS

Some lows recorded across Canada Sunday night: Vancouver 20 above, Edmonton 25 below, Calgary 30 below, Saskatoon 25 below, Regina 18 below, Winnipeg 15 below, Port Arthur 12 below, Sudbury 2 below, London 5 below, Toronto eight above, Peterborough 18 below, Ottawa 21 below, Montreal 11 below, Quebec 18 below, Saint John 12 below, Halifax one above, and St. John's, Nfld., 28 above.

Vote Labor Federation Won't Support CCF Party

WINDSOR (CP)—An attempt to throw the support of the Ontario Federation of Labor officially behind the CCF was narrowly defeated Sunday as the group wound up its annual convention. The convention, attended by about 150 delegates, opened Friday. Observers said in spite of the defeat, demands for political action by the federation are strengthening. Delegates are members of unions affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, a group which remains neutral in political matters.

The resolutions committee recommended non-concurrence with the move which asked support for the CCF in the next election and a political action conference by the federation in April. It was defeated by a small margin after a sharp debate.

In a motion passed Saturday, the federation was critical of the operation of the Ontario labor relations board during the last year. It expressed alarm at the increasing number of "employer-dominated unions" gaining certification and accused the board of not making decisions on a practical, common-sense basis.

The report which the motion adopted said that of 41 applications for decertification of unions since January 1953, 31 were granted.

The federation claimed most of the proceedings were engineered by management and said it would move to have the decertification section stricken from the act.

PRESIDENT RE-ELECTED

A. F. MacArthur of Toronto was unanimously elected to his sixth term as president of the federation. Vice-presidents are William Godfrey, Fort William, I. M. Dodds, Windsor and William Boothroyd, Toronto. John T. Hanox, Hamilton, is secretary-treasurer.

Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, told the group Saturday there will be 500,000 unemployed in Canada by the end of January 1954. He said figures for November showed 388,000 out of work, 100,000 more than last year at the same time.

Making Film On RCMP Cases

OTTAWA (CP) — Television audiences in both the United States and Canada may soon get an intimate picture of how Canada's Mounties get their man.

Victor Stoloff, Hollywood film producer, arrived here today to begin production of a series of 13 dramatized TV films, showing case histories handled and solved by the RCMP, including the celebrated Gouzenko affair.

Lloyd Bridges has been chosen as leading man for the Canadian RCMP films. He will appear in the role of an inspector handling the various cases.

The films are being produced under the sponsorship of a $250,000 Canadian company, S. and S. Films Ltd. Mr. Stoloff said Canadian actors and actresses will be hired for the plays, including some who appeared in the summer Shakespearian Festival at Stratford.

Running Tommy-Gun Fight With Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—British troops and African police battled today with 300 anti-white Mau terrorists in a running tommy-gun and rifle fight in the jungle bush near Kiambu. British authorities said 26 Mau Mau were killed and 26 injured.

The gamg was described as the most heavily-armed since the Mau Mau campaign to drive out the white man put Kenya on an emergency basis 15 months ago.

Sabotage Suspicion Grows About Comet

LONDON (Reuters) — Suspicion of sabotage in last Sunday's crash of a Comet jet airliner grew today as the government stepped up its inquiry into the accident in which 35 persons were killed.

The navy is sending salvage ships to the site off the Mediterranean island of Elba where the plane is believed to lie in 450 feet of water. Authorities hope that the wreckage, if it can be raised, may show what sent the sleek plane into its death plunge.

BOAC's No. 2 security officer, G. E. Foster-Tomlinson, flew to Rome Friday night. Other special investigators have been sent out along the Comet's route from Singapore to probe the sabotage theory, but the government-owned airline has refused to reveal their movements so as not to tip off "those who might have something to hide."

12 Freight Cars Derailed, Line Blocked

FIELD, Ont. (CP) — A high-balling, east-bound freight train tore up several hundred yards of track and toppled telegraph poles when 12 of its laden cars left the rails and some went down a 25-foot embankment Sunday.

The Canadian National Railways' main trans-continental line was blocked for 20 hours by the wreck, which occurred on the western outskirts of this village, 30 miles west of North Bay. Communications also were cut but were restored a few hours later.

No one was injured. But the derailment took place just 200 yards from the built-up section of Field and residents said had it occurred just a little further down the line the tumbling cars would have smashed through village houses.

Passenger and freight trains were held up while crews worked to restore the line.

NO CAUSE GIVEN

CNR officials did not say what had caused the derailment.

The nine cars which plunged over the 25-foot embankment bordering the track split open and spilled their grain cargo which was bound for mills in Montreal.

The locomotive, caboose and 48 cars remained on the track.

Will Support Leader

HAMILTON (CP)—A pledge to give his full support to whoever is elected as leader of the Ontario Liberal party at the convention to be held in Toronto April 8 and 9 was voiced by Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario legislature, when he spoke to the annual meeting of the Southern Ontario Liberal Association Saturday.

Car Stops On Ice 2 Feet From River, Two Unhurt

A young Peterborough couple had a brush with death Saturday night when their late model car went out of control south of the filtration plant on Highway 28. But they escaped with a severe shaking and small cuts. Travelling south around the large S-curve, the car, driven by Al Foote, 1e of 588 Arndon Ave., suddenly went out of control beside the filtration pump house. It shot across the highway and onto the shoulder.

Breaking its way through the snow the car skidded along the edge of an open culvert, about 10 feet deep and 20 feet wide. Finally it slipped down the culvert bank, hit the thick ice, shattering it, and then bounced, flying through the air and travelled another 48 feet.

TWO-FEET AWAY

Still going, the car skidded, on along the culvert and out to a patch of ice along the shoreline of the river. Finally it came to rest on the left side only two feet away from cold waters of the Otonabee river.

At that particular place along the shoreline it happened that that sheet of ice was the only patch in that open area. Actually the car was about 10 feet out from the shore.

Along with his passenger, Helen Dunford, 129 Princess St., Foote climbed out of right-hand door only shaken and, with a small scratch on his cheek. Miss Dunford was also only shaken up.

WON'T MEDIATE IN INDIA

OTTAWA (CP)—The external affairs department today denied reports that Prime Minister St. Laurent may attempt to mediate current tension between India and Pakistan over the question of U. S. military aid to the latter country.

Lumber Mill Fire At Exeter

EXETER, Ont. (CP)—Ice-caked firemen Sunday night poured tons of water into the burning Huron lumber mill here in 10-below-zero temperatures. The blaze destroyed a shaving shed at the rear of the mill and later shifted to the large main building housing lumber and machinery.

Firemen were hampered by clouds of dense, choking smoke and could only pour water into the building. Spray froze over their faces and clothing.

H. A. Sweitzer, manager of the mill, said no one has been in the mill since Saturday and fires in the stoves had been allowed to burn out.

No estimate of the damage was available.

To Investigate Fire At Soft Drink Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Investigator Frank Gardiner of the Ontario fire marshall's office in Toronto, arrived today to inquire into the $125,000 fire that gutted a west-end soft drink plant, rubber company and a restaurant early Sunday.

The alarm was turned in by a telephone company operator who heard the crackle of flames over the line while checking an open circuit. Origin of the blaze or how the receiver in the bottling plant came to be off the hook has not yet been determined.

State Censorship Ruled Improper

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that New York state and Ohio improperly censored two controversial movies.

New York had forbidden the showing of the sexy French film, "La Ronde," and Ohio censors had banned the crime movie "M."

New York's censors called "La Ronde" immoral. Ohio said "M" was harmful to the public.

The cases were carried to the highest tribunal in the contention that any censorship of movies violates the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The high court said only that judgments given by the highest courts of Ohio and New York were reversed. The state courts had held that the pictures could be censored.

Before listening to the arguments the justices saw both "La Ronde" and "M" at a private showing.

Meyer's Release Thrills Aunt

NAPANEE (CP)—Kurt Meyer's aunt was so overjoyed upon hearing of his pending release from prison that she came into Napanee from her Ernestown township farm 12 miles from here to try to put through a transatlantic phone call to his family at Offeblen, near Hannover.

Unable to do so because of weather conditions, Mrs. Stanley Ham sent an air mail letter to the family of the convicted Nazi war criminal in which she said she was happy to hear the news.

The 64-year-old native of Germany said:

"I am so thankful that the Canadian government has seen fit to arrange for his release," she said in an interview Sunday. "If I can get a passport to Germany, I want to go back home to see them. Thank God the terrible suspense is over and he can soo go home to his wife and family."

Maj.-Gen. Meyer, commander of a German S.S. division held responsible for the murder of 18 Canadians, has four daughters, the eldest 18, and a son born after Meyer was sentenced to be shot and before the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

US Defence Dept. Told Apologize—Or Else

BOSTON (AP) — The United States defence department has 24 hours to apologize to the residents of South Boston—or else an invitation for troops to participate in the March 17 parade will be withdrawn.

Patrick F. Sheehan, chief parade marshal, demanded the apology Sunday night after army officials in Washington announced that no troops will parade in South Boston unless all the liquor places in the district are closed for the occasion.

Sheehan said the department "has insinuated our people are drunks. I demand an immediate apology, otherwise I will cancel our invitation to the armed services."

Army officials said soldiers and sailors were the targets of eggs, vegetables and stones during the St. Patrick's Day parade last year.

Found In Ditch Half-Frozen

SARNIA (CP)—Police said today they believe Edgar Ducharme, 28-year-old Montreal insurance agent found lying half frozen in a snow-filled ditch beside a suburban road Sunday, was injured in a jump from a train Saturday.

Officers said they believed Ducharme, found without overcoat or hat, had laid in the ditch for about 22 hours before Mrs. Jack Cochrane of Sarnia spotted him while driving by with her husband.

Hospital authorities said Ducharme had both feet frozen and a superficial cut on his chest. He was in an improved condition today.

Officers quoted Canadian National Railways police as saying they tried to put him off a train at Sarnia when he failed to produce a railway ticket and that he jumped from the train onto a nearby moving passenger train and disappeared.

Mother Nature Staging Big Free Show Total Eclipse Of Moon Will Occur Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — One of mother nature's big free shows—a total eclipse of the moon—occurs tonight. It will be observable, where weather permits, throughout the United States and Canada.

As with all eclipses of the moon, it will be a good display from a layman's standpoint, fun for the kiddies, but a ho-hum event for the astronomers. Professional star-gazers say the chances of getting any new scientific dope on the moon at eclipse time are virtually nil.

Lunar eclipses take place when the full moon passes through the shadow of the earth—the earth being between the moon and the sun. Two or three eclipses of the moon occur every year and one of these, at least, is almost always total.

That's the case with this one, except that the west gets short-changed a bit on the start. There the eclipse will be under way when the moon rises.

JUNE SUN ECLIPSE

Elsewhere, if you want to give the show your complete attention—from the time the moon first enters the earth's shadow until it leaves it completely—you'll have 5 hours 44½ minutes of time on your hands. It begins at 6:40 p. m. EST, and ends at 12:24 a. m. Tuesday.

But if you want to see the period of total eclipse, you need devote only half an hour, between 9:17 and 9:47 p. m. This is briefer than in some lunar eclipses, because this time the moon will pass through a low sector of the earth's deepest shadow—not through the midline.

By and large, astronomers just express starry - eyed unconcern when they talk about lunar eclipses. But they go into raptures when voicing their interest in another kind of eclipse—a total eclipse of the sun.

Now there, they say, is something to get excited about—because solar eclipses can help scientists gain new information on such things as exact distances between points on the earth, and on the atmosphere of the sun which may have an effect on the weather and on man's systems of communication.

Astronomers and other scientists will be able to make new studies along that line this summer because a total eclipse of the sun will take place June 30—and, unlike some solar eclipses, will be visible in many highly populated areas throughout the world.

Pinch Of Canadian Plutonium Helped To Start Britain's Atomic Production

LONDON (CP)—A pinch of plutonium supplied by the Canadian atomic research centre at Chalk River, Ont., helped lay the basis for Britain's production of atomic fuel for peacetime purposes.

Some 20 milligrams of the precious metal—enough to cover the head of a pin—were made available to British scientist, R. Spence at Chalk River in 1946 and from this was evolved the fundamental process now used in one of three great atomic factories operating on the northwest coast of England.

This information is contained in a slim booklet, Britain's Atomic Factories, made public Sunday night by the ministry of supply. The illustrated report, containing many facts only recently released from the secret list, outlines Britain's seven-year race to build up an atomic industry from scratch.

British scientists gave up their own research here in 1943 to join United States and Canadian experts in the wartime atomic drive. On group worked in Montreal.

DOZEN PIONEERS

Britain's atomic production program started in 1946 when 12 men and women—only one of whom knew anything at all about atomic energy—moved into headquarters offices at Risley, a tiny hamlet in southwest Lancashire. The first task was to give these pioneers an intensive study course in nuclear physics and within a few weeks they began drawing plans for construction of the three factories.

First objective was the production of the basic atomic fuel, uranium. Early in 1946 a site was selected at Springfields, Lancashire, and within 2½ years the first uranium metal rods, cast from powdered uranium ore and designed to feed atomic piles, were turned out in aluminum cans. Since then, says the book, "many thousands" of these rods have been produced at Springfields.

Almost a year before the Springfields plant was completed, work began on a second factory to produce the more powerful plutonium fromuranium at Sellafield in Cumberland. This was perhaps the most ambitious of the three projects.

SAFETY MEASURES

The two great atomic piles needed weighed some 57,000 tons each and each was topped with a 415-foot chimney. To guard against settling in soft earth, it was necessary to build a huge concrete mat 10 feet thick and measuring 200 by 100 feet.

When work on the windscale factory at Sellafield was initiated little was known of the chemistry of the precious plutonium. Only 20 milligrams of the metal, enough to cover the head of a pin, were available for experiments, but the fundamental processes on which the great plant now operates were worked out.

The third plant, built to convert uranium into gas to separate the fissile isotopes from the non-fissile, was constructed at Capenhurst, Cheshire. The plant is kept at tropical temperatures to prevent the gaseous uranium from solidifying.

Tito Aide Fired By Party

Committee Charged Chairman Adopting Capitalistic System

BELGRADE —(AP)— The Yugoslav Communist party's central committee has expelled vice-president Milovan Djilas from its ranks after hearing President Tito denounce his top aide. Tito said Djilas attempted to "liquidate" the Red party in Yugoslavia, and sought to adopt the capitalistic system.

Immediately after the 100-member committee, meeting Sunday in extraordinary session, issued its unanimous decree firing him, Djilas resigned as chairman of parliament.

He also repented his actions, confessing that his attitude had been wrong. He denied that he opposed Tito and his policies and swore he is still a "true Marxist."

The committee gave Djilas a stern "final warning" to alter his views. This appears to threaten his complete expulsion from the party.

It appears likely also that Djilas will be ousted from his government post as one of Tito's four vice-presidents. The committee hearing, however, apparently dealt only with party matters.

Djilas' purge from the party leadership brought to a climax the most disrupting politico-social controversy among Yugoslavia's rulers since the Second World War.

WROTE NEWSPAPER SERIES

The storm burst after the 41-year-old partisan fighter wrote a series of articles in the party newspaper Borba proposing modifications in Yugoslavia's Red set-up.

Though the party committee confined itself mainly to Djilas' political views, the writings that brought down wrath were his criticisms of the wives of other top Communists.

Djilas charged in a long article in the magazine New Thought that some of the ladies of the "inner circle"—itself a bad term to the Reds—had snubbed the actress wife of one official. Without mentioning names, he made it clear he was talking about the recent bride of the army chief of staff, Gen. Peko Dapcevic.

The excuse for giving her the cold shoulder, said Djilas, was that she had not been a wartime partisan fighter like many of the other leaders. He pointed out she was only 13 at the time of the war.

Most Groups Stronger On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Most groups were stronger in active early afternoon market trading today.

Banks, refining oils, steels and constructions were the strong elements in the industrial rise with Hayes Steel, up $1, the only standout individual performer. Papers showed a few more losses than gains.

Western oils showed three times as many gains as losses with Kroy's 28-cent addition the leader.

Golds were strong in seniors and juniors. Holding companies were slightly weaker.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals moved ahead.

Base metals were weakest in the seniors. Junior changes were slight.

Fire Destroys 50% Of Business District

INNISFAIL, Alta. (CP)—The remains of five buildings were shrouded in ice today in the wake of a fire which destroyed 50 per cent of this farming community's business district.

Volunteer firemen fought a five-hour battle in 30-below-zero weather Saturday to halt the flames. The fire started in a cafe and jumped to four nearby buildings.

One family was left homeless. There was no estimate of loss, but it was expected to run well over $100,000.

Innisfail is about 75 miles north of Calgary.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Residents of Ontario are unlikely to catch even a glimpse of the covered moon as it passes into total eclipse shortly after 9 p.m. this evening. Southerly winds which brought to an end the coldest Jan. 17 in the last 10 years are accompanied by low lying clouds which will completely block out the moon in all sections of the province tonight.

Continuous snow is expected in northern sections. Further south the snow will be light with a risk of freezing drizzle. Snow and freezing rain is predicted for northern areas of Ohio and New York states.

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Niagara, Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions; Windsor, London, Hamilton and Toronto: Cloudy and a little milder today and Tuesday;a occasional light snow today and Tuesday with a risk of freezing drizzle this afternoon and evening; winds light becoming southeast 20 this afternoon, shifting to northeast 20 Tuesday evening; low tonight and high Tuesday at Windsor, St. Thomas 25 and 30, London, Wingham, Toronto, St. Catharines and Hamilton 20 and 25, Trenton 15 and 20, Killaloe 5 above and 10 above. Summary for Tuesday: Cloudy with light snow.

Interceptor Planes Main Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the United States spends an extra billion next fiscal year on continental defence, it will mostly be buying fast interceptor planes intended to seek out and hit any attacking bombers.

Officials say the interceptor program, which includes purchases of the new F-102, supersonic, almost automatic bomber hunter, will account for most of the increase.

The chain of radar warning installations along the northern perimeter of North America, they claim, is largely provided for by left-over funds of earlier years.

(Canada also participates in the northern radar set-up, and the RCAF is concentrating on fighter production and training.)

President Eisenhower mentioned the billion-dollar spending increase for continental defence in his State of the Union message Jan. 7 when he touched on his new military program.

WINS OPPOSITION SUPPORT

That program, leaning heavily on power to deliver a shattering counter-blow to any aggressor, apparently is winning strong Democratic support in the U.S. Congress. There were reports that Democratic leaders are advising their colleagues to tone down criticism of foreign military policies of the administration and that last year's cuts in air force appropriations may fade as a partisan issue.

Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate armed services committee and a critic of the earlier cuts, said in an interview that he would support the "massive retaliation" principle as "the only way toward world peace." He would go along with reductions in army manpower and naval strength if shown they were required for an air build-up.

Present U.S. deliveries of military aircraft, ordered months ago, are running about 1,000 a month, but may decline by the end of the year.

Liberal-Association Will Be Organized

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Organization of a new Western Ontario North Liberal association is planned at a meeting in Walkerton Wednesday, Jan. 27. Immigration Minister Harris, Farquhar Oliver and other prominent party figures will attend.

The new association is to comprise all riding organizations in Huron, Bruce, Perth, Wellington, Grey and Waterloo counties.

GOSPEL TRUTH

It's the gospel truth because the car was full of clergy returning Sunday evening from an induction in Campbellford. They saw a ball of fire fall from the sky into a field beside the road. Canon W. J. Gilling of St. Luke's church, driving; in the front seat with him were Mrs. Gilling and Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. As the car neared No. 7 highway from the Campbellford road about 9.15, Mrs. Gilling exclaimed: "Oh! what a big falling star". The Archdeacon looked and immediately said "It's a meteor". In size it was as big as a woman's fist. Its brilliance was remarkable. It seemed to hit the ground in the field next to the road.

Archdeacon Robertson rector emeritus of St. John's church, has a first-hand knowledge of meteors. There are two (burnt-out ones) in the rock garden of St. John's.

Takes Blame For Order To Clear Rinks

Mayor Norman Graham said today he was willing to assume the blame for what was apparently a misunderstanding regarding use of the city's open-air skating rinks on Sunday.

His Worship said he had received complaints from parents of small children that they were prevented from skating on at least one of the rinks because older boys were playing hockey there. He had told the police to shoo the players away but it seemed that this had been misunderstood as a prohibition of all Sunday skating.

"The police got the blame but it was my fault for not making my meaning clear to them," His Worship told the Examiner.

The city operates skating rinks at eight locations throughout the city. At five of these, there are double rinks with one part for playing hockey and the other for just skating. Double rinks are located at Riverside, Inverlea, King Edward and Turner Parks and on McDonnel St. at Stewart St.

There are skating rinks but no hockey rinks at Hamilton and Hastings parks and on McKellar St.

Hockey is permitted all day on the hockey rinks and until 1 p.m. on the others.

RECEIVED COMPLAINTS

Ald. Bob Knox told The Examiner today that he had received complaints from parents that older boys had been playing hockey on the skating rinks during prohibited hours. The parents were afraid that younger children might be injured by hockey sticks and pucks.

"The difficulty has come up on Sunday afternoons when the parks are not supervised. Skating is certainly not prohibited on Sundays," said Ald. Knox, who, as chairman of the parks committee, is responsible for operation of the rinks. "But with no supervisors on hand, it's been almost impossible to keep the big boys from playing hockey when they're not supposed to.

"They can play hockey any time they want to on the hockey rinks but skaters are not permitted to carry hockey sticks on the other rinks after one o'clock," he said. "The police have gone down there on Sundays to clear off the hockey players. But as soon as they leave, the boys start playing hockey again.

"To supervise the rinks on Sundays would mean paying overtime wages. We want the boys to have every opportunity to play hockey but we have to consider the needs of the smaller kiddies for skating.

The parks department have erected signs at all rinks which read "No Skating After 1 p.m."

Seaway Opposed By Saltonstall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Leverett Saltonstall (Rep.-Mass.) today told the Senate he is opposed to legislation authorizing the United States to join with Canada in building the St. Lawrence seaway.

Saltonstall's stand is in direct conflict with that announced last week by Senator John Kennedy (Dem.-Mass.). Kennedy, in declaring his support of the bill, became the first Massachusetts member of Congress in more than 20 years to take such a position.

Saltonstall, who is up for re-election this year, went against the wishes of President Eisenhower, who has urged Congress to approve the bill.

Saltonstall told the Senate, as it entered the fourth day of debate on the controversial measure:

"It does not appear to me that this is a sound investment or a necessary expenditure."

Coldest Weather

Parts of northern Ontario will probably get four to six inches of snow Monday and one to three inches will fall in southern Ontario. About an inch was expected on the Prairies.

Sudbury's 35 below early Sunday was the coldest Jan. 17 in 31 years. Toronto's five below early Sunday was the coldest for the date in 10 years.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Bitter Arctic air which has engulfed the north-central United States lost some of its bite today in spreading eastward and southward, but sub-zero temperatures still are general along the Canadian border.

The great cold air mass has pushed freezing temperatures south through North Carolina and into Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas and New Mexico.

Today's moderation in the northern plains states was one of comparison however. A 25-degree warm-up in 24 hours left it still nine below zero at International Falls, Minn.

Dean Will Retire From Western U.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Professor Lloyd W. Sipherd will retire from his position as dean of the University of Western Ontario's school of business administration on June 30 this year. Professor Fred Jones, who joined the staff full time only last July, will take over the Dean's office July 1.

The offer was refused and a conciliation board recommended a six-cent raise with time and a half for Sunday work.

The engineers have a maximum 40-hour week. They accepted the six-cent raise but asked for time and a half for Saturday as well as Sunday work included in the 40 hours. The union asked also that the raise be retroactive to June when negotiations opened.

Meetings continued until Saturday when, the company spokesman said, union men walked out. The company said no further advances will be made until the union makes an offer.

The men on the picket lines early today were in a jovial mood, waving their newly-made signs proclaiming the strike and laughing as photographers snapped their pictures.

The crisp cold of the clear moonlit night held the possibility the good spirits might be chilled. The early lines of pickets were only on the powerhouse gate and not on the other gates to the plants.

Archie Hooper, business agent for the union, said the strike is "serious" and the union will leave it to the company to make the next move. Mr. Hooper said pickets will eventually be put at all gates of the big plant on Windsor's southern outskirts.

Says Canada Resisting U.S. Pressure

TORONTO (CP)—If the United States is wise it will realize Canadian storm signals are flying, George Ferguson, editor of the Montreal Star, said today.

"It is not that we have suddenly developed a rush of nationalism to the head and have become a difficult neighbor more or less overnight," he said. "What we are doing is what we have always historically done. We are reacting against the pressure we most immediately feel."

Canada today is resisting U. S. pressure as she once resisted British pressure, Mr. Ferguson said in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club here.

"If the reaction seems odd to our neighbor, it is they, rather than we, who should make the adjustment," he said.

STRIVE FOR BALANCE

Since the Second World War, Canada had sought to counterpoise U. S. pressures by moving into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and toward the Commonwealth.

"We are—the United States and Canada—both democracies but we should never slide into the error of thinking that we operate in the same way just because we speak the same language.

"There has been, deep down in us for generations, an instinctive sense of caution in all our dealings with our great and more numerous neighbors south of the line," he said.

Hasn't Worked Kept On Payroll

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Telegram says today in a news-page story that a man and his truck, although not working, were kept on the payroll of Ontario highways department for nearly seven years at more than $400 a month.

In a Fort William dispatch by John Dalrymple, Telegram staffer, the paper says the truck driver will be a key witness in the trial of five highways department officials on fraud charges.

"His testimony is expected to show alleged 'irregularities' in the department here (Fort William) extending back at least seven years. The charges at present laid against the officials date back only to 1949," the story said.

The prosecution will try to show that one of the senior officials in the department collected some $30,000 of this man's pay after his separation from the department by forging his name to pay cheques, the dispatch added.

CAN'T FIND BRIDGE

The Toronto Star in a Fort William dispatch by Gwyn Thomas, Star staff reporter, says today that at least one bridge, called for in plans of highways being built in the Lakehead area, can't be found by investigators.

"The bridge was called for in plans of a 55-mile stretch of highway from Marathon to Terrace Bay and while the amount involved could not be learned, it was stated that the type of span cost from $50,000 to $125,000," the story said.

"It was reported to be one of the major items in the $1,000,000 swindle that came to light through a three-month investigation by six government auditors and three senior engineers who went over plans of the 55 miles between Terrace Bay and Marathon and 77 miles of the Atikokan-to-Fort William highway," the paper added.

Remanded to Jan. 23 when they appeared in Fort William court Saturday were Arthur M. Mills, division engineer; Douglas F. Cutting, chief clerk, and Donald T. Gandier, a junior clerk. Graham W. Turner, another clerk, and Thomas L. Ayres, superintendent of the department asphalt plant, were scheduled to appear in court today.

Allies Plan To Free 22,000 PoWs

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India told the United Nations command again today that it would violate the Korean armistice if it freed anti-Communist prisoners before their fate is decided by Allied-Red agreement or by a peace conference.

The Allies, however, went ahead with plans to free more than 22,000 Korean and Chinese anti-Red PoWs as civilians by Saturday—a course the UN command says is required by the armistice terms.

Efforts to reopen preliminary talks for a peace conference meanwhile got nowhere.

U.S. and North Korean liaison secretaries became deadlocked for the third time, apparently on the question of striking Red charges of United States perfidy from the record. They agreed to meet again Wednesday.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, UN assembly president, said "merely releasing 22,000 unrepatriated prisoners" would not end the Korean deadlock.

She said in a speech to Indian leaders that the problem of Korea is a desperate one which must be reviewed by the UN General Assembly "in the context of new developments." Mrs. Pandit has called for the assembly to reconvene Feb. 9 on the Korean question.

Thimayya sent what he called a "clarifying statement" to Gen. John E. Hull, UN Far East commander.

Slippery Roads Says Accused $10 Says Court

Stating that slippery road conditions had made it impossible for him to stop his car and avoid a collision, Alex Varco, Peterborough, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving without reasonable consideration, when he appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., in court today. He was fined $10, costs $6.75.

Varco said that had been driving south on Park St. and his car had rammed the back of another vehicle stopped at the Lansdowne St. crossing. He maintained that the front car, driven by Norman C. Smith, had stopped abruptly and a collision had been unavoidable. There had been ice about 18 inches from the righthand curb and his wheels had skidded on this.

At the time the collision had occurred the light had been showing "warning", but had changed to red immediately after.

Smith testified that he had been stopped some little time before the collision. The first thing he had felt was a crash at the rear of his car.

"I got out of my car, pointed to the red light and said to Varco, 'Do you drive much bud'?", said Smith.

Constable Thomas Emmons, who visited the scene of the collision, said that the Varco car was 14 feet from the edge of the curb when the accident occurred. In this part of the road the surface was dry. Damage to vehicles had been light.

William McLeod and Brendon Lincoln, who were passengers in the Varco car, did not remember noticing what color the light was showing before the accident occurred.

Mr. W. J. Arthur Fair, counsel for defence, argued that the collision was the result of an error in judgment and not a case of negligence. Admittedly the onus would be on Varco in a civil case, but evidence was not sufficient for a criminal conviction.

Sold Liquor To Minor

LINDSAY (ENS) — "Drinking by minors is definitely going to stop," said Chief John Hunter today, stating that a Lindsay beverage room waiter has been charged with selling liquor to a person apparently under the age of 21 years.

The waiter, Wallace Kelly, will appear in court here on Wednesday, while the minor will also face a charge of obtaining liquor on licensed premises while under the age of 21.

The offence is alleged to have occurred last Tuesday, when the youth was found to consumed some liquor. Investigation revealed the source of the beer and the waiter who had allegedly sold it to the boy.

The chief promised investigation into every case of minors drinking in the future, to find out where they obtained the liquor. He warned that anyone convicted of supplying the liquor would be liable to heavy penalties.

In most circumstances, he said, these were jail sentences without the option of a fine. Licensed premises found to be selling liquor to minors, he said, stood liable to have their licence suspended by the Liquor Control Board.

Charged For Selling Without Licence

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Peterborough hosiery firm, the Francliffe Hosiery Co., has been charged under a Lindsay bylaw with selling goods or merchandise to other than retail dealers without a pedlar's licence, according to Chief John Hunter.

The charges were laid after two salesmen were apprehended selling women's hosiery in the town. They did not have the $100 license required, said the chief.

The pedlar's bylaw for the town was recently redrafted, requiring the payment of a $100 licence fee before anyone is allowed to sell goods or merchandise to other than retail dealers, unless the goods or merchandise are manufactured in Lindsay.

Planes Seeking Five Fishermen

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — U. S. Navy and Air Force helicopters today joined Coast Guard ships in a search for five fishermen, one of them a 12-year-old boy, reported missing late Sunday on ice ringed islands in the lower Detroit river.

Two of the missing persons were believed trapped by heavy ice on Grassy island, near the U. S. shore near Fighting island, while three others were thought to be on Sugar island, further down the river.

Coast Guard crews began searching Grassy island, where residents of nearby Wyandotte, Mich., had reported seeing a fire during the night.

Missing are Joseph Jasinski, 37, of Lincoln Park, Mich., his son, Joseph, Jr., 12; and three Grosse Isle residents, Walter Riley, Paul Nolan, and O. D. Nelson.

Daniel Leahy

Funeral services for Daniel Leahy, former resident of RR 2, Indian River, who died Friday in Brockville, were held today from the Duffus funeral home to St. Joseph's church, Douro, for mass at 9 a.m.

The Rev. J. J. McCarthy said the mass and the graveside prayers in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Joseph O'-Connor, Thomas Fitzgerald, William O'Leary, Joseph Leahy, Michael Leahy and Albert Moher.

Teacher's Overtime

SAI T JOHN, N.B. (CP)—A report presented to the New Brunswick Teachers' Association meeting here said most teachers in the province average two hours or more each day beyond the prescribed working hours, in preparing lessons, marking exercises or helping individual pupils.

Site Compromise Accepted; Big 4 Plans Made

BERLIN (AP)—Experts for the Big Four set to work today to plan security and other details of the Berlin foreign ministers' conference. A compromise Sunday night on sites for the session assured that the parley will open on schedule next Monday.

The United States, British, French and Russian commandants of the divided city appointed deputies to meet late today to work out detailed arrangements for the conference on German unity and an Austrian peace treaty.

Orders from their home governments ended 10 days of wrangling over the conference site. The three Western military chiefs and Soviet commandant Sergei Dengin agreed Sunday night that the ministers will meet for one week, the second, in the Soviet embassy in East Berlin, and for the first and third weeks in the building in the U.S. sector formerly used by the Allied control council.

DEPEND ON CONFERENCE

Thereafter, a communiqie said, "the place of meetings will depend upon the course of the conference."

The Russians at first had demanded that half the meetings, including the opening session, be held in East Berlin. The West sought at first to hold only one-fourth of the meeting in the East.

NOT MAIN POINT

"Let the Russians have a tiny triumph if that is what they regard it to be," one Allied spokesman said. "We believe that the main point is to get around the table on Germany and Austria and see if some international agreement can be found."

The agreement dissipated fears that the Russians would throw a monkey wrench into the conference before it started.

The "little four" deputies now will determine the make-up of the conference secretariat, arrange for communications and security, and decide on policies for handling the 1,000 or so men and women of the international press corps about to descend on the city.

State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Bidault are due from the West Friday for last-minute strategy discussions. Foreign Minister Molotov is expected from Moscow Saturday or Sunday.

156 Killed In Ont. Fires

TORONTO (CP) — There were 156 men, women and children killed and 274 injured in Ontario fires in 1953, figures released by the provincial fire marshal's office showed today.

Fire losses for the year totalled $22,305,531 compared with losses of $27,120,557 in 1952.

Twenty-four persons were convicted of arson during the year. Ten were acquitted and four cases are pending. Three were convicted of attempted arson and there were nine convictions for other fire crimes.

Fourth-quarter figures showed that 38 men, women and children died and 67 were injured in fires during the last three months of 1953.

Fire losses for that period totalled $5,943,861, an increase of $1,059,551 over the comparable period of 1952.

SUPPORTS HEALTH PLAN

A national health plan came in for support from Mr. Bengough and from the federation at large as it passed a resolution to that effect Sunday. Mr. Bengough said insurance companies are using funds paid in by working men to fight the health plan which the working man is trying to get.

He said aside from a national health plan, Canada has model legislation in favor of the working man. He said the Canadian unemployment insurance plan is the best in the world.

Professor Jacob Finkleman, chairman of the Ontario labor relations board, said the unions would have less trouble getting service from the board if more care were taken preparing cases and spokesmen were lawyers.

A motion by the Port Arthur Trades and Labor Council that it be mandatory for employers to deduct union dues from the wages of their employees if an employee majority authorized it, was approved.

Polio Vaccine Ready For 500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Sunday it hopes to have enough trial polio vaccine for at least 500,000 school children before the start of the polio season.

Basil O'Connor, the foundation president, made the announcement as he disclosed agreement with five manufacturers of pharmaceuticals and biologicals for the non-profit production of the vaccine.

O'Connor said firms agreeing to the manufacture are Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif; Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis; Parke, Davis and Co., Detroit; Pitman-Moore Co., a division of Allied Laboratories Inc., Indianapolis; a division of American Home Products Corp., Philadelphia.

WORK OUT PROBLEMS

He said they had worked out problems of transferring production processes from the laboratory to a commercial scale. The entire supply of trial vaccine is expected to be available in time for injection by June 1.

A large amount of virus needed in producing the vaccine is being grown by the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories of Toronto, a non-profit Canadian company operated in connection with the University of Toronto. This will be shipped to the pharmaceutical houses for processing into vaccine. Some of the pharmaceutical houses will grow their own virus.

Thefts During Services

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Two Jackson churches reported combined thefts of 15 women's purses containing over $200 during services Sunday. The Jackson Citizen-Patriot meanwhile reported that thieves made off with bundles containing more than 2,000 copies of its Sunday newspaper. The thieves were believed to have followed delivery trucks in a car, picking up the bundles as they were scattered about the city.

DA. THE MACHINE "READS" RUSSIAN — Russian isn't Greek to this electronic "brain," being put through its paces in New York by Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines Corporation. Russian messages, recorded by holes punched in cards, are fed into the machine, which reads the encoded copy, and seconds later turns up the translation on the printer in English. Watching the demostration are, from left: Dr. Cuthbert C. Hurd, director of IBM's Applied Science Division, and Dr. Leon Dostert, centre, of Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., who originated the practical approach to the idea of electronic translation.

Royal Couple Enjoy Mountains

CHRISTCHURCH, N. Z. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh reached Christchurch tonight on their New Zealand tour after travelling by train through the magnificent "Southern Alps."

To maintain schedule the train had to roar right through a number of stations where crowds had gathered for a glimpse of the royal couple.

A surging mass of people greeted them at Christchurch station. Army and air force trainees helped police hold them back until the Queen and duke stepped from their car at the Clarendon Hotel, where they are to stay. Then the crowd broke the cordon for a close view of the royal couple before they disappeared inside.

The Queen and duke have no official engagements this evening.

The Queen stood on the observation platform, taking movie camera shots of the mountain scenery, as the royal train sped towards Christchurch. The route lay along the ice-blue waters of the Tarramakau river, which is fled by melting snow from neighboring 5,000-foot-high peaks.

Two Speakers To Address Sales, Ad Club

Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club will hold their Sales Blazers Night, Tuesday, at the Empress Hotel.

Carl Dettman, eastern advertising manager of the Readers Digest of Canada, and T. D. Jotcham, manager off the Montreal branch of the Pepsi-Cola Co., of Canada, will be the guest speakers. They are well qualified to answer any questions from the floor, and accommodation has been made for an interrogating period following their talks.

Director Don Murray and chairman Ernie Wolff arranged the meeting.

A social hour beginning at 5.30 p.m. will be followed by dinner at 6.30 sharp.

Family Of Seven Flee Burning House

POINT EDWARD, Ont. (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGill carried their five small children to safety Sunday night when fire gutted their home in this town north of Sarnia.

Mr. McGill noticed flames coming from the attic and roused the children who ranged in age from two months to seven years. They were taken to a nearby garage for protection from the near-zero weather and later given shelter in the home of relatives.

Volunteer firemen fought the blaze. Its cause was not immediately determined.

Variety In Ottawa Debates Promises To Be Different

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons probably will get more variety into its debates this week in contrast to a rather lean four days since members returned from the Christmas holiday.

Only three full - dress debates marked the four-day sitting last week. Tuesday was spent debating the merits of corporal and capital punishment; toll bridges to Montreal occupied Wednesday; and Thursday and Friday saw a sustained fight over the government's plan to boost postal rates a cent an ounce.

This week promises something different. Today's private member session — missed last week — brings up two resolutions concerning the Income Tax Act.

PRIVATE BILLS TODAY

Stanley Knowles, CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre, is sponsoring a suggestion that the act be changed to remove a limitation on the amount of medical expenses that can be deducted from income tax.

Only sums above three per cent of the taxable income may be deducted at present.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, is proposing that medical expenses paid on behalf of a dead dependent be allowed as an income tax deduction if they are paid in some year after the dependent's death.

These likely will keep members occupied Monday. Detailed study, clause by clause, of the bulky revision of the Criminal Code is expected to start Tuesday. On subsequent days, the government's housing legislation will be called and an external affairs debate may be arranged for late in the week as a result of Prime Minister St. Laurent's remark last Friday that the government hopes to launch one this week.

When the Senate assembles Tuesday night, a member of the upper chamber will take his seat while holding a portfolio in the government, something which has not happened for 33 years.

During the Christmas recess Senator W. Ross Macdonald, 62 government leader in the upper chamber, was named solicitor-general. As government leader in the upper chamber he has been a member of the cabinet without portfolio. He becomes the first senator since Hon. Gideon Robertson labor minister from 1918 to 1920 and again in 1930, to hold a cabinet portfolio while a member of the upper chamber.

Smoke Screen Causes Death

NORTH BAY (CP)—Hidden by the smoke screen laid down by his car exhaust in the sub-zero weather, Joseph Henry Serran, 36, of North Bay, was injured fatally early today when struck by a passing truck. He died in hospital a few hours after the accident.

Provincial police reported Serran was working on the engine of his car parked at the side of the North Bay highway by-pass.

Another man, Elwood Webb, 36, of North Bay, who had stopped to help Serran with his balky engine, narrowly escaped injury, jumping from the path of the truck.

Driver of the truck was Norman Schlosser, 47, of nearby Trout Creek. He told police he was unable to see Serran who was standing in a heavy cloud of exhaust fumes.

New French President Favors United States Of Europe

By NORA BELOFF

PARIS (OFNS)—On the eve of taking up his seven-year residence at the Palace of the Elysee as president of the French Republic, M. Rene Coty accorded me the only exclusive interview given to the foreign press.

He started by confirming that he has been a "political animal" almost since the beginning of his life. He says it was "round about the age of eight years" that politics became his absorbing passion. His interest in the press dates from a couple of years later—about 1892—when at the age of 10 he was the sole editor and contributor of a newspaper entitled "Union," of which, he modestly adds, his younger brothers and sisters were the only readers. In the evening, after school hours, and while still in his teens, he would go off and address electoral meetings, for M. Julius Siegfried, father of the author Andre Siegfried, who represented in Parliament the port of Le Havre until 1923, when M. Rene Coty himself took over. M. Coty has been representing the same constituency, first in the Assembly, then in the Senate, ever since.

In the course of his long Parliamentary career, the record shows that M. Coty interested himself in two principal issues: reforming the machinery of government in France, and creating a new United States of Europe.

LIKES BRITISH SYSTEM

On the constitutional issue, M. Coty told me he has been considerably influenced by English thinking. "I have always affirmed that the British parliamentary regime was perfect," he said. Having been named by the Senate recently to complete a report on projects for reforming the French constitution (a nomination which lapses with his election as President) he said: "I had every intention of insisting in this report on the British notion of leadership."

Although M. Coty has always belonged to the centre party, he believes the modern welfare state must assume considerable responsibilities in managing public affairs, and that governments therefore need the stability and authority lacking in France. To support these views he cited to me not right-wing politicians but Socialists themselves, notably the late French Socialist leader, M. Leon Blum, and the late British professor of political science, Harold Laski.

He added that he would like to find ways of distributing to every single French member of parliament copies of the article contributed by the former labor deputy prime minister, Herbert Morrison, to a French magazine, explaining the British machinery of government—and by imputation showing what was wrong in France.

M. Coty does not, however, know the British Labour leaders, and his only personal friend among British statesmen is Sir Winston Churchill's son-in-law, Duncan Sandys, who has visited the Coty family at their Paris flat.

NOT A PACIFIST

The foreign policy issue which has most interested him is European unity, and he told me he had been "a European" since 1919. After the Second World War, in fact, he became president of the inter-parliamentary group of more than 200 members campaigning for federal union in Europe, and he was also a French delegate to the Council of Europe in Strasbourg.

M. Coty is certainly not a pacifist. He admits that the greatly admired Aristide Briand, generally remembered as the apostle of Franco-German reconciliation; but he also recalls that he admired him among other things as a supporter of three-year conscription. He interpreted—and approved—M. Briand's foreign policy as "manoeuvring gently but with a stick in your hand."

The new President is anxious to dissipate the confusion which has arisen about his religious convictions and the erroneous speculation which has appeared in the French and foreign Press suggesting that he is a Protestant and a Freemason. In fact, he has never been either. He was, he says, brought up in the Catholic faith, and had his daughters sent to Catholic convent schools, although they completed their training in philosophy at the boys' high school at Le Havre, where their father felt they could probably get the best available teaching. It will be the first time for several decades that a President of the French Republic has run against the anti-clerical current and been a regular attendant at mass. M. Vincent Auriol, his predecessor, followed the more recent traditions as a free-thinker, and there were no organized religious observances on the Presidential agenda.

Bread Truck Skids Into Highway Ditch

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Only one accident was reported to the OPP detachment here over the weekend when Norman A Beggs, 27, of YMCA Peeterborough escaped uninjured on Saturday when the bread truck he was driving sskidded into the ditch on the Hastingss—Warkworth road a few miles north of Warkworth. Beggs told police he met another car and apparently got over to close eto the edge of the road, damage to the truck was light, OPP constable Archie Eady investigated.

Sudbury Registered 3,681 Births In '53

SUDBURY (CP) — Sudbury registered 3,681 births in 1953, compared with 3,414 in 1952 and 2,825 in 1951, vital statistics figures showed today.

Deaths totalled 436 last year, compared with 466 in 1952 and 411 in 1951, leaving a natural population increase of 3,245 last year, 2,948 in 1952 and 2,414 in 1951.

Current Sudbury population is 46,043.

Volcano Belches Smoke

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—Dense clouds of black smoke are rising 2,000 feet from te Maire, one of the craters of Mount Tongairiro, for the first time for more than 50 years. Mount Tongariro (6,500 feet) is one of the three volcanos of New Zealand's North island. Mount Ngauruhoe (7,000 feet) has been showing a bright red glow from its crater for several nights.

25 Rebels Surrender

MANILA (AP) — Twenty-five Communist-directed Philippine Huk rebels gave themselves up Saturday in the largest mass surrender since President Ramon Magsaysay took office last month, Philippine Army headquarters announced Sunday night. Officers said the rebels are being weakened by police raids and by Magsaysay's "bulletless campaign" of providing free land and improving rural conditions.

Russ Rose Changeable

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio reported today that a Russian horticulturist, Ivan Kovtunenko, has developed a rose which changes color. He has named it "flower of peace." The broadcast said that the rose, in a single week, runs through color changes from white to pink to yellow to light brown and finally to pale red.

20 Lives Toll In 3 Crashes

CHICAGO (AP)—Three separate highway crashes in Missouri, Calfornia and North Carolina killed 20 persons during the week-end and critically injured five others.

Near Imperial, Mo., six teen-age boys died when their car—travelling at speeds up to 85 miles an hour — crashed head-on into a bridge abutment. Late Saturday a two-car collision south of Sanford, N. C., fatally injured seven persons, including a young couple and their daughter. Two persons—one an eight-year-old boy — suffered critical injuries.

In Azusa, Calif. another seven persons, including six youngsters returning from a high school dance, were killed in a head-on crash of two automobiles. Three adults were critically hurt. The students had attended a dance at Citrus union high school near Azusa.

Warsaw WI Hears Peterborough History

WARSAW (ENS)—The Warsaw Women's Institute met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Stewart Clysedale presiding.

Mrs. Hilliard Ray gave an interesting reading of the historical background of Peterborough, telling about the year 1870.

Card conveners appointed for the next month are Mrs. S. Clysedale and Mrs. Reg. Payne.

A "ty" contest, conducted by Mrs. G. Dyson, was won by Mrs. H. Digweed. Mrs. Harold Ray gave a reading, "Washing the Separator". Mrs. Dyson read a poem. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Luncheon was served by hostesses, Mrs. Ida Darling, Mrs. T. Cooper and Mrs. G. Dyson.

Norway Reds Fined

OSLO (AP)—Three young Norwegian Reds who interrupted the awarding of the 1953 Nobel Peace Prize to Gen. George C. Marshall of the United States last month have been fined a total of 800 kroner ($112). The Communist demonstrators were found guilty of defaming Marshall and attempting to break up a public meeting. The two older Reds were fined 300 kroner each. Their companion, 18, was fined 200 kroner.

Critics Say Pianist Has Technical Trouble

NEW YORK (CP) — Patricia Grant Lewis, 23-year-old pianist from Hamilton, Ont., made her New York debut at town hall Sunday night and had "technical troubles."

The Herald Tribune music critic says Miss Lewis "had troubles, all of them technical."

The Times reviewer thinks Miss Lewis "has decided talent" but says the evidence at hand "suggests that she has not been trained too well."

Slides Kill Eight

TANANARIVE, Madagascar (Reuters)—Landslides caused by a cyclone which swept this island last Thursday killed eight persons in a village near Moramanga east of here, it was learned today. Rain following the storm swept away bridges and blocked roads.

If anyone thinks of such a journey as a pleasure jaunt, or a holiday, let him think again. Mr. St. Laurent will pass about 156 hours in flying, which is not the most relaxing method of travel, and we are sure that much of his time in the air will be spent in preparing for his conversations on the ground. He is making this journey in order to strengthen the friendships which Canada has established all over the world, and in order to do that he must inform himself carefully about every country he visits, about everybody he is likely to meet, and about what the relationship is between that country and our own. It is a formidable task, and it will keep him continually on the stretch for its duration.

* * *

We are delighted that the Prime Minister has chosen to exert himself in this way, and we are certain that he will do a good job for Canada. Mr. St. Laurent is an impressive man, quiet but not retiring in manner, ready and diplomatic in speech, concise and persuasive in exposition and argument. Wherever he goes he makes friends, though he is not an effusive or extroverted personality. The qualities which made him a remarkable barrister before he entered politics are the qualities which recommend him to the people of other nations. If he is accepted in the capitals of the world as a representative Canadian, none of us has any reason to be displeased.

* * *

He will set out on his journey with, we are certain, the heartfelt good wishes of us all. He travels not as the leader of a party, but as the leader of a nation, and a leader whom we are proud to acknowledge.

Bean Day For Polio

The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis is an organization to be commended. In addition to providing funds to treat victims of polio and for special equipment and family assistance, it makes money available for training persons to deal with the disease and for helping patients re-establish themselves in active life. It supports clinics so that doctors and nurses can maintain contact with the patients and supervise post-hospital treatment. Funds for this work are solicited through the "Canadian March of Dimes", and a public appeal for this march towards freedom from polio is being made this month, here and throughout Ontario.

Last year only two Ontario counties were free of poliomyelitis; they were Leeds and Durham. Throughout the Province there were 2,080 known cases, of which 900 were paralytic. There were 77 deaths. Peterborough city had 31 cases. Across Canada there were 8,000 polio victims, and four of the provinces suffered epidemics. Manitoba was the most severely struck, and the Ontario Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis, through its March of Dimes, helped the national organization in aiding Manitoba victims. The extent of the disease, its virulence, and its sudden rise to epidemic proportions in one province or another, indicate that the work of the Canadian Foundation and other special agencies of public health, research and hospital treatment is an intimate concern of the Canadian public generally.

Because of such funds and the recognition of poliomyelitis as a public scourge, it is now possible for a victim of the disease to be treated, supplied with whatever special equipment and physiotherapy are necessary without any charge being made against him or his family. We commend the aims and work of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis to our readers.

We cannot be quite so enthusiastic about one facet of the Foundation's appeal. It is sponsoring a Bean Day, next Thursday. What relationship is there between polio and beans? This —according to the publicity release: "Each family will have a Bean Day Dinner. The money the family will save by having this economical meal will then go towards the fight for Poliomyelitis. It's that simple". We know that beans are a lowly fruit. But when they are dressed up en casserole with sauces, spices, molasses, bacon and the other trimmings usual to a meal whose centre is to be a fine, crisp steaming pot of baked beans, we doubt that there will be enough money "saved" to contribute many coins to the March of Dimes. Perhaps it would be better to contribute your dimes before you invest in a bean dinner, and if you really want to save, whip your family up a dish of spam and hard tack.

Will The U.S. Government Sell To Russia?

Since criticism of trade with Communist countries has been loudest from U. S. Republican sources, it may seem strange to find the Republican Administration of the United States considering the possibility of selling Russia 150,000,000 pounds of butter and an equal amount of cottonseed oil. The Soviet offer to purchase also seems strange, since the favourite theme of the official Russian newspaper Pravda has been the "flourishing prosperity" of agriculture in the Soviet Union and the "bankruptcy" of agriculture in the United States—a claim difficult to reconcile with the present offer.

The economic reasons for the Russian offer are clear, and there may be a political reason as well. It was announced last September that the fats and oils situation in Russia was most unsatisfactory, because of failure to increase milk and butter production, and because of a poor flaxseed crop. The Malenkov regime promised that the situation would be improved, and it has been buying fats and oils abroad to make good on its promise. The possible political reason is that Soviet leaders may think that helping to relieve the U. S. government of a portion of its huge surplus stocks may to some extent ease the strain in Soviet-U.S. relations.

The Eisenhower Administration is now considering acceptance of the offer. It may be reluctant to do so, since the price offered is less than the support prices paid by the U.S. Government for the commodities, and acceptance might appear as a subsidy to the Russian Government.

The chief cause of reluctance to sell is probably past insistence on no trade with Communist nations by a number of Republicans. Yet there has been steady growth of opinion in the United States that East-West trade in non-strategic materials might be advantageous for the West, in that it could lead to the development of improved relations between the two great divisions of the world. And neither butter nor cottonseed oil could possibly be listed among the strategic materials that Western nations generally agree must not be exported to the Soviet Union.

Of Course It's Me!

Much has been made of the report that the Queen interrupted two little girls in New Zealand, who were arguing as to whether or not the distinguished visitor was the Queen or Princess Margaret, in order to say "It's me". We feel no surprise; it is precisely what we should expect Her Majesty to say, for it is correct spoken usage. If she had been writing a letter, or making a speech, she would have said "It is I"; but in colloquial conversation "It's me" is what well-bred and well-educated people say, and have said for a very long time.

We wish that the editors who are shouting in exultation about what they regard as the Queen's grammatical atom bomb would spend some of their energy explaining the use of personal pronouns to their readers. The rules are simple enough, but a great many people do not appear to know them, and in order to be as elegant as possible at all times, they use 'I' invariably, and forget entirely about 'me'. They say, with every assurance that they are Living Graciously, "He gave the prizes to she and I". Of course they should say "to her and me", but this sounds so shocking to their ears that they cannot bring themselves to utter it. They do not think of saying "to Dumbella and myself", though this would do very nicely. They feel that complete grammatical elegance demands the maximum number of uses of 'I' in every sentence.

English grammar is not really very hard to acquire, and we are constantly astonished by the number of people who are strongly resistant to its charms. It has won its way back into the schools, after a period of exile, and so far as we have been able to observe, it is taught by a method which should have good results. But we think that as well as grammatical instruction, there might well be a few minutes each day of Spoken English, so that the rules which pupils apply in their written exercises might also be used in speech. Downright illiterate speech is becoming comparatively rare in Canada; the simple soul who says "We ain't never found out which kids is our'n 'n which is they'rn" is met with less often than before. But people who pant after Elegance as the hart pants after the water brooks, and who have no grammatical means of achieving Elegance, or even ordinary correctness, are many, and they need help. We hope that the Queen's example will persuade them that 'me' is not an inherently vulgar word, whereas 'I' is a high-toned word, which may be used with splendid effect in any part of a sentence.

LONDON LETTER

Electricians' Fast Strikes

By KENNETH HARRIS

AT VARIOUS points scattered over Britain these days, serious-looking men on bicycles are pedalling energetically through the murky dawn to certain selected industrial sites. Arrived there, they tell all the electricians on the job to stop work and go on strike.

These are the "guerrilla" strikes being called by Frank Foulkes, the Communist "general," who is master-minding the Electrical Trade Union's bid to get more pay. They are called "guerrilla" because this describes in a loose kind of way the electricians' tactics — which are to call the electricians off a few sites at a time so as not to cause too much trouble outright — to begin with, at any rate — and to be as secretive as possible about where strikes will be called next so that the industry as a whole cannot possibly make plans to alter production schedules.

THESE STRIKES are Communist-led; and the Communists are trying to do as much damage as possible by stirring up general dissatisfaction. But it would be a great mistake to think that they haven't got plenty of the rank-and-file behind them.

The electricians' position is not much different from that of Britain's workers as a whole. They are suffering from the fact that prices have gone up at a disproportionately high rate ever since last spring. Mr. R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, rightly or wrongly decided to apply policies which aimed more at stimulating production by providing incentives for employers and investors than at giving workers added protection against the rising cost of living.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO SECTION of the community has sounded off a longer and more vociferous blast against the cost of living in this part of the world than the students. All the leading newspapers here have been featuring articles and correspondence in which students have been protesting that their Government scholarships, grants and living allowances are now not sufficient to live on. The great debate grew out of the complaints of university teachers that students were not doing enough acedemic work in the vacations because they were spending too much time in doing ordinary remunerative work, like waiting at table, driving trucks and washing cars. The students have replied that their Government grants have lost so much value because of the rise in the cost of living that if they did not work for a month or so in the long vacation (summer holiday), at any rate, they couldn't afford to stay at university.

Some college authorities have asked why the parents of these students do not do what their parents did: help to support the students in the vacation period. Other more Socialist-minded university teachers have argued that the idea in Britain today is that if a boy or girl is worth it, he or she must have a complete university education at no cost to parents; and if he or she is in fact having to work to support himself or herself during the vacations, that idea is not being implemented.

Some go further and say that since at present some boys are getting support from their parents which enables them to spend the whole four month of the long vacation studying, and other boys have to go out and drive milk-trucks for part of the time, a new privileged class is being created.

✧ ✧ ✧

LAST WEEK I went to Walthamstow, a borough in north-eastern London, where the National Union of Students was holding its second annual festival. One of the events was the first British National Debating Tournament, the first tournament so far as I know, which has been run on lines which, superficially at any rate, are American. All over the country, universities had arranged regional tournaments in which two-man teams had debated a subject, speaking for ten minutes each, and being awarded marks under various categories by a panel of judges. The regional panels of judges were usually made up of the vice-chancellor of the university, a local Member of Parliament, a well-known lawyer and perhaps a prominent local government official.

When I arrived at Walthamstow I found that the party of students coming from Russia had not arrived — their plane was held up by fog. Even so the gathering was colourful enough, with contingents from India, Pakistan and the West Indies, and visitors from Burma and Indonesia, as well as from several European and Middle Eastern countries, and two had flown from Paraguay. There were one hundred Malayans from the Malayan College, Liverpool. Indians, Sinhalese and Pakistani did well in the earlier rounds of the debate, and only bad luck prevented an Indian, a Sinhalese and an Israeli from getting into the semi-finals.

THE WINNER of the prize for the outstanding speaker of the whole tournament was a coloured man, J. St. Elmo Hall, a Jamaican who is studying medicine at Sheffield University. He is going back to practise in Kingston when he has qualified.

I saw Mr. Zhibotovsky, First Secretary of the Russian Embassy in London was at the festival. He takes an interest in British education of all kinds, I am told, and is to be seen occasionally at youth rallies, student groups and lectures. He was attending the festival as a private individual, not as an official guest, and he had to pay for his ticket like everyone else. I am told that he is — again unofficially — attending a course at the London School of Economics.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN MORE colourful than the students' festival, and almost as international, was the annual English song and folk-dance festival at the Albert Hall, in London. There was some brilliant clog-dancing by a miner called Jack Toaduff, and a French team from the Auvergne danced to the music of their local bagpipes. The society itself presented a new folk-dance ballet, called "The May Tree," by a young composer called Michael Bell.

The Festival reminded me that when I was in the United States last year, Square Dancing seemed to be at the height of its popularity. There was a great deal of it done in Washington — especially by members at the British embassy. It was the main entertainment at the conference in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, attended by the Governors of the 48 States in 1951; there was a lot going on in San Francisco when I was there for the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty in October, 1951.

Folk dancing seems to be getting increasingly popular here. A colleague of mine recently down from Cambridge University tells me that with a membership of 850 the society which exists mainly to dance Scottish reels is the biggest society in Cambridge. The general opinion of British ballet experts seems to be that folk dances contain a rich vein of material which professional choreographers should start to draw on.

✧ ✧ ✧

I DON'T KNOW which of London's shops or stores is best remembered by visitors from overseas, but I would guess that Foyle's, Britain's biggest bookshop, situated in the Charing Cross Road, would come pretty high on the list. Foyle's has just celebrated its fiftieth anniversary.

William and Gilbert, two young men, sons of a grocer, failed to pass the entrance examination into the Civil Service and advertised the sale of their no longer useful text-books. So many applications for purchase arrived that the brothers decided there was money in the second-hand text-book business. One buy led to another, and today Foyle's bookshop has thirty miles of shelves, and sells five million books a year at a turnover of £22 million.

An American Opinion: ANOTHER HEARTBREAK RIDGE

Secret Voting In Trade Unions

(MONTREAL STAR)

WE commend to the federal government and to the ten provinces of this country the legislation passed in Australia whereby voting in trade unions is done by secret ballot and under government supervision. It would not be popular among trade union leaders. There is no reason, however, why it should not be popular among any union's rank and file, which would have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

In Australia this week the powerful Amalgamated Engineering Union, long under Communist leadership, voted under the new law, threw out the Red ticket, and installed Labor party candidates in office. It is very doubtful if this result would have been obtained had an old-style vote been held. The usual way of conducting trade union business puts powerful instruments into the hands of the men who hold office. An unsupervised, open vote permits them to build up powerful political machines, to withhold favours from those who oppose them, and to grant favours to those who side with them.

That was the prime reason for the introduction of the secret ballot in political elections. It put an end to intimidation in all its forms, and it eventually led to the disappearance of corruption. Nobody could really complain about the secret vote for the simple reason that it was fair. Nobody could complain about it in trade union elections. The result in the recent Australian vote might just as easily have gone the other way. Nobody could have complained about that either.

In the early days of trade unions, there was something to be said for the development of their own voting proccesses. In the first instance trade unions were illegal. Government and employers ganged up on them. The unions were small. The members all knew each other personally. They stuck together, probably fearful of traitors in their ranks. Each man, when the time came to vote had to stand up and be counted.

These conditions have changed. The unions are legal organizations, receiving a large measure of state protection and help. They are also very big. The old personal contact has disappeared. In many instances, even the locals are so big that the traditional intimacy is lacking. They are often run by full-time professional organizers who gave up the workbench in order to conduct union affairs. It is natural in such circumstances that they take steps to keep themselves in power, and the open system of voting is a great help. Any member who opposes the officers and their machine is a marked man.

In such circumstances, there is a strong case for the secret ballot. Each union member, becomes, at the moment of voting, an individual free from all special outside pressures, bribes and intimidations. He is as free to vote for a Communist ticket as for a more conservative slate; and the government guarantees the fairness of the vote and the accuracy of the count.

This is so obvious that the constant opposition to the plan, emanating from union leadership circles, can only mean that the men in office foresee greater difficulty in maintaining themselves in power. They would have to work harder to stay there, and they would have to justify their maintenance in power without the obvious help they get from their own supervision of the ballot.

Can Brutal Hockey Be Sport?

(Toronto Daily Star)

Hockey is a rough game. A game may be rough and still retain a measure of sportsmanship. But there is no sportsmanship left if opposing players are deliberately injured. And a past president of the Ontario Hockey association says that is what happens in hockey nowadays. That would be bad enough if the offending players were acting "on their own." But Mr. Jack Roxburgh tells the Aurora Recreation Commission that many coaches and managers are training youngsters to play dirty hockey. "I know of cases where coaches have deliberately planned to have opposing players maimed to ensure victory." This, if true, is a simply scandalous state of affairs. "The emphasis is on winning at any cost." Is hockey no longer a sport?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright . . For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of goodness of the Lord . . .

Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast. . . .

The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations . . . Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy . . . For our heart shall rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name. (Ps. 33:1, 4, 5 8, 9, 11, 18, 21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Study to shrew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed rightly dividing the word of truth. (II Tim. 2:15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. (II Tim. 4:2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. (Heb. 4:12.)

Women and Furs

(Montreal Gazette)

A leading authority on furs, conducting an exhibition of Canadian minks, gave some advice on wearing, and buying, such furs. Jean Courtot told his Toronto audience: "You must never look as though the fur is taking you for a walk. You must be taking a walk with your fur."

On buying a mink coat, he said "It's like buying a house." Only half the value is in the materials, the skins; the other half is in the way it has been constructed, the workmanship.

As an intriguing finale Courtot asked himself, aloud, "Why does a woman wish to buy a mink?" And he answered himself by saying that her reasons are "widely varied and often intangible" — economic and psychological and the pull of fashion. For many, he said, "the purchase is emotional."

And men always thought women bought them because they were cold!

Healthful Food

(London Free Press)

Two cheese sandwiches a week eaten by every Canadian would lift the cheese business out of the doldrums and add a health-giving item to our diet. It would make the difference between the cheese industry being in the red or in the black. As things are now Canadians eat 5.8 lbs. of cheese a year. Norwegians consume 18.7 pounds.

You can do many things with cheese — it makes sandwiches, rarebits, salads and flavoring. It comes in assorted types and in many flavors. It is nutritious, satisfying, available and Canadian-made. We should eat more of it.

IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL TIME for Peterborough swimming instructors. A pool-school in Peterborough Saturday was part of a province-wide program designed to provide uniform water-safety standards from Kenora to Cornwall. Such uniform standards will ensure greater water safety and provide that children moving from one area to another can pick up their water-safety training where they left off. Shown above are Mrs. J. Widow Spider Employed By United States Army

By HAROLD L. VALENTINE

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — For a "salary" of a couple of house flies a week, some four dozen black widow spiders are spinning out their lives here for the U.S. Army.

The poisonous little worker — she eats her mate, and even her children if she gets the opportunity —is on duty in the engineers' section of the army's Columbus general depot.

Her output, a fine, tough web, is made into cross hairs for transits, levels and other sighting instruments used by government surveyors. Other armed forces units use the same type of web for gunsights.

Engineers say black widows here save the taxpayers thousands of dollars each year, money which would have to be spent otherwise with private concerns. Each black widow, in a matter of seconds, can produce about 160 feet of web. Market price now is quoted by the engineers at $25 for 100 feet of the fine strand.

The black widow spider is a ruthless killer of its own kind and of other insects. Its venom is exceedingly poisonous to humans, and while most survive its bite, it can be fatal in cases where medical treatment is not prompt.

SPECIAL CONTAINERS

Spider handlers at the depot say the black widow's web is best for their purposes because she spins a single, uniform strand compared to the multiple strands woven by ordinary spiders. The product of the ordinary spider must be separated before it can be used. The black widow strand is about 1,5000th of an inch in diameter and will withstand considerably rougher treatment than other fine spun substances.

The depot's supply of spiders comes from California. They arrive here by air express in special plastic containers. They cannot be shipped on commercial passenger-carrying planes.

On arrival here, each spider is placed in an individual plastic jar with a finely perforated metal top to allow entrance of air. But the holes are too small to permit a baby spider to escape.

When a supply of web is needed, a worker opens a jar and with a wooden wand coaxes the spider into the open. When he drops off the wand to a table or the floor she leaves a strand of web which is then wound on a rack.

Minister Fights Fire Saves His Church

TILLSONBURG (CP)—The Rev. G. L. Stebner of nearby Springfield, Sunday saved his church from destruction when, despite a weak heart, he battled a fire until firemen arrived.

The blaze was discovered in the frame church by his son, Gordon, 11. Mr. Stebner went to a shed adjoining the church and turned off the oil supply to the furnace which was installed on the wood floor of the basement recently. Then he got a hose from a nearby ice rink and brought the blaze under control.

Damage was estimated at $1,000. Mr. Stebner moved to Springford recently from Wiarton.

City's Swimming Instructors Given Refresher Course

A refresher course for Peterborough swimming instructors, designed to ensure uniform water safety standards from Kenora to Cornwall, was held at the YWCA Saturday. Aim of the course is to acquaint instructors with new techniques and to bring more instructors into the scope of the water safety program.

"Uniform swimming instruction standards are conducive to greater water safety," Warren Clayson, director of swimming and water safety for Ontario, told the Examiner. In addition, uniform standards ensure that a child moving from one area to another can continue his water safety training where he left off.

"Anticipating this year's needs," only four of the twelve instructors taking the course Saturday were appointed as water-safety examiners. Others may be added as needed. The four examiners are Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, Gordon Minty, YMCA swimming coach, Miss Roslyn Stone, YWCA swimming instructress, and Miss Betty Merritt, instructress at the Lions Pool.

Speaking to a water-safety meeting Saturday afternoon, Warren Clayson, provincial director of water safety, observed that most drownings in Ontario took place in heavily-laked areas like the Peterborough district. The annual total for the province is in the neighborhood of 300 drowning deaths.

CLINIC ONE OF FIRST

The Peterborough refresher clinic is one of the first in a province-wide series under the supervision of Mr. Clayson and five Ontario field supervisors. Supervisor for the Peterborough area is Graham Warren.

In Peterborough there are but two year-round water-safety instructors, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, and Gordon Minty, swimming coach at the YMCA. One purpose of the local school is to enlist the support of other qualified instructors so that they may be on call when required.

Twelve little guinea pigs (human) decorated the YWCA pool-school Saturday morning. Mr. Clayson, Mr. Warren and another field supervisor, Miss Charlotte Keens, used these children to demonstrate new techniques in water safety instruction.

FORM DIVISION

The water safety program is divided into four divisions — beginner, junior, intermediate and senior. To qualify for a senior water safety crest a candidate must pass practical examinations on water safety, swim 30 continuous yards in a variety of strokes, swim 75 yards on the back, partly with arms only, partly with legs only, tread water for ten minutes and qualify for diving tests.

At the other end of the scale, the beginner must pass a simpler water safety knowledge test and, among other things, be able to open his eyes under water and swim for 40 continuous feet.

Saturday morning saw instructors, potential instructors and students in the YWCA pool. In the afternoon there was a discussion of how to implement the uniform-standard policy agreed upon. The entire program was under the general supervision of Mrs. J. P. Watts, head of the local water safety unit.

Marmora Enjoys Ice Carnival

MARMORA (ENS) A cast of 56 representing the Figure Skating Clubs of Port Hope and Cobourg gave a highly pleasing performance at Dr. Hamilton Crawford Arena Saturday evening before a crowd of approximately 800 spectators.

These clubs have the same professional trainer. Miss Rose Anne Paquette of the Minto Club, Ottawa, and so easily combined in attractive group numbers. The solo work of the juvenile girls of both clubs was well acclaimed. Anita Churchley, seven-year-old member of the Port Hope Club, youngest performer present, showed a grace in her movements on a par with her older colleagues among which were some bronze and some silver medallists.

Highlighting the carnival was a demonstration by the trainer Miss Paquette and another by Leonard Soevenmark of Port Hope, gold medallist for figure skating and possessor of a silver medal for dancing.

Two comedy numbers proved an enjoyable diversion.

During an intermission the drawing took place for the watch in connection with the clock stopping contest, the lucky person being Guy Hughes of Tweed.

Mrs. G. Hutchinson Installed WA Head

WARKWORTH —(ENS)— The Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church met in the Sunday School rooms Thursday evening with Mrs. Harry Kelly and Mrs. George Carr as joint hostesses.

The Rev. A. L. Sisco installed the new officers as follows:

President—Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson; vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Taylor; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Edgar; recording secretary, Mrs. George Bowen; corresponding secretary, Miss C. Ross; press secretary, Mrs. D. H. Evans.

The lunch committee, program committee and visiting committee by Mrs. Wm. Taylor, the vice-president.

Mrs. Frank Bowen was the leader of the devotional period.

The new president, Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson presided over the business period which was chiefly planning for the year. The holiday box was a method adopted for raising funds.

A reading was given by Mrs. Alton Hutchinson and Mrs. D. H. Evans put on a contest. The winning couples were the Rev. A. L. Sisco and Mrs. K. Thain, and Mrs. Mrs. John Bowen and Mrs. Alton Hutchinson.

Provincial Education Departments Lowering Teacher Standards

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial education departments generally are lowering the standards for entrance to teacher-training institutions, directors of the Canadian Teachers' Federation said Sunday.

In a statement following a three-day meeting here, the directors said they "are gravely concerned that provincial departments of education generally have been lowering entrance standards." They urged that the standards be raised.

"The CTF holds that to retain those teachers we have and to obtain more for the expanding school enrolment, standards must be raised. For, it is only through raising standards and making teaching positions more attractive and worthwhile that teachers will remain in their profession and capable young people will clamor to be admitted.

"The lowering of entrance requirements which has been tried in several provinces as a temporary means of keeping the doors of the classrooms open has failed to accomplish its objective and has seriously undermined the prestige of thousands of well-qualified and capable teachers in the country."

The statement said the only teacher training institutions which have increased enrolment are those which have raised and stiffened their entrance requirements.

1953 Record Year Installing Water And Electric Services

The utilities commission installed more water and electric services last year than in any year since 1950, General Manager W. Howard Powell reports. Last year the commission installed 40 per cent more services than in 1952.

Meanwhile, extension of water mains to new residential areas continues. The commission has asked the city to issue debentures for $42,022.86 to cover the cost of new water main construction. The figure includes the cost of mains constructed last year in the annexed portion of the north end and in the Westmount subdivision, as well as of extensions to the new Westmount mains.

The mains are on Kensington Dr., from Sherwood Cres. to Fairmount Blvd.; Windermere Ave. from Kensington Dr. to Kawartha Dr.; Fairmount Blvd., from Weller St. to Kawartha Dr.; Glencairn Ave., from Kensington Dr. to Norwood terrace; Bennett St., from Stewart St. to Benson Ave., Barnardo Ave., from Dumble Ave. to Lee St.

Work by the water department during December including laying of 290 feet of six-inch main on Barnardo Ave., where two fire hydrants were also placed; 973 feet of six-inch main in Westmount subdivision on Fairmount Blvd. and Kensington Dr.; 438 feet of six-inch main on Auburn St. A four-inch water service was laid to St. Peter's High School on Downie St.

Seventeen water services were laid during December. Seven were relaid and three were repaired. Five new fire hydrants were replaced. Regular hydrant inspection was started on December 15.

Last month the electric department connected 53 three-wire services, four two-wire services, two power services and 62 new water heaters. Nine services were changed from two- to three-wire. The meter department tested 350 electric meters, which were verified by the department of trade and commerce.

The Walrus was Right...

The time has come to talk of many things . . . with Alice in Wonderland it was of shoes and ships and sealing wax . . . but with most of us it is probably of more practical things . . . things which directly affect each of us every day. The first of the year traditionally is the time when the business man takes stock. He reviews past performance and considers the future.

Now is a good time for each one of us to do a similar thing . . . to take stock of our personal affairs.

Taking personal stock should include a review of investments and investment plans. Over the years we have found that many investors like us to go over their securities with them at this time of year. We have also found that many who have never invested . . . or have invested only spasmodically . . . want to start the new year with some kind of an investment plan and come to us for help. This is all part of taking stock . . . and there is no better time than right now.

If you are about to plan your investment future . . . or just to take stock . . . we think we can help you. We invite you to come to see us or to write. You will be welcome in any of our offices.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With bated and frosty breath, many of our readers no doubt anxiously awaiting word on the annual Chase Almanac weather predictions again. Well, the 50th almanac is off the press and we note some stormy weather listed for later this month and quite frequently in Feb., with a sprinkling of milder stuff tossed in. March is milder but squally and April generally is mild but rainy. May weather is promising whereas June expects wind and thu derstorms over a goodly stretch. Vacationists had better watch July. First week is unsettled, thunderstorms the next, and then pleasant for about a week; storms again but the final three days fair and warm. Pleasant weather in August apart from occsional thunderstorms. ice most of September, but the rest of the fall into December is often stormy, foggy and colder. You're welcome.

Only time a short scribe feels superior on wrestling night at the Brock of a Wednesday is when the midgets show is here — and they're on deck this week. Speedy, powerful little fellows, they're a riot in action in their wild-and-woolly tag team bout. Just nothing like them. Sky Low Low and the Great Schultz tangle with Little Beaver and Salie Halasie. From left to right, they're English, German, Indian and African. Funnier than a cage of Monkeys. The main bout of the card features Ernie Dusek vs. Pat Flanagan, while the prelim pits Emil Dusek against Jimmy Sigsay. The Dusek brothers are villians of darkest dye.

Junior Petes in Front

Swinging merrily in the canary's perch as they lead their OHA junior "B" group, the junior Petes are living up to Coach Red Creighton's claim that they're the best young squad to represent this city in well over a decade. Closet rivals in the group are Lindsay and Port Perry Flyers. The latter come here Wednesday and these transplanted Oshawa puckists (some of 'em property of Boston Bruins) will make it a stiff scrap. About 20 door prizes in merchandise are being put up for this fixture, and a couple of the Toronto Leafs are coming down to act as linesmen that eve. Peterborough figure skaters will stage a show from eight till 8:30 before the tussle.

* * * * * *

Seldom have we seen such a scramble for one spot in the group standing as has been going on for weeks now in the senior "B" setup, second rung in the ladder being the objective. Petes are on it and off every few days, being dislodged again Saturday as they lost a toughie in Kingston. The K's and Orillia have been in second slot and out of it again and again, also. Oshawa is atop the heap and the Belleville Memos in the cellar, though the latter are starting to roll now in a bid for a playoff spot. They beat Petes and Kingston last week on Quinte ice, and Memos will be trying for another victory here tonight at the expense of the TPT-ers, who must trek to Orillia on the morrow. Shapes up as a heated melee this p.m. down at Civic.

Record Turnout For P's

Bad breaks and penalties hurt the Petes plenty in the Limestone City on Saturday as they outplayed Goodyears most of the route — and especially in the third period — but dropped a 5-3 decision. They drew a record crowd of 3,502 paid fans for the season there, and if Petes could average just half that number at home games they'd be happy. K's had a 4-1 edge in the second, and that proved enough, as Don Murray and Clint Tinkess led their attack. Denny Peterson got two and Ted Collins one for the Petes, an assist each going to Bill McMaster, Ed Redmond, Bert Hill, Rod Belisle and Doc Prentice. A dandy duel all the way. Oshawa had to go overtime to edge Belleville, so now the standing has Oshawa atop with 32 points, Kingston 27, Petes 26, Orillia 25 and Belleville 16. Latter is here tonight and Friday.

YM volleyball loop for the Lillico Trophy opened Saturday for the 26th year with Eskimos taking two of three games from Tigers, and Argos two or three from Bombers. Oldtimers will recall when volleyball started here back in '28 as a businessmen's recreation, but the sport has become streamlined in more recent years and is a young man's game, winning teams at a Canadian tourney showing an average age of 23 for the players. Oldsters find it a bit difficult remembering to use the closed fist for all underhand moves in the game. An international tourney in Paris a year ago drew 25,000 fans for the final game. Yes, volleyball was a popular army sport, too, during the war. Schedule will be in tomorrow.

Petes Drop Close 5-3 Tussle To Kingston

KINGSTON (Special)—Kingston Goodyears, defending Ontario Hockey Association senior "B" champions, climbed to the second rung in the group standings when they defeated the flashy Peterborough Petes by 5 to 3 in the Community Memorial Centre on Saturday night. It was a tense duel waged before the seasonal record attendance of 3,502 fans, and the result could not be faulted. The Petes were in tip-top form but not quite good enough to upset an aggregation that has been bereft via the injury jinx of the services of Joe Watts and Johnny Myke.

The visitors, paced by Denny Peterson and Coach Eddie Redmond, made it a 1-1 standoff in the first period and collected the lone goal in the third but faltered in the middle session when the dashing Goodyears outscored them by 4 to 1 and settled the issue. Penalties and bad breaks set the Petes up for the "kill" in that action-packed second period.

Don Murray, shifty centre player, gathered the most points and was a conspicuous figure in the swift going. He scored twice and had two assists. Clint Tinkess took runner-up honors with three assists while Jim McKeown got a goal and an assist and raised his total in each department to six in four games.

CHECKED WELL

The Petes laid down such an effective checking barrage against the line composed of Ken Partis, George Macgregor and Jack McKeown that the trio drew a blank in the scoring summaries. Macgregor was shadowed so relentlessly that playmaker Partis couldn't use him to advantage. It was evident that the visitors had been alerted against this dangerous combination.

The record attendance was considered remarkable in view of the stormy night. The parking lot was jammed to capacity and the snow-covered cars had to be extricated by slow degrees following the game. It was a scene reminiscent of those that occur in Toronto after capacity crowds have seen the Maple Leafs in NHL action. Fans were still passing through the turnstiles when Tommy Goodfellow drew the first penalty of the game 19 seconds after the initial faceoff. Goodyears, however, forced the issued and Tinkess and Murray gave Jack Donlevy anxious moments. At 7:56 Bill McMaster and Macgregor were penalized together and before they returned Ted Nicholson, aided by Jim McKeown and Murray, got the first counter. It was a short-lived advantage, Denny Peterson tallying for the visitors at 11:06 with Doc Prentice and Rod Belisle his assistants. Jack White was penalized and during his absence the Petes made several strong bids for goals.

PENALTIES HURT

Munro drew the first penalty of the second period and while he was away Jim McKeown beat Donlevy after having attacked in conjunction with Tinkess and Murray. Goodyears struck again when Londry scored on a fairly long side shot after Don Bellringer had engineered the attack. "Monty" Montgomery drew a penalty for tripping White after Armstrong had been caught in a charging act. The dual sentence was hotly disputed and a long delay occurred while the arguments raged.

With the Petes restored to full strength Murray took a pass from Tinkess and fired a blistering shot, the puck sliding off Donlevy's glove and into the cage. Four minutes later Ted Collins, aided by willowy Bert Hill, reduced the lead but the same was restored when Murray, aided by Tinkess and Londry fired the puck into the hemp.

Goodyears exhibited championship form throughout that middle period and were full value for the 4 to 1 count but the Petes finished very strongly and had the better of the territorial play in the final round. Two penalties to Redmond and one to Montgomery during the early minutes of the final dash stymied a quick comeback but over the rest of the route the visitors were difficult to tame.

Bellringer and Crowley were penalized at 8:41 and Goodfellow at 14:14. Canny defensive play ensued and scoring chances were reduced to a minimum. Chum Fryia had the best opportunity but his blazing shot to a corner was deflected by Johnson. Just as Goodfellow returned Peterson, aided by McMaster and Redmond, brought the tallying to a close. The Petes ganged almost continuously during the last three minutes but they were turned away empty-handed.

Peterborough—goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre, Prentice; wings, Peterson and Belisle; alternates, Leonard, Munro, Armstrong, Fryia, Greenlaw, Hill, Crowley, Collins and Montgomery.

Lakefield Winners Against Hiawatha

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—In a keen EPHL fixture late last week, Lakefield took a 10-8 victory over Hiawatha. They jumped to a first-period lead on two goals by Patterson and one each by Hopkins, Corkery and D. Sloan, with Hopkins getting two assists, and Pammett and P. Calberry one each. Stock hit the mark twice for Hiawatha and Cowie once, as the latter, Stock, Thompson and Paudash earned an assist apiece.

Each side counted twice in the second, L. Sellaby and Cowie scoring for Hiawatha, as G. Sellaby, Heafield and Stock got an assist each. For Lakefield, Pambett tallied from Heffernan and Patterson pulled a solo. Stock for Cowie and goals by G. Sellaby and Heafield finished it in the third for Hiawatha, while Patterson got two and D. Sloan one for Lakefield, Hopkins earning two assists and Calberry one. The losers drew seven of the 12 penalties, one a major to Heafield. Teams:

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The main event at the curling club this week is the annual Canada Packer's bonspiel.

Some 224 curlers representing clubs from all parts of Ontario will be here—112 on Wednesday and another 112 on Saturday. It has all the earmarks of being the outstanding bonspiel of the season.

Bonspiel chairman Fred Stenson and his committee in conjunction with Lionel Browne, manager of Canada Packers Co., are determined that this event will be so popular that next year's bonspiel may develop into something bigger.

The main prize is the beautiful Sterling Silver Canada Packers Trophy (value $300.00) and to each member of the winning rink goes a gold wrist-watch.

The entry list is closed and local curlers are requested to be on time. Late starts upset the draw, and it's rather annoying to your opponent.

RINK DID WELL

Congratulations to Dr. R. Clark's rink. To finish second in a 64 rink bonspiel is no mean effort. They won five of their six games at Oshawa last week.

C. Campbell, G. McGavin, B. Mortlock, Dr. R. Clark, skip.

We begin the second schedule this evening at seven and nine o'clock.

John Lee says, "Win your game on the eight end—concede one point to your opponent on the ninth end and then hold your own on the 10th end."

The winning skips Saturday afternoon were—H. Baptie, A. Lister, L. Symonds, V. Brown, B. Harrison and T. Hewitt. All rinks received chickens for prizes.

At night, A. Ingram and F. Batten skipped the winning rinks.

Junior Ski School Opens Unofficially At Kemp Hill

Unofficially the junior ski school, operated by the Peterborough Recreation Commission in conjunction with the Peterborough Ski Club, was opened Saturday at Kemp's Hill on the Warsaw road.

Toby Westbye, director of the junior school for the ski club, pointed out that the official opening will be this coming Saturday when buses will carry the skiers out to the hill. On Saturday, with the change in recreation directors, the arrangements for the buses hadn't been made.

Just the same, about 40 boys and girls jammed into cars arrived for their instruction, conducted by the veteran ski club members. For most of the two hours they just skied, enjoying themselves, waiting until next week for lessons in climbing, walking, stopping, falling and other phases of skiing.

Mr. Westbye said that this year the children 10 years through to Grade 8 pupils, will be charged a fee of $1 to join the school. This fee gives the children bus transportation for six Saturdays, free tows and a membership to the ski club.

More than 250 children are expected out at the school next Saturday. Since it's only about two weeks until the Southern Ontario junior championships, held this year at Kemp's Hill and Nassau, the young skiers will be wanting all the practice they can work in.

LANDY LOSES MILE TRIAL

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Miler John Landy, running at Olympic Park Sunday, suffered his first competitive defeat of the season in an 880-yard event but recorded a personal best time of one minute, 52.8 seconds for the distance.

He lost by three yards to Victorian champion Len McRae who established an Australian and Victorian record of one minute, 52.1 seconds. The previous best national time was one minute, 52.4 seconds.

Bisons Crush Hornets 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons pounded into undisputed leadership of the American Hockey League during the week-end, breaking a first place tie with Cleveland Saturday by downing the Barons 5-4 and putting away Pittsburgh Hornets 5-1 on Sunday.

The Barons shut out Providence Reds 4-0 Sunday.

Ed Slowinski of Bisons, rammed in his 22nd and 23rd goals of the season Sunday. Gaye Stewart, Steve Wochy and Don Marshall got the others for Bulldogs. Ray Timgren scored for Pittsburgh.

Fred Sherol, Cleveland's high-scoring defence man, drilled the Barons' first two goals. Ray Ross and Eddie Olson each tallied in the final two minutes of the game.

Ex-Boxing Champion Dies At Sunnybrook

TORONTO (CP) — William Edward (Bill) Turley, bantam boxing champion of Canada 1907-08 and active in Canadian veterans' affairs, died Sunday in Sunnybrook Hospital.

He was also Canadian featherweight champion in 1908 and bantam champion of the Midland counties in England in 1909. He lost out to Billy Condon for the British bantamweight championship in 1909.

Rangers Upset Red Wings 3-2 Behind Laprade

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edgar Laprade never liked the National Hockey League because, he said, it puts "muscle before brains." The 34-year-old centre, who left New York Rangers and big time hockey during the 1952 Christmas season, may be just the man coach Muzz Patrick needs to fire the Rangers into the Stanley Cup playoffs with an old pair of legs and a "good head on his shoulders." Laprade has been a key man with the fifth-place Rangers since he emerged from retirement early this month. He scored his first goal of the season Sunday night as the Rangers upset the league-leading Red Wings 3-2 in Detroit.

Laprade's goal gave the Rangers a 1-0 first-period lead and enough drive to hold off the Red Wings until the end. It was Rangers' first Detroit victory since Jan. 22, 1953.

LEAFS WIN

In two other games Sunday, the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs beat the last-place Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 and the fourth-place Boston Bruins edged the second-place Montreal Canadiens 3-2 before 19,635 Boston fans.

In two games Saturday, the Leafs blanked the New Yorkers 4-0 in Toronto and Canadiens edged the Bruins 2-1 in Montreal.

However, the Rangers didn't gain any ground on the Bruins. The Bruins are still in fourth place with 40 points. The Rangers are two points behind.

The Rangers were a far cry Sunday night from the team that lost to Toronto Saturday.

STILL HAS ABILITY

Laprade showed that he has lost none of the ability that marked him as one of the craftiest centres in the business.

"I felt good," said the Port Arthur smoothie. "My legs are good. My timing is coming back, too."

Laprade got the call to come back to the Rangers last Dec. 29 when leftwinger Ron Murphy suffered a fractured jaw in the famous battle with Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion.

Laprade started Rangers off Sunday night by beating Detroit goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk at 6:49 on a three-way play with Aldo Guidolin and defenceman Ivan Irwin.

Five minutes later, rightwinger Gordie Howe, who scored two goals, made it 1-1. However, Paul Ronty put the Rangers ahead at 15:13 and Wally Hergesheimer made it 3-1 at 8:17 of the second period. Howe got his second at 15:30 of the second but the Red Wings couldn't do a thing after that.

At Chicago, the Leafs scored three goals in the last period to beat the Hawks. It was Toronto's ninth win in 10 games against Chicago.

THIRD-PERIOD GOAL

The game went scoreless until the third period when Eric Nesterenko drove a shot past goalkeeper Al Rollins at 3:15 of the third period to give the Leafs a 1-0 lead.

Ted Kennedy and Harry Watson got the other Toronto goals. Al Dewsbury tallied for Chicago.

BREAKS DEADLOCK

At Boston, rookie Doug Mohns fired a goal over prostrate goalkeeper Gerry McNeil at 15:29 of the third period to give Bruins their victory. Mohns broke a 2-2 deadlock by forcing McNeil out of position and flipping the puck into the nets.

Other Boston scorers were John Peirson and Joe Klukay. Paul Masnick and Floyd Curry tallied for the Montrealers.

The Leafs humbled the Rangers Saturday before 12,869 fans. Watson, Tim Horton, Tod Sloan and Ron Stewart were the marksmen.

At Montreal, it was Geoffrion's goal late in the second period that broke a 1-1 tie and gave Canadiens the win over the Bruins.

Bert Olmstead counted on a rebound in the first period for Montreal and Dave Creighton scored for Boston early in the second.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday, when the Bruins travel to New York.

Decline To Act On Changing Olympic Site

LAUSANNE (AP) — Over the strong protest of the French member, the Olympic executive committee declined to take action Sunday on proposal that the 1956 games be taken away from Melbourne because of quarantine rules.

Armand Massard of France, vice-president of the committee, urged that the games be moved to another city on the grounds that if Australia is unable to hold the equestrian competition, Olympic rules will be violated.

It is an Olympic rule that all events must be staged at one site. Australia has announced it cannot stage the equestrian competition unless visiting countries conform with a national law that all horses except those from Britain, Ireland and New Zealand undergo a six-month quarantine.

Avery Brundage, president of the international Olympic committee, told a press conference he had received official notice from Melbourne organizers that Australia would not relax its quarantine law for the occasion.

The International Equestrian Federation, Brundage added, asked that the horse events be moved elsewhere. No suggestion as to the site was made.

Defence Strategy Pays Off Marlies Upset Guelph 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series have been placing their emphasis on offence. But Toronto Marlboros, the fifth best scoring unit among the league's eight teams, have been stressing defence. And the strategy is paying off.

The Marlboros, who have limited opposing clubs to 85 goals in their 32 games so far, moved into a first-place tie with St. Catharines TeePees Sunday by defeating the last-place Guelph Biltmores in Toronto. They also have a game in hand over the TeePees.

Toronto St. Michael's College Majors kept close behind the league-leaders by walloping Montreal Royals 7-2. It was the first Toronto visit for the Royals under the interlocking schedule which matches OHA teams with those in the Quebec Junior Hockey Association.

The Royals, who stand fourth in the five-team Quebec league, had an unsuccessful week-end. Galt Black Hawks, seventh in the OHA loop, dropped them 5-2 in Galt Saturday.

In the other Saturday game Kitchener Greenshirts held the TeePees to a 6-6 overtime tie.

CUBS GAIN WIN

Hamilton Cubs made it a lost week-end for the Quebec teams when they downed Trois-Rivieres Reds 4-1 in Quebec Sunday. It was the first win for the Cubs on their current road trip into the other province.

Sunday, the Biltmores came from behind to tie the score twice and wouldn't give up until the end.

Charlie Burns won it at 12:02 of the final period and Wally Maxwell added the clincher four minutes later. Dave Jackson and Billy Harris were the other Toronto snipers. Bob Attersley and John Gillis scored for Guelph.

St. Michael's had no trouble with the visiting Royals. Jim Logan and Dick Duff set the pace for the Collegians, each scoring two goals. The others went to Ken Linseman, Brian Anderson and Marc Reaume. Ed Eustace and Scotty Bowman were the Royal marksmen.

In Trois-Rivieres the Cubs spotted the Reds an early first-period goal. They knotted the count before the period ended, added the winner in the second session and wrapped up the scoring in the third.

Cummy Burton scored two goals to lead the Hamilton attack, Brian Kilrea and Joey Zorica rounded out the total. Gilles Matteau notched the Reds goal.

The Kitchener - St. Catharines clash was a see-saw affair that saw the lead change hands three times, Cec Hoekstra's goal with little more than two minutes of regulation time remaining tied the score for good. Barry Cullen bagged two goals for the TeePees, the others going to Jack Armstrong, Don McLean and Wimpy Roberts.

Buddy Horne and Graham Joyce fired two each for Kitchener. Gary Collins and Grieg Hicks added singles.

Neil McDonald and Eddie Switzer led Galt's attack against the Royals Saturday. Each counted twice. Ralph Markarian notched the other.

Al Viskelis and Walt Gardiner, a former Hawk, were the Montreal marksmen.

Hamilton meets the Canadiens in Montreal during the only junior action tonight.

Raiders Down Queen's

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Assumption College Purple Raiders never hit their stride Saturday night but handily downed Queen's University Golden Gaels 67-43 in their home opener of the intercollegiate basketball schedule.

Voyles Refutes Statements By Bob Snyder

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Carl Voyles of the Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football league said Sunday he recently confronted Bob Snyder, former coach of Calgary Stampeders, on charges Snyder made against Canadian football.

Voyles, who recently returned from a scouting tour in the United States, said he had to spend a lot of time in Alabama undoing damage caused by Snyder's statements.

He said the former coach of the Western Interprovincial Football Union team talked to players prior to the north-south bowl game at Mobile early this month.

NASTY COMMENTS

"He told them some pretty nasty things, saying our players had to be 'hopped' up for each game, that players paid three times the income tax as players in the States and that there was bitter feeling between the imports and Canadian players."

Voyles said that he later met Snyder and heated words were exchanged.

The coach said he talked to about 60 college players during the trip.

Ti-Cats Receive $31,595 Share

TORONTO (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats received $31,595 as their share of the net revenue from the Grey Cup game, the Big Four football union annual meeting was told Saturday.

Total net revenue amounted to $115,845 with the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union each getting $57,922.

After the Big Four deducted $1,050, Hamilton, who defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the final, received 55 per cent, amounting to $31,595. The other Big Four clubs each got $8,425.

Gross revenue amounted to $166,940 and total expenditures came to $51,094, leaving net revenue of $115,845.

Receipts from the 27,020 paid admissions were $142,915. The actual attendance was 27,313 but 293 entered on complimentary tickets.

Miscellaneous revenue totalled $40,000, including $20,500 for the TV rights, $12,000 for radio privileges, and $6,000 for the movie rights.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the great righthanded baseball pitchers of all time, was added to baseball's Hall of Fame 16 years ago today. Alexander did all his flinging for Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis in the National League from 1911 to 1930, winning the league pitching title in 1915.

Kitchener Negotiating With Sazio For Coach

KITCHENER (CP)—Officials of the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen senior football club Saturday confirmed rumors that they have been negotiating with Ralph Sazio of Hamilton as new coach of the twin-city ORFU entry.

"A verbal agreement has been reached," said B. F. Kearns, club president, "and we expect him in the city in the next few days to sign a contract."

Sazio would succeed Gerry Tuttle, who was playing coach last season and got the first-year team in the league finals. Tuttle is reported to be trying to land a playing spot with a Big Four club. Sazio would be a non-playing coach manager.

Better Business Bureau Plans To Oust TV Racket

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The television repair gyp, who caused set-owners and manufacturers such pocketbook pain in TV's early, free-wheeling days, is slowly being run out of business in the United States.

There are two big reasons:

1. A public education project backed by the Better Business Bureaux to wise up set owners to the wiles and gimmicks of the TV repair gyp.

2. A system of TV service organizations staffed by men trained in everything from electronics to human relations.

There are still plenty of gyps around, waiting to snare the unwary, however. They flourish chiefly in areas newly-opened to television.

"We've noticed a general improvement where television has been established for a period," a Better Business Bureau spokesman explains. "Usually, though, it takes about a year to get people acting sane about television and establishing standards of reliability."

TV gyps operate in many ways, Better Business Bureau officials state, and it is hard to establish any hard and fast rules on preventive methods.

Set owners, however, should be suspicious of any repair service organization offering to make calls at the alluring price of $3 or less.

LOAD ON EXTRAS

"Few repair men can afford to make calls at those prices," the BBB says. "TV sets are a lot different from radio and a lot more complicated. It takes time to locate the trouble and several tests may be necessary. It is very easy to lure people on with a cheap price, and then load on plenty of extras as parts or labor."

No set-owner should ever let a repair man take his equipment from the house for repairs without first establishing the reliability of the repair man and also receiving a receipt for the set. And no set-owner should permit repairs to be undertaken without first receiving a written estimate from the repair man on the cost.

Reputable dealers in television sets should be able to recommend a good repair service, although some shady dealers have been found who received kick - backs from dishonest repair services.

For several years, TV repair services closely tied up with two large manufacturers have been operating and other manufacturers and appliance dealers have been working in co-operation with many community groups to protect the public from the gyps.

Rev. J. Anderson Appointed Dean Of Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The Rev. John A. Anderson, Dean of Rupert's Land and rector of St. John's Anglican cathedral in Winnipeg, has been appointed Dean of Ottawa and rector of Christ Church cathedral here.

The Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Anglican Bishop of Ottawa, Saturday announced that Dean Anderson, 41, succeeds Dean H .H. Clark, bishop-elect of Edmonton.

Dean Anderson was born at Rathewell, Man., and educated at the University of Manitoba. He was ordained in 1937 and served parishes in Manitoba and in England and as a chaplain during the Second World War. He was awarded the Military Cross. He is first vice-president of the Canadian Legion.

Dean Anderson will assume his duties here in March.

Regina Reporter Awarded 8th Kemsley Scholarship

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Moon, 28-year-old reporter on the Regina Leader-Post, is awarded the eighth Kemsley Scholarship in journalism. He will spend a year in Britain gaining experience in the various offices of the Kemsley newspapers.

Announcement of the award was made by Frederick I. Ker, chairman of the Canadian section, Commonwealth Press Union. Object of the annual scholarship, also given in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, is to encourage an exchange of ideas and experience among British and Dominion journalists and to strengthen Commonwealth ties.

Candidates were required to be on the permanent staff of a Canadian newspaper, to be under 35 and to have five years newspaper experience. They undertake to return to their newspaper following the year in Britain.

SERVED IN RCCS

Mr. Moon was born in Moose Jaw, Sask., and is a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan. He served for year in the Royal Canadian Signals but the war ended before he could see overseas service.

He has been on the staff of the Regina Leader-Post since graduating in 1947 and has been doing political and legislative reporting for the last four years. He is the author of a book, "This Is Saskatchewan," published last year.

Selection of Mr. Moon was made by a representative committee of newspaper men under the chairmanship of Mr. Ker.

Nude Conference Suggested By Big Four

ALLAHABAD, India (AP)—The holiest of India's holy men suggested Saturday that the world's Big Four leaders assemble nude on Himalayan heights and there seek peace for the people of the troubled earth.

They believe India's Prime Minister Nehru—also nude—should preside at this proposed meeting of Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower, Premier Malenkov and Mao Tze-tung.

And if the lofty Himalayas are impractical they suggester an alternative—the burning ghats of Benares city where Hindu bodies are cremated.

The proposal came from the holy men known as Naga Sadhus who are regarded as having attained human perfection by discarding earthly desires and possessions, including clothes.

This is not the first nude conference to be suggested by the Naga Sadhus. Three years ago a leader suggested that Truman and Stalin should meet naked in the Himalayas—also to talk peace.

Declaration Of Faith Studied By Presbyteries

TORONTO (CP)—Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church in Canara are studying a "declaration of faith concerning church and nation" that has been drawn up by the church's general assembly.

The declaration will be finally dealt with when the general assembly meets in Toronto next June.

On the topic of "The Church and Tyranny," the declaration says:

"It is our duty to denounce every form of tyranny, and particularly every attempt toward totalitarianism, political, economical, or ecclesiastical, confronting it with steadfast resistance in the holy name of the Lord."

SERVICE TO STATE

On the church's service to the state, it says:

"The church must not merge or confuse her gospel with any political, economic, cultural or nationalistic creed. At the same time the church must not hold aloof from the affairs of the nation, for she must fulfill the ministry of her Lord in His redemptive oneness with humanity."

The civil government also has a duty toward the church—that of enforcing public peace and protection, guarding impartially the rights of every citizen, the declaration said

Fail To Get Reprieve For Seguin

OTTAWA (CP) — Counsel for Henri Seguin, convicted Cornwall slayer, failed Saturday in a last-ditch motion for reprieve.

Seguin, 29, is scheduled to be hanged early Tuesday for the murder of Leonard Hurd, Maxville taxi owner, Aug. 16, 1952.

Mr. Justice Walter Schroeder rejected a stay of execution motion introduced by Seguin's lawyers, Louis C. Assaly and Edward J. Houston. Both the Ontario Appeals Court and the Supreme Court of Canada have denied motions for a new trial.

HAVE NEW EVIDENCE

The lawyers asked for a stay of execution on the grounds that new evidence, just found, may prove that Seguin was in Winnipeg on the night of the Hurd slaying.

They said there are several persons in Winnipeg who believe they recognized pictures of Seguin as those of a man who spent some time in a Winnipeg rooming house in August 1952.

Seguin claimed he was in that city the night Hurd was found shot to death near Maxville.

Hydro Seeking Water Rights

TORONTO (CP) — Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro commission said Sunday night the commission will not purchase the Canadian Niagara Power Plant at Niagara Falls, Ont., but it is negotiating for rights to the water supply now used by the plant.

He was commenting on a report that the commission would take over the plant at the end of this month.

Mr. Saunders said the commission's giant power system now under construction at Queenston could produce twice as much power from the water now used by the Canadian Niagara plant.

Under the plan now being negotiated the commission would provide the plant with an amount of power similar to the amount it now produces in return for rights to the water supply.

Canadian Niagara sells about half its power in the United States and the rest in Ontario.

Nephton WI Study Family Relationships

NEPHTON — The Nephton W.I. held their monthly meeting with sixteen members present. Mrs. Craig, president, presided at the business session. A vote of thanks was given to the W.I. on behalf of the children for the Christmas parties and candy bags.

Fourteen members are taking a St. John First Aid Course.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to the conveners for the evening, Mrs. Gordon Waldon and Mrs. Wm. Jessup. The home economics subject was family relationship. The paper prepared by Mrs. Gordon Waldon and read by Mrs. Jessup, gave excellent advice for both man and wife. Mrs. Craig showed pictures on her projector of her trip to Bermuda and South Africa. Lunch was served by the lunch conveners, Mrs. Lindhorst and Mrs. Mathew.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVII. No. 14 — MONDAY, JANUARY 18, 1954

Main Street Topics

ROTARY SPEAKER

Mayor Norman Graham has been invited to speak to the noon luncheon meeting of the Campbellfor[illegible]ry club on Monday, February 15.

FALSE ALARM

Firemen were called to J. Fontaine's home, 160 Dunlop St., at 11.33 a.m. Sunday. However, it was a false alarm. What at first appeared to be smoke turned out to be steam coming from some firewood that was drying out.

CRUSHES FINGER

Frank Millard, 40, of 718 Cameron St., was given outpatient treatment Saturday night at Civic Hospital after crushing the fifth finger on his right hand in a car door. He was one of several people who were treated for minor hurts.

STILL NEIGHBORS

The snowy owl that surprised residents of the water trough hill on Highway 28 on the south-west outskirts of the city is still hanging around. What does he subsist on? One of his neighbors reported at noon today that he had caught a rabbit and was enjoying meat.

SWEAR IN COUNTY COUNCIL

The 21 members of Peterborough's 1954 county council will be sworn in at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the county council chamber. First order of business will be the election of a warden to succeed Warden Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock. Mayor Norman Graham has invited council to tea at 4 p.m. in the mayor's parlor.

USE MORE WATER

The water department of the utilities commission pumped 132,690,000 gallons of water into city mains last month, an increase of 790,000 gallons over December, 1952. The maximum rate of pumpage was 5,700 gallons a minute last month, compared with 5,275 during the same month in the previous year. The average rate was 2,970 gallons a minute last month, compared with 2,950 during December, 1952.

STILL TASTE IT?

Although residents who use water as a beverage claim that city water is more palatable than it was, the water department of the utilities commission is still adding 7.6 pounds of chlorine to every million gallons of water, as directed by the medical officer of health. General-manager W. Howard Powell advises that the unpleasant taste of the water was the result of the reaction of chlorine on algae. With colder weather, the algae have hibernated. Hence the improvement.

TO SPORTSMEN'S SHOW

Fish and Game Protective Association of Peterborough has offered to take twelve or thirteen members of Lakefield 4-H Forestry Club to the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto in March. The Association was one of the partners in the planning of the reforestation program at Nassau. Ken Best of the Department of Agriculture has received ten dollars from Hugh Plowman of the Fish and Game Protective Association as a contribution to the Lakefield High School's 4-H Forestry Club.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON

Weather permitting, Peterborough people will be able to see a total eclipse of the moon tonight. Most people will not be able to notice anything until 7.50 p.m. when the moon first contacts the umbra, or dark portion of the shadow. The total eclipse will come at 9.17 p.m. and the moon will be eclipsed by the earth's shadow for half an hour. By 11.14 p.m. it will be clear except for some slight shading and the phenomenon will be over long before 12.24 a.m., the official ending of the eclipse.

NEIGHBORHOOD PROJECT—Residents of the Wolsely-Bennett Sts. neighborhood, have built their own skating rink after their request to the city was turned down. Saturday night they held the first in a series of children's parties and all the children skated in costumes. Contest winners Rick Gardner, Murray Taylor and Susan Johnson warm their hands over the stove with Warren Smith (centre) while Tony Buhlman puts another stick on the fire. The rink, 40 by 80 feet, has lights and music as well as about a foot of ice.

City Accidents Blamed On Icy Streets

Despite icy, treacherous streets it was fairly quiet weekend for traffic accidents in Peterborough. Most of the collisions were caused either by lack of traction, lack of stop-signs, or both.

One of the more serious accidents involved two women drivers at the corner of Aylmer St. and Aberdeen Ave. early Saturday afternoon. Mrs. E. Mary Reid, 35, of 551 Aylmer was driving south on Aylmer when she met in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Grace Tate, 49, of 34 Benson Ave. The Reid car suffered damages estimated at $200, while Mrs. Tate's vehicle which ended up on a lawn on the south-west corner of the intersection was bashed $100 worth. There are no stop signs at either entrance to this intersection.

GIRL INJURED

An unplowed sidewalk contributed to a Saturday night traffic accident involving a pedestrian on Parkhill Rd. Geoffrey G. McDonald, 29, R.R. 3, Peterborough was proceeding downhill from Fairbairn on Parkhill. It was snowing and he failed to notice Marguerite Lancaster, 16, of 806 Fairbairn walking into the traffic.

Miss Lancaster was struck by the right fender of the McDonald car and thrown heavily to the road. She was taken to hospital by Nesbitt Ambulance Service and is being treated for undetermined spinal injuries.

Gerald W. Edwards, 29, R.R. 3, Peterborough may be charged for driving "without due care and attention" as a result of a $400 accident Saturday evening.

Edwards was proceeding south on Clonsilla Ave., to Ford St., and was travelling too far off the road on the east shoulder. He went off the road for 150 feet, plowed into a phone pole and damaged the wheels, grill and steering alignment of his car. He was treated for minor injuries to the chest and mouth.

NO STOP SIGNS

No stop signs at the corner of Stormont and Wolsely St., contributed to a two-car collision Sunday. William Quigley, 38, of 705 Gilchrist was travelling east on Wolsely St. when he was struck on the left front by a car driven by John Forth, 57, of 481 Bellevue St., travelling south on Stormont. Total damage was estimated at $50.

A parked car blocking visibility and poor traction were cited as causes for an accident at Dublin and George Saturday. Ernest W. Hayes 31, 253 Young St. turning left on George, around a parked car found himself in the path of a car driven by Irven Nutes, 21, 181 River Road heading north on George. Neither car could stop and total damage was estimated at $80.

Gas Department Of Utilities Shows Profit

While still operating on a narrow margin in order to supply customers with gas at a price as close to cost as possible, the gas department of the utilities commission showed a small profit in last year's operations for the first time since 1950.

After putting $107.52 in reserve against bad debts, the department showed a net profit of $56.61, with receipts of $195,756.39 and expenditures of $195,592.26.

INDUSTRY BUYS MORE

Last year the department sold a total of 63,661,100 cubic feet of gas, compared with only 54,312,300 sold in 1952. These figures include sales to local industries which bought more gas last year than ever before. In the November-December period alone 5,425,300 cubic feet of gas were bought by industry, an increase of 600,300 cubic feet in industrial consumption over the same period in 1952.

There were 1,749,871 pounds of bottled propane sold last year at a gross profit of $18,007.87, compared with only 984,699 pounds sold in 1952 at a gross profit of $11,740.32.

20.5 PER CENT INCREASE

Last month the department used 61,194 gallons of propane in the production of gas, an increase of 10,411 gallons or 20.5 per cent over the same month in 1952. There were 8,104,000 cubic feet of gas made, an increase of 519,000 cubic feet or 6.5 per cent. There were 32,547 gallons of gas bottled, an increase of 2,128 gallons or seven per cent.

Two new gas services were laid during December and one relaid.

Since 1947, the commission have spent $64,000 for capital expenditures for the gas plant. At the January 29 meeting of the commission, general-manager W. Howard Powell will report how much is considered necessary to cover the cost of capital expenditures this year in order that the commission can ask the city to issue debentures for the required amount.

Neighborhood In North End Builds Rink For Children

Their request for a city-operated outdoor skating rink turned down, residents of the Wolsely-Bennett Sts. area of the annexed portion of Smith township have built their own rink, complete with boards, public address system, music and hockey nets for their children's enjoyment.

"We approached the city about a rink for the kids up this way early in November," said Tony Buhlman, "but we were told that they couldn't do anything for us. Therefore we figured the best thing to do was take up a collection and start our own rink.

$2 EACH

These former township people started to canvass the district, collecting $2 from each family and "everyone we approached was in favor of it."

"We all figured something should be done for the children, we're so far from the city rinks at Inverlea park and McDonnel St." he added.

With a little money in hand they went to the old Stewart farm on Weller St. for some scrap lumber to be used for the rink boards and a small shack.

"We were told the used lumber was selling at $25 a 1,000 board feet, but after we told them what the lumber was for the wrecking company told us 'make sure you get enough'."

They did get enough. In fact they got enough to build a 40 by 80-foot rink and a small shack into which the neighborhood kids jam on a cold night. All this was done by the menfolk.

With the boards and the shack up, the next problem was lighting. But this wasn't a problem too long for Bill Harrison strung the lights on two sturdy poles erected by the utilities. The neighborhood then had a well-lit rink, comparable to any city rinks.

MUSIC TOO

But they wanted to go one better than the city. Buhlman rigged up a loud speaker and record player. Now the children skate to the latest jazz numbers and the good old-fashioned waltzes.

There was also a little problem of flooding, but it didn't last. They first asked the fire department for help, but this request was politely turned down. The men then turned on the garden hose and now they have enough ice, about a foot thick to last them until well into the spring.

These people believe in community projects and therefore Saturday night despite the cold and snow they held a costume party for the children. Rick Gardner, Murray Taylor and Susan Johnson won the prizes for the best costumes.

French Launch Kamkeut Attack

SAIGON, Indo - China (AP) — French Union forces launched an attack today near Kamkeut, in northern Laos, to block any Vietminh infiltration toward Vientiane, government seat of that Indo-China kingdom.

Light elements engaged in a series of clashes with the Communist-led rebel forces in the mountain region, the French said, and both sides suffered losses. No figures were given.

In another report today, the French said 82 Vietminh were killed and 32 captured in scattered actions in the Red river delta of north Indo-China.

A French spokesman said important military developments are expected soon in the Seno area of central Laos, where the Vietminh have concentrated five or six battalions. These are a part of the rebel force that struck across Laos in a surprise invasion last month.

20 People Drown On Pilgrims' Boat

ALLAHABAD, India (Reuters)—Twenty persons are believed to have drowned when a pilgrims' boat bound for a Hindu religious festival capsized near here today.

Five others are said to be the only survivors from the accident on the junction of the Ganges and Jumna rivers.

Install Stove To Warm Stray Dogs

Mayor Denies City Responsible; Up To Humane Society

Mayor Norman Graham today told The Examiner that the city engineer had installed a stove in the animal shelter on Rink St. But His Worship said upkeep of the shelter was the responsibility of the Peterborough Humane Society.

Mayor Graham said he had been in Ottawa on Thursday. On his return he read in The Examiner of conditions at the shelter, where lack of a stove had caused dogs to be kept in freezing temperatures.

His Worship then got in touch with City Engineer A. E. Chalmers, who immediately installed a stove in the shelter, "although this is actually the responsibility of the Humane Society," the mayor said.

UNDERSTANDING

"The dog pound was built to specifications of the Humane Society when Morley Powell was secretary, with the understanding that they would maintain and look after it," he stated. "It was also understood that the city was not to supply men or heat for the kennels.

"However, if it was as bad as was reported, I believe Mr. Menzies (Bruce Menzies, Humane Society inspector) should have come directly to me or to the engineer and this would not have been let go. We're not in the habit of allowing animals to suffer through wet and cold.

"I believe that if Mr. Menzies had spoken to us when the situation became as bad as it was, it could have been corrected by the new council. But I repeat, this is actually the responsibility of the Humane Society. The city makes an annual grant to the society, who are also one of the very few organizations permitted by the police commission to hold an annual tag day."

Y's Men Induct New Ottawa Club

Induction service for chartered members of the newly formed Ottawa Y's Men's Club, sponsored by the Peterborough club, were held Saturday in Ottawa.

Five Peterborough men, Don Harwood, Bill Moorhead, Cec Osburne, Ray Brown and George Moore, made up the induction team, with Mr. Harwood as chairman, and present president of the Peterborough club. The other four members are past presidents.

Clayt Pearce, international director, inducted the 21 charter members and Ted Callan, district governor, presented the charter. The Rev. Terence J. Finlay of Ottawa, was guest speaker. The first executive of the newly formed club are: president, Tom Smith; vice-president, Blythe Moore; secretary, James Dashney and treasurer, Bob Price.

Francis Finn Wins Skating Trophy

Francis Finn of 12 Kirk St., brought glory to the team of the Peterborough Figure Skating Club on Saturday by winning the novice man's challenge trophy at Stouffville arena.

Donnie Jackson of Oshawa, who is also a weekend member of the Peterborough club, won the junior men's competition and in the novice ladies' group Dorothy Kingston and Marilyn Clark placed third and fourth respectively. First and second places were won by Joan Kelly of Oshawa and Julie Giroux of Toronto's Granite Club, respectively.

Runners up of the Peterborough group in the latter class were Carol Smitheram (9th), Jean Anne Dobbin (10th), Carole Hollingsworth (11th) and Alda Lashmore (13th). In the junior ladies' group Joan Begley was the only Peterborough entrant; she placed fifth following Alexandra Rush, (1st), Toronto, and Joan Robb (2nd) of Oshawa.

Since Peterborough club members had only six days warning in which to participate at Saturday's Stouffville event, club professional Ede Kiraly and officials were pleased with the showing of the Peterborough group which had such short practice time. It was also their first competition against contestants of larger clubs.

Band Master At School A. Croasdale Dies

Albert Croasdale, director of the PCVS band and educator of many youngsters who first learned to play band instruments under his direction, died today in Sunnybrook hospital, Toronto, where he had been ill for some months.

Mr. Croasdale retired from the Canadian Army as bandmaster in 1947 and moved to Peterborough. He had been greatly impressed with Peterborough on the several occasions on which he visited here during the war. Mr. Croasdale has been the leader of the Army Service Corps band at Camp Borden. He came here with it during the Victory Loans drives. On those visits the band was heard in several concerts and also at many of the industrial plants.

Upon arriving here the first thing he noticed was the lack of youth training in any form of band or concert orchestras. The board of education at that time was also making a study of the question of whether there should be a band or orchestra at the PCVS. It finally decided on a band and Mr. Croasdale was engaged as conductor.

A fairly complete set of instruments were purchased by the board and Mr. Croasdale started practice early in September.

In the succeeding years this concert band has had much success. Mr. Croasdale seemed to have the very thing it takes for young people to get pleasure out of playing musical instruments. The band was a winner at the music festivals and played several concerts in other parts of the province. Mr. Croasdale also became trumpet master of the PCVS cadet band.

However he had a feeling that the way to obtain a high standard in the secondary school bands was by getting the boys and girls started at playing instruments in the public schools. So three years ago he organized a public school band. He secured the instruments on a rental basis from a musical instrument company and he in turn rented them out at a very small monthly fee.

In 1952, the concert band at PCVS was split into a junior and senior section. Candidates for band positions were more abundant.

Mr. Croasdale during the summer took courses to qualify him as a music instructor in the schools and the first year Kenner Collegiate opened he served as music instructor.

Mr. Croasdale was well qualified for his position as musical instructor. His studies in England made him proficient in all musical instruments, but his specialities were the piano, organ, oboe, french horn and saxophone.

Previous to his engagement here he had acted as bandmaster with the Ottawa Boys' band, the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps band, the Royal Canadian Army Medical band, the 1st Armoured Regiment and Camp Borden bands.

His previous appointment had been in Barrie.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

4 Townships Building $1,809,300

New Construction In City Lifts Total Above $6 Million

Building permits issued in 1953 by the four township adjoining the city amounted to $1,809,300.

The township totals were: Smith $365,000; North Monaghan $406,200; Otonabee $394,400; and Douro $643,700.

Peterborough city permits were reported at $4,853,892. Add to that the rural fringe building authorized during the year, and the total of the two areas was $6,663,192.

The bulk of the township permits were for new construction in what may be called the suburban band around the city, and may be accepted as the total bill last year for new construction, as indicated by permits.

Some of this authorized work was not begun last year, although that amount probably does not cut materially into the total new building that was expected to be done. One item in Douro was $35,000 for an addition to the South Beach Hotel, and another is for a motel on No. 7 Highway east of the city and in Otonabee, both deferred.

Some houses for which permits were issued toward the end of the year have been delayed in the breaking of ground probably by the tightening of loans until the new year.

The total of new work is taken from the figures of the building inspectors of the township. One interesting phase combined reports is the comparatively large amount of new buildings in the rural municipalities last year when set against the city's $4,853,892.

The aggregate of $6,663,192 may be considered in terms of the whole range of building materials required in new construction, apart from land values.

Members To Describe 4-H Club Activities

Peterborough Home and School Association has arranged for a discussion on CHEX Tuesday at 2:45 p.m. of the purposes and activities of the 4-H Clubs of Canada in general and of Peterborough county in particular.

Taking part in this exposition are Miss Barbara Mann of Smith on girls' homemaking and dairy calf clubs; Neil Whitfield, grain and beef clubs and the Queen's Guineas; and Bruce Hill of Norwood 4-H Club, tractor maintenance. He was one of the Peterborough winners in the provincial competition last fall.

Keith McIntyre of Otonabee, one of the club leaders, is also taking part in the program which has been drafted by Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative.

Temperature Drops

COBOURG (ENS) — Temperatures Sunday ranged from five below in Cobourg to ten below in the rural sections as the thermometer dropped after a brief spell of milder weather. It was not quite as cold as last week, however. Town streets were slippery on Saturday due to melting snow freezing as the temperature lowered in the evening. There were no accidents.

Car Shatters Verandah, Family Escape

"I thought it was an earthquake," said Mrs. Walter Drummond, of 122 Park St., as a 1949 Cadillac almost joined her in the living room.

In one of the most bizarre accidents of this or any other winter, a late-model car, driven by D. R. Simpkins, 136 Perry St., travelling south on Park St., careened out of control and made kindling of the verandah at 122. A "Now Parking" sign sprawled forlornly amid the debris.

It was a few minutes after noon and Mrs. Drummond was in the front room of the house, owned by M. Hollend, trying to lull her two-year-old, Edward, to sleep. Suddely there was ear-shattering crash and sounds of falling timber. She rushed to the door and found a badly-bashed car in a puddle of anti-freeze. Bits of chrome and glass were scattered about the house, which is located on Park at the northeast corner of Townsend Ave.

Mr. Simpkins, travelling south, was planning to turn left onto Townsend when he found he was in the path of a car moving north on Park. Trying to avoid a collision, he braked, skidded, did a full U-turn and drove the right side of his Cadillac into the porch.

Wilbert Bell, a carpenter, of 785 Water St., was one of the first on the scene. At the urgent request of M. Hollend, owner of the house partly rented to the Drummond family, he arrived with some scantlings to prop the sagging structure.

There were no eye-witnesses to the accident. Both Mr. Hollend and Mr. Drummond were at work, and Mrs. Drummond was inside with her four children.

Damage to the Simpkins car was estimated at between $500 and $600. The entire right side of the grille was caved in, the shatter - proof windshield was shattered, the right front headlight was broken and the front wheels thrown out of alignment. Mr. Simpkins was treated for bruises to the knees and assorted lacerations.

Pose Tattoo Winning Play In Drama League Festival

TORONTO (CP) — "The Rose Tattoo," a play by Tennessee Williams produced by the Toronto Playcraftsmen, was awarded top honors Saturday night as the Central Ontario Drama League ended its week-long festival at Hart House theatre.

The Calvert Challenge Trophy and a prize of $100 for the best presentation of a full length play was awarded to J. E. Dean, director of "The Rose Tattoo."

The president's awards for best performances went to Frances Tobias and John Sullivan, lead players in the Playcraftsmen production. In addition, the L. C. Tobias Awards for supporting roles were given to two other "Rose Tattoo" players, Audry Kniveton and Jack Cooper.

Adjudicator Graham Suter termed the direction by Mr. Dean "remarkable." He added that he was refraining from any criticism because he preferred to have the audience take away their own impressions of a fine play. The play was presented Wednesday.

The story of "The Rose Tattoo," concerns a vow made by lusty and superstitious Sicilian woman, to remain manless forever following the shooting of her husband. Her quest for love is resolved when she discovers that her husband was unfaithful to her when he was alive—thus justifying her breaking the vow.

Miss Tobias, also winner of the best actress award last year, played the lead as Serafina. Mr. Sullivan played the simple truck driver, object of Serafina's affection.

Prior to the awards Saturday, the Norvac Players, also of Toronto, presented "Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw.

Mr. Suter termed the play "delightful" but said there was a failure of interpretation by some members of the cast. These, he said, were generally the result of a lack of experience.

Competing groups for the Dominion Drama Festival to be held in Hamilton next spring will be chosen from among winners of regional festivals across the country.

Mrs. A. W. Smith introduced the study book, "Africa Steps Out". Mrs. Dowling read the new lists from the Dorcas department. Eleven members paid their fees.

Salvador Dali Finishing New Nuclear-Era Picture

By ROBERT L. GOWE

NEW YORK (AP) — With the ends of his moustache — which he describes as an "inspirational antenna" — edging slowly up to his eyebrows, Salvado Dali is busy finishing his latest work of art, "Soft Watch Exploding Into 888 Pieces."

This modern adaptation of the type of painting that first brought him fame symbolizes, he said, his immersion in the atomic-nuclear era.

The lean, dark-visaged artist is in New York to finish the painting which he refuses to let anyone view until the 888th piece of watch has been added.

At the St. Regis Hotel, he receives his callers wearing a brocaded silk dressing gown and carrying a plastic cane. He shows off several books on nuclear fission to prove he is vibrating fully with the atomic age.

As for "Soft Watch Exploding Into 888 Pieces," Dali reports he is painting it in tune with cosmic emanations that come to him through his special antenna and others sources. He doesn't altogether understand it himself.

GAY AND BEAUTIFUL

"These books on nuclear fission and such matters stimulated my imagination," he said. "I am trying to visualize in fantastic moves the swirling proton and neutron world — the element of nuclear physics.

"It will not be a representation of something awful, but gay and beautiful. It will not represent practical power, but beauty."

Of his celebrated moustache antenna, he says seriously: "The most creative moments of my life have been since it got to this length.

"This is not new, there were people in the time of the Renaussance who had similar experiences. La Porta, for instance, a writer of those times, told about inspiration received from his sensitive moustache. When my moustache reaches to my eyebrows, it will stimulate both the brain and the imagination."

Find Quiet Security Policy Works Best: Canadian Jurist

NEW YORK (CP)—A Canadian jurist told an international conference of legal experts Saturday the Canadian government has found it desirable to keep publicity to a minimum in administering its internal security policy.

Mr. Justice Ivan Rand of the Supreme Court of Canada addressed the conference on "Community Security vs Man's Right to Knowledge" held in connection with the bicentennial of Columbia University.

Outlining the government attitude toward Communists and others it employs "whose minds may be tainted with hostile purposes," he said that while such persons cannot be permitted to engage in vital activities, they should neither be "treated as outcasts" nor be denied "the privilege of remaining and participating in the neutral life of the country."

NO SIGN OF DEFECTS

"The individual is not subjected to public exposure which, whatever his guilt or innocence, might destroy his standing in the community; and when the case is intelligently dealt with, as by transferring him to other departmental work, he may be enabled to give to the country, in purely civil activities, service of high value."

Mr. Justice Rand added that "there has been no evidence" that such policy has shown "serious weaknesses or defects."

Eddie Choong Wins Singles Championship

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP) — A pint-sized human ball from the land where the rubber trees grow bounced all over the court Sunday to win the men's seeded singles championship of the Strathgowan 10th annual international invitation tournament.

Eddie Choong, 23-year-old law student from Penang, Malaya, defeated the Canadian champion, Don Smythe of Toronto, 15-11, 15-4 in an exhibition of screaming volleys and court gymnastics.

A crowd of 1,000 watched the finals of this premier Canadian tournament—the last, according to Stuart Lawson, president of the Strathgowan Badminton Club and organizer of the competition since its inception in 1943. Mr. Lawson announced that the tournament had outgrown the facilities and it was physically impossible to hold anther under the same conditions.

SMYTHE FALLS APART

Smythe, 29-year-old paint salesman, forced Choong to play several rallies before he allowed the first game point. But in the second, Smythe fell apart and Choong made 13 points before the Canadian scored one.

"Eddie just started to roll too fast," Smythe said later. "And I made too many errors. Some days you can't make a nickel."

Choong, untrained in the game and undisputed as the world's best, said he would rate Smythe "among the top five in my own standards."

Eddie and Judy Devlin of Baltimore lost out to brother David and Ethel Marshall of Buffalo 9-15, 15-10, 15-1 in the mixed doubles.

WINS WOMEN'S SINGLES

Peg Varner, 26-year-old physical education instructor at Mt. Holyoke Ladies' College, near Boston, won the women's seeded singles event by defeating Marjorie Shedd of Toronto, Canadian champion.

Miss Shedd and Joan Hennessy of Toronto won the women's seeded doubles trophy by defeating Ethel Marshal and Bea Massman of Buffalo 15-8, 18-16.

Vic Van de Van of Detroit won the men's open singles title by downing Glen Thompson of Toronto 15-4, 15-3. The women's open event was taken by Barb Bell of Toronto who defeated Norma Pritula of Detroit 11-4, 11-5.

Jack Martin and Herb Kirkconnell of Toronto won the men's open doubles championship by defeating Vic Van de Van and Vic Pritula of Detroit 18-15, 15-8.

Torontonians Rhoma Swarbrick and Lorraine Naylor won the women's open doubles over Mrs. Pritula and Louis Kirkconnell of Toronto 15-5, 18-15.

Brundage Plans Visit To Austalia Games Site

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Avery Brundage, American president of the International Olympic committee, may make a flying visit to Australia in the next two months to check on the organization of the 1956 Melbourne games.

"I'm seriously considering it," the top Olympic executive said today. "If I go it will be before the IOC meeting in Athens in May."

The last obstacle in Melbourne's fight to keep the games apparently was eliminated Sunday when the Olympic executive committee declined to take action on a proposal to move the event elsewhere.

Angelo Bolanaki, Greek member of the IOC general committee, had suggested a change in site because of Australian quarantine laws which make it impossible to hold equestrian competition there.

The executive committee, which cannot make decisive moves but can merely recommend to the IOC referred the equestrian issue back to Melbourne for "comment and advice."

This followed disclosure by Brundage that Australia officially had advised the Olympic committee that the country would not change its quarantine laws for the games.

Also, Brundage said, the International Equestrian Federation had suggested the competition be moved to another place.

Australian laws prohibit entrance of horses which have not undergone a six-month period of quarantine.

Brundage, said 17 cities—including Toronto—have applied for the 1960 Olympics, which will be awarded in 1955.

Georgas Takes Combined Titles

HUNTSVILLE (CP)—Jim Georgas of Owen Sound won the alpine and nordic combined titles and also took the over-all, four-way championship of the Huntsville Ski Club's invitational meet here during the weekend.

The 27-year-old Georgas, picked as a spare on Canada's 1952 Olympic team, won the cross-country run Saturday and followed with a first-place finish in the downhill Sunday. He also placed second in the slalom and third in the jumping.

Chuck Austin of Sudbury was second in the four-way competition and in the nordic combined, which covered the cross-country and jumping.

Young's Point Gets Win Against Apsley

YOUNG'S POINT (ENS) — Friday night's EPHL game in Lakefield arena saw Young's Point romp to a 12-3 win over Apsley. It was a fast contest, studded with 11 penalties, including a misconduct and a match misconduct.

Play was fairly even during the first 10 minutes, with both goalies showing up well. S. Jeff got the gate for tripping, and seconds later W. Houle was put off for cross-checking, and given a 10-minute misconduct as well. Young's Point opened the scoring on a solo effort by D. McIsaac. Their second goal came as G. Henry completed a passing play by J. Northey and J. Barcroft, and J. Blewett made it three in a row. E. Crough was banished for kneeing.

Penalties again were plentiful in the second period. Houle got the nod for elbowing, and E. Crough again went off for kneeing. B. Evans followed for holding the puck. While both teams were playing a man short, J. Blewett got his second goal of the night on a pass from D. Heard. D. Jeff was waved off for elbowing, and Young's Point broke into the scoring again with three goals in the last four minutes. Goals were D. McIsaac (D. Heard), J. Fawcett (D. McIsaac), and D. McIsaac (J. Fawcett).

The final frame was wide open as Apsley attempted a comeback. Blewett made it 8-0 for the home team and J. Murray (W. Houle) netted Apsley's first one. McIsaac chalked up his fourth goal on a pass from D. Heard a few seconds later. Tempers flared about the halfway mark of the period as E. Crough was given a holding penalty. He refused to enter the penalty box and was sent off for the remainder of the game with a match misconduct. The only other penalty of the period went to B. Evans for charging.

The remainder of the period saw goals by Barcroft (Blewett, J. Northey) B. Shearer (Blewett), and D. Heard for Young's Point. A. Wagner (W. Tucker) and B. Walling (W. Houle) got Apsley's other goals.

Young's Point: Goal, Hill; defence, B. Evans, B. Shearer; centre, D. Heard; wings, D. McIsaac, J. Fawcett; alternates, J. Barcroft, G. Henry, J. Northey, C. Russelle, B. Shearer, R. Freeburn, J. Blewett, R. Northey, G. Spencely.

Apsley: Goal, J. Hickson; defence, J. Murray, D. Darling; centre, S. Jeff; wings, W. Houle, B. Walling; alternates, K. Brown, W. Tucker, D. Jeff, T. Wilson, A. Wagner, E. Crough.

Nine Skaters Seek Laurels For Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine young Canadian blade experts from Toronto, Ottawa and Calgary will seek laurels for Canada at the world figure skating championships in Oslo next month.

Charles H. Cumming, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, today announced that the team will be Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden last year's Canadian and North American pair-skating champions.

This Toronto Skating Club partnership missed the world's championship by a fraction of a point last year and "thus we are looking forward to great things this year," Mr. Cumming said.

Seeking honors in the men's division will be a three-member team consisting of Charles Snelling of Toronto's Granite Club, runner-up in last year's senior Canadian championships; Peter Dunfield, Toronto Skating Club, who is getting back into competition after a short absence; and Douglas Court, also of the Toronto Skating Club, 1953 junior champion.

Canada hasn't had a world figure-skating champion since Barbara Ann Scott scored her sensational victory in 1947. The United States took top honors for both men and women last year.

Canada this year is banking heavily on four girls, two from Toronto, one from Ottawa and the other from Calgary.

On the Oslo team will be Barbara Gratton, Toronto Skating Club star, who won the 1953 Canadian senior women's championship.

With her will be Sonja Currie of Calgary's Glencoe Club, last year's junior champion; Carole Jane Pachl of Ottawa's Minto Skating Club, and Ann Johnston of Toronto's Granite Club. The latter two placed high on the list in the 1953 Canadian meets.

The world skating meet is scheduled for Oslo Feb. 15-19. But while Canada's skaters are in Europe, they will also compete in the Paris festival De La Glace, Feb. 26-27, and take part in many exhibitions.

On their return to Canada, they will move to Calgary for the 1954 Canadian figure skating championships, March 11-13.

Apsley Defeated

YOUNG'S POINT — (ENS) — Saturday night Apsley played host to Young's Point, as the visitors took a 6-4 win in a clean, rugged contest. Blewett opened the scoring and Evans received the first penalty for tripping. Shortly after he returned to the ice, D. Heard (Henry) made it two in a row for Young's Point. Apsley's only counter of the first frame came with W. Houle scoring from G. Watson.

In the second, the pace quickened, with both goalies handling some difficult shots. D. Heard scored for the visitors, unassisted, but Wagner retaliated on a pass from W. Tucker. Young's Point netted two more, B. Shearer sinking a pass from R. Freeburn and J. Darling beating goalie Hales in the final minute of the period.

The third frame got underway with a goal by G. Henry. W. Tucker got Apsley's third goal and two minutes later D. Heard and K. Brown went off together for high-sticking. Play roughened somewhat, and S. McNaughton got the nod for tripping. Shortly after, E. Crough was given a tripping penalty, but no goals were scored while the teams were short-handed. The final score came as A. Wagner got his second counter of the game, making the final score 6-4 for Young's Point. Next contest takes place Tuesday night, as Young's Point meet Lakefield in the Lakefield arena.

Young's Point: goal, Hill; defence, Evans, Shearer; centre, Heard; wings, McIsaac, Henry; Alts.: R. Freeburn, J. Northey, R. Northey, C. Freeburn, Darling, Blewett, McNaughton

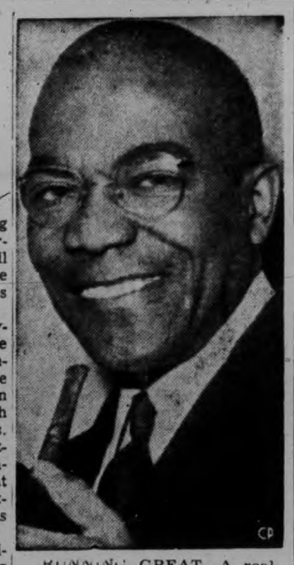
Apsley: goal, Hales; defence, Murray, Brown; centre, Watson; wings, Houle, Walling; Alts.: S. Jeff, D. Jeff, W. Tucker, Wagner, Crough, D. Tucker.

Referee, L. Williams; linesman, B. Delahaye.

BRECHEEN NAMED COACH

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen's big league pitching career, all of it in St. Louis came to an end Saturday with announcement by Baltimore Orioles of his removal from the playing roster to become their coach.

The 39-year-old Brecheen will be in charge of the bullpen for the Orioles.



RUNNING GREAT—A realistic attitude towards track and field in Canada is urged by Dr. Phil Edwards, one of Canada's former running greats. Dr. Edwards, an Olympic runner in the 1920s and 1930s and now attached to the veterans' hospital in St. Hyacinthe, Que., told a Toronto coaches' clinic the immediate need is adequate coaching. He called for more provincial and federal support for athletics in the provision of playgrounds, coaches and tracks.

Saints And Mark St. Take Midget Contests

St. James beat Park St. 7-3 as Mark St. downed George St. 5-2 in midget Church Hockey League games Saturday. Knox bantams won 3-1 from All Saints, while peewee play saw George St. take St. George's 3-1, and St. John's gain a 6-1 verdict over Park St.

For St. Jame's midgets, Rose got two and Griffin and Elmsley one each in the first, Kimball and Rowe having an assist each, as Robinson scored for Park St. Kent got one for the latter next heat, Huffman tallying for Saints. In the third, Kimball and Griffin scored for them, Huffman and Hurley each earning an assist, while Walling scored from Robinson.

Moffitt notched a goal in the second for Mark St. after McInroy got one in the third and Dinsdale one next heat for George St. The third saw Mark St. hit the mark four times, Grills twice, and Jim Harding and English once each, with Grills also getting an assist.

A CLOSE FRAY

Foy counted the lone bantam goal for All Saints in the first. Reid tallied twice for Knox next heat, Falkner and Parks getting an assist each. Wells wound it up in the third.

Black in the first, and Gatfield and Rowley in the third were peewee marksmen for George St., as it counted for St. George's in the initial inning. Batley from Crobett was the lone Park St. peewee counter in the third period of their game. Meantime, Dalliday scored for St. John's in the third, and he and Sedgwick and Lewis lit the lamp next period, Willison helping once. In the third, it was Dalliday and Sedgwick on solo thrusts. Play was generally clean throughout the church tilts at Civic.

FIGHT ENDS IN DRAW

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Italo Scortichini, a 3-to-1 underdog, battled Carmen Basilio, top contender for Kid Gavilan's welterweight title, to a draw Saturday night in a nationally televised boxing match.

Scortichini weighed 152¾, Basilio 149¼.

Basilio carried the fight to Sortichini most of the time, except when the Italian suddenly stopped his back-pedalling and charged in for a flurry. Italo gained the draw by pouring it on in the late rounds, when Basilio appeared to tire.

Hot Bulldogs Beat Out Owen Sound 5-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There must be a few teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series wondering what ever made them vote Windsor Bulldogs into the league.

A mediocre team on the road, the Bulldogs are practically unbeatable on home ice. Many a team this season has been riding a hot streak only to be cooled off when they play in Windsor. The most recent were Owen Sound Mercurys.

The Mercurys were just starting to pull away from the second-place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. But Saturday the Bulldogs upset the Mercurys 5-3 in Windsor and enabled Kitchener, who defeated Chatham Maroons 5-1 in Kitchener the same night, to again threaten the Mercurys' hold on first place.

The Dutchmen are only two points behind first place but Owen Sound may get some consolation from the fact that they have played one game less.

In the only other league game Saturday Hamilton Tigers took a 6-2 home-ice decision from Stratford Indians to remain in a third-place deadlock with the Bulldogs. But again, Windsor has one game in hand over the Tabbies.

In Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Saturday, the Greyhounds whipped Pembroke Lumber Kings 8-4 to remain three points ahead of Sudbury Wolves in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Sudbury kept in contention by defeating North Bay Trappers 6-2 in North Bay the same night. The Lumber Kings bounced back Sunday in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to shut out the Indians 3-0. The victory moved Pembroke to within one point of third place in the NOHA standings.

The Bulldogs commanded the Mercurys all the way in Windsor Saturday. Gord Haidy scored two goals to supply the big blast for Windsor. Frank Bathgate, Lyle Wiseman and Gary Gordon added singles. Buck Forslund, Doug Gillespie and Herb Carnegie were the Owen Sound marksmen.

SCHOLES PACES ATTACK

The Dutchmen had no trouble with the sixth-place Maroons. George Scholes led the Kitchener attack with two goals. Jack McKenzie, Don Oberholtzer and Ken Laufman netted the others. Ed Didone bagged Chatham's goal.

Hamilton built up a 3-0 lead against Stratford by the end of the second period and coasted the rest of the way. Lloyd Ferguson, Bill Hammond, Gord McGinn, Hub Anslow, Eddie Busch and Al Buchanan shared goals for the Tigers. Dinny Flanagan and Herve Dejordy scored for Stratford.

Kitchener has a chance to draw into a first-place tie when they meet the Mercurys at Owen Sound Tuesday. Chatham at Windsor will complete the action for the night.

The Greyhounds are at North Bay in the NOHA tonight.

Big 4 Football Union Urges Keeping 8-Man Import Limit

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Big Four football union Saturday set a course right down the middle on the question of more or fewer imports and at the same time took a big step forward to provide telecasts of the East's major football games.

It decided to recommend to the Canadian Rugby Union that the eight-man import limit be retained but with three important changes. It actually would decrease and increase the number of Americans in the Canadian game.

For its TV policy it has agreed, subject to final details to be worked out with the CBC and any sponsor, to allow telecasts of every big four game with the home team's area blacked out. This restriction has been set so that attendance will not be affected and will apply also to any area where another Big Four game is scheduled that same day.

TWO "CANADIAN" IMPORTS

On the import problem it agreed to urge that replacements be allowed for any reason of up to four imports until the last two games of the regular schedule and that each team be limited to two "Canadianized-Americans".

These are Americans who become non-imports after playing four consecutive seasons.

The other change is a recommendation that each club get down to its limit of eight imports by Sept. 1 instead of Oct. 1. It is a move to reduce expenses by carrying less imports.

In the case of Canadianized-Americans the Big Four agreed to permit Montreal and Ottawa to use three, one more than Toronto and Hamilton, because of their difficulty getting an adequate number of good Canadians.

Delegates at the closed session argued for hours on the import question, seeking recommendations that would be fair to all players and suitable to the West. The western teams have been reported in favor of recommending to the CRU that the import limit be increased to 12 and scrapping the four-year rule.

WEST APPROVES

The president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union and team officials expressed general approval of the recommendations. However, they put off their general blessing until the WIFU annual meeting at Regina next weekend.

Walter Sprague of Edmonton, WIFU president, said he thought the recommendations were "all very good." The WIFU recommendations probably "will be very similar."

Montreal and Ottawa sought to have the Big Four go along with the higher limit and repeal the four-year rule, but the strong opposition of Hamilton and Toronto forced the compromise solution.

In adpting it, the delegates felt it had met the criticism that the unrestricted number of former imports each club could have was an unfair handicap against the Canadian players.

The import problem will be submitted to the CRU on the basis that it be tried out for a two-year period.

Agreement was reached on continuing the present 14-game schedule, but no two teams will have to play each other more than five times. It was also decided to increase from 35 to 40 the number of players each team could control but a team could dress only 26.

6 Skiers Leave For Austria

MONTREAL (CP)—Captain Ernie McCulloch and five members of the Canadian alpine ski team left Montreal by air Sunday for Austria.

The Canadians will train with Austrian ski squads for three weeks before travelling to Are, Sweden, for the world championship ski events next month.

Canada's 12-member team is entered for the downhill and slalom events.

With McCulloch were Mrs. Pat Ramage, team manager, of Brantford; Ann Heggtveit, Ottawa; Peter Kirby, St. Jovite, Que.; Art Tommy, Ottawa; and Bill Stevens of Rossland, B.C.

Canada's two top women skiers, Joanne Hewson and Lucille Wheeler, have been in Austria training since the middle of December.

McMaster University Kicked Out Of College Football League

TORONT (CP)—McMaster University was virtually kicked out of senior college football at a meeting of the intercollegiate athletic executive here Saturday.

Queen's University, supported by the University of Toronto and the University of Western Ontario, led the fight to have the Hamilton team ousted from the league, thus reverting the Senior Intercollegiate League to a four-team loop.

Only McGill dissented and it will take the matter back to its own athletic board. To have McMaster ousted the other three colleges officially must get McGill's sanction but it was generally considered the McMaster cause is doomed.

The ouster action must also be ratified by the intercollegiate governors but this has only been merely a formality in the past.

POOR SHOWING

McMaster Marauders had a poor season last year, their first in the league. They failed to win a game and drew poor crowds at home and on the road.

Ivor Wynne, athletic director at McMaster, said he couldn't understand the feelings of the other members of the league.

"We were admitted as a full-fledged member with no strings attached," he said. "We had a tough year, but Western didn't win their first year in the league. And look at what they've done to the traditional rivals, won eight of the last 10 championships."

A spokesman for the athletic board of Queen's was quoted as saying:

"A five-man league isn't practical. Nobody wants to drop McMaster, but what other course is there? We have to have a home game with Toronto or be up against it financially. This could even force us out of college football altogether."

Last year's schedule did not give Queen's a home date with Toronto, the league's big money-maker.

Faye E. Darling Marries Bill Rerick Of Cleveland

The wedding of Faye Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David John Darling, of Young's Point, to Mr. Willis (Bill) Pipher Rerick, son of Mrs. Rerick and the late Mr. Larry Rerick, of Cleveland, Ohio, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, with a lovely background setting of white 'mums and ferns.

The double ring ceremony was performed by a friend of the family, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, of Peterborough. Wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Fitzgerald, of Selwyn, aunt of the bride. Prior to the bride's entrance, Mrs. Raymond Jackman, of Lakefield, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and during the service sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace, fashioned with closely moulded bodice of lace. The low portrait neckline was filled in with net to the neckline. The very bouffant skirt was formed of handkerchief points edged with lace. Her fingertip veil of fine English tulle illusion was caught to a tiny Juliet cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white baby 'mums centred with a white orchid.

Attendants were Miss Betty Scollard, of Peterborough, as maid of honor, and Miss Ruth Richards, of Windsor, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. Their dresses were waltz length bouffant gowns of blue taffeta, and they wore matching feather bandeaux, and carried nosegays of yellow 'mums centred with blue iris.

Attending the groom was Mr. Roger V. Dunham, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, and ushers were John Darling, brother of the bride, and Robert Merrett, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The reception was held in the parish hall. Mrs. Darling received wearing a gown of mink taupe crepe and lace with a feathered hat and dark brown accessories. Her corsage was white roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a sequin-trimmed two-piece rose satin suit with a pink and blue sequin hat, white gloves and black faille purse. Her corsage was white roses.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride chose a two-piece wool dress of tornise brown and winter white, a squirrel cape jacket and dark brown and gold accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The couple will live at 1283 Plainfield Rd., South Euclid, Ohio, during the winter months and in the summer they will live at the groom's place of business, Forest Hill Lodge, near Burleigh Falls.

Rush Point Club Reviews Year

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The Rush Point Devotional and Handicraft Club held its first meeting since the holiday season, Friday night at the home of Mrs. Archie Menzies. Mrs. C. Curtis presided. During the worship period, the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Menzies, and prayer was offered by Mrs. Earl Pollock. Mrs. Curtis gave a reading, "One human race."

The treasurer, Miss Roberta Cook, presented the financial report for 1953, which showed a credit balance of $11.25. Among the expenditures were donations of $5 to the British-Dutch Relief Fund and $10 to the piano fund. Cheer boxes and flowers were sent to shut-ins at Christmas. There were 11 meetings held during the year with an average attendance of 37.8.

It was decided to make a quilt for a family who recently lost their home by fire. Donations of clothing and food were also requested to be left at the home of Mrs. C. Curtis. An invitation was accepted from Mrs. W. Embleton to hold the next meeting ot her home, February 12. The election of officers will take place then.

Mrs. Curtis, as requested by two recipients of cheer boxes, thanked the club on their behalf.

Lunch was served and a vote of thanks extended to the hostess.

Marlene Doxsee Bride Of Edgar A. Naish

In St. James United Church, at seven o'clock Friday evening, Helen Marlene Doxsee and Edgar Albert Naish, both of Peterborough, were united in marriage by a ceremony performed by the Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten.

White 'mums and ferns were the setting at the altar. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Charles M. Renaud, organist, and during the signing of the register she played "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. Elwood Doxsee and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Naish. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. James Bell.

A dress in mint green shade, styled with full skirt and tight-fitting bodice, was the bride's choice and she wore brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Bell was in a similar dress of pale pink and wore pale blue accessories and corsage of white baby 'mums.

When leaving later to honeymoon in the United States, the bride was wearing a pale blue knitted suit, a beige coat and brown accessories and her going-away corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Naish will live at 132 Sophia St.

Re-elect Officers At Church Vestry

OMEMEE (ENS)—The annual vestry meeting of St. James church, Emily, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McConnell.

The evening began with a turkey banquet. Community singing, led by the rector, with Mrs. McConnell at the piano, followed.

The vestry meeting was opened by the rector. The financial report showed an income of $1,173.65 with expenses $801.96. Reports by the Ladies' Guild, Social club and Sunday school showed a successful year.

New vases for the altar, frontals, cruets and a pix for Holy Communion had all been obtained and dedicated by the rector. A new credence table is being made, the gift of the Sunday school.

The rector re-appointed his warden, Boyd Windrew. Other officers elected were: People's warden, Nelson McConnell; secretary-treasurer, Ken Strain; sidesmen, T. Middleton, J. L. Faulkner, W. Magee, H. McCall; Synod delegate, Walter Magee. Discussions followed on the improvement of the church grounds and a new hall.

A presentation was made to the organist, Mrs. J. L. Faulkner. The rector closed with the benediction.

Couple Still Live In House Married In 50 Years Ago

CAVAN (ENS)—In the same house where they were married on January 14, 1904, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burns celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a family dinner.

Mrs. Burns, who was Gertrude Gardiner, before her marriage was a daughter of Matthew Gardiner and Jane Carr, who were early pioneers and more than 90 years ago bought the home where Mr. and Mrs. Burns now live. It is probably the oldest house now in use in this part of Cavan township and dates back 111 years, when it was built by Thomas Whitfield, who brought education to this locality in 1843. Besides the house he built the first schoolhouse, known as Whitfield's school, and taught there 20 years. Since the house came into the Gardiner possession in 1866, it has been lived in by various members of the Gardiner family.

Mr. Burns was also of early pioneer stock and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burns of Centreville, Ont. They later moved to a farm on the seventh line of Cavan.

COURTSHIP

A courtship was carried on when the young folks attended "patron" meetings in Whitfield's school-house and "sugaring off" parties in the neighbourhood. The wedding was performed in the presence of 30 guests at the Gardiner home. The Rev. William Johnston of Grace Presbyterian church, Millbrook, performed the ceremony.

The bridesmaid was Miss Clara Stewart of Otonabee and the groomsman was George Mullen, of Smith township. Miss Stewart later married John Whittington and they both attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration. Mr. Mullen died several years ago.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Burns went to live on the farm on the seventh line of Cavan, now owned by Mr. A. Coyte. They next made there home for a time in Peterborough and later in Otonabee where they lived till they moved to their present home about 10 years ago.

Their family presented them with a pair of upholstered easy chairs. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Burns gave them a three-storied wedding cake. They also received gifts from Grace Presbyterian church, Millbrook, of which they are both members and where Mr. Burns holds the position of Clerk of the Session. Gifts were also received from the Sunday school of which Mr. Burns is superintendent, from the Ladies Aid of Grace church, of which Mrs. Burns is an active member, and from the Community club. Messages of congratulations and good wishes were received from their many friends and neighbours.

GUESTS PRESENT

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Burns, Grant, Harold, Joe and Keith, Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Burns and Ruth, Otonabee, Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Beverley, Bonnie, Mary Ellen and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orde, Gail and Sheila, Peterborough and Mr. and Mrs. John Whittington, Peterborough.

Mrs. Burns has one brother, Harry Gardiner, living in Cavan, and Mr. Burns has two brothers, Walter of Peterborough, and Ormie of London, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns are enjoying good health and both are active. They have three sons, one daughter and eleven grandchildren.

Colored Slides European Trip

Colored slides of her travels last summer through the British Isles and Europe were shown by Miss Marion Parks on Friday night to the Mr. and Mrs. Club of Mark Street United church.

A number of the club members said they were the best of their type they had ever seen.

Some 30 members attended the club's regular meeting in the Sunday school room.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Laing led in a service of worship and prayer. Samuel Castle sang the Lord's Prayer.

Miss Parks showed her travel slides, and group games completed the entertainment.

Mr. Allan Coones, president, was in the chair during the business session. He introduced several new members.

Lunch was served by the executive members. The meeting closed with the benediction.

DOROTHY DIX

Thinks She'd Be Better Off Away from Man

DEAR MISS DIX: Four years ago I began going with Lew. Shortly after, we set up housekeeping as man and wife. Previously, Lew had his own apartment and I had mine. Since we've been living together he's never offered to pay any part of the living expenses—that all come out of my salary. He has never mentioned marrying me, though he had been married twice before. The unsettled situation has finally gotten me so discouraged that I plan to start all over in another city. I have no family, neither has he. We are both in our early thirties, so should be able to know our own minds, but every time I try to solve the problem, it seems to get more involved.

BETTY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That's the difficulty with problems; at close range they always appear insoluble, or in maze-like confusion. From any possible angle with which your difficulty is faced, the answer is the same: break up with the man and get out on your own again, preferably in another city. Morally, the setup is wrong—a fact you apparently recognize quite well. Practically, it's futile; you are having all the financial responsibility of your menage, with none of the security of a wife.

LIVING ON PROMISES

You're living on day-to-day vague promises, or commitments, not one of which will materialize. When you tell Lew that you're leaving, he'll probably make a fuss, promise anything — even marriage—to keep you. Why? Because he likes being supported, naturally. In your quest for a home, love, companionship, to take the place of the family life you never had, you hit upon the worst possible solution—in fact, upon a situation that is no solution at all.

Make the break; salvage your self-respect; salvage your money, too, since supporting only yourself will be much cheaper than maintaining a home with a man. The new environment of another town will help immeasurably in bolstering your morale, and I'm sure you'll meet new people who will be an improvement over your present company. Don't continue your present living conditions any longer.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 25, and very much in love with Raymond, whom I have known for a year. I thought he was sincere in his avowal of love, but recently he has been accusing me of going out with other men, when most emphatically I have not. To keep peace, I have admitted doing exactly what he blamed me for, so he would forgive me and at least we could begin all over. This works for a while, then he starts again with his accusations. I can't go on forever admitting things I have not done.

M. G.

ANSWER: Raymond's behavior certainly isn't that of an ordinary young man in love; in fact, it smacks a bit of emotional, if not mental, unbalance. He's a dangerous character, and if you value your reputation, your happiness, or hope for any security in life, don't marry him.

DEAR MISS DIX: A few months ago I discovered that my husband had been having an affair with a married woman. Since I learned of the romance, he hasn't seen her, though they continue to correspond. He claims to be devoted to me and the children, yet can't get her out of his mind. How can I help him?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Affections can't always be directed, or stay directed. In spite of his own sincere efofrts to forget the "other woman," your husband has been unsuccessful. He needs sympathetic understanding from you— a very difficult role for a wife to fill, yet you are doing it wonderfully well—with some outside professional help. I suggest going to your pastor, or to a marriage counselor. The Family Service Agency has a representative in your city; call upon them.

Wrong-way Robin Turns Up In Britain To Puzzle Experts

WASHINGTON — The robin, man's front lawn friend that delights in turning up in improbable places, now seems to have added another surprising feat to its achievements—flying the Atlantic.

One arrived in the British Isles, and there was no mistaking it as an American robin, far bigger than its British namesake. It was sighted by an expert at the Lundy Isle bird observatory, off the southwest coast of England.

No one can be absolutely sure how the North American visitor got there. It could have hopped an easy ride on a ship.

But, says the National Geographic Society, robins have been found in odd places before. One once nested in the tail of a Navy bomber and survived a 1,700-mile flight. Robins have built homes atop a merry-go-round, on travelling hoists, on fence rails, gate posts, window ledges, and even on trolley wires.

LONG SEASONAL HOPS

Redbreasts are also capable of long flights from Newfoundland, northern Quebec and Alaska to central United States.

Circumstances lend support to the theory the Lundy robin had spanned the ocean under its own power. It is 2,800 miles from Newfoundland to Lundy by a down wind route that existed on the days the robin probably flew. Such a trip is within the capability of a robin-sized bird. Wind speed was 35 mph and, added to the robin's own speed of 35 mph, this meant the winged wanderer could have arrived in about 40 hours.

The flight appears "very plausible" to Dr. Herbert D. Deignan, associate curator of birds at the Smithsonian Institution.

It could have been a young bird, hatched in summer and migrating for the first time, he says. Birds chirp while flying to guide their young. The Lundy robin may have lost its companions, and thus become confused.

What makes birds migrate and exactly what steers them are hidden in mystery. But malfunctioning of the bird's direction-finding senses may explain the wrong-way journey.

OTHER BIRD WANDERERS

It is now up to English bird watchers whether to list officially the Lundy visitor as one of the avian immigrants that reach Britain in isolated cases. These have included the American pipit, yellow-billed and black-billed, cuckoo, American duck-hawk, blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, American widgeon, ring-necked duck, bufflehead, hooded merganser, American bittern, and many North American shorebirds.

Dr. Deignan assumes the American robin will win such recognition.

Furthermore, the American Ornithologists' Union has noted that North American robins have been sighted in Cuba, Bermuda, the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea, Germany, and Vienna. It does not contend that the birds always flew to these places.

There are records of two previous appearances in Britain: In western Kent in 1937 and on Dove beach in 1877. However, some observers have doubted that these robins flew all the way from their homeland.

Annual Reports Please WMS

OMEMEE (ENS) — Trinity United church WMS met with Mrs. T. A. McConnell presiding.

The meeting opened with prayers and a hynm.

Annual reports were given by treasurer Miss C. Connell; reserve fund, Mrs. H. Graham; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Rutherford; supply, Mrs. S. Moyer, who reported a bale valued at $145 sent to the Presbyterial supply secretary, a 450 pound bale on hand for Korea, and three quilts yet to be finished. Mrs. S. D. Vaughan gave a report of the Mission Band and Mrs. H. Deyell for the Baby Band.

The WMS Presbyterial meeting will be on February 9 at Queen St. church in Lindsay. Mrs. M. Jones was appointed to bring a report to the local society.

Mrs. McConnell read a letter from one of the society's missionaries, Miss Ruth Tillman, of Newfoundland, asking for special prayers.

The program was in charge of Mrs. V. Lang's group and began with a New Year's message and hymn. The worship theme was "The church and image of the kingdom." Scripture was read by Mrs. C. G. Shaw, prayers by Mrs. H. Graham and a trio, Mrs. A. N. Weir, Mrs. T. J. Pogue, Mrs. W. D. Weir, sang. The study topic, "Survival of the Christian Church in Europe," was presented by Miss Connell. Following the benediction, lunch was served by the group.

WA Re-elects Mrs. D. Wellman

BONARLAW—(ENS)—The annual meeting of St. Mark's Women's Auxiliary was held Thursday at the rectory in Marmora with a good attendance. Canon J. M. Brownlie read the Litany and the scripture lesson.

A letter from the diocese board was read. Mrs. Wellman then asked Canon Brownlie to preside for the election of officers:

President, Mrs. Dave Wellman; vice-president, Mrs. William Neal; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Barlow; treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie; dorcas secretary, Mrs. Everett Heath; living message secretary, Mrs. W. Neal; prayer partner secretary, Mrs. Jason Baker; delegate to the diocese annual, Mrs. J. Eggett, alternate, Mrs. George Mumby.

It was decided to hold the annual oyster supper on Friday, January 29 at 6 p.m.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. W. J. Barlow served lunch.

New Clues Point To Man On Continent 100,000 Years

WASHINGTON—New clues are pushing back the calendar of ages in science's long search for the earliest Americans.

Until recently, definite proof of human life on this continent went back 10,000 years at most. Now this span appears to have been doubled by the dating of a 20,000-year-old mammoth's tusk found amid evidence of man in New Mexico's ancient Sandia cave-dwelling.

If Sandia Man killed that mammoth, he long preceded Folsom Man, whose crudely-chipped spear points and tools once were considered the oldest relics of American habitation, the National Geographic Society says.

Other evidence and explorations of recent years offer further hints than man was in North America immediately after the last Ice Age, an era that waned some 25,000 years ago. There has even been speculation, based on findings in a California gravel pit, that he was here while it was still in progress, more than 100,000 years ago.

Archeologists agree that the first wandering peoples must have come from Asia. With acean levels slightly lower, Bering Strait between Siberia and Alaska would be dry land. Along an Arctic grassland belt in the thawing Ice Age could have come Asiatic game animals and then, perhaps, predatory hunting tribes.

There are hints that these first migrants would have followed the Arctic seacoast rather than brave the glacier-locked mountains of central Alaska. At the valley of the Mackenzie River they could have turned south along an ice-free corridor down the eastern front of the Rocky Mountains into today's Great Plains.

Folsom-type projectile points have been found in northwestern Alaska, as have Stone Age carving tools, called burins, not found father south. Similar spearheads were discovered in the desolate Brooks Range fronting the Arctic Ocean.

These earliest peoples, pioneers of America's Paleo-Indians, came long before the first Eskimo tribes. Little has been found to bridge the gap of thousands of years. Yet the oldest Eskimo settlements so far dug up have shown a relatively advanced culture.

Eskimo sites go back only 2,000 to 3,000 years—Ipiutak in Alaska, the Dorset culture of the Canadian Arctic—and indicate a people highly adapted to the bleak regions of the far north. Their relics can be directly traced to Asian sources. With little change, the Eskimo spread eastward 3,000 miles to Greenland.

But before the Eskimo, who? Hopefully, detectives of the past look to the barren Arctic and sub-Arctic for the hidden track of ancient men who first wandered across the top of America, and perhaps down into the heart of an uninhabited New World.

"Monthly Pains" Halted or amazingly relieved

In 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' tests

Are you putting up—unnecessarily—with the functionally-caused cramps, pains and weak "no good" feelings of menstruation? In doctors' tests, Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets brought complete or striking relief from such distress . . . in 3 out of 4 cases!

Try modern-acting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound or new, improved Tablets with added iron. See if it doesn't relieve those pains and jitters . . . help you feel better both before and during your period Women by the thousands are changing to new Pinkham Tablets. Give grand relief—easier to carry and take, too! (Also wonderful for functional distress of hot flashes of "change of life"!) Get a bottle today.

Now . . . try popular new Tablets!

Pinkham's helps to "quiet" uterine contractions that often cause menstrual pain!

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Split Pea Soup For Vegetarians

Annie, the beloved little lady, who keeps our floors shining and our clothes clean, has a daughter who is a vegetarian.

This lovely dark-haired girl is as straight as a soldier and wears quite a few white suits and dresses which she makes herself. They show off to lovely effect her smooth olive skin and shiny black hair.

Because Annie can neither read nor write I dare to quote some of her quaint sayings. (This does not mean that she could not read or write if she were trained because her mind is keen and full of wit and wisdom. Every scrap of news that comes over the radio is hers for keeps.) When we talk about Nancy's wonderful health she'll say "Miz. Moore Nancy didn't was sick for so many years I couldn't tell you." Sometimes when she tries to do business downtown with impatient merchants who judge her by her accent she'll tell me "He makes me so mad I what you say? roil inside."

So, of course, my smart alec family has picked that up and gets "roiling mad" as often as possible.

But it's this vegetarian diet of Nancy's I'm fascinated with, for Annie asked me for a soup without meat for her. I tried the one below before I gave it to her and even my carnivorous family enjoyed it — very much. I know there are vegetarians in this audience and can recommend it to them. It's certainly a rib-sticker in this weather, even if you "didn't was" a vegetarian.

VEGETARIAN SPLIT PEA SOUP

One lb. choice green split peas, 8 cups water (if you have soft water in one of your faucets use it instead of hard water), 1 each chopped stalk of celery including leaves, large carrot, small onion, ¼ teaspoon thyme, 1 small pinch cayenne pepper, 1 bay leaf, 2 teaspoons salt (taste to see if it needs more later), ¼ teaspoon (or less) black pepper. Mix all ingredients together, bring to boil and boil 20 minutes, then cover and reduce heat as low as possible until peas are as tender as mush. Force all through strainer leaving only little residue in the strainer like the celery leaves and bay, etc. Reheat in top of double boiler. Serve very hot in large bowls to 8 hungry folk, who can make a meal from this if you serve Melba toast and celery hearts too.

QUESTION: Would you kindly give me the recipe for honey doughnuts with fast-rising dry yeast as soon as possible? I would like to know how to make more juice when stewing prunes. Wishing you the best in 1954. Gene R.

ANSWER: Thank you for your enthusiasm Gene.

HONEY YEAST DOUGHNUTS

Soak 1 package dry granulated yeast in cup warm water with 1 teaspoon honey for 10 minutes, then stir it. Bring ¾ cup milk to scalding point, pour it into large mixing bowl, add ¼ cup shortening, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon honey and let this cool to lukewarm. Stir soaked yeast into it. Gradually stir in 2¼ cups sifted flour, or a little more — enough to make a stiff batter. Beat well, then place in warm spot, covered, and allow to stand until full of bubbles. Mix together ¾ cup honey, 2 beaten eggs, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon mace, and stir these into the bubbly sponge, then gradually add another 2 cups sifted flour or enough to make a dough that can be handled. Knead in bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in size. Turn out on lightly floured board and roll to ½-inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Let rise on board uncovered, until light when touched. Fry in deep fat at 375 deg. Top raised side of doughnut should be placed in fat down. Turn when bottom is golden. Drain on unglazed paper. To sugar doughnuts, place 1 at a time in paper bag containing sugar and shake. To glaze doughnuts add ⅜ cup boiling water slowly to 1 cup icing sugar and mix. Dip warm doughnuts into the warm glaze and drain on wax paper.

Juicy Prunes: Buy good quality prunes that are soft to squeeze. Wash in warm water, then soak overnight in 5 cups cold water to 1lb. Simmer below boiling point until tender, covered. Add ½ to ¾ cup sugar and simmer 3 minutes longer. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice and cool.

WMS Member Given Life Membership

CAMPBELLFORD —(ENS) — Mrs. Fred T. Rutherford, newly-elected president of St. Andrew's Missionary Society, presided at the first meeting of the new year in the church parlor.

Reports were received from the treasurer and the secretary.

It was decided that ward conveners would be responsible for Home Helper work in their respective wards. They will make their reports to the secretary.

Mrs. Reg. McCulloch brought in the question of a suitable place in the church where the records of all church societies could be kept. Mrs. McCulloch was asked to bring the matter to the annual congregational meeting.

Mrs. Robert Bell gave an encouraging report of the work of the Mission Band.

A highlight of the program was the presentation of a life membership certificate to Mrs. Wesley Stephens. The presentation was made by Mrs. Hazel Storie, who told of Mrs. Stephens' activities in the WMS during the past 4½ years.

Mrs. Reg. McCulloch explained the chapter in the study book, entitled "Cheer Along the Way", telling of the work of the hospital visitor.

Frontiersmen Cause Much Confusion

LONDON (CP)—The church was packed, and midway through the sermon in Southwark cathedral a child's voice piped up: "Where are the cowboys, mummy?"

The occasion was the dedication Sunday of a new standard for the Canadian division of the Legion of Frontiersmen, United Kingdom command, at their annual church parade.

On hand was a party of stetson-hatted men in blue serge uniforms with chain-mail epaulettes and yellow piping down the trousers.

Children's questions came thick and fast after the service.

WORK WITH MOUNTIES

"Sure son," said a Frontiersman answering one, "our men in Canada work with the Mounties. Only difference is, Mounties have red tunics and are regulars. We're volunteers."

Tom Williams, 82, told another: "Canada son? No I never was actually there. We represent Canadian Frontiersmen over here. Furthest west any of these boys has come from today is Bristol."

The Frontiersmen were formed in Britain in 1904 by Capt. Roger Pocock, a former member of the old Northwest Mouted Police. Membership today is largely from ex-servicemen.

Rich Publisher Dies In Britain

OXTED, England (AP) — Sir Ernest Benn, 79, wealthy publisher who described himself as "an impenitent individualist," died Sunday. He had been in failing health for some time.

Benn waged a life-long campaign against state controls and founded the Society of Individualists to carry on the crusade. Three years ago he was fined £5 for refusing to fill in a national census form on the ground the census was an "unnecessary waste of manpower, money, paper and print." He pleaded guilty.

Sir Ernest was author of numerous books and pamphlets, mostly on economics, as well as head of Benn Brothers, one of Britain's biggest publishers of books, magazines and trade journals. His best known books were "The Confessions of a Capitalist," "Letters of an Individualist," "The Return to Laisser Faire."

Slips On Ice Brakeman Killed

KINGSTON (CP) — Douglas Beckwith, 26, Smiths Falls, a head brakeman with Canadian Pacific Railways, was killed at the railway station at Roblindale on Highway 41 about 12 miles north of Napanee at 10 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Beckwith jumped off the train which was moving slowly as it pulled into the station. He slipped on the icy wooden platform, fell onto the track, hit his head and died almost instantly from a fractured skull.

Moodie, McNab To Accompany Duke

OTTAWA (CP) — Campbell Moodie, counsellor at the Canadian high commissioner's office in London, and Group Capt. Ernest A. McNab of Regina will accompany the Duke of Edinburgh during his visit to Canada.

Government House today announced that Mr. Moodie has been appointed Canadian assistant private secretary to the duke for his visit this summer. Group Capt. McNab, a top fighter pilot during the Battle of Britain will be Canadian equerry-in-waiting.

Sudanese on Strike

CAIRO (Reuters)—Sixty Sudanese staged a lock-in strike and later went on a hunger strike after Egyptian authorities closed the Sudanese Workers Union Club here Sunday. The club was closed after its members demonstrated in support of their demands for higher wages and annual leave with travel allowances to visit relatives in the Sudan.

74 YEARS TOTAL for these two employees of the CGE has just ended. Henry Turner (left) has completed 44 years and Herbert Taylor, 30 years.

Two Men Retire From CGE Total 74 Years Service

Two Canadian General Electric Company employees, Henry Turner and Herbert Taylor, will retire from their jobs today with 44 and 30 years service, respectively.

Continuously employed by the Canadian General Electric for the past 44 years, Henry Turner of 534 Douglas Ave., left his work in the switchgear and industry control department Friday for the last time. Mr. Turner was foreman of equipment assembly, and is considered one of the foremost authorities on switchgear wiring in the plant.

FROM ENGLAND

Mr. Turner came to Peterborough from Birmingham, England, with a trade of fitter and wireman and began his work with CGE in 1910 in the switchgear then known as the brass department.

He was a great sportsman and captained the CGE soccer team for many years and also played with the Nomads—pick of the Church League players—and was one of the strong players on the St. James team.

Believed to be the oldest member of St. James church choir, he is also an ardent flower gardener. Fishing and carpet bowling are some of his present-day hobbies which replace amateur theatricals and the initial organizing of the plant's social and athletic club.

HERBERT TAYLOR

Herbert Taylor of 153 Hart St., in the motor and control division of the CGE Peterborough plant, retired today after 30 years of service. His work was not continuous with the company but broken by a return to England, where he was born, in 1913, and five years service with the RASC-MT.

He returned to work in the CGE machine shop in 1924 before moving to his present department.

Mr. Taylor faced forced retirement seven years ago due to health, but it improved and enabled him to continue his regular work until the present. His favorite hobby is lawn bowling and last year he was on the team that won the Review Trophy. Hockey as spectator is another one of Mr. Taylor's interests and he manages to attend many of the Petes' home games.

News Company Found Guilty

GUELPH (CP) — Magistrate F. Watt today found Kitchener News Company guilty on a charge of distributing crime comics. A fine of $25 and costs was imposed in the first such conviction in Ontario.

In a written judgment, Magistrate Watt held that a copy of a comic called "Racket Squad," exhibited in the case, showed the commission of crime.

"In each of the episodes, steps in the preparation for and commission of the crime is vividly portrayed," the magistrate said. "While in two of the episodes the criminals were killed, that does not alter the fact that crimes were shown in the act of being committed.

"Some were crimes of violence and others were what is called 'confidence games.' In the latter cases there was nothing to show that the criminals were made to answer for their crimes."

Magistrate Watt found that the section of the Criminal Code on which the case was based is within the authority of the federal Parliament despite argument by Mannie Brown, defence counsel, that it was ultra vires.

IODE Urges Ottawa Keep Red Ensign

TORONTO (CP)—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire urged the federal government today to proclaim the Red Ensign as the official flag of Canada.

Mrs. Kathleen Drope, IODE national president, said the Red Ensign now is recognized everywhere as Canada's flag and is familiar to all Canadians.

Lawyer Approves Freeing Of Meyer

HAILEYBURY (CP) — Dalton Dean, Haileybury lawyer and a member of the Canadian military court which sentenced former Nazi Major-General Kurt Meyer, said today the Canadian government "has finally made a courageous and just decision" in reducing Meyer's sentence to 14 years.

Meyer was originally sentenced to death for responsibility in the deaths of 18 Canadian prisoners of war shot by men of his 12th SS (elite guard) division in Normandy. His sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

Mr. Dean assisted in the prosecution of Meyer at Aurich, Germany.

400 Chinese Guerrillas Desert To Reds

RANGOON (AP)—Reports reaching the Burmese capital today said 400 Chinese Nationalist guerrillas operating along the China-Burma border 130 miles northeast of Kengtung have deserted to the Reds.

Two regimental commanders were reported to have led the switch early this month to Peiping's forces in Yunnan province. The troops were said to have taken equipment with them.

Almost a foot of snow has fallen since the aircraft became overdue Tuesday evening.

Joseph J. Torpey

The funeral of Joseph John Torpey was held this morning from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's cathedral where requiem mass was celebrated at nine o'clock by the Rev. T. G. V. Gaughan. Mr. Torpey, a native of Douro township, was a retired employee of the Quaker Oats Co. He died in hospital on Friday after more than two years of illness.

Pallbearers were Jeremiah Mahoney, Michael O'Brien, George Carey, John Moher, Gerard Hogan and Herbert Powderly. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery with prayers being said by the Rev. John J. Hickey.

International Duel Waged For Custody Of Boy, 6

By PHILIP CLARKE

LONDON (AP)—Chubby, blonde Jimmy Hillers, 6, played happily in a suburban police station here today while his American father and German mother fought an international duel for his custody.

Harry Hillers, 36, a Brooklyn house painter who was halted with the boy at a London airport by police Sunday night, told reporters, "I was trying to do the same as my wife had done before when she suddenly packed up and left the States with Jimmy."

Hillers' estranged wife, Hanna, 27, told police in Stuttgart Sunday her husband abducted Jimmy after taking him for a stroll. She expressed belief they were heading back to Brooklyn, and German police advised London authorities.

There were reports that Mrs. Hillers and her lawyer were flying to London with a German court order giving the mother temporary custody of Jimmy pending a final decision by a Stuttgart court.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said police had posted a "minimum watch" over Hills and the boy to prevent their departure before a decision can be reached.

"MINIMUM WATCH"

Hillers said his wife, whom he met in Germany while serving in the U.S. Army and married in 1947, "just disappeared" from Brooklyn one day last year, taking Jimmy with her.

Hillers said he had been saving up money ever since in an effort to trace his wife and boy. He added that it took him six months to locate them in Stuttgart but declined to say how he had left the German city with Jimmy.

"I've run out of money now," he said. "All I've got is my return airplane ticket to the States."

New Cabinet Lined Up To End Crisis

ROME (AP) — Amitore Fanfani, moderate leftist member of the middle-road Christian Democrat party, today handed President Luigi Einaudi the line-up of a new cabinet he hopes will end Italy's political crisis.

Einaudi immediately signed the decree appointing the new government, but the 46-year-old Fanfani and his cabinet still must win the approval of Parliament, which is bitterly and almost evenly divided.

PARTY LACKS MAJORITY

The new premier will go before the 590-member Chamber of Deputies, in which his party's 262 seats are 34 short of a majority, Jan. 26 to present his program.

Fanfani, former interior minister and the youngest man ever called to republican Italy's premiership, is expected to win by a narrow margin in the subsequent vote of confidence.

He was asked to form a government after the resignation Jan. 5 of Giuseppe Pella, another Christian Democrat who had governed precariously for five months with monarchist support.

Housewife Traps Suspect Thief

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today a Toronto housewife who was dragged over a six-foot embankment while holding onto a man's foot is responsible for capturing a suspect charged with looting scores of automatic coin-operated laundry machines in Toronto homes.

Mrs. William Corby said her husband and son William, armed with a shotgun, cornered a man in their basement Saturday. The man pushed the gun aside and fled to the street. Mrs. Corby, waiting outside, grabbed him by the ankle. The five-foot woman was pulled over the bank but held on until her husband and son arrived.

Police said they have charged James Gash, 20, a semi-professional Toronto baseball player, with 74 counts of theft. They said he used a screwdriver to force locks off the money containers.

SYMBOL OF STRENGTH—A motto that was Charlemagne's in the year 800 forms part of the newly authorized insignia of Headquarters Allied Forces in Europe. The Latin phrase around the shield means "Crime does not pay." It stands as a warning against would-be aggressors as the West builds its strength. In the centre is a tower in silver, symbolizing "the fortress of Europe." On the gateway to the tower are the letters "CE" standing for Central Europe. Behind the tower and pointing upward is the sword of Charlemagne.

New Tension Gripping North Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — New tension gripped Northern Ireland today over Irish Nationalist demands that this British territory be incorporated into the Irish republic.

The latest trouble started when extreme nationalists attacked a British soldier in a Belfast street Saturday. They stripped off his uniform and burned it, forcing him to watch.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army admitted in a letter to two Belfast newspapers that the underground organization was responsible for the incident. The letter explained "We bear no ill will toward the soldier—only against the uniform he was wearing."

REVENGE SOUGHT

Newspapers reported that pro-British extremists later raided the homes of several IRA members in retaliation.

Ill feeling has been building up since the Coronation last June. Flags have been ripped down and houses smeared with slogans.

The government announced last week that it will introduce a bill making it unlawful to interfere with the Union Jack or display any other flag which might result in a breach of the peace—obviously referring to the republic's flag.

Blonde Ghost Failed To Appear

DUDLEY, England (Reuters)—Blondie, the girl ghost who wears lipstick, was too shy to appear before an all-male team of "psychic researchers" who came to see her during the week-end.

Linked by battery telephones, the seven ghosthunters kept vigil in separate, darkened rooms of the old Jolly Collier Inn here until the early hours of Sunday morning. But not one glimpse did they catch of the pretty spook.

They were summoned to this village by the inn's owner, Edward Westwood, who abandoned the place last week to escape the apparition.

Westwood reported to the Psychic Research Society in nearby Birmingham that he had often seen the spectre of a blonde, wearing lipstick and a white shroud, promenading through his premises in company with a bald-headed gentleman ghost.

The society sent a team to the inn because the blonde is the first ghost to appear in "technicolor" instead of the normal black and white.

Here And There In Sports

'53 BASEBALLS HOP

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseballs used in the major leagues in 1953 may have had more than a touch of "rabbit" in them, says the civil engineering department of the Cooper Union, an institution which specializes in scientific studies.

An ordinary 300-foot fly in 1952 might have become a 324-foot homer in 1953. The difference shown in the Cooper Union tests was approximately eight per cent and that's just about enough to make the difference between an out and a homer in most major league parks.

The tests were run off last fall on a batch of American League baseballs taken from the stocks used in 1952 and 1953. The results were reported in "The Transit of Phil Epsilon," official publication of the national civil engineerng fraternity by Joseph S. Ward, assistant professor in the college's civil engineering department.

"Our tentative engineering conclusion is that the '53 baseball was a jackrabbitt," says Ward.

GOLF DATES ANNOUNCED

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—The 1955 British amateur golf championship will be played at Royal Lytham and St. Annes on the Irish sea from May 30 to June 4. The Royal and Ancient Club, Britain's ruling body, conducts the amateur. The 1954 amateur will be played at Muirfield May 24-29.

Long Named Coach Of Greenshirts

Gordon Long, former defenceman with Montreal Canadiens, Buffalo Bisons and Victoria Cougars in professional hockey ranks, is the new coach of the Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts of the OHA Junior A series.

The 25-year-old native of Owen Sound took over his new post today.

Long turned pro five years ago, and played one season with Canadiens.

WINS FREEDOM—Paul Cachia (left), acquitted of an armed-robbery charge after 28 months in prison, thanks reporter Fred Thompson of the Toronto Globe and Mail who helped him win his freedom. Thompson tracked down a key witness whose testimony helped free Cachia after he had been twice convicted two years ago of robbing a service station in Swansea, a Toronto suburb.

Believe Senate Will Approve Seaway Plan

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate resumes debate today on legislation authorizing United States participation with Canada in the St. Lawrence seaway, with supporters still forecasting passage probably this week.

Opponents of the 27-foot-deep waterway privately concede that their chances are slim to block Senate approval of the controversial measure.

They indicated that with the Senate fight virtually hopeless, they will concentrate on the House of Representatives in their efforts to turn back the bill.

The seaways proposal has never been considered by the House, although its committees have conducted hearings on several occasions.

The bill authorizes the U.S. to join with Canada in the project which would permit some ocean-going shipping to sail to the Great Lakes from the Atlantic.

Estimated cost of the U.S. share of the construction is about $100,000,000. The money would be raised through issuance of bonds to the U.S. treasury department by a St. Lawrence development corporation.

Canada will build the seaway alone even if there is no U. S. participation. The Canadian government believes tolls on shipping in the completed waterway will pay for the project over a period of years.

U.S. railroads, coal interests and Atlantic and Gulf coast ports have opposed the project for decades, and always successfully, on the ground that it would be detrimental to their interests.

The Senate began debate on the proposal last Wednesday.

TELLS OF SEA RESCUE—Professor Maurice Ewing, resting in a cot, tells newsmen at St. George, Bermuda, how he and three other men were washed overboard from the schooner Vema. Ewing, his brother, John (left), and another crew member were rescued but Charles M. Wilkie lost his life in the storm-tossed seas. The men were on a scientific expedition for Columbia University.

Government May Soon Be Out Of Meat Business

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Canadian government may soon get out of the meat-selling business, and officials hope it can stay out.

With the sale of 8,000,000 pounds of carcass beef to Britain at fire-sale prices, the government has less than 20,000,000 pounds of canned pork left in its larder.

The plan is to call for tenders by Jan. 25 for disposal of remaining stocks, possibly through international brokers who may sell or barter them in some overseas country.

The government will accept the best tender and the outlook is that by February, it will be completely out of meat.

Thus over a two-year period the government will have purchased and disposed of almost 200,000,000 pounds of surplus beef and pork, taken up to support the market following the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in 1952.

Selling that meat proved to be one big headache after another. Nowhere could the government find buyers willing to pay even the cost price.

SELL AT LOSS

The United States market closed to Canadian meat, the government was forced to sell at a loss. When final sales are made, the loss likely will total more than $50,000,000—chalked up as part of the cost of fighting the disease.

The disposal program brought rumblings in some quarters that the government was "dumping" the meat in foreign markets—selling it at below cost.

The program's advantage is that it clears the Canadian market of overhanging surpluses, thus enabling a possible strengthening of the domestic market and encouraging producers.

School Teachers Dispute Still Deadlocked

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto board of education holds that it is best to pay teachers equal salaries for equal qualifications, regardless of whether they teach in an elementary or a secondary school, since they are all board employees.

But the 850 Toronto teachers in high schools and technical schools want a separate salary scale from that of grade school teachers.

That is the crux of a dispute that has led the secondary school teachers to threaten to stop such extracurricular activities as coaching teams and supervising preparation of yearbooks this week and to resign next spring.

If the board granted the separate salary scale, it would, in effect, recognize the secondary teachers' group as a separate bargaining unit.

REJECT PROPOSALS

The secondary teachers, who feel they deserve more pay than grade school teachers, succeeded in arranging a meeting between a board of education sub-committee and the provincial executive of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. That meeting, Friday night, turned out to be a 7½-hour wrangle that got nowhere.

The sub-committee refused to abandon the single salary schedule introduced to Toronto schools in 1951. It also rejected a compromise proposal calling for two listings of the five teacher categories.

The dispute will be threshed out again Wednesday night. It was agreed Friday that trustees will go to the Wednesday meeting without board officials and that the teachers will be represented by their local executive instead of by the provincial body.

This was decided upon after S. G. B. Robinson, general secretary of the federation, suggested to board members and officials that perhaps his presence and that of I. M. Robb, field secretary, were responsible for the board's inability to see merit in the teachers' demands for a separate salary schedule.

Board chairman Gordon Ferguson told the federation executive the board would like to sit in with the teachers without board officials or federation officers "for a friendly discussion."

Mrs. Bert Tully

Mrs. Bert Tully, R.R. 2, Peterborough, who died in Civic Hospital, Thursday, was buried in Little Lake cemetery, Saturday, from the Kaye funeral home at 3.30 p.m. The Rev. A. Mathews, of George St. United Church, officiated.

Pallbearers were: Arthur Hancock, Fred Steinkraus, William Steinkrauss, Milton Dunford, Walter Gyatt and Gordon Middleton.

Powerful Well

ESTERHAZY, Sask. (CP) — An artesian well began flowing here when an oil drilling crew set off a dynamite blast, and not even cement could stop the flow of water. The well was finally controlled by drilling holes in the area to relieve the pressure in the underground stream.

Bar-Bell Drops On Athlete, Dies In 10 Mins.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A heavy iron bar-bell dropped on the head of Jean Roch Pellerin of Warwick, Que., while Pellerin was practising weight lifting. The athlete died 10 minutes later.

The unusual fatality was among nine violent or accidental weekend deaths in eastern Canada listed today in a Canadian Press compilation. Altogether, there were five in Quebec and four in Ontario.

ONTARIO DEATHS

Harold Smart, a timber camp worker, and his young daughter Catharine, were killed when an automobile police said he was driving collided with a truck in the Port Arthur district. Injured were Smart's wife and the couple's young son.

A level-crossing crash near Toronto killed Robert H. Riley, 16. Near Stratford, a car went out of control and hit a tree, killing Gunter Stuewe, 30, of Kitchener.

Censors Ban News From U.K.

MADRID (Reuters) — Spanish censors Sunday banned publication of the news that Britain has spurned Spain's protests against Queen Elizabeth's visit to Gibraltar next May.

The Queen plans to stop at Gibraltar on her way home from her Commonwealth tour.

This is a sensitive subject in Spain, which still regards the British fortress as Spanish soil.

A British foreign office spokesman in London said Saturday his government could not consider Spain's protest proposing cancellation of the Queen's plans to stop at Gibraltar.

Spanish pride has been deeply hurt. Observers in Madrid predicted that there will be demonstrations all through the country when the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh set foot on "the Rock." And all Spanish workers who commute to work on Gibraltar will go on strike, they predicted.

Cecil Johnson

Funeral services were held Saturday, at 2:00 p.m. from the Kaye funeral home for Cecil Johnson, RR 2, Peterborough, who died Wednesday. The Rev. F. Parlee officiated and burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Harold Wilson, Bert Bennett, Mel Bullock, Roy Spears, Clifford Darling and Earl Huston.

Hold Annual Vestry Of St. John's Church

OMEMEE (ENS)—The annual vestry meeting of St. John's church, Emily, took place at the home of Mr. Donald Franks. The rector opened with prayers, followed by the reading of the constitution of the vestry.

Donald Franks was re-appointed rector's warden and Robert Cutmore re-elected people's warden.

The financial statement showed an income of about $1,300 and expenditures of $1,150. Much has been accomplished in the past year including the purchase of new oak church furniture.

The ladies prepared an oyster supper with pie and ice cream.

Won't Invest Further In Malton Unless Services Improved–Roe

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto township officials checked their records during the week-end and came up with some answers to charges made Friday by president Crawford Gordon of A. V. Roe Canada Ltd., who said the company will not invest further in the police village of Malton unless services are improved.

He said the company, builders of Canada's CF-100 all-weather jet fighter, is backing a petition by residents of Malton, where the company is located, for incorporation as a village.

He estimated the company and police village will have paid $1,500,000 to the township in taxes during the nine-year period ending this year.

He said "not more than a paltry $100,000" of this was returned to Malton in services, not counting school costs.

Township treasurer Dean Henderson said that during most of that period the assessment against Avro had been about $385,000 within the police village because part of the plant was located in the township outside the village.

He said that money levied within the police village was returned to the village trustees for their expenditure.

Airplane Faster, Safer For Transporting Gold

Since World War II the airplane more and more has taken the Midas metal for mysterious wanderings from country to country, states a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society. It still rides trains and ships, but planes have proved safe and much faster and the risk of loss is frequently less.

Gold is a strange traveler, often changing owners without moving at all. But when it changes location, it does so with a ceremony befitting the glittering monarch of metals, the National Geographic Society says. Whether on plane or train or ship, it is a pampered passenger and always commands a royal retinue of guards.

In this country the great point of departure for the monetary metal is New York City's Federal Reserve Bank. When a shipment is to be flown abroad the gold is first crated deep inside the bank's vaults. The brick-sized, 400-ounce ingots are each wrapped in Manila paper and buried in sawdust. Guards stand by while carpenters piece together the wooden boxes which prevent chipping and denting of the soft yellow metal.

WHISKED AWAY

In an armored car the gold is whisked away to planeside. At the United States Government price of $35 an ounce, a ton is valued at apprixmately $1,100,000. A four-motored, chartered plane can carry a top load of six to seven tons.

One special advantage of air transport is that fewer guards are needed than on ship or train. Another is that there is less transshipment. Planes can more often go the whole way to the gold's destination. Multiple loading and unloading means added risks, and that means high insurance costs.

Today the world is experiencing a strange kind of "gold rush." The metal is rushing through Uncle Sam's fingers in large quantities. So far this year the government, with well over $20,000,000,000 on hand, has sold more than $1,140,000,000 worth abroad and hasn't bought a penny's worth. Great Britain has been the big purchaser—nearly half a billion dollars. Argentina, Belgium, Germany, Mexico and the Netherlands have been other buyers. Financial experts say the transactions reflect improved finances in many countries. Paradoxically, little gold has actually moved out of this country. Great Britain, for instance, has large stocks in New York. A purchase by Britain thus merely means a shift from a U.S. to a British account.

SOME GOLD DOES MOVE

But some gold does move. In March $4,300,000 left the vaults, half for Canada, the rest to Belgium, France, Lebanon, and the Philippines. In September $7,900,000 went to the Netherlands, and in October $800,000 headed for Germany. Another recent trend has been the sale of Russian gold in Europe. This has resulted in a sharp price slump in the free market. Nobody outside the Iron Curtain really knows how much gold Russia owns or what it plans to do with it.

In the last decade science has acquired the touch of Midas and has achieved the goal of the alchemists—transmitting other metals into gold. Experts say the money markets have nothing to worry about on this score. The Atomic Energy Commission agrees that physicists have changed mercury into gold but on too small and costly a scale to affect the gold supply.

Ask Reconsider Ban

MONTREAL (CP)—The Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers Saturday asked the Quebec board of cinema censors to reconsider its ban on the film "Martin Luther." The association said it made the request "in view of the film's historical and cultural importance, in an educational sense." Quebec censors banned the film last month.

Some Extension Classes Curbed By Western U.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The University of Western Ontario has reached an agreement with other Ontario universities to pull its far-flung extension classes out of several towns and cities, and confine its activities to the 14 counties of western Ontario and Du[illegible] county.

The executive of the senate of UWO, meeting with the committee on summer school and extension affairs, and acting on behalf of the senate, approved an inter-university plan for sharing the responsibility in extension courses offered by Ontario universities.

The plan provides for each university to assume responsibility for extension credit courses only in counties allotted to it by agreement.

Individual extension lectures, non-credit courses and correspondence courses are not affected by the new agreement.

The universities have entered into this agreement in order to avoid duplication of offerings, and to economize on the time of instructors by eliminating unnecessary travel, the UWO senate executive said.

Exploring Cost Of Network TV

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC is exploring the costs in three areas of network television service which eventually may provide a coast-to-coast service, it was learned.

The corporation has asked Bell Telephone Company, Canadian Pacific Telegraphs and Canadian National Telegraphs for estimates on the cost of establishing networks between Toronto and Winnipeg, Winnipeg and Vancouver, and Montreal and Sydney, N.S.

"This will not mean national network television overnight," a CBC spokesman said, "although it is possible that work might go ahead in different areas at the same time."

It has been estimated that it would take at least until 1956 before the Toronto-Winnipeg leg could be set up.

Windsor Holds Drama Festival

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Western Ontario Regional Drama Festival will be held in Windsor starting Jan. 20 with five groups competing for the right to enter the Dominion Drama Festival at Hamilton in May.

Graham Suter, British actor and producer, will judge entries from Galt, London, Welland, Hamilton and Grimsby. The festival finishes Jan. 23.

Galt presents "Thunder Rock" by Robert Audrey; London, "The Cocktail Party" by T. S. Eliot; Welland, "Come Back Little Sheba" by William Inge; Hamilton, "Rebecca" by Daphne du Maurier, on successive nights. Grimsby will present "I Have been Here Before" by J. B. Priestley at the Saturday matinee.

The five finalists were chosen from 22 preliminary entries from the Western Ontario Drama League.

Propose Pipe Line For Western Ontario

CHATHAM (CP) — Union Gas Company has proposed construction of a gas pipe line from storage fields in Lambton county to the Oakville district to provide southwestern Ontario markets, it was learned Sunday.

The pipeline, discussed by Ontario government officials recently, would provide gas from the fields near Sarnia to Dominion Natural Gas Company and Central Pipe Line Company, in the Aylmer district and provide a supply to Stratford, Kitchener, Waterloo and Guelph and other municipalities within economic reach of the proposed pipeline.

Hunter Wounded

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Courtney Glover, 46, of Windsor, was wounded with shotgun pellets in both legs Saturday while hunting in nearby Caradoc township. His condition in hospital was reported satisfactory. A hunting companion, Clayton Brandow of Mount Byrdges told police he shot through a thicket at a rabbit not knowing Glover was in the line of fire.

Barn Burns

SIMCOE (CP)—Fire Sunday destroyed a barn on the farm of Joseph Kichler southwest of here. The loss, which included 8½ kilns of tobacco and farm implements, was estimated at $15,000. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Parked Beer Stolen

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Edward Wilcox got tired of carrying his case of beer, set it on the curb and went into a service station to phone a taxi. A passing motorist saw the beer, stopped, picked it up and drove away.

Jersey Club Elects

ST. MARYS (CP)—Lloyd Sparling of Lambeth was elected president of the Western Ontario Jersey club at the annual meeting here Saturday. He succeeds Ron Macfie of Appin.

TELLS OF ALLEGED CRUELTY—Helen Barger, 8, sits in the witness chair and tells a Cleveland, O., court of the whippings, ice water dunkings, burnings, and kneeling on rocks that she was subjected to by her aunt and uncle, Mary and Matthew Barger. The pair are on trial for the alleged manslaughter of Helen's sister, Celia, 6, who died recently.

Steel Market Said Lagging

CLEVELAND (AP) — The steel market picked up some in the first two weeks of the new year, but still is spotty and far behind the pace of a year ago, Steel magazine said today.

The weekly journal of metalworking noted that "on the whole, there still is plenty of open space in February mill-rolling schedules for virtually all products with the exception of the lighter wide-flange structurals."

A year ago steel producers were turning first-quarters orders away and were assured of full order books to midyear.

The steelmaking scrap market continued weak, declining from $29.67 to $29.15 a ton from $43 a year ago.

Finished steel prices were unchanged, but European steelmakers posted higher prices on several imported steel products, the magazine reported.

Crash Kills Three

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three persons were killed Saturday in a car-train collision at Treherne, eight miles west of Winnipeg. Dead are Mrs. Enid Wilks, 37, her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Goddard, 35, and Mrs. Wilks' four-year-old daughter, Carol. All were from nearby Rathwell.

First Lady To Launch First A-Sub Navy, AEC Predict Successful Results

By ELTON C. FAY

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — When Mamie Eisenhower smashes a bottle of champagne across the nose of the U.S.S. Nautilus here Thursday, she will be christening a vessel the U.S. Navy expects to be the deadliest and most versatile craft in history — the first atomic-powered submarine.

Designed for high underwater speed, ultra-long cruising range and elusive skill, the Nautilus and other A-subs to follow her will be able to fight with either standard explosives or turn to nuclear missiles, torpedoes or mines.

She will have a choice of power to drive her propellers — atomic, diesel engine, electric motor.

The navy is confident the submarine will work, even though no craft or vehicle before it — afloat, on land or in the air — has been propelled by the power of the atom. For months the Atomic Energy Commission and the navy have been test-operating an exact reproduction of the Nautilus' nuclear power plant. Out on the Idaho desert steam from the atomic firebox has been spinning a turbine and driving a propeller like one of the two on the Nautilus.

TRIALS IN SUMMER

But it will be some time next summer, when the Nautilus puts out for sea trials.

Until then, the engineers cannot tell whether she will live up to expectations of an underwater speed of about 30 knots. Nor can they be sure about the flexibility of power, general manoeuvrability of the ship, exact burn-out rate of atomic fuel under actual operating conditions made by the submarine when under way — this last an important factor in working against an enemy's anti-submarine devices.

The Nautilus most certainly will have "bugs." Most existing conventional military equipment—planes, tanks and guns — had mechanical or other defects when first tried which had to be corrected.

But the navy is so confident it is preparing for the Nautilus all the modern armament needed when she is turned over to the fleet for combat operation.

GUIDED TORPEDOES

Built into her are torpedo tubes to fire the new, fast and silent electrically-driven torpedoes with target - seeking guidance system. These tubes can handle torpedoes with atomic warheads when such weapons are developed.

The same procedure used in planting conventional mines can be used to release atomic mines through the torpedo tubes.

The navy plans to equip the atomic submarines with gear for carrying and launching the guided missile named Regulus.

These missiles already have been fired from submarine decks and could easily be adapted for a nuclear explosive warhead.

Exponents of the atomic submarine claim it is virtually an all-purpose craft. It will have world-girdling range, they say, and ability to remain submerged for weeks or months, limited only by the endurance of the crew; underwater speed matching most big surface ships; hull strength to dive well below the levels attained by any present ships, to where detection is difficult or impossible.

ICE NO OBSTACLE

Because Nautilus - class ships will operate for long periods completely independent of the atmosphere, the frozen sea capping the northern top of the world will be no obstacle. They will be able to probe under masses of icebergs or thick ice fields and cruise unseen toward the northern coasts and shipping lanes of Eurasia, where Russian shipping and cities previously have been beyond reach of attack.

The day of the atomic submarine has arrived only by tremendous scientific effort, the expenditure of millions of dollars — estimates of the Nautilus' cost range to as high as $55,000,000.

While the hull of the Nautilus was still building, and before the first land-based prototype for her atomic engine had been tested, the navy recommended to Congress and received approval for the construction of a second nuclear submarine, the Sea Wolf.

A third craft, which the navy says will have "significantly higher speed" than even the high underwater speeds designed for Nautilus and Sea Wolf, has been approved for construction.

The Sea Wolf still will be built because it will use an atomic reactor of a type different from those in the Nautilus and the third sub. The navy wants experience with all the types it can get.

Fuel for the reactor is uranium-235, one gram of which produces the equivalent of about 24,000 kilowatt hours of heat. The heat produced in the reactor is transferred by water in heavily shielded pipes to the steam turbine.

Built into the submarine is a multitude of safety gadgets, including automatic controls to stop reaction if an emergency occurs, and various instruments to warn of radion or leakage of contaminated liquid.

Convict Dies With Seizure Cheats Noose

Convulsions Kill Murderer Hour Before Hanging Due

CORNWALL (CP)—A small, metal vial that could have contained poison was found in the cell of convicted murderer Henri Seguin who collapsed and died less than an hour before his scheduled hanging at midnight.

It was learned today that the vial, which could have contained a poison capsule, was found in the cell shortly after the 29-year-old Seguin died in convulsions on his cot.

CORNWALL—(CP)—Henri Seguin, 29-year-old convicted murderer who died in convulsions in his cell just before he was scheduled to be hanged for murder, cheated the gallows by taking poison, chief coroner Smirle Lawson said today.

An autopsy has since been performed by Dr. William Shannon, Cornwall General Hospital staff pathologist, but no report on the cause of Seguin's death has been made public.

INQUEST WEDNESDAY

An inquest under chief coroner Smirle Lawson has been ordered to be convened here Wednesday night.

Crown attorney R. P. Milligan said contents of Seguin's stomach were sent to Toronto for examination by Dr. Ward Smith of the Ontario medico-legal laboratory.

Seguin collapsed on the cell floor at 11:15 p.m. Monday, writhed

Wife Of Belleville Man Bought Strychnine Two Months Before Death

Mrs. Percy Bell Made Purchases For Husband Mixed As Rat Poison, Spread On Bread; Neighbors Say Bell's Death Jan. 2 'Painful'

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Inspector Frank Kelly of the Ontario provincial police said today investigation has disclosed Mrs. Percy Bell bought strychnine at a Belleville drug store before Jan. 1. Inspector Kelly said he and inspector Clare Hayes of Belleville police have known of the purchase since they began an investigation into the death of Mrs. Bell's 51-year-old husband. Mr. Bell died Jan. 2 and neighbors said his death was "extremely painful." He was buried Jan. 4 at Napanee and his body was exhumed five days later on orders of Ontario attorney-general's department.

NO REPORT ON TESTS

Tissues from the body were sent to Toronto for examination. No report on the examination or the reason for it has been made public.

Inspector Kelly said neither he nor Inspector Hayes has spoken to Mrs. Bell since the investigation began.

The Toronto Telegram, in a newspage story from Belleville today, quoted Mrs. Bell as saying she bought and signed for strychnine so her husband could mix rat poison and that there was "no secret" about it.

The Telegram story, written by staff writer John McLean, quotes Bell's 48-year-old widow as commenting on the strychnine purchase:

"There's no secret about it. They haven't asked me, so I didn't tell them."

The purchase was made two or three months before Bell's death

SIGNED FOR POISON

The story quotes Mrs. Bell as saying her husband had asked her to buy the strychnine so that he could mix a rat poison.

Mrs. Bell went to a drug store, got the strychnine and signed for it, and took it home to her husband in the basement of the house "where he always mixed it," the story quotes Mrs. Bell.

Mrs. Bell said her husband made a poison mixture and put it on three slices of bread, the story says.

Mr. Bell died a week before his body was exhumed. Neighbors said he had suffered "an extremely painful death."

Charge 2 More Employees Of Road Dept.

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Two more suspended employees of the Fort William division of the Ontario department of highways were charged Monday in connection with alleged payroll padding and other irregularities.

Thomas L. Ayres, 56, of Guelph and Graham W. Turner, 29, of Cochrane, Ont., were remanded to Jan. 23 on $1,000 bail each.

Eight employees of the division have been under suspension since the irregularities were first discovered. Last week, Highways Minister Doucett described as "utterly ridiculous" reports that $1,000,000 is involved. He said not more than $25,000 is concerned in the investigation, which started last October.

Arthur M. Mills, 60, former division engineer here, and clerks Douglas F. Cutting, 41, and Donald T. Gandier, 30, were remanded last Saturday to Jan. 23.

The two who appeared Monday were returned here under police escort from their homes.

Ayres and Turner are charged jointly with Cutting and Gandier with conspiring to defraud.

Mills is charged with breach of trust by authorizing payment of money with respect to construction costs and also with making false entries in documents purporting to show the amount of work having been performed.

Freight Cars End Up In Cemetery

COBOURG (ENS)— Two CNR freight cars backed off a siding, followed the roadbed of the long-discontinued Peterborough-Harwood railway, and ended up in St. Peter's cemetery in Cobourg at 9:30 this morning.

Apparently misjudging the length of a siding for out-of-use freight cars, the engineer found that two cars had parted company with the train and were careening across Elgin St., a main thoroughfare in Cobourg. There was no traffic on Elgin St. at the time and no one was injured.

Eight rural houses were without power for several hours when the runaway cars dislodged a hydro pole. They then vaulted a ditch, pushed through a wrought-iron cemetery railing, and came to rest inside the cemetery.

Ironic part of the accident was that the cars moved, like homing pigeons, along the identical route used years ago by the Peterborough-Harwood railway. The tracks were torn up and the line discontinued 50 years ago.

Senator Dennis Publisher, Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator William Henry Dennis, 66, a member of the upper chamber for 22 years and publisher of Halifax's two daily newspapers, The Chronicle-Herald and The Mail-Star, died here Monday.

He was noted as a vigorous supporter of Canada's tourist industry and a strong spokesman for all things maritime.

The Halifax publisher was appointed to the Senate in 1932 at the age of 44 by Conservative prime minister Bennett. He was the youngest member then in the upper chamber.

However, he wanted to be regarded primarily as a newspaper man.

NOT AN APPLICANT

"I was not an applicant for the senatorship," he wrote a friend. "In fact, I would have preferred to have devoted all my time and energy to the newspaper business. In my judgment there is nothing to equal the publishing of a good newspaper."

When he was named to the Senate, he never had entered a political contest, although he was a strong supporter of the Conservative party.

He began his newspaper career early. At 13 he left his farm home near Stewiacke, N. S., to work for his uncle, the late Senator William A. Dennis, at the former Halifax Herald.

At first an elevator operator and printer's devil, he gained experience in both the editorial and

'Act Of God' Killed Seguin Mother, Dad, Sister Happy

CORNWALL (CP)—"All day and night I prayed my brother would drop dead with a heart attack in his cell," Mrs. Lucille Regnier said today. "My prayers were answered and now I am more sure than ever that there is a God."

Mrs. Regnier is the sister of Henri Seguin who collapsed and died in his cell an hour before he was due to hang for the murder of taxi driver Leonard Hurd, 41, Aug. 26, 1952.

"Henry wouldn't allow any of the family to see him at the jail," she said in an interview. "Some people said it was because he was hard. That's not true. He told the priest he did not want us to come because it would hurt us."

"My mother and dad were happy that Henri died the way he did. It was an act of God that kept him from dying on the gallows. I know my brother had been bad and had committed crimes, but all of the family were sure he was innocent of that poor man's murder."

PRIEST SAW HIM DIE

Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, assistant curate at the Nativity church in Cornwall, was with Seguin when he died. He said he was summoned to Henri Seguin's cell two hours before he was scheduled to be hanged.

"I had been with him just over an hour when he was seized with violent convulsions and threw himself across his cot, writhing and sobbing. Then he died, as I stood and watched," Father Villeneuve said.

"He spent the last few days of his life writing a 37-page letter to his sister (Mrs. Lucille Regnier). In this letter he told of his life and the crimes he had committed. He also told of his love for his family and asked his three brothers to live a good life.

"In the same letter he ranted against the treatment he received and insisted he was innocent. He admitted the holdup out west and some other crimes for which he said he paid.

ASKED FOR STIMULANT

"He said he was ready to face the gallows but he asked for a stimulant.

"By this time he was crying bitterly and soon his whole body was wracked with sobs, and he fell across his cot shaking convulsively. The guard who was with me called a doctor and the jail governor. The doctor arrived and gave Seguin an injection. He was writhing terrible. Fifteen minutes later the doctor pronounced him dead.

"He showed contrition before he died and I was ready to give him communion. I said a prayer and gave him last rites 'on condition' as he neared death.

"His last words were: 'I am sorry for what I have done. I have paid my debts to society for all the crimes I have committed.'"

Daley Sending Mediator To Help In Chrysler Strike At Windsor

WINDSOR—(CP)—The first hope for settlement of the strike by 27 powerhouse engineers which tied up 6,000 workers at Chrysler Corporation of Canada, came from Toronto when Labor Minister Daley said his department will send a mediator. The engineers went on strike early Monday to enforce contract demands The Chrysler powerhouse supplies the plant with heat and with compressed air for production machines The union left a skeleton crew on duty to make sure pipes do not freeze and burst.

The labor minister said Monday night neither side asked his department to intervene but he decided to use his own powers. The men are members of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC). Refrigerator conditions in the plant Monday forced production workers, members of the United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) to go home. They were followed by office workers as the heat seeped away.

PICKET LINES HONORED

Members of the AFL Carpenters' Union, working on a major expansion at the southeast Windsor plant, refused to cross the picket lines and work stopped on construction.

The union called the strike over payment of time and a half for Saturday work, not overtime, and making a six-cent pay increase retroactive. A conciliation board recommended Jan. 4 the six-cent boost over the basic $1.97 received by second-class engineers. The raise was across the board. It also recommended time and a half for Sunday work although such work was not outside the maximum 40-hour week.

The company accepted the report but the union asked that the six-cent raise be retroactive to June, when negotiations began. It also asked time and a half for Saturday as well as Sunday work within the 40-hour week.

Final negotiations took place Saturday when company officials said the union representatives walked out. The strike date was set for Sunday midnight and when neither side asked for further negotiation, the plant chugged slowly to a stop.

Mr. Daley said since so many persons are affected, he decided to act as quickly as possible. The mediator, as yet not named, is expected in Windsor today.

Token Import Scheme Widened For 1954

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain's token import scheme, under which many Canadian manufacturers have been allowed to retain a foothold in the restricted British market, has been widened slightly for 1954.

Some manufacturers, unable to obtain a shipping quota since the list was frozen in 1951, will be able to get an import permit this year, trade officials say.

Clothing manufacturers, previously forbidden to ship more than one-third of their quotas in fully-fashioned nylon hose, now will be permitted to send their full quotas.

Similar restrictions are lifted on lace-trimmed garments, and the list of 60-odd manufactured goods which the scheme covers has been extended to include another item—bathroom scales.

Ask Explanation Of Ghost Road

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa's city council wants to know who ordered the building of a 1¾ mile "ghost road," including a large wooden bridge in the eastern part of the city.

Council was told Monday night there are no known written documents in connection with the road, which was said to run partly through a swamp, and ordered a full investigation.

Alderman Finlay Dafoe said he feared "sharp practices had been employed" and declared it will be a "very disgraceful situation."

Alderman Norman Down, who owns a farm near the road, said he first learned of the road when he looked out of the window and saw it being built.

"As far as I know, no one knew there was a road there until I brought it to the attention of council," he said.

Greenstreet Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sydney Greenstreet, rotund, English-born character actor, died today. He was 74. A mortuary said he succumbed to natural causes.

New Arctic Wave Grips Prairie Area

EDMONTON (CP) — A new Arctic cold wave hit the Prairies overnight, skidding temperatures to an average of 28 below zero at 26 weather reporting stations.

The surge of cold air hit Edmonton at a 27-mile-an-hour clip Monday night. Bitter north winds of 25 to 30 mph buffeted most of Alberta.

Regina had its coldest night of the winter, shivering through a minimum reading of 42 below. The most frigid temperature on the Prairies, It was -39 at Dafoe, Sask., and Brandon, Saskatoon and Yorkton, Sask., each reported -37. Warmest spot was Lethbridge with -12.

The weather office offered no hope for any immediate moderation of the cold spell which has held the Prairies in its grip for one week now.

Bank Robbery

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Spencerville branch of the Royal Bank of Canada was robbed some time early this morning of an undisclosed amount of money. The money was taken from the safe but no details are yet available. The robbery is being investigated by provincial police. Spencerville is 20 miles northeast of Brockville.

Clouds Obscure Lunar Eclipse

TORONTO (CP)—Most Ontario residents will have to wait until 1956 for another chance at seeing a total luna eclipse.

Heavy clouds over a large part of the province Monday night prevented them from witnessing the eclipse when the sun's light was blotted out from the face of the moon as the earth passed between them at 9:17 p. m.

Weather bureau officials said clouds were general over Ontario except in that part north of Lake Superior.

There will be a partial eclipse July 15. The next total eclipse will occur two years hence.

Teachers Postpone Threatened Strike

TORONTO (CP) — The threatened strike of Toronto's 67 Roman Catholic married women teachers has been postponed.

The primary teachers were to have struck today to enforce demands for "equal pay for equal work" with unmarried Catholic women teachers.

However, at a meeting at three a. m. today, the Toronto local of the Ontario English-Catholic Teachers' Association said the teachers were willing to postpone their strike after they had been promised a meeting tonight with the metropolitan separate school board.

Mrs. Jacqueline Matte, one of the married teachers, said: "We haven't called off the strike. We've merely set it back to see what will develop at this meeting."

Conservative MP C. D. Coyle Dies

STRAFFORDVILLE, Ont. (CP) Charles Delmar Coyle, 66, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Elgin since 1945, died suddenly at his home today following a heart attack.

He became ill at a meeting of the Straffordville Lions Club Monday. He left the meeting and drove to his home in this village 20 miles east of St. Thomas, where he collapsed.

Towards midnight he apparently suffered another attack and his condition became critical. He died before a heart specialist, called from London, Ont., could reach his bedside.

Mr. Coyle returned to his home from Ottawa during the week-end and was staying over to attend the annual dinner of the Elgin Cojnty Ex-Warden's Association today and the election of Elgin county's 1954 warden.

Born at Kinglake, Ont., in 1887, he was first elected to the Commons in 1945 and re-elected in 1949 and 1953. He served on the council of Bayham township in this district for a number of years—as a councillor 1925-28, deputy-reeve 1929-30, and reeve 1931-33 and 1943-45.

Top Red Leader Dies At Seventy

MOSCOW (AP)—The death of Matvei F. Shkiryatov, 70, an old-time Soviet political leader and one of the top 15 men of Russia, was announced today by the Soviet news agency, Tass.

Shkiryatov was a member of the central committee of the Soviet Communist party and chairman of the commission on party control.

He received the Order of Lenin, Russia's highest civilian honor, last August, on his 70th birthday. He was a member of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet and the Presidium of the party for some years but was not included in the streamlined party presidium last March after Georgi Malenkov succeeded Stalin as premier.

Highway Department Inquiry 'Unnecessary'

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said Monday that a public inquiry into his department's affairs is "quite unnecessary."

His statement followed a call by Farquhar Oliver, Liberal house leader, for an investigation to determine whether irregularities uncovered in the Fort William division were confined to that area

Declared Mr. Doucett: "We were making thorough and searching investigations weeks and months before Mr. Oliver's statement. We have looked into the other divisions and haven't found anything wrong."

Urge Province's Residents To Tour Ontario First

TORONTO (CP)—A campaign to encourage residents of Ontario to see their province first has been urged on the provincial government by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

Such a campaign, the executive told Premier Frost and members of the cabinet, would help offset the present situation where Canadians are spending more money on vacations in the United States than is being spent by Americans holidaying in Canada.

The Ontario tourist industry should compete in a fair and healthy way to persuade people of Ontario to see their own province first and establish the habit of holidaying in Canada.

Elimination of either Dominion or provincial succession duties was urged. The brief asked that until this is done methods of taxation be made uniform and one government collect for both to avoid duplication of administration and collection costs.

Full support of a plea by residents of Hearst for adjustment of the pulpwood quotas was given by the chamber. Hearst, the brief said has no local market for its pulpwood and failure to cut mature wood in the Hearst area is resulting in a serious waste of lumber.

$300,000 Ransom Demanded

Abducted Broker Rescued After 3 Days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A wealthy young San Francisco real estate broker who was kidnapped Saturday and held for $300,000 ransom was rescued unharmed early today by police who arrested two men.

The kidnapped man, Leonard Moskovitz, 36, told reporters with a broad smile: "It's wonderful. I love the police department."

District attorney Thomas Lynch identified the two suspects as Harold Jackson, 57, and Joe Lear, 43, both of Sacramento, Calif.

Moskovitz was found shackled in a rented house a few minutes after two police inspectors picked up Lear as he talked with the victim's family from a public telephone a few blocks away.

Police said Lear squealed and quickly led officers to the hideout.

SECRET SINCE SATURDAY

Newspapers, wire services and radio stations had known of the kidnapping since shortly after worried members of the Moskovitz family telephoned police Saturday afternoon and reported him missing. All kept it secret while the family negotiated for his release.

Lynch said every telephone operator in San Francisco had the number of the Moskovitz family home pasted in front of her.

The instant that number was called, the operator called police, who traced the call.

"We saturated the area with cars and nabbed one of the men in a telephone booth," he said.

Moskovitz, father of two children, appeared rumpled and in need of a shave. He said the kidnappers threatened to mutilate him, but actually did him no harm.

"They kept me shackled all the time, but they didn't harm me. They gave me water when I wanted it, and food."

Moskovitz left his office at 11 a. m. Saturday to keep several business appointments. He didn't keep any of them.

RANSOM NOTES BEGIN

Five hours later his family called the missing persons bureau. Almost simultaneously a special delivery ransom demand arrived at his father's home in the exclusive Seacliff district.

The letter, in the kidnapped man's handwriting, demanded $500,000 and said to give directions to the kidnappers through the personal column of the San Francisco Examiner.

The father called police, and the biggest manhunt here in two decades was under way.

Sunday night a second special delivery note asked the family to hurry ransom arrangements.

A man telephoned the elder Moskovitz' home Monday. The caller said: "Get $300,000. The kid is sick. We want to get rid of him."

Man Walks 22 Miles In Wrong Direction In 38 Degrees Below Zero, Lives To Tell It

FORT FRANCES (CP) — A hardy 55-year-old lumberjack is none the worse for wear today after he had walked 22 miles—in the wrong direction—in 38-degrees below zero weather.

Carl Hedburg was exhausted and numb from the 10½-hour ordeal, but heavy clothing kept him from freezing.

Hedburg started towards Williams, Minn., Saturday, 33 miles southeast from the camp where he works.

He became lost but located a forest ranger's conservation telephone around 9:30 p.m. which was connected to a series of emergency phones.

Hedburg got through to ranger Ralph Thompson who in turn notified Warroad, Minn., authorities. They located the bush worker an hour later.

See Vote On Seaway In 24 Hours

May Limit Debating; Opponents Term U.S. Help Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate today comes up to what may be the decisive stage in the fight over legislation to authorize the United States to join with Canada in building the St Lawrence seaway.

Majority leader William F. Knowland (Rep. Calif.) announced he would move that further debate on the controversial bill be sharply limited beginning at noon Wednesday.

If Knowland's proposal is accepted by the Senate, and no other amendments to the bill are introduced, a final vote could be reached Wednesday. One amendment is pending.

Knowland said Monday that he will propose that proponents and opponents of the seaway be limited to 30 minutes' discussion each on amendments and one hour each on debate prior to a final vote.

FURTHER AMENDMENTS

Opponents of the Atlantic-to-Great-Lakes waterway, presumably, could offer further amendments in addition to the one proposed by Senator Russell B. Long (Dem. La.). In such an event, a final test could be delayed until Thursday.

Long has proposed that the St. Lawrence Development Corporation, the federal agency that the bill would create to finance and administer the U. S. portion of the project, be required to ask Congress for funds. Under the bill, the agency would sell $105,000,000 in bonds to the treasury department.

Should the bill pass the Senate, it would still have to be considered by the House of Representatives. Opponents of the project have been reported concentrating their opposition on the lower house, feeling the cause is lost in the Senate.

TERMED CANADIAN PROJECT

Long, who is opposed to the project, said the seaway is primarily a Canadian project. Canada has already said she is ready and able to build it on her own side of the river without U. S. participation.

Long termed Canada "one of the richest nations in the world" and said the seaway, "in the final analysis . . . is a foreign aid bill" to help her. He claimed the seaway is not essential to national defence, as claimed by President Eisenhower and others

Long contended that if congress approves the project it will later be asked to pay such additional costs as those for deepening of channels and dredging of harbors. Cost of such work, he said, would reach $4,000,000,000.

Long told the Senate that funds now are lacking to construct 42 other navigation projects wholly within the U. S.

Seaway supporters gained significant strength Monday when Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep. N. J.) a former opponent of the project, announced that he now would support the bill—principally because of Eisenhower's strong stand for it.

A similar expression came from Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.), who succeeded a Republican opponent of the seaway.

Every U. S. President for 30 years has blessed the idea of making the St. Lawrence a seaway for ocean-going shipping.

AN OLD ISSUE

The issue has bounced around Congress since the end of the First World War. But whenever it came to a vote, sometimes after weeks of debate as it did in 1934, 1944, 1948, and 1952, the Senate voted it down.

If Congress approves this time, the U. S. will join Canada in deepening the river channel where necessary to a minimum of 27 feet, building locks, and charging tolls for the ships passing through. If the U. S. doesn't join up, Canada alone will collect the tolls, mostly from U. S. ships.

Two Centres Hoping Have Plowing Match

KITCHENER (CP)—Portage La Prairie, Man., and Breslau both hope to get the Canadian championship plowing match next October.

F. A. Lashley, secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, told 250 plowing enthusiasts here Monday that Manitoba is trying hard to get the Canadian match.

Waterloo county and Ontario are trying to have the plowing "sawoffs" at the international plowing match at Breslau Oct. 12-15. However, he was hopeful that it would stay in Ontario.

North Dumfries was the only township plowing association to elect a new president. Arnold Rife of Galt succeeded Jack Welsh of Ayr as president.

Howe Discusses Natural Gas With Ont. Gov't

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe and a group of Ontario government officials held a two-hour discussion today on the supply of natural gas for that province.

The conference was concerned chiefly with markets in relation to the proposed cross-Canada gas pipeline from Alberta, Mr. Howe told a reporter later.

The minister met with Attorney-General Dana Porter, Ontario Hydro chairman R. H. Saunders and provincial fuel controller A. R. Crozier.

NO VERDICT REACHED

Mr. Howe said the advisability was discussed of Consumers' Gas Company of Toronto piping United States gas to Toronto pending construction of the larger line from western Canada.

"We came to no definite conclusions as to whether that would be good or bad," he said.

He added the government does not propose to interfere with passage of a bill in Parliament to incorporate a Consumers' subsidiary.

Hawaii, Alaska Both Approved As States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate interior committee voted today to approve statehood for both Hawaii and Alaska.

Chairman Hugh Butler (Rep. Neb.) told reporters the vote to add Alaska statehood to the statehood bill was "as close as could be," presumably 8 to 7. Butler declined to make public the roll-call vote which was taken in a closed door committee session.

After voting to combine the Alaska and Hawaii statehood bills into a single package, the committee voted to delay its report to the Senate until the Alaska statehood section can be "perfected."

Stock Market Trading Moderately Active

TORONTO (CP) — Early afternoon stock market trading was moderately active and mixed.

In the industrials, liquors, manufactures, foods, steels, motors, retail stores and utilities were stronger. Refining oils and textiles were lower. Papers were slightly weaker.

McIntyre lost the 50 cents to lead golds lower.

Base metals were lower. Geco, the major holder in the Lake Manitouwedge base metal strike, was admitted to trading, opened at $6.75, then slowly slipped to $6.45.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals opened a little stronger but slipped.

Western oils losses outnumbered gains by three-to-two.

Frost Predicts Ont. Population To Be 6,000,000

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost predicted Monday night that Ontario will have a population of about 6,000,000 in the next five or six years and said provision is being made to provide the schools, roads, housing and other facilities the population will need.

Ontario's population has just passed the 5,000,000 - mark, the premier said in a radio address prepared for delivery over a CBC provincial network. The next five or six years would "see another 1,000,000 people in our province."

Last year more than half of all the new people coming to Canada settled in Ontario. A total of 130,000 children were born in the province and each year "we have to provide for between 50,000 and 60,000 more children in our schools."

MEET EDUCATION NEEDS

He predicted that the needs of education—both schools and teachers—would be met. Likewise, he said 40,000 new homes were started in Ontario last year and "our new building now matches the requirements of population increase."

There now is one car to every three or four Ontario residents and the province's road-building program now is "far in excess of what was thought necessary just a few years ago."

Find No Trace Of Meteorite

PARRY SOUND (CP)—A search for a meteorite that flashed across Ontario skies last Wednesday proved fruitless here Monday as investigators dug into the roof of A. Bissonette's home.

A small fire started on the roof seconds after a ball of fire was seen in the sky and an explosion was heard here.

A hole, two inches in diameter, was found in the roof, but no fragment thought to have caused the fire could be found.

Dr. Helen Hogg of the University of Toronto's Dunlap observatory said the explosion indicated the fireball, travelling east to west, passed over Parry Sound. She said it might have come down in Georgian bay west of the town.

Dr. Peter Millman, astrophysicist at the Dominion observatory, Ottawa, said it could have been a piece of the fireball that hit the roof.

Convict Dies

in convulsions and then was still. A priest and jail guard had been talking with him. The hangman was waiting and outside in the frozen earth of the jail courtyard, Seguin's grave was being dug.

But Seguin, convicted in the shooting of a district taxi firm proprietor, beat the trap and noose that waited for Cornwall's first handing in 28 years.

CAPTURED IN 1952

Seguin was captured Dec. 16, 1952, in a gun battle with police officers after an attempted bank holdup in British Columbia's Cariboo country.

He spent his last few days penning a long manuscript. Its contents were not disclosed but it is reported to be a record of his thoughts and philosophy as he waited in the shadow of the noose. It is said to have been addressed to his sister, for whom he seemed to have the highest regard of any of his relatives.

Jail officials and guards said Seguin gave them no trouble as he waited in the vain hope of reprieve—both the Ontario Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada denied motions for a new trial and a stay of execution was refused last Saturday.

However, his reputation as a "tough guy" was reflected in his steadfast refusal to see members of his family or friends.

RCMP VISITORS

Visitors from British Columbia saw Seguin briefly during his final hours. They were RCMP officers who hoped Seguin might tell them something about the fate of two persons, now listed as missing, with whom Seguin is known to have lived prior to his capture.

They did not say whether they obtained any information.

Seguin also spurned any form of spiritual comfort until Monday night. Then he unexpectedly asked to see a Roman Catholic priest.

The Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, assistant curate at Nativity church in Cornwall, went to the jail to see him. Guard D. C. Nolan accompanied him to the cell. They were with Seguin when he died in convulsions about 40 minutes later.

Jail officials said Seguin ate normally Monday and showed no sign of illness up to the time of his seizure.

PRONOUNCED DEAD

Jail governor J. S. Dickey summoned Dr. J. A. McGuire, the jail doctor, who was in the building to be present for the hanging. Dr. McGuire pronounced Seguin dead, just an hour before the trap was to have been sprung.

Seguin ate his regular evening meal at 6 p. m. Sheriff D. A. McNaughton said that, as far as he knew, Seguin had nothing after that.

The sheriff said Seguin was given no drugs by prison officials.

Jail officials said Seguin, who appeared healthy, seemed to have resigned himself to his fate. They suggested that fright caused by the nearness of death by hanging might have caused heart failure.

Dr. Lawson said, however, that he thought it unlikely a man could be "scared to death." He said he considered poisoning a stronger possibility.

Mathematically Impossible For Liberals Give Opinion

OTTAWA—(CP)—A CCF member of Parliament said Monday it appears mathematically impossible for a Liberal to express a personal opinion in the Commons. In a whimsical way, Fred S. Zaplitny, member for Dauphin in Manitoba, quoted a series of figures purporting to prove his point. He offered them during debate on a resolution suggesting the government consider lifting the three-per-cent floor on deduction of medical expenses for income tax purposes.

Starting with the 168-member Liberal representation, Mr. Zaplitny first subtracted the 20 cabinet ministers who were not expected to speak against the government. That left 148.

Since 13 parliamentary assistants also were not expected to be critical of government policies, this left 135.

For every parliamentary assistant, there were 520 more members hoping for a similar job. That left 109.

HOPE TO BE SENATORS

He said 13 vacancies in the Senate—actually there are 15—are the aim of twice as many commoners—26. There were then 83 members from whom a personal opinion might be expected.

Assuming 13 members were hoping for appointments to the bench, there were 70 members left.

He said the average number of Liberal members absent for votes in the Commons is 57, leaving 13. The average number declining to vote totalled 12. That left one member.

At this point, Deputy-Speaker W. A. Robinson called Mr. Zaplitny to order, saying he was straying from the debate.

Mr. Zaplitny agreed but added: "This one member, who might have been willing to take an impartial, independent and courageous stand. . . of course had to be given the position of deputy speaker."

He said his figures had not been given in a "critical mood."

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: Parsnips, washed, hamper $3. Potato prices unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — All grains opened strong in active dealings on the board of trade today.

Demand was stimulated by large shipments of red wheat out of Chicago last week.

Wheat started ⅜ to ¾ cent higher, March 2.13¼-½, corn ¼ to ½ higher, March 1.52⅝-¾, oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, March 79¼-⅝ and soybeans unchanged to 1¾ higher, Jan. 3.09¼-½.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax trade again overshadowed dealings in other grains early today on the grain exchange.

Further export buying sent all months of flax up to new seasonal highs. The demand was believed to represent covering of old or new business.

Oats and barley trade was mostly domestic and generally dull. Rye dealings were light and local.

11 a. m. prices:

Oats: May ⅛ higher 73; Jly not open; Oct. not open.

Barley: May ⅛ higher 95⅛; Jly unch 93; Oct. not open.

Terry Moore Comes Home To Big Party

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Terry Moore, whose ermine bathing suit figured in an alleged publicity stunt in Korea, was welcomed back to Hollywood Monday night with a fantastic Oriental party.

Ciro's night club was jammed for a party honoring Miss Moore and Susan Zanuck, who accompanied her on her entertainment tour of Korea during the Christmas holidays.

Before the main party, a select group gathered for an Oriental feast at foot-high tables surrounded with Chinese and Japanese decorations. Among the guests were Darryl F. Zanuck — Miss Moore's boss and Miss Zanuck's father—who wore a royal blue Chinese silk blouse, Clifton Webb in a red-and-gold brocaded robe, Conrad Hilton in a brilliant Chinese robe, Ann Blyth and husband Dr. James McNulty, Debbie Reynolds and Geary Steffen, former husband of Jane Powell.

"Darryl made the cutest speech," Miss Moore gushed as she emerged from the dinner. "He said how the war in Korea was so tough with Heartbreak ridge and all that and then his two girls went over and won it."

She was asked if her boss was angry at the ermine bathing suit incident.

"No, he seemed to think it was very funny," she said.

Drew Calls Coyle Devoted Servant

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said today that Charles Coyle "will always be remembered by those who knew him as a lovable friend and devoted public servant."

Mr. Coyle, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for the Ontario riding of Elgin, died today at Straffordville, Ont.

Mr. Drew said Mr. Coyle's "sudden and wholly unexpected death comes as a great shock to all his associates in the House of Commons as it will to his host of friends in Ontario."

Mr. Coyle had served Elgin county "with devotion" for a great part of his life and Canada as well since his election to Parliament in 1945.

"The sympathy of the members of all parties in Canada will be extended in full measure to his wife and children in their great sorrow."

25 Killed In Eruption Thousands Flee Homes

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Thousands of frightened Javanese fled their homes today in the wake of an eruption of the volcano Merapi. The blow-off, in the heart of one of the world's most densely populated areas, killed 25 persons and injured 66 others.

The 9,950-foot volcano, 20 miles northeast of this Indonesian capital, has been acting up since last March. A serious eruption occurred Monday.

Officials said 2,000 persons have been moved out of the immediate area and thousands of others are leaving their homes. The recorded toll from Merapi's last major eruption, in 1930, was 7,000 dead, but some authorities put it as high as 30,000.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 2 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Monday's noon rate was 97 5-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.73⅜, against $2.73⅜.

UK Government Plans Keep Hands Off Dispute

LONDON (AP)—Parliament reassembled today in the shadows of widespread industrial unrest and was told the Conservative government plans to keep its hands off the electrical workers dispute for the present.

Minister of Labor Sir Walter Monckton explained the government's wait-and-see policy to the House of Commons. A series of unsatisfied wage claims are simmering in Britain's industrial areas, but the electricians have brought their dispute into the open.

Their Communist-led union called out 30,000 workers in a one-day strike Monday. The number that responded was not announced, but those who stayed away were locked out today by the employers in a "tit-for-tat" move.

A country-wide railway strike for higher pay was barely staved off four weeks ago just as Parliament recessed for Christmas.

Road Liability Decision Creates Grave Situation

HAMILTON (CP) — D'Arcy R. Lee, Wenthworth county solicitor, described as creating a grave situation the action of the Supreme Court of Ontario by which municipalities are held responsible for accidents on highways within their jurisdiction, occurring due to neglect in sanding roads.

Recent judgments against the County of Wellington fixed its responsibility in this respect.

Wentworth county council agreed that action should be taken to have this legislation changed, and will discuss the question.

Television Sets Strewn Over Road

COBOURG (ENS). — A huge Smith Transport tractor-trailer loaded with new television sets, went hurtling out of control on Highway 2 two miles east of Colborne at seven o'clock this morning. Damage to the truck was described as "extensive," and parts of television sets were strewn over the road.

Traffic is now proceeding normally on No. 2, although there was a bottleneck this morning, Constable Lyell of the Brighton OPP detachment said. Constable Cook of Brighton is investigating.

Senator Dennis

business sides of newspaper work. In 1911 at 24 he became vice-president and business manager of the company which published the Halifax Herald and the Halifax Mail, morning and afternoon newspapers.

On the death of his uncle he inherited 55 per cent of the company's capital stock and became managing director, a post he relinquished to his only son, Graham, several years ago because of poor health. A few years ago the two newspapers absorbed their competitors, The Chronicle and The Star, and formed The Chronicle-Herald and The Mail-Star, with Senator Dennis remaining as publisher.

One of his first accomplishments as senator was to promote the formation of a Senate tourist committee. As its chairman he launched an investigation of tourist facilities that resulted in creation of the Canadian travel bureau.

A few years after entering the Senate, he suffered the first of a series of heart illnesses. In the last few years his health improved and he attended regular Senate sittings but did not take part actively in debates.

RETURNED FOR SITTINGS

He returned to Ottawa Sunday night from his Halifax home for resumption of Senate sittings tonight and died of a heart ailment as he rested in bed. His body will be taken to Halifax for burial.

His interests centred on affairs of the eastern provinces. He was a leading figure during a long "Maritime rights" campaign and was an active supporter of the port of Halifax.

He founded a summer colony for under-privileged children, gave annual prizes in Maritime universities and donated to hospitals and charitable institutions.

He also donated the trophy for a sporting event that won fame the world over, the international schooner races which made the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose a household name.

Bell Telephone Has Big Job Laying Underground Cable

To keep up with the demand for new communication services, Bell Telephone Co. is laying additional cable lines into the north and south corners of the city.

One of them is reaching into the Queen Elizabeth subdivision on the north, and the other extends from Frank St. southerly to what is called Concession Rd., which is westerly from the foot of Monaghan Rd. at Crawford's Grove.

A conduit and cable job on George St. north begins at the Parkhill Rd. corner, and ends at Barnardo Ave. where it takes to the air to Hilliard St. and into the Queen Elizabeth residential area. It should be finished about March 1 and will make one-party telephone lines available to that community.

The work at the south west corner of the city projects from the Frank St. neighborhood, and is aimed particularly at the subdivision which Don Ephgrave is building immediately east of Grove School, out to Monaghan Rd. and with a short street linking with Cameron St.

SOUTH END OF CITY

This is another reinforcement cable extension to supply the needs of that growing section, generally between Erskine Ave. and Monaghan Rd., and mostly, in the Bell Company's concern, between Cameron St. and Concession Rd. Some of the telephone applications are from people as far north as St. Mary's St., south from Frank St. Completion date is June 1.

Don Ephgrave has plans for 46 residences on Bellaire St., which runs easterly from the Grove school property, and on Shirley St., south from Cameron to Bellaire. Total investment when the entire block is occupied with new houses will be approximately $465,000. The land was bought from Joseph H. Bell, 594 Monaghan Rd. Bellaire St. passes close to the Bell residence.

BUILDING 20 HOUSES

Twenty of the Ephgrave houses are in course of construction, and twelve of them are occupied.

Details of the Bell Telephone extensions were received today from W. H. Lettau, manager, and A. E. Sayers, supervising engineer. Other jobs planned for this year are out on the West side, Westmount and Manor Heights subdivisions.

Mr. Sayers also mentioned the laying last fall of one and one-quarter miles of cable, on private property, parallel with the CPR from Lansdowne St. to the Concession Rd. crossing. That is identified as the locality used in the burning of refuse.

The right of way was purchased from property owners, Mr. Sayers said, and the cable was "plowed in," by turning the ground with a special plow. Eventually this extention will be carried to Springville in anticipation of expected future demand in that quarter for telephone connections.

"That job was on our books for two or three years before we started at Lansdowne St.," Mr. Sayers said.

The rest of it will be laid in corresponding sections.

Meet Secretly To Patch Up Broken Romance

LONDON (AP)—Harry Hillers, Brooklyn house painter, and his pretty German wife, Hanna, were reported meeting secretly today in an effort to patch up their shattered romance and give their little son Jimmy a normal home again.

The rendezvous was arranged somewhere in London, a reliable source said. Lawyers for both sides awaited the outcome of the reconciliation attempt before taking the battle for custody of six-year-old Jimmy to a British court.

Mrs. Hillers, 27, an attractive curly-haired blonde, flew to London from Germany Monday night with her American lawyer.

WANTS SON BACK

Hillers, who met Hanna while serving with the American infantry in Germany and married her in the United States in 1947, hired a lawyer in London to push his own fight for Jimmy.

Reliable sources said he planned to seek a court order here making Jimmy a ward-in-chancery. This would forbid his removal from the country without a judge's permission.

First Maldive President, Amir Didi Dies

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Amir Amin Didi, 48, president of the world's youngest republic until he resigned last September, died today at his home on the Maldive islands. He had been afflicted with high blood pressure for the last year.

Amin Didi became the first president of the Maldive islands after Britain granted the territory independence early last year.

Amin Didi was elected to the presidency of the 2,000 palm-clad Maldive islands, 400 miles west of here, on a 99 per cent vote of the electorate. He ruled 93,000 people —all Moslems but for a single Christian.

FREED GIRLS

One of his first moves as president was to free the girls and women of the islands from the "purdah" — by which Moslem women are secluded from male eyes.

Under a treaty with Britain, the Maldives technically ceased to be a protectorate, though Britain remained responsible for the islands' defence and external affairs.

Court Awards $22,000 To Widowed Mother

GUELPH (CP)—Widowed in a traffic accident more than a year ago, Mrs. Doris Irene Baker, 38-year-old mother of eight children, today was awarded damages of $22,000 in a Supreme Court action heard here.

Her husband, Charles Edward Baker, 34, died Dec. 7, 1952, two days after he was injured when his car was struck by another vehicle driven by Durrard Mosher.

The action was taken under the Fatal Accidents Act and the award was made against the provincial unsatisfied judgment fund.

The Baker family came here in 1949 from the Maritimes. Neighbors organized a fund to complete a large home that Baker had partly completed before his death. A Galt firm furnished the home.

Sees Province-Wide Air Raid Alarm System

KITCHENER (CP) — Dr. A. J. McGanity, Waterloo county civil defence co-ordinator, today said he thinks Kitchener's new air raid alarm setup is a forerunner of a system which will be adopted by every town and city in Ontario.

Dr. McGanity envisioned a province-wide "general alarm system" where one "button", possibly in Ottawa, could be pressed to alert the whole province in the event of an emergency. He said other centres in Ontario are being or have been—issued their allotment of air raid sirens.

Judge Reserves Decision On 100 mph Race

BARRIE (CP) — Judge J. G. Harvie reserved judgment Monday on whether it is dangerous to drive 100 miles an hour on a clear highway.

The case involves Edward Levy, 25, of Toronto, who was found not guilty of dangerous driving charge several months ago after he was arrested following a 27-mile police chase along the four-lane Toronto-Barrie superhighway.

The crown appealed the decision of Magistrate Gordon Foster who ruled the crown had not proved Levy was endangering the public by driving "at speeds up to 100 miles per hour."

The speed limit in Ontario is 50 miles an hour.

SPEED DRIVER TESTIFIES

Wally Branston, a Toronto stock car driver called to testify by the crown, said he had driven a car at 105 miles an hour on the highway before it was open for traffic.

"You are unable to manoeuvre a car when it is going that fast," Branston said.

Police said Levy was finally stopped by a roadblock.

Oil Painting Presented Liberal Member

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — More than 1,000 people—many of them from Campbellford and Seymour township—filled the Cobourg Pavilion to capacity Monday night as the Northumberland Liberal Association staged a concert party and dance in Cobourg.

W. A. Hogle of Campbellford, who was in charge of the ceremonies, thanked the association for the entertainment. He also presented Dr. Fred G. Robertson, Liberal MP for Northumberland, with an oil painting of Dr. Robertson.

The painting was by Dr. William W. Stephens of Cobourg.

A variety show was presented by the Skyliners, a professional troupe. They included Miss Penny Stevens, singer; Frank Palmer, baritone; Rudy Spratt, banjo; Al Dunlop, piano accordion and Douglas Romaine, comedian and master of ceremonies who will soon travel to Korea and Japan to entertain the troops.

Lunch was served by the women and the rest of the night was spent in round and square dancing.

Gov't Aiming To Raise Eskimo Standard Of Living

MONTMAGNY, Que. (CP)—The federal government is trying to raise the living standards of Canada's Eskimos and have them take a greater part in the country's national life, Northern Affairs Minister Lesage said Monday night.

The newest federal minister told a meeting of social clubs in his Montmagny-l'Islet riding that these are the main Eskimo policies of his department:

1. Aboriginal Eskimos of the more remote areas to be left comparatively free to pursue their normal life.

2. Those living in areas close to civilization to be integrated as rapidly as possible into the Canadian economy. These would include such Eskimos as those around Churchill, Frobisher bay and Aklavik.

3. Eskimos in intermediate areas to be made to participate as much as possible in the Canadian economy, without their way of life being changed too radically.

Last Friday an advance text of the speech said Mr. Lesage "drew a hearty laugh from his audience when he reminded them that the government, by entrusting him with the administration of the Canadian north, had made Santa Claus one of the citizens under his jurisdiction."

The text later was recalled and a new one issued which deleted all reference to audience reaction and Santa Claus.

Thousands Hit By Lockout

LONDON (Reuters) — Employers today made good their "tit for tat" threat and locked out thousands of electrical workers for staging a 24-hour general strike.

The men were told when they reported in after Monday's walkout that there would be no work for them until Wednesday.

Their Communist-led Electrical Trades Union, in turn, declared a "fight to the finish" for more pay and said it plans to call a one-week strike of 8,000 members in the London area starting Monday.

The employers had threatened reprisal lockouts since the beginning of last week, when the ETU started a series of "guerrilla" strikes, calling out a few key men from selected firms each day.

The walkout Monday, by an estimated 30,000 of the 35,000 ETU members, crippled work at atomic plants, air bases, oil refineries, power stations, coal mines and steel plants in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Cobourg Woman To Show Dressed Dolls In New York

COBOURG—(ENS)—Miss Eleanor Willmott has prepared several dolls for exhibition at the Rockerfeller Centre, N.Y., of Canadian-made toys.

The display will be on view from Feb. 15 until Feb. 21 in that city. Miss Willmott showed some of her handiwork at the Toy Fair at Montreal in 1947 and it was there that her dolls came to the attention of an official of the deparment of trade and commerce, leading to the invitation to exhibit some dolls next month at the Canadian trade commission's toy display at New York.

Miss Willmott had difficulty obtaining the dolls she prefers just now because of the demand for them at Christmas. She only was able to get four. However she had dressed them in a variety of garments such as bridal, evening dress and street wear and also made hats for them and wraps.

Miss Willmott uses dolls extensively in displays of her shop windows at Christmas, Easter and other dates and her handicraft is rated as very expert. She started making dresses for dolls in 1947 and in her spare time in the evenings makes up a wide range of attire. She selects the higher grade of dolls as models in order to display the dresses to best advantage.

Miss Willmott has been working on the four she is exhibiting at the coming exhibition, whenever she had time in the evenings during the past month. They were in her store on Saturday and drew much admiration.

Police Disturb Officer Burglar

COBOURG (ENS) — Constable Bob Caldwell, on patrol yesterday morning before dawn, found an open office window at the Imperial Oil depot. Apparently his approach frightened away the burglar. Near the window was found a small wrecking bar. Police think the thief was a petty robber as there was no trace of car marks or any indication that he brought safe-cracking materials with him.

Newspaperman Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George T. Chambers, 62, staff member of the San Francisco Examiner and foreign news editor for the Chicago Tribune during the Second World War, was found dead in his hotel room Monday. A coroner's report said death resulted from natural causes.

Priest Dies In Toronto

He also served at St. Vincent de Paul church here before being appointed rector of a parish in Phelpston, about 15 miles northwest of Barrie.

Father Smith returned to Toronto after being forced by poor health to retire.

Geigers Used In Hunt

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP) Atomic scientists today began a geiger-counter search of Southampton sewers for three matchsized tubes of radium missing since Christmas. The radium, worth about $500, disappeared from a local hospital.

Lawyer Praises Combines Act

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Sedgwick, Toronto lawyer, Monday night described the Combines Investigation Act, with its latest amendments and provisions, as "a bright new weapon which business had better study with care."

He said in a speech to the Board of Trade Club that much will depend on the spirit in which it is administered.

"Time alone will tell. It looks as though you business men will have to live with it for some years. . . . There is some danger that all industry-wide practices which in any substantial way limit or reduce the competitive factors in an industry may be outlawed or, at the least, the industry may be called upon to justify them as being in the public interest.

"It can be argued that while agreement on price, and certainly agreement to gouge the public by an unfair price, should be unlawful, discussions as to price and the ultimate fair and uniform fixation is very much in the public interest, as it avoids the chaos that results from prices individually fixed."

Reaffirm Support Of Seaway Plan

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Navigators Federation Monday night re-affirmed its support for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway project and urged the Canadian government to protect this country's shippers from foreign competition.

A spokesman for the federation, which opened a two-day conference, said present laws would allow any ocean-going company to carry cargo between Canada and the United States when the seaway is complete.

The federation, representing some 600 masters, mates, pilots and engineers from the Lakehead to the east coast, will ask the federal government to change the law to protect Canadian companies and sailors, the spokesman said.

Occupants Extinguish Fire In Farmhouse

COBOURG (ENS) — Fire which broke out in a large frame farmhouse on Dale Road just west of Precious Corners at 5:30 p.m. Monday, was extinguished by the occupants of the house before it got out of control. Cobourg fire brigade was called but the fire was out when they arrived.

Owned by Howard Lang, the big dwelling is the home of the Lang family and Ross Garland and his family. The fire, which started from an overheated chimney in the Garland half of the house, scorched one room in the second story.

Broken Water Main Floods Garage

COBOURG—(ENS)—A broken water main which became apparent around one o'clock this morning when it started to flood the King St. garage of Percy Macklin caused the water to rise to a level of about 5" in the stockroom and office of the garage. The night employee, Douglas Chadwick, telephoned public utilities to shut the water off. They expected to have the break repaired around noon. The area affected by the shutoff extended for about two blocks on King St. and south about two blocks to the lake. The area is well bounded by hydrants and there is no danger in event of fire.

Cars Damaged

COBOURG (ENS) — Both cars were damaged considerably, but the drivers escaped uninjured when a car driven by R. Harden of Grafton came into collision with a vehicle driven by Breck Gourlay of Wicklow. The two cars collided on a township road just north of Grafton. Provincial Constable Frank Cloug[h] investigated.

Bibles Presented Alderville Students

Three members of the Gideon society were present at Alderville church on Sunday afternoon and presented Bibles to the pupils of Alderville school.

The Rev. J. N. Lovelace, pastor of the church, was in charge of the service. The guest speaker was J. Watson, Belleville, who told of the origin of the Gideon society in Wisconsin in 1874 and of the work that has been carried on by this international organization through the years. The speaker was introduced by Clifford Nixon, Cobourg, and thanked by Mr. Lovelace.

Mr. F. Robertson, Belleville, made the presentation of 10 small Bibles to Grade V pupils and 20 larger Bibles to the teacher, John D. Loukes, to be used in the school. Mr. Loukes, during his 17 years as teacher of Alderville school, has devoted a part of every morning to the study of the Bible. He expressed his thanks to the Gideon brethren for the gift.

The Bibles were then dedicated by Mr. Lovelace.

The service was largely attended.

Churchill Enjoys Play

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill was just as enthusiastic as gallery fans Monday night in praising a production of "Hamlet" at the Old Vic theatre, starring Richard Burton and Claire Boom. The prime minister and Lady Churchill remained to watch 18 curtain calls. Churchill remarked: "The most interesting and virile performance I have ever seen."

Germans Get Guns

BONN (AP)—West Germany's elite frontier force soon will be equipped with light artillery, government officials disclosed Monday. A number of 20-millimetre dual-purpose guns have been purchased in Switzerland for the 10,000-man force, the officials said. The force patrols the long Iron Curtain frontier dividing West and East Germany.

Wanted Man Caught

CHICAGO (AP)— Franklin James Wilson, 52-year-old former convict and one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives, was seized by federal agents Monday. Wilson offered no resistance as four agents arrested him in a hotel. He was wanted for jumping a $30,000 bond in Chicago in 1951 after he was named as one of four bandits who attempted to rob the home of Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wolfner, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team.

Crane Kills Driver

MIAMI (AP)—The boom of a huge crane buckled and smashed into a passing automobile Monday, fatally injuring the driver and hurting three other persons. The crane operator, Leigh Harris, said the boom buckled 15 feet above his cab while he was trying to lift an 18-ton concrete manhole structure. The tip of the boom crashed throught he roof of the light sedan.

Intoxication Charge

COBOURG (ENS)—Charged with intoxication, George Tapscott of Hamilton Township was remanded to Jan. 22, when he appeared in police court Monday.

Found guilty at Bowmanville on charges involving theft of gasoline, tools and a hand operated rotary pump, Wilfred Wood of Bowmanville was remanded one week for sentence.

Council Moves To Stop Equipment Being Used On Private Property

It was revealed at city council Monday night that for years past, employees of the parks department have been using departmental equipment in jobs they have undertaken in their own time.

According to Ald. Bob Knox, chairman of the parks committee, employees have had the use of saws and trucks to perform tasks on private property which had nothing to do with their regular employment by the city.

Ald. Knox made the disclosure when Ald. Harold Rehill asked for an explanation of a recommendation contained in the report of an unpublicized meeting of the parks committee.

The recommendation was worded as follows:

"That in future, equipment owned by the parks department will not be permitted to be used by city employees or other persons except on undertakings directly under the control and responsiblity of the parks superintendent."

Asked by Ald. Rehill to elaborate on the recommendation, Ald. Knox said, "In the past, we understand, a lot of equipment, including saws and trucks, have been used for doing various jobs around the city, in one instance to cut down trees on private property. In future, this work will be reviewed by the committee."

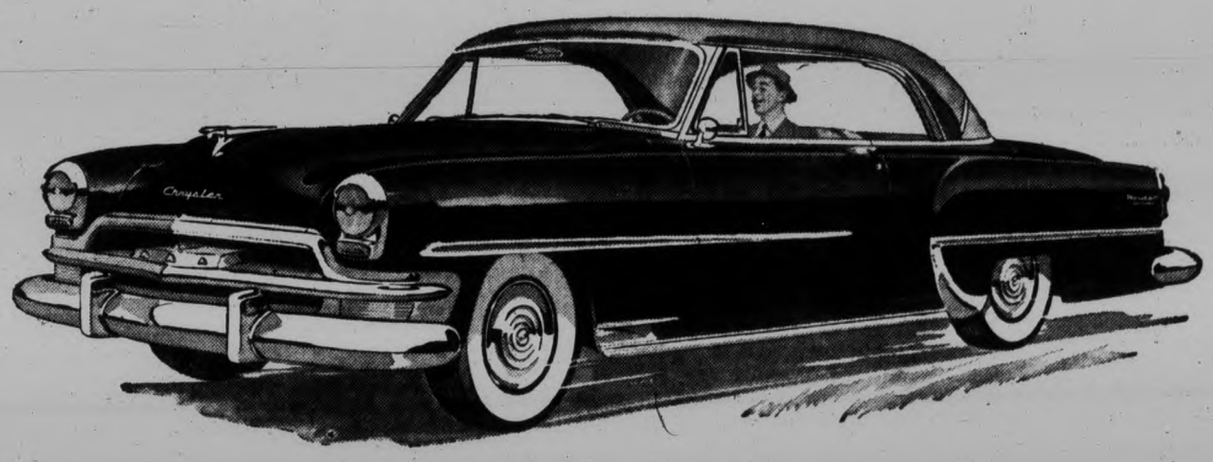
"There are times when this equipment is used by other departments," Ald. Rehill said. "I wonder whether there should be a clause in the recommendation permitting other departments to use parks equipment."

"My understanding is that various members of the department were using the equipment after work for private use," Ald. Bill Beggs explained. "This recommendation is to prevent that sort of thing. But the way this is worded, no other department could use the equipment."

"That wasn't the intention," said Ald. Knox. "It was to stop our equipment being used on private property."

"As last year's chairman of the parks committee, I would like to clear something up," said Ald. Art Burrows. "It has been the practice in the past for employees of the parks department to use departmental equipment when they worked during their off hours. It was done only with the consent of the chairman and was quite acceptable to previous councils. That has been stopped now."

New Wings for the Chrysler Windsor DeLuxe to match its Cloud-Soft Ride



YOU'LL MARVEL AT THE SWIFT ACCELERATION OF

POWERFLITE FULLY AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

You're away—with the swiftness of wings—when you accelerate the 1954 Windsor DeLuxe with PowerFlite.

PowerFlite is the finest and smoothest of all fully-automatic transmissions, designed to free you from strain, tension and all gear-shifting work. It lets you pass other cars safely—slip through traffic with new-found confidence—master the steepest grades with the greatest surety.

You'll enjoy driving the new Windsor DeLuxe for so many reasons. An advanced system of spring suspension gives you a cloud-soft ride and exceptional stability on curves. Optional Full-Time Power Steering* does four-fifths of the steering and parking work by power.

And you'll like the new Windsor's unmistakable air of prestige. From the long, graceful lines to the luxurious appointments of its exquisite two-tone interior, there's beauty and style that says you own the leader.

You'll have every reason for pardonable pride when your friends remark—

"I SEE YOU DRIVE A CHRYSLER!"

Are The Provincial "Rights" In Danger?

Premier Duplessis of Quebec has a policy of non-co-operation with the Federal Government which is costing the taxpayers of that province money for no good reason, it seems to us, other than Mr. Duplessis' own fears and to support his somewhat demagogic politics.

* * *

The Federal Government is making multi-million-dollar grants to Provincial Governments for Education. The only condition is that the money shall go proportionately to the universities in the province, to help them maintain financial stability and the quality of their teaching. Each Provincial Government administers the grant itself. Mr. Duplessis will have none of the several millions available to Quebec universities. He says that Ottawa is trying to interfere with a Provincial matter—education—with an ulterior motive to take over control.

* * *

The Federal Government is making millions of dollars available to each province to help it build the Trans-Canada highway through its territory. The only stipulation is that the Provincial Government shall assume some of the cost and that the surface shall meet standard specifications. Each Provincial Department of Highways spends the money and lets the contracts. But Mr. Duplessis will have none of it. It is an encroachment by Ottawa into Provincial rights, he says. Instead, Mr. Duplessis (and the taxpayers of Quebec) are building sections of the road entirely themselves.

* * *

All the Provincial Governments have entered into what are called "tax-rental" agreements with Ottawa, whereby, in exchange for agreed sums, the Province concerned will not levy income tax, but leave that field to Ottawa. Ontario was the second-last Province to hold itself aloof from such an agreement; but Premier Frost several years ago came to amicable terms with the Federal Government. Now Quebec alone will not enter into the arrangement. To do so, says Mr. Duplessis, would be to surrender to Ottawa Quebec's inalienable Provincial "rights".

* * *

Now what do we see happening in Quebec? Alone of all the Provinces its budget is showing a deficit. Its universities are starved for money. So Mr. Duplessis has announced that a bill will be introduced in the forthcoming session of the Quebec legislature imposing a fifteen per cent. income tax on Quebec residents. Most of this will be in addition to the 'ncome tax collected by the Federal Government. Mr. Duplessis' intransigent policies and his stubborn attitude towards Ottawa are costing Quebec people dearly.

* * *

Would Quebec rights suffer a diminution if the Duplessis Government were to follow the example of all the other provincial governments in these matters? Since Ontario has accepted the Federal grants for universities and the Trans-Canada highway, and has made a tax-rental agreement with Ottawa, has Ontario suffered? Is it less Ontario than it was? Are any of its prerogatives and privileges curtailed? We think not. We th . on the contrary, that for narrow political purposes and to foster prejudices, Mr. Duplessis is damning the Quebec people to costly isolation.

Rhee Deadline

President Syngman Rhee of Korea is a great patriot; he has spent most of his life working for the independence of Korea. Therefore at this stage of his career, and of Korea's troubled history, his wish to have a unified Korea is understandable. The trouble is that his wish is a determination. According to his utterances he will try to unify the country by force of South Korean arms, if other means fail, and has threatened to do it after April 23rd. That is his "deadline"—180 days from the start of the Korean preliminary peace conference talks. They began October 26th. "At the end of the scheduled time something must be done", the old man said recently.

Syngman Rhee is old enough and unbalanced enough by his fiery nationalism to embark on a reckless crusade. (He is exactly the same age as Sir Winston Churchill.) With most of his life behind him—and years of hard personal experience as a prisoner of Korean enemies and an exile from his country—he personally may see little reason for holding back. He might try to send the now well-equipped and well-trained South Korean soldiers into the North, whatever the consequences to the world at large. He must be restrained, since this would be suicidal folly. The Korean soldiers may be a match for the North Koreans; they certainly would not be for the Chinese, highly experienced, well led and powerfully equipped. There is little doubt that Red China would immediately come to the aid of North Korea should it be attacked by Rhee's forces.

The Americans are the ones to keep Rhee's passions in check. Without their planes, and armour; and indeed without American troops and supplies to back up the South Koreans, they would be wiped out. Further, the world which has supported South Korea is in no mood for a resumption of the war.

President Syngman Rhee is the grand old man of his people; that does not mean that he cannot be retired, and another man elected to take his position. Despite his great patriotism and his life-long struggle for his people's freedom, he is not irreplaceable. To allow him to embark on a campaign doomed from the beginning would destroy the very people he cherishes and the freedom he has sought.

Swords For Prestige

We read with interest that the U.S. service officers have been ordered to wear swords, "to restore prestige to the officer rank". We hope that the order achieves the desired result. We like to see officers wearing swords, although these weapons are now of picturesque value only. But a sword is a symbol of chivalry, and it is a good thing for a man engaged in the chemical-political razzmatazz of modern mayhem to remember that his profession was once associated with ideals of knightly grace.

Most men like swords, and a good many reasons have been invented for wearing them. They are popular adjuncts of the ceremonial of many fraternities and associations. They give a man dash, once he has mastered the art of walking without getting his scabbard between his legs. In court the Sheriff protects the Judge with a sword—a strikingly inadequate implement in itself and one in the use of which few Sheriffs are likely to be proficient. The hankering for a sword is widespread, and we are glad that the Canadian services have never abandoned their use on ceremonial and dress occasions.

As was inevitable, there has been some complaint that U.S. officers will have to spend about fifty dollars apiece to acquire these ornaments of rank. We are not impressed by such complaints. A man who has a good reason to wear a sword will find fifty dollars somewhere. And as U.S. swords will undoubtedly be the longest, brightest, warranted-stainless swords in the history of cutlery, they should appeal to wearers and spectators alike.

School Bandmaster

Mr. Albert Croasdale who died yesterday brought great enthusiasm for band music and for youngsters to Peterborough with him in 1947, and in his few years with Collegiate pupils he created not only a good band but a flock of young instrumentalists. They had a wonderful time with him and made good sounds, being infected by his spirit and instructed by his musicianship. The legacy he leaves Peterborough is an important one. It is not merely the organization of Collegiate bands and the prize-winning concert performances he was able to draw from them. His bequest to this area is in the instrumentalists his teaching and enthusiasm created. For thirty years Peterborough music has suffered from a lack of people able to play wind instruments, a lack which hampered senior bands and prevented the formation of balanced orchestras. The young people whom Albert Croasdale trained and brought so quickly to good standards of playing are already providing new musical resources to Peterborough. They are his legatees —and his legacy.

60 m.p.h. In Quebec

The Province of Quebec has a new speed limit—60 miles an hour. What will the effect be? Most highways and most cars today are built to cope with such a speed. Probably the majority of highways drivers in Ontario regularly travel at or near 60, even though the legal limit is 50 miles an hour. Thus the new speed limit in Quebec seems merely to make an existing practice legal. What it might do is to encourage drivers to go 70 or more, since frequently the legal limit is looked on as the minimum speed, not the maximum permitted. The very term "speed limit" carries an automatic suggestion of going fast.

It has been conclusively established in the United States that the higher the maximum speed limit, the greater the number of accidents on highways. The Province of Quebec already has an alarming numbers of car accidents—hence a St. Jerome magistrate's determination to impose the most severe penalties possible on speeding through that gateway to the Laurentians. The new Quebec limit is logically defensible but may be psychologically faulty. We in Ontario shall watch the results of the increased limit in Quebec with interest.

ROYAL TOUR

Ladies In Waiting

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN
(In Wellington, N.Z.)

THERE WERE three ladies seated in the common lounge of a small hotel near Wellington. They were neatly dressed in bright colours. They had carefully powdered their faces and touched their lips with red; although they were no longer young ladies they were definitely on holiday.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS MEANT that their hands, which were rough and twisted out of shape by a life of hard work, lay in their laps. They all came long ago, from London. They were all war brides of the First World War, had married soldiers who returned to New Zealand to be miners or stevedores.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE OF THE LADIES had been home to England once. She loved it, and yet was glad to get back to New Zealand. None of them would ever go back to England again. Yet the three bore England a bright and amazing love in whose light an Englishman would scarcely recognize his own country.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEY HAD KNOWN hard years of depression in New Zealand; they had not found an easy colonial style life. They were all fierce supporters of their Labour Party. They would have stood no critcism of New Zealand from strangers. Now they had all foregone their usual lakeside holiday resort to come and seen the Queen. And once or twice each day they would quit their murmurous gossip to array themselves with shiny handbags and complicated hats, force white gloves on their hands, and go out and stand among the crowds in the streets of Wellington.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS WELLINGTON has suffered an extraordinary change. Flags fly from the roofs of all main buildings. Lamp-posts have been topped with modernistic crowns. Whole facades have been masked with a mesh of wire that support lions or fleur-de-lis. Bands play busily up and down the streets. Parties of sailors and soldiers march, intent on some duty. Every now and again the streets are cleared, a crowd gathers and the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh drive slowly past on their way to some royal duty. Wellington has become a royal city, and it is not in the least out of character.

✧ ✧ ✧

ROYAL DUTIES that cover many months in London have been crowded into a single week. There are three or four occasions each day— a civic reception, the laying of a foundation stone for the cathedral, a meeting of the Privy Council, an investiture, a visit to a park full of children. There was the one overwhelming moment when the crowd saw their personal idea of royalty come true and the Queen and the Duke stop, motionless, on the steps of Parliament House above a crowd of fifty thousand. The Queen's Coronation robe was spread stiff and dazzling in the bright sunlight and her tall tiara burned with cold fire before she turned into the shadows of the draped doorway to open her Parliament in New Zealand.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND SO THREE or four times a day the procession of black and shiny cars crosses the city, past the heavy-fronted banks, past the line of ships whose bows overhang the road, past the flamboyant gardens, past the little Parliament House on its private hill, and past the Cenotaph that remembers too many dead. It has not grown stale. This city expects no less.

✧ ✧ ✧

NEW ZEALAND is one of those rare countries, both new and at peace with themselves. Until recently New Zealanders were content to let their foreign policy be organized in London. Families which have been here for three generations still call Britain "home" without any feeling that they are minimising their own nation. A monarchy settled on the far side of the world is still felt to be as much theirs as Britain's. They are frequently impatient of the average Britisher, find his ways alien and his manners offensive or affected. But it is easy to exaggerate the importance of this human impatience. It pales into insignificance before their feelings for the Crown and what it stands for, feelings more remarkable because, unlike the British, they are people impatient of authority and hostile to the idea of heroes and great leaders.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WOULD hardly be an exaggeration to say that the three old ladies standing on aching feet and waving their handkerchiefs were here on a pilgrimage. Perhaps they are more sentimental than most; they certainly accord the Queen every human virtue, and discuss her appearance to the point of exhaustion. But now, somehow, they are still prouder of being what they are than before they came to Wellington, prouder and more aware.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE IMMEDIATE result of such a royal tour is not to strengthen the political and economic links with Britain, but rather to confirm New Zealand in its character and in the way of life chosen long ago. The close identity between New Zealand and Britain is a product of that character and way of life.

Calgary Assessment

(Calgary Herald)

It was inevitable we suppose that much disquiet should be caused among the taxpayers by the receipt of their new assessments. It was known, before the assessments were received, that the gross valuation of land in the city for taxation purposes, had risen from $30,000,000 to $103,000,000 — which meant than on an average land assessments had more than tripled. But this does not seem to have prevented widespread protest when individual assessments announcing a three to four-fold rise in the assessment of a particular lot were distributed a few days ago.

We think the taxpayers as a whole would do well to reserve their judgement, for it appears that a great many residential properties would have paid less actual tax under the new assessment, than they paid under the old one in 1953. What they will pay in 1954 depends, of course, on the amount of revenue the city has to raise to meet its expenses; but in many cases the increase will have to be much greater than now seems likely in order to cause an actual increase in taxation over last year.

City officials have said that if the new assessment had been in force in 1953, the tax rate required to raise the revenue needed would have been only 37.5 mills instead of 65.

Letters To The Editor

TORONTO vs. MONTREAL

SIR: The writer has read in the local papers a great deal of the controversy about the population of Montreal and Toronto. The writer was Convention Manager of the Montreal Tourist & Convention Bureau from 1928 to 1938 so should know personally a little about his home city, of Montreal, as he was also born there.

I am working and living in Toronto since the last five years and find Toronto certainly up and going as they promote and do things here. With an English speaking city and the provincial headquarters of Ontario here working in harmony with the active city council, they are most progressive.

In Montreal which is Liberal in its views, they have to buck the provincial government of Quebec which takes a big share of its revenue from Montreal. Again the City of Montreal is strongly French and Catholic with English and Protestant and other nationalities making it one of the greatest cosmopolitan cities in the world.

Now let us try and arrive at the facts.

Montreal is on an island thirty six miles long, 9 to 10 miles wide. The City of Montreal, proper, population taken by Lovells directory (whose men canvass from door to door for names for their directory) is 1,516,795. Now these figures are not for names for votes, or tax purposes but for people living in houses.

Now as you know, in Montreal, there are cities within the great city namely Westmount, Outremont, Verdun, and Mount Royal, all with their separate city councils, police and fire departments. Lachine to St. Anne de Bellevue on the west, Maisonneuve to Point aux Trembles on the east and Montreal North and St. Laurent.

Across the river you have St. Lambert's and Greenfield Park and Longueil. If Montreal took all these in under a Metropolitan Council like Toronto has done, Greater Montreal covering the Island would be nearly two million people. It is easily 400,000 people over Toronto and has been for years. Toronto is growing fast and so is Montreal.

The Seaway will bring trade to Toronto but hundreds of boats will never touch Toronto, but will go to Hamilton with ore and west for grain and with ore. All Canada will benefit and grow fast, as we all know.

Toronto has put it over Montreal on Subways and is doing things fast. The article about taxis is correct and Toronto's article about cars correct. Toronto and Ontario are away ahead on the number of cars.

Montreal has harder winters than Toronto, but facts are facts. Montreal is one of the greatest cities in the world, that is cosmopolitan cities, and is know as such. Toronto is a great convention city as all know. This is just a few lines of objection to facts Toronto papers claim are right which the writer claims they are not. Thank you for your interest in the matter and time given to this argument.

KIND WORDS FROM THE POSTAL DEPARTMENT

SIR: Long experience has established that without the co-operation of the newspapers of Canada the Christmas Season would lack much that is vital to it as a festival of goodwill. Nowhere is that more clearly demonstrated than in the matters which concern the Postal Service.

As in former years, the Post Office was taxed to its utmost in the season just past to cope with the tidal wave of mail that descended upon it in the days preceding Christmas. The flood could have caused many dislocations but for the timely forewarning which the newspapers published for the guidance of their readers to mail early.

In many parts of Canada, the past Christmas brought the heaviest mailings the Canadian Postal Service has ever had to deal with, and it is gratifying to record that public co-operation in early mailing was never more marked.

Always, of course, there are exceptions: some congestions did occur in two or three metropolitan centres where a wholly unprecedented last minute avalanche descended on local staffs, bringing about conditions that strained their powers to the limit. In those places, many people had ignored the counsel to mail early, holding back apparently in the belief that because of the success of previous mail early campaigns delivery by Christmas was an assured thing. Obviously there could not fail to be disappointments which might well have been averted had the late mailers taken the advice of those whose experience of many years prompted it.

Our own planning, which extends over many months, the intricate arrangements made long in advance, the checking and rechecking, would be of little avail if the public did not work with us. For that co-operation the Post Office staffs are most grateful. On their behalf, and on my own, I take this occasion to express my warmest thanks to the Press and to the Public at large, and to extend to all our very best wishes for 1954.

Yours sincerely,
W. J. TURNBULL,
Deputy Postmaster General.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And a woman having an issue of blood twelve years, which had spent all her living upon physicians, neither could be healed by any, came behind him, and touched the border of his garment: and immediately her issue of blood stanched.

And Jesus said, Who touched me? When all denied, Peter and they that were with him said, Master, the multitude throng thee and press thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me? And Jesus said, Somebody hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

And when the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and falling down before him, she declared unto him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately. And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath may thee whole; go in peace. (Luke 8:43-48.)

Hazards Beset the Oyster, Even in Holland

(From the Scientific American, N.Y.)

Oyster yields from existing beds can be increased fifty-fold through scientifc control, says Pieter Korringa, staff biologist of the Dutch Institute for Fishery Investigations. "Ostrelogists, scientists who specialize in the study of oysters, have learned how to improve the survival chances of mature oyster larvae," says Korringa, "from one in 10,000 to one in 100. By combatting oyster enemies and disease they have thus made it possible to grow many more oysters in a given area than natural, unattended beds ever produced.

"Careful oyster culture in the Oosterschelde beds of Holland for example, have increased the annual yield from 500,000 marketable oysters per year to more than 25 million."

The basic problem is to minimize the countless hazards which beset the oyster.

The bivalve's entire adolescence and adulthood is lived at one site, the point at which the creature cements itself to some object on the ocean floor.

"Even when the oyster larvae survive they run the risk of being smothered by shifting sand or silt or becoming overgrown by more vigorous creatures such as sponges, bryozoa or sea squirts," writes Korringa. This hazard is intensified by low temperatures which diminish the oyster's ability to pump water through itself. In warm water it can often eject a stream of water with enough force to displace the suffocating substance in which it finds itself buried.

"Finally, the oyster is highly sensitive to polluted water and attack by enemies. Normally, it samples the water by opening its shell a tiny amount. If its built-in filtering system detects contamination, the shell snaps shut. But even this cautious testing procedure is not without hazard.

"Some of the oysters' enemies are well aware of the chink in its armor. When, for example, an oyster closes its shell against an attack by a starfish, the latter just waits patiently until the oyster opens its valves slightly; it then adroitly injects a paralyzing poison which prevents them from closing. The notion that the startfish pulls the bivalve's shells apart by sheer force is probably nothing but a myth."

Mannish Styles Sabotage Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — North American women should give the heave-ho to the mannish styles that France is trying to foist on them, says actress Lizabeth Scott.

"Oh, they're awful," exclaimed Miss Scott in her foggy voice after she had seen some pictures of the latest Paris styles.

The models had boyish haircuts and their outfits lacked the curves that are customary with most females.

"Terrible, terrible," said Miss Scott. "It's absolutely subversive; what will happen to the institution of marriage? No man wants to marry someone who looks like his brother. Or, if he's an older man, like his son.

HALF-WAY ONLY

"I think it's all right for women to wear trousers, but I favor the fitted, toreador pants that cling to a woman's figure and show her contours. I also like with it a blouse that will reveal the outline of her bosom, not conceal it.

"I'll go half-way on the mannish look. If a woman appears mannish below the neck, her face and hair should be feminine. If she wants to wear a short haircut that looks like a man's, her clothes should be feminine.

"But I can think of nothing worse than a woman wearing one of those flat-chested, narrow-hipped outfits and a short haircut with little make-up. That's supposed to be the new style, too—heavy eye make-up, a thin line of lipstick and a white face. Ugh"

Miss Scott was looking very feminine when I saw her on the range of Republic Studios. She was making "Four Desperate Men," and she was decked out as a frontier belle. Her blonde hair was on her shoulders, and she said she'll keep it that way.

Canada's First Anglican Cathedral Will Soon Mark 150th Anniversary

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP) — Canada's first Anglican cathedral, built on some of French Canada's most hallowed ground, marks the 150th anniversary of its consecration this year.

Ceremonies to be held during the autumn months will commemorate the opening of the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity whose tall copper spire is one of the landmarks of Place d'Armes, bustling parade square in the oldest section of Quebec's upper town.

The Rt. Rev. J. C. Wand, Bishop of London, England, will preach at the inaugural service Aug. 1, and Church of England dignitaries from all parts of Canada are expected to attend or take part in commemorative services planned during the remainder of the year.

CONSECRATED IN 1804

The Georgian style, grey-painted stone church was opened to the public for service Aug. 4, 1804. It was built at a cost of £80,000.

Dr. Jacob Mountain, first Bishop of Quebec, presided over consecration of the cathedral, a project he had pushed and cherished for years.

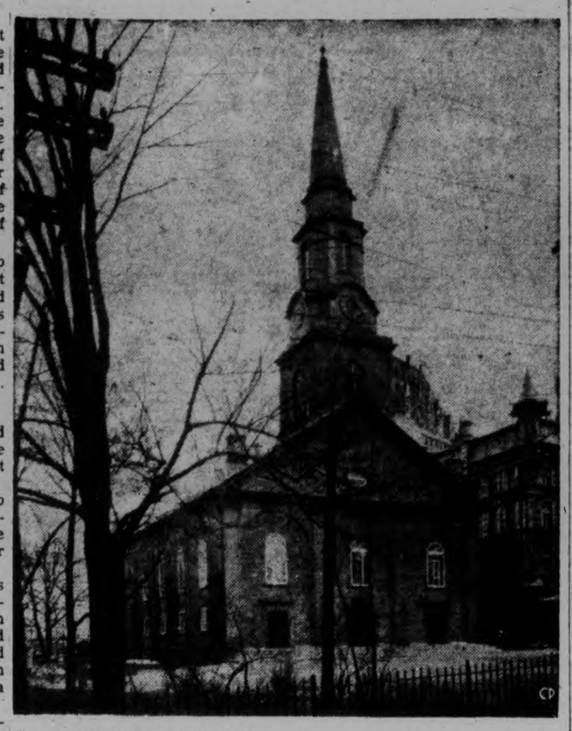
There were no Anglican churches in the Canadas—Upper or Lower—when the hardy pioneer clergyman arrived in 1793 but when he died in 1825 the Quebec cathedral and more than 60 churches had been built between Gaspe and Niagara peninsulas.

It was not until 1847 that Canada saw the foundation of another Anglican cathedral—Christ church—at Fredericton. The Fredericton cathedral is noted as the first set up as such, without any parish organization, since Norman times.

Quebec diocese was actually set up in 1793 by letters patent of King George III. In fact, Church of England services were held in Quebec in 1759, shortly after General Wolfe's victory over the French on the Plains of Abraham.

HISTORIC SPOT

These services were held, oddly enough, in a Roman Catholic church on the identical land where the Anglican cathedral now stands.



QUEBEC LANDMARK — The Cathedral of the Holy Trinity in Quebec, Canada's first Anglican cathedral, this year marks the 150th anniversary of its consecration. Built in 1804, the Georgian-style, grey stone church is in the city's bustling Place d'Armes, a parade square in the oldest section of Quebec's upper town. The cathedral's tall copper spire is one of the city's landmarks.

It is said, Champlain occasionally met with Indian leaders and smoked the pipe of peace on the tree-shaded spot.

After the British conquest, a roll of the drum and ringing of the monastery bell on Sundays gave notice to English residents that the Catholic service was over and the Church of England service due to start.

In 1796 the church which had been built by the Recollet Fathers was destroyed by fire and Dr. Mountain pressed the home country for the erection of a cathedral on the site. This was accepted three years later and in 1800 construction of the cathedral was begun.

In the meantime Catholics and Anglicans worshipped in the Jesuit chapel, an arrangement that seemed to please only a few people. Troops were never sent there to worship and high officials declined to attend services.

On the other hand Jesuit fathers would not say mass in the church, in use regularly by the Anglicans, without "purifying" the temple.

LIKE LONDON CHURCH

The Anglican cathedral of Quebec was designed after the church of St. Martin-In-The-Fields, in London's Trafalgar Square.

It was the first church in Canada to have a pipe organ. This was made by a London firm. The Roman Catholic basilica placed an order with the same firm shortly afterwards for a similar instrument.

The original Anglican organ is still in service in the Roman Catholic parish church at Lotbiniere.

Many souvenirs and royal gifts are preserved in the cathedral. At Bishopthorpe, home of the Most Rev. Philip Carington, Archbishop of Quebec, there is a chair made out of a huge tree that fell during a storm in 1845.

It was under this tree, legend has it, that Champlain conferred with Indian chieftains. Church authorities did all in their power to preserve it. When it fell it had a circumference of 14 feet at the base.

The personality whose name will recur most frequently during the commemorative ceremonies is that of Bishop Mountain who travelled far and wide to found churches.

When the Rt. Rev. Charles Inglis, first Anglican bishop of Nova Scotia visited Quebec in 1789 he was greeted by a salute of guns. When Bishop Mountain landed four years later he was greeted with a kiss from the Roman Catholic bishop of Quebec, Msgr. Jean Olivier Briand, who said it was high time someone came to look after the English.

Present dean and rector of Holy Trinity cathedral is the Very Rev. R. L. Seaborn.

Judge Suggests Resigning Copyright Board

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice J.T. Thorson, chairman of the copyright appeal board, has suggested that he and Charles Stein, undersecretary for state, should not serve as members of the board.

He said during board hearings Monday on proposed fees to be charged this year by performing rights societies that when the board's decisions are taken to the Exchequer Court, of which he is president, he cannot rule on them.

He said there is also some question in his mind whether Mr. Stein should be a member of the board. Mr. Stein was the man to whom the secretary of state turned for advice in copyright matters which might involve decisions of the board.

Mr. Justice Thorson also criticized "people who write to the minister (the secretary of state) about the board's actions." It should be made clear that Parliament conferred certain powers on the board with which the minister could not "and will not" interfere.

He did not elaborate at the hearing and later declined to explain the comment to reporters other than to say he does not mean that any of the groups appearing before the board have complained to the minister.

However, it was learned that a number of municipalities have written State Secretary Pickersgill concerning proposed fees filed before the board by two performing rights' societies, the Composers', Authors, Publishers' Association of Canada and BMI Canada Ltd.

The fees cover use of works in the repertoires of CAPAC and BMI by broadcasters and places of entertainment, including dance halls, theatres, cafes, night clubs, auditoria and public parks.

The three-man board reserved decision on the fee schedules filed by the two societies for performance of their works in cabarets, night clubs, cocktail bars, dining rooms and similar establishments. CAPAC has filed fees schedules for these items in previous years but this was BMI's first appearance in this field.

Burning Tanker Towed To Port

SWANSEA, Wales (Reuters) — The 8,128-ton Royal Navy tanker Wave Victor was towed into this South Wales port early today under a pall of smoke, but a fire which had threatened to engulf her was reported under control.

All hands abandoned ship Sunday night in the mouth of the Bristol channel after a fire in the engine room swept up through the ship, out of control and threatening to ignite the fuel bunkers. The cargo tanks were empty.

The 60 persons on board were safely taken off in lifeboats and other vessels which raced to the rescue.

Ten hours later, when the tanker was listing to port and down at the stern, Capt. F. C. Holt decided to board her again with 20 of the crew in a bid to stop the fire.

Fire-fighting tugs arrived, and the fire was slowly brought under control.

Windsor Judge Hears Last Truckers' Appeals

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The final appeals of sentences in cases stemming from the Ontario truckers' strike last summer were heard in ccurt Monday.

Judge J. A. Legris cut one sentence from 75 to 45 days and squashed another 10-day sentence.

Joseph Petryn, 26, of Windsor, had a sentence for causing a vehicle to be taken without the owner's consent and obstructing an officer, cut to 45 days. The judge felt the sentence was too heavy.

The crown offered no evidence in the case of Lawrence Parent, 42, and the sentence of 10 days for obstructing police was quashed. Both were sentenced in connection with an incident at a road block set up by strikers.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO OVER 1,700,000 Blue Cross PARTICIPANTS IN ONTARIO

Never before have the hospitals in your community been faced with such increased costs as they are to-day. To meet these higher costs and provide you with maximum protection against hospital expense, Blue Cross rates MUST increase. Here are a few facts to help you place a new value on your Blue Cross certificate:

HOSPITALS ARE PAYING MORE FOR EVERYTHING

The same higher costs you are experiencing in your home have to be met by your hospital but on a much larger scale. Hospitals, like everyone else, must buy in the open market at prevailing prices and this means that the costs for everything—equipment, supplies, and the WAGES and SALARIES of all those working in hospitals—have increased.

The average cost of care for Blue Cross patients is now 150% higher than in 1941 when the Plan began—15% higher than in 1951.

MORE PEOPLE GO TO HOSPITAL

Besides paying more for everything, hospitals are providing better treatment for more people than ever before. This is because modern, scientific treatment requires greater use of hospital facilities. People today are insisting on the best possible care when they are sick and look to hospitals for it.

Giving more and more patients the high standard of care demanded to-day adds to your hospital's costs for it means more staff, more equipment, more food, more drugs, more laundry . . . more EVERYTHING!

In 1941, 10 out of every 100 Blue Cross participants required hospital care—to-day this number is 17 out of every 100. This is an important factor in the cost of providing Blue Cross benefits.

BLUE CROSS PAYS THE "GOING" RATES

Your Blue Cross certificate is worth more to you now because Blue Cross pays "to-day's" rate for Standard Ward or Semi-Private accommodation in participating hospitals. You are not limited to a set daily cash amount which so often leaves sizable balances for you to pay.

THE ACCEPTED PLAN IN ONTARIO

Since 1941 when this Association launched the Blue Cross plan as a non-profit public service, over one-third of the people of Ontario have accepted it as the best hospital-care protection money can buy. Blue Cross will continue to help you "prepay" the maximum amount of unexpected hospital care at the lowest possible cost in keeping with sound, non-profit administration.

SEE YOUR GROUP LEADER

Information regarding new Blue Cross rates effective on and after April 1, 1954 has been forwarded to all Blue Cross Group Leaders. Explanatory literature for subscribers will be forwarded about February 15th.

Former group subscribers now paying directly to the Association will be notified when their next payment becomes due.

THERE IS NO CHANGE IN RATES FOR BLUE CROSS SURGICAL-OBSTETRICAL-MEDICAL BENEFITS.

LOW ADMINISTRATION COSTS

The cost of operating Blue Cross is low and plays no part in this adjustment of rates. Less than 7¢ of your subscription dollar covers all costs for staff, office space, supplies, light, heat, and other business expenses.

The Ox and the Frog

A LITTLE FROG was playing about at the edge of a pool when an Ox came down to the water to drink. In fear, the little frog swam home. "Why are you so frightened?" asked his mother. "An enormous creature with four legs came to our pool this morning," replied the little frog. "Enormous, was he? Was he as big as this?" asked the mother Frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. "Oh! yes, much bigger," was the answer. The mother Frog puffed herself out still more. "Was he as big as this?" said she. "Oh! yes, yes, mother, MUCH bigger," said the little frog. And yet again she puffed herself out. "As big as . . .?" she began—but then she burst.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Basketball scoring continues to climb and we note an explanation for it by one George Mikan, USA pro star and rated one of the best cagers ever. He says: "Basketball players, the good ones, are no one-shot specialists now. This is a game which puts a premium on your ability to hit the hoop consistently, and to excel in it you've got to have a variety of shots. Most players have a basic shot with which they do most of their scoring. Mine is the hook shot. It is bread and butter for me, but it entails a lot more than just turning and hooking over your ear. You've got to be equally adept with either hand. You don't use the fake much in pro ball, where everyone is experienced, with the idea of feinting your opponent into the street. You try to force a rival to commit himself or make a move."

* * * * * *

He says most centres go for the backboard if any sort of angle shows, unless they're in too close. He used to aim at a spot a foot and a half up the board over the basket. Now it's instinctive and he doesn't consciously aim at all. One doesn't often block a hook shot, the better system being to force the offensive player to alter his shot or to shoot off balance. Many pros do their scoring with the one-handed push shot or the running one-hander, though the two-handed set shot is usually quicker when in position. The guards, tossing from well out, go for this latter method mostly.

* * * * * *

Don Was a Hoop Artist

It used to be a pleasure to watch Don Griffin, best cage sniper to come out of Peterborough, drop that ball through the basket without it touching the backboard or the edge of the hoop. A past master at scoring, Don developed his uncanny ability only by many hours of patient practice. That's the answer to stardom in this game, as in others — practice, practice, practice. Local lads and lasses learning the game (and you're always learning it right up till you're too old to play) should follow coaching instructions carefully, observe stars in action, keep in shape for the hoop sport, and never ease up on practice. And don't forget, a varied attack really pays off.

By beating Collingwood on Saturday, Lindsay juniors took over second place, a game ahead of Port Perry (the Oshawa entry) in the keen OHA junior "B" race up this way. But the Junior Petes are still leading the pack and hope to increase that lead here Wednesday when they tackle Port Perry Flyers at 8:30 in Civic Arena. Should be a real lively number as both these hustling young squads serve up streamlined, scrappy hockey every meeting. Figure skating will show first. A flock of door prizes have been put up for this tilt, and two of the Toronto Maple Leafs have promised to be on deck as linesmen for the game, working under an OHA referee as the rules demand. Red Creighton's local boys are flashing fine hockey this semester and rate lots of fan support.

Belles No Soft Touches

With the schedule winding up a little better than five weeks in this OHA senior "B" group, Belleville Memos are making a strong bid to snatch the last playoff berth. They beat Petes and Kingston last week, dropped an overtime toughie to Oshawa and fought fiercely here last eve ere bowing to the Petes 7-4. Redmond men had to rally sharply in the third period to capture the fray, and Memos really roughed it up toward the end. Ten of the 15 penalties came in this hot period, and the visitors drew more of the sentences. Minus Taylor, Wade and Duke Doran, they made it a real scrap all the way, dominating play all through the middle heat. But Petes roared back in the third to earn the decision.

* * * * * *

Same squads clash here again Friday and Coach Eddie Redmond is most anxious to keep the Quinte club in the cellar. His team is again resting uneasily in second spot, one point up on Kingston. Standing shows Oshawa with 32 points, Petes 28, Kingston 27, Orillia 25 and Memos 16. Erwin Duncan leads the loop scorers with 50 points. Best for the TPT-ers is Chum Fryia with 44, and his mark of 33 tops for lamp-lighters, as Gus Leonard (with 38 points) leads in assists, 29. Toodie Greenlaw also has 38 points. Kingston is at Oshawa tonight, and Petes trek to Orillia. Fourth fray (two on the road) in five nights for Peterborough, and the boys will welcome a rest on Wednesday.

Robertson Rink Victorious In Keene 'Spiel

KEENE (ENS) — Edging out Harry Renwick's rink by a single point, Clarence Robertson's rink won the Bank of Toronto shield at the annual men's bonspiel of the Keene Curling Club on Monday.

Renwick's rink had won the shield for the past two years but was upset this year. Robertson's rink, including Alan Easson, Albert Stillman and Fred Austin, won three games with 34 points while Renwick's rink, including Roy Stewart, Everett McFarlane and the Rev. McCarney, also had three wins but only 33 points.

SHORT ON POINTS

Charlie Nelson's four of Gord Nelson, Percy Adamson and Harry Manley, placed third, also winning three games, but they had only 27 points.

A rink, skipped by William Hope, along with Leonard Howson, James Kempt and Bert Fife, won the two-game prize, having 24 points. The one-win prize went to the rink skipped by William Woods, including G. S. Taylor, Keith McIntyre and James Elmhirst.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. H. Bletcher, Mrs. A. Sands, Mrs. M. Holt. Mrs. H. Scott. Mrs. J. Elliott, and Mrs. D. Norman are playing in the ladies' bonspiel in Lindsay this Thursday and Friday.

It is not generally known that the curling club is one of the few curling clubs in the province that sponsors school girls' curling. They have already organized and are playing regular schedule games. Membership is well past the half-hundred mark. Mrs. G. Tollington, Mrs. M. McCartney, and Mrs. J. Fanning are acting as instructors.

We expect the second schedule books will be ready for distribution this evening.

\+ \+ \+

We are passing on this Curler's Calendar that came our way recently:

CURLER'S CALENDAR

FIRST YEAR
The game is a simple one to play,
And should not cause much concern;
You take the broom and get the weight
On the in or outer turn;
And this is all I have found to date
That anyone has to learn.

SECOND YEAR
I may not be any better yet
Than Ramsay or Riddell,
But I'm really getting the broom and weight—
And just beginning to feel
I'm able to play as skip or mate
In any man's bonspiel.

EIGHTH YEAR
How did I possibly lose that five?
Where is the crying room?
Why can't I get the proper weight?
Why do I miss the broom?
Why am I playing skip or mate,
Why did I ever presume?

TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR
Now look at that: Right through the port.
It shouldn't have curled that way.
I guess I haven't been playing enough;
Well, it's all in a season's play.
This game is certainly tough—
But I'll master it some day!

PERHAPS.

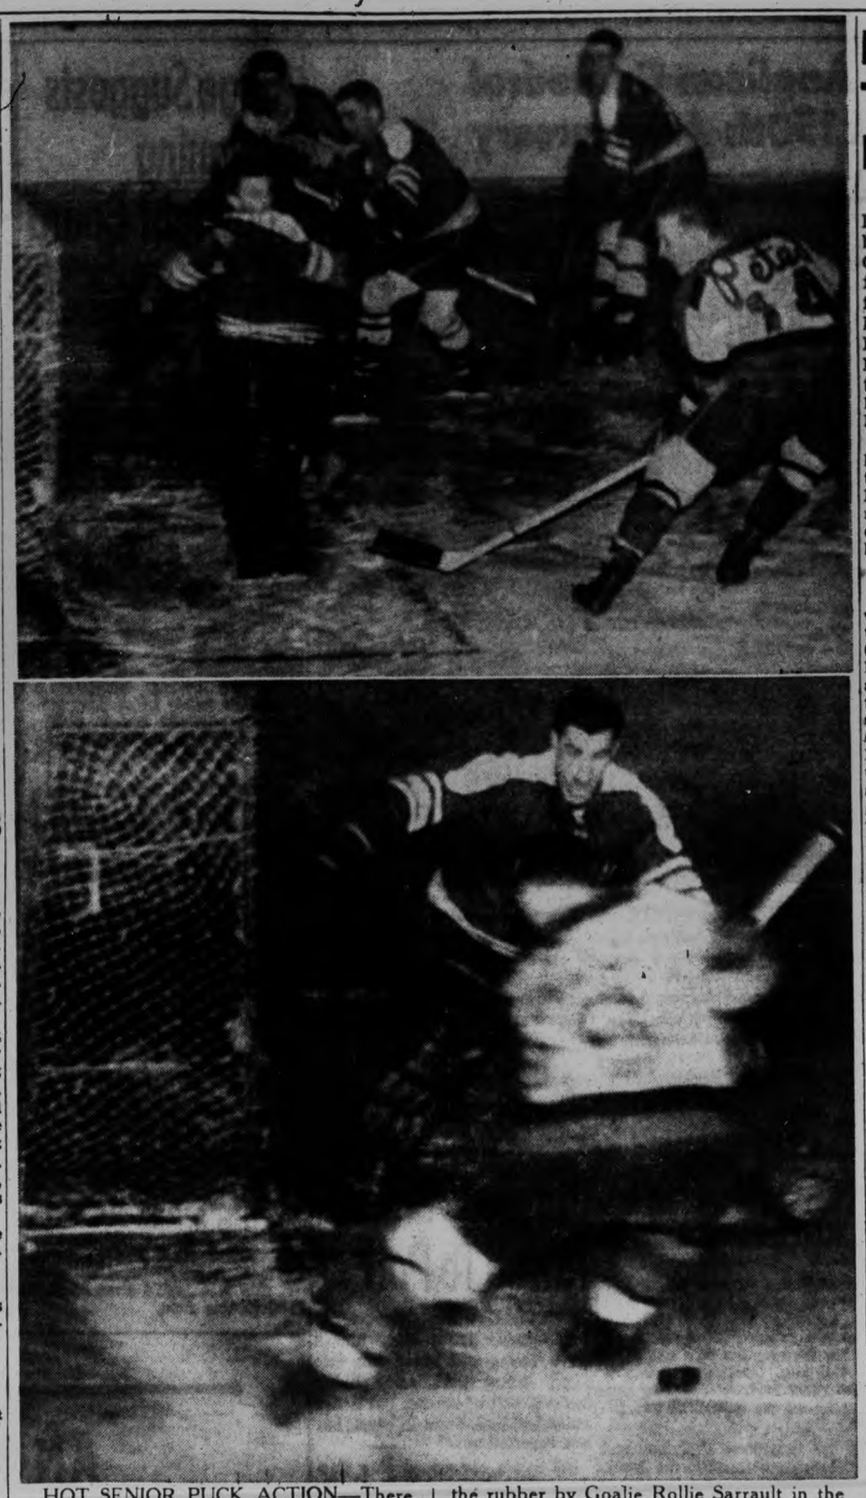
ONLY SOLID BET

HIALEAH, Florida (NEA) — The only solid bet at Hialeah this season figures to be the chef, who'll be operating in the kitchen located in the new $2,500,000 clubhouse.



HOT SENIOR PUCK ACTION—There was action aplenty at Civic Arena last night as the Petes pulled out a 7-4 senior "B" hockey win over Belleville, coming from behind in the third period to do it. The top photo shows Petes' Denny Peterson slipping the rubber by Goalie Rollie Sarrault in the third for what proved the winning marker on a neat play. Beneath is seen a shot of speedy Bill Crowley blurring to a sudden stop on a breakaway, but the puck stayed out as Sarrault outguessed the Petes' winger on this play.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

4-Goal Burst Gives Howe 5-Point Lead

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Gordie Howe of Detroit rapped in four goals during the last week to stretch his lead in the National Hockey League scoring race to five points.

The outburst broke a three-week slump for the Red Wings star and boosted his goals for the season to 20. He also has 29 assists for a total of 49 points.

Howe came to life immediately after Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadiens' star, won a one-vote edge in the all-star balloting last Tuesday. He rapped in two goals against New York Wednesday as Detroit won 3-1 and added two more Sunday as the Red Wings bowed to the Rangers 3-2.

25 FOR ROCKET

The scoring splurge was not good enough to enable him to overtake Richard in the goal-getting column, however. The Rocket continues to set the pace for the snipers with 25 markers. Coupled with his 19 assists, the veteran sharp-shooter has a total of 44 points and holds down second place in the standings.

Left-winger Ted Lindsay of Detroit is third with 15 goals and 26 assists for 41 points.

Bernie Geoffrion, colorful Montreal right-winger, has 39 points on 21 goals and 19 assists for fourth place.

Ken Mosdell of Canadiens holds down fifth spot with 19 goals and 17 assists for 36 points. He is followed by Ed Sandford of Boston and Earl Reibel of Detroit, each with 35 points.

TIE FOR NINTH

Red Kelly of Detroit and Bert Olmstead of Montreal are deadlocked for the ninth spot with 34 points while playmaker Tod Sloan of Toronto Maple Leafs is alone in 10th place with 32 points on six goals and 26 assists.

Detroit continues to lead the league race, stretching the margin from one to three points over Montreal during the week. Toronto sparked by the goal-tending of Harry Lumley, moved to within a point of Canadiens.

Boston is in fourth place with 40 points, 12 fewer than Toronto. New York has 38 points and Chicago 21.

Lumley heads the Vezina trophy race with a goals-against average of 1.69. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit is second with 1.79, followed by Gerry McNeil of Montreal with 2.09.

Lumley picked up his eighth shutout of the season against New York Saturday. Sawchuk is runner-up with six.

Bill Gadsby of Chicago has 88 minutes in penalties, four more than Doug Harvey of Montreal.

Badminton Tourney Folds Termed Too Successful

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—Out of a sports scene clouded recently with financial failures and lack of public support a strange spectre appeared during the weekend: A major badminton tournament folded because it was too successful.

The paradox occurred in the Strathgowan Badminton Club packed with more than 1,000 fans who fought for $3 tickets to see the finals of the 10th annual international invitation tournament.

When the five-day championships closed and officials counted record gate receipts achieved by the appearance of the world's best players, the bombshell was dropped.

Stuart Lawson, Strathgowan president and originator of the competition, rated one of the tops on the North American continent, announced that this tournament was the last.

TOO SUCCESSFUL

"We've become too successful," he told the audience. "The tournament has outgrown itself. We are physically unable to hold it another year."

Lawson said the privately-owned club hasn't the facilities to cope with the competition which, this year drew more than 300 entrants from the United States, Canada and Malaya.

Badminton, long considered the sport of the carriage trade, has in the last few years sprouted into one of the most highly-organized sporting giants in Canada.

Because of its size, competition was spread over three Toronto clubs. Play started daily at 10 a.m. and on some nights lasted until 4 a.m., some players waiting up until the small hours for only one game.

FOLDING A PITY

Ted Elliott, of Saint John, N.B., president of the Canadian Badminton Association, who came to Toronto for the championship, termed the folding "a pity."

"This is the first indication I have had that it was ending," he said. "What the association can do about it I don't know right now but we will certainly give it every consideration."

The Strathgowan club is a typical Canadian club. It has an active membership of 270 who pay an annual fee of $50 plus locker space.

The club was organized and financed by a group headed by Lawson. It was a financial success from the outset.

Similar clubs exist in Montreal, Campbelltown and Saint John, N.B. Halifax, Peterborough, Bowmanville, Niagara Falls, Stratford, Fort William, Kitchener, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Lethbridge, Vancouver and Victoria.

Canada Packers' Bonspiel Has Entry Of 224 Curlers

One of the biggest bonspiels to be held here this season goes this week at the Peterborough Curling Club rink on Charlotte St. About two dozen centres will send 224 knights of the stone to the Liftlock city to compete for $1,800 worth of prizes, and the $300-trophy put up the CPC, with the Seagram Cup competed for in the consolation events.

Starting Wednesday morning and going all day and through the evening, 28 rinks see action in a competition of three games of 10 ends with a plus; the other 28 rinks fighting it out on the eight ices Saturday. The four top rinks eventually playoff for the CPC trophy, and the four defeated ones in playoffs go after the Seagram cup. The winning rink gets gold wrist-watches as well as the big trophy. Everyone competing gets a prize, and luncheon will be served to all players.

Bonspiel chairman Fred Stenson and his committee — working in conjunction with Lionel Browne of Canada Packers — had to turn down many entries for the big 'spiel. It is the third such CPC bonspiel since this competition was re-organized, though CPC play goes away back many years in Peterborough. It is an all-men's event, and was won last year by Don Best's fine Brampton rink. This curling son of Ray Best of Peterborough will be on deck to defend it this time.

A number of rinks have been entered from Toronto, with others coming either Wednesday or Saturday from Ottawa, Oshawa, Kingston, Cobourg, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Orillia, possibly London, Peterborough and other centres.

Spectators are welcome at the rink, if they could find room to view the action both days.

Youth Breaks Nose In Hockey Game

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Dwaine Sawyer, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sawyer, a defence player on the Havelock Pee Wee Hockey team received a broken nose, Saturday, during a game with the Marmora Pee Wees at the Havelock arena. Dwaine was struck over the nose with a hockey stick. Havelock boys were the victors, 9-5.

Petes Drive In Third Heat To Beat Belleville 7-4 In Keen, Rugged Puck Tilt

Driving hard and clicking well in the third period here last night, the TPT Petes triumphed 7-4 over Belleville Memos before a fair crowd to climb back into second spot in their OHA senior "B" group race. They were up 3-1 to end the first period but the visitors had a big edge in the second frame to bang home three tallies without a return for a 4-3 lead going into the third. The Petes fought back fiercely in the rugged windup chukker to light the lamp four times and keep Memos off the score-sheet.

Referees Walsh and Crombie handed out 15 penalties, 10 of them in the third period, with Belleville drawing nine of the minor sentences. Both sides were chippy toward the finish of a fast, hard-checking contest.

SCORED TWO

Gus Leonard led the winners with two markers, singles going to Denny Peterson, Bert Hill, Chum Fryia, Doc Prentice and Bill McMaster. Tops in local assists was Toodie Greenlaw with three, as Rod Belisle was in on two, and Ted Collins, Fryia and Coach Eddie Redmond one apiece. For Belleville, Edwin Duncan twice lite the blinker, Doug Day and Jackie Wardhaugh having one goal each. Bastedo got two assists, with one apiece marked to MacDonald, Semark, Goyer, and the Duncan twins.

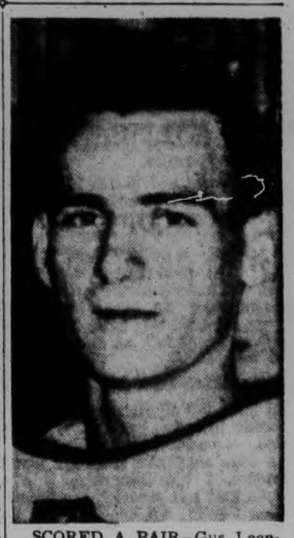
Three goals were notched in the first two minutes of play. Ed Duncan cuffed in an angle shot on Bastedo's pass in one minute. Just 16 seconds later, Fryia flipped one home from close-in on a play with Greenlaw. Leonard tore back to slap in a passout at two minutes on a three-way drive with Greenlaw and Redmond. McMaster went over for elbowing and Crowley was robbed by Sarrault on a breakaway. Later, Prentice intercepted Goyer's pass-out in the Quinte zone to slap home the rubber for a 3-1 lead. McMaster got the air again for boarding and Semark followed for slashing, but no damage was done in their absence. In fact, no goals were scored in the game with a team a player short.

BEST OF PLAY

Memos dominated play most of the middle heat. Ed Duncan scored early from Erwin Duncan and Bastedo on a fast rush with but one defenceman to beat. Bastedo was back from a tripping penalty when Day tied the score on an in-close thrust with Ed Duncan and Goyer. Day came back from sitting it out for high-sticking and Memos went ahead 4-3 when Wardhaugh tipped in a passup on a play fashioned by Semark and MacDonald. The Petes looked disorganized through this frame, and Donlevy was given little protection. Memos combined nicely to earn their tallies.

ROUGH PERIOD

Redmond was waved over to open the third for holding the puck, and Bastedo followed for a holding offence. Both were back when McMaster rifled the rubber by Sarrault on Belisle's passout. Prentice started the play but wasn't given an assist. Peterson put Petes in front again on a dandy combination play and finished with Belisle and Prentice in close. Goyer went away for high-sticking as play roughed up a lot and Petes kept peppering Sarrault as they returned to top form. Munroe got the nod next for high-sticking as he suffered a bloody nose. Goyer no sooner got back than he went over the wall again for elbowing, but he was back when Leonard sank the insurance marker on a passout with Fryia and Greenlaw in on the play. Wardhaugh was gated for slashing and Armstrong followed for elbowing. They returned and Hill tallied the final one from Collins neatly. Crowley and Ed Duncan nearly tangled and were chased for high sticking, MacDonald going at the bell for charging.



SCORED A PAIR—Gus Leonard led the Petes' scorers with two markers here Monday night as they beat Belleville Memos 7-4 to move back into second place in their OHA senior "B" group standing. The Petes had to tally four times in the third period to gain the verdict.

Belleville: Goal, Sarrault; defence, Goyer and Bastedo; centre, Ed Duncan; wings, Erwin Duncan and Day; Alts.: R. Doran, P. Jones, DeGray, Wardhaugh, MacDonald, D. Jones and Semark.

Petes: Goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMasters; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; Alts.: Hill, Crowley, Collins, Peterson, Belisle, Munroe, Montgomery, and Armstrong.

Referees, M. Walsh and J. Crombie.

Native Dancer Tops 108 Horses Nominated

CHICAGO (AP)—Native Dancer, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's champion, tops 108 horses nominated for the $160,000 Arlington Handicap, to be run for the first time this summer on Arlington Park's turf course.

It's the first time Native Dancer has been named for a grass race. All of his 18 victories in 19 starts were on dirt courses. The handicap, a 1 3-16-mile test, will be held on the turf for the first time in 24 years.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

When Montreal's Armand Savoie not so long ago fought Jimmy Carter in the Montreal Forum for the lightweight championship of the world, 10,000 sports fans, comfortable seated, saw the battle. That was in marked contrast to the last occasion that a Canadian fought for the same title.

The surroundings for the Savoie-Carter fight were luxurious; the match had legal status. But Harry Gilmore of Toronto had to battle the great Jack McAuliffe for the lightweight crown in 1887 in the furtive secrecy of a Lawrence, Mass., blacksmith shop, before 64 spectators.

Boxing then was outside the pale of the law. Participants and spectators risked arrest and prosecution. Details of the arrangements for the match were guarded so carefully that only three trusted sports writers were admitted. An enterprising fourth writer gained admission by posing as a carpenter.

In a hall directly above the blacksmith shop, a Salvation Army Group was holding a prayer-meeting, its members quite unaware of what was happening below.. As the two sorely bruised scrappers went into the twentieth round, they could hear the voices singing, "Hold the Fort".. McAuliffe broke away, backed toward the ropes and, half-turning his head, called to his second, non-pareil Jack Dempsey: "They ain't having half as hard a time holding the fort up there, as I am down here!"

McAuliffe won by K.O. in the 26th round. Soon after the match, it was learned that the sheriff was in search of the participants. The lightweight champion and his friends were bundled into a sleigh and driven over deserted, snow-covered country roads to a nearby town, Lowell. McAuliffe presented such a battered appearance that a scandalized hotel clerk sternly refused to accommodate the party.

How very different from the title bouts of today, that draw thousands of fans, are broadcast and televised all over the continent, with champions richly rewarded! The sheer brutality of boxing in the old day, too, has been lessened by a limit placed on the number of rounds.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Kelly Takes Lead In Norris, Byng Trophy Races

MONTREAL—(CP)—Red Kelly, outstanding defenceman with Detroit Red Wings, today took the lead in the voting for two National Hockey League trophies and placed second in the balloting for the only other trophy he is eligible to win. Kelly, a polished playmaker and team leader, took a commanding lead over Bill Gadsby of Chicago in the voting for the NHL's newest award, the James Norris memorial trophy, to be given for the first time this year to the league's best defenceman He also built up a 19-vote margin over Don Raleigh of New York in the balloting for the Lady Byng memorial trophy as "the player adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability".

Al Rollins, whose work in the Chicago nets has prevented the Black Hawks from dropping out of the bottom of the league, topped the list for the Hart trophy, awarded each year to the player judged to be the most valuable to his team. Kelly placed second, 10 votes back.

LEADS CALDER RACE

Earl Reibel of Detroit polled 61 votes for the Calder memorial trophy as the league's best rookie 21 more than Camille Henry of New York.

Votes were cast by sports writers and broadcasters in all six NHL cities. The ballots will count 50 per cent toward the final selection, to be decided with another vote at the end of the regular schedule.

This is the first year the mid-season balloting was held.

Each trophy carries with it $1,000 from the NHL.

Kelly polled 76 out of a possible 90 points for the Norris trophy. Gadsby collected 28 points and Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens, 22.

CLOSE VOTING

The voting for the Lady Byng trophy was closer, with Kelly amassing 50 points to 31 by Raleigh. Billy Mosienko, Chicago Black Hawks' right winger, was third with 21 points.

Rollins picked up 50 points in the Hart trophy voting, 10 more than Kelly. Gordie Howe of Detroit was third with 2 points.

Reibel led the Calder trophy race largely on his fast-scoring start as the centre of the Detroit "production line," with Howe and Ted Lindsay as his wings. Henry, the little Ranger opportunist, picked up 40 points, 22 fewer than Reibel. Bill Dineen of Detroit was third with 31.

Trafton Retires From Football Into Winnipeg TV

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Talkative George Trafton has announced his retirement from football and said he will go into the television business in Winnipeg.

The former coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said Monday in an interview.

"You can announce my retirement from football. I'm not saying I'm finished with coaching for good but for the time being, at least, I want to be known as having retired from the game."

Trafton, a stormy figure before he was fired from the Winnipeg club last year after he guided the Blue Bombers to the Grey Cup final against Hamilton Tiger-Cats, will go into a TV sales-maintenance business with a friend. He is 50.

SOLD ON PLAY

He said he likes "the people in Winnipeg and I am sold on the Canadian type of play." He added:

"I've been offered several National League coaching jobs but they don't appeal to me as much as the business opportunity that has been made me by a friend of mine in Winnipeg."

Trafton had one year to go on a three-year contract when he was dropped from the Bomber club. The Blue Bombers paid him the $12,500 salary for the third year on the contract.

He is here visiting and said he will fly back to Winnipeg in about a week.

Hillcrest Adams Wins Class A Trotting Race

TORONTO (CP)—Hillcrest Adam owned by W. S. Sharpe of Oshawa, defeated a group of class A trotters to win both heats of the featured harness event at Dufferin Park Monday.

Patty Berg, then United States women's golf champion, won her third straight Augusta women titlists' tournament 15 years ago today with a 72-hole score of 319. She started the final 18 holes six strokes better than Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, who came through with a one-over-par 76 to reduce the margin to two strokes.

Sullivan Leads With 62 Points

NEW YORK (CP)—George Sullivan of Hershey Bears scored four points last week to continue his scoring leadership of the American Hockey League, official statistics showed today.

Sullivan had 62 points on 16 goals and 46 assists. He leads the league in assists. Eddie Olson and Jackie Gordon of Cleveland Barons, were runners-up with 59.

Although failing to score during the week, Harry Pidhirny of Syracuse Warriors retained goal scoring leadership with 29.

Pittsburgh Hornets' rookie defenceman Larry Cahan added a minor penalty to his league leading total which now is 102 minutes.

Jacques Plante of Buffalo Bisons regained the goaltending lead with an average of 2.82 a game scored against him. Dethroned was Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh who slipped to 2.93. Emile Francis of Cleveland leads the shutout field with four.

President Blames OHL Slump On TV

MONTREAL (CP) — The president of the Quebec Hockey League, noting a sharp decline in game attendance this season, said Monday night television is the main source of trouble and added that an agreement will have to be worked out with the National Hockey League to "black out" big league games in minor league cities.

George Slater, president of the seven-team league, was commenting on a report that attendance is down 20 per cent, or about 109,300 fans, in the first half of the schedule.

Slater said the two cities that show the smallest decline at the box office—Chicoutimi and Quebec—have no television. Video had cut drastically into the crowds at Sherbrooke, Valleyfield, Ottawa and Montreal. He did not mention Springfield, Mass.

Ottawa had been hardest hit with Toronto Saturday night NHL home games telecast directly to the capital while Senators of the QHL play on Ottawa ice.

Toronto Boxer Wins Weekly Amateur Card

TORONTO (CP)—Al Moss, Toronto, Monday night won a unanimous decision over Willie Barboie, also of Toronto, in the feature bout of the weekly amateur boxing card.

In the semi-final bout, Hughie Meikle of Glasgow, Scotland, took a decision over Don Churm of Brantford.

Other results included:

147 pounds—Billy McDonald, Toronto, scored TKO over Roy Deshane, Trenton, 1:50 of second round in scheduled five-rounder.

Schedule Boxing Trials For Empire Games

TORONTO (CP)—A committee of the central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada announced Monday that preliminary plans in connection with the Canadian amateur boxing championships and trials for the British Empire Games boxing team have been completed.

The events will be held here about mid-May. Prior to the trials here, the 12 union branches will hold district trials. Each branch is entitled to send the winner and runner-up in each of the 10 weight classes to compete in the trials.

Two K-W Rinks Take Top Bonspiel Honors

KITCHENER (CP)—Two rinks from the Kitchener-Waterloo Granite Club Monday won top honors in district 11 rounds of the Ontario Curling Association competition for the Governor-General's Trophy.

Rinks skipped by Bill Clarke and Alan Shirk scored a 44-16 victory over Ayr rinks skipped by J. D. Patterson and R. Baxter.

In the first round Kitchener-Waterloo rinks defeated Galt 40-22 while Ayr eliminated Woodstock rinks 32-26.

Sports Council Head Returned

OTTAWA (CP)—Melville F. Rogers, prominent Ottawa sportsman, has been returned as president of the Canadian Sports Advisory Council.

The council, made up of representatives of sports governing bodies in Canada, held its third annual meeting here during the week-end. Delegates discussed phases of amateur sport ranging from finances and awards to trust funds and a coaching school.

One resolution passed at the meetings was that federal government grants for sports be given to the physical fitness division of the health department, instead of being issued through the finance department.

The resolution said the finance department grants in aid of international competitions now are given to a limited number of sports. The physical fitness division in promoting "the physical fitness of the people of Canada," may assist in the "extension of all educational and other establishments."

Two Canadians Enter Famed Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—The 1954 Hambletonian, famous trotting derby, is expected to have a record purse of about $120,000 for its 29th edition at Good Time Park next Aug. 4.

The Hambletonian society said Monday 87 trotters were kept eligible for the three-year-old sulky classic by payment of $250 Jan. 1. The final payment and starting fee is $1,000 and must be made by noon, two days before the Hambletonian.

Last year, 83 were kept eligible through the Jan. 1 payment, and a record field of 23 horses competed for an all-time high purse of $117,117. The winner was the filly, Helicopter, owned by two Brampton brothers, J. Elgin and C. E. Armstrong, who collected $63,126.

TWO CANADIANS

Two Canadian-owned trotters, Rotary Hanover and Our Scotchman, owned by Rimouski stables of Rimouski, Que., remain eligible for the 1954 derby.

The early favorite for this year's Goshen classic is Newport Dream, from the Newport stock farm of Octave Blake, South Plainfield, N.J. A full brother, Newport Star, was the 6-to-5 choice to win the 1953 race, but finished third, fourth and sixth in the three heats needed to decide the winner.

Newport Dream, a bay son of Axomite-Miss Key, won 20 of his 22 starts as a two-year-old.

The children were from Bishop Turner's former post, the Chinese Roman Catholic Centre. Bishop Turner said 71 of the 262 missionaries and clergymen still in China are held by the Reds.

Third CCF Motion To Deduct All Medical Costs Defeated

OTTAWA (CP)—The third CCF attempt to persuade the government to permit deduction of all medical expenses for income tax purposes has been defeated.

The party's proposal that the current three-per-cent floor on deductible medical expenses be removed was voted down Monday in the Commons 90 to 66. CCF, Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members supported the move.

The resolution, submitted by Stanley Knowles (C'F—Winnipeg North Centre), was similar to motions he presented in 1952 and 1953 when the floor was four per cent.

Members approved the suggestion in 1952 after Finance Minister Abbott said he was prepared to give it consideration. In the 1953 budget Mr. Abbott reduced the floor to three per cent.

NO ACTION

Rejection of Mr. Knowles, latest proposal indicates that Mr. Abbott plans no action in the forthcoming budget to remove the current floor. William Benedickson, Mr. Abbott's parliamentary assistant, said the finance minister has not changed the views he expressed in 1953 when he opposed eliminating the floor.

Mr. Benedickson, speaking in the absence of Mr. Abbott, who has been attending a Commonwealth finance ministers' conference in Australia, said the government feels individuals should pay normal medical expenses without receiving income tax relief.

Mr. Knowles said taxpayers should be allowed to deduct from total income all medical expenses up to the present ceiling of $1,500 for single persons, $2,000 for married persons and $500 for each dependent, up to four.

Under the three-per-cent floor, a taxpayer with an income, for instance, of $3,000 may deduct from that medical expenses over $90.

INTRODUCED IN 1942

Mr. Benedickson said the deduction was introduced in 1942 to help those with above-average medical expenditures. The floor, originally five per cent, was reduced to four in 1944 and to three in 1953.

Mr. Benedickson said if the floor was removed, there would be an "endless stream" of applications for deductions which would require additional administrative cost.

The savings under the proposed resolution would not mean "the difference between hardship and well-being" to individual taxpayers. But the cost to the government would be about $35,000,000 a year—more than last year's surplus of about $24,000,000.

Mr. Knowles said taxpayers could deduct the full amount of gifts to charity from income. This tax law should be extended to include medical expenses.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) suggested funeral expenses should be deductible. He said "funeral expenses have gone beyond all reason."

Wrens Go North To Navy Station

OTTAWA (CP) — Wrens, complete with extra-warm arctic apparel, have gone to Churchill, Man. to stay.

The navy, releasing the names of the first 10 women members of the RCN (reserve) to go to the Hudson bay port, said Monday that "it is planned to have the Wrens-at-Churchill program become a continuing affair, with others following as additions and replacements are required."

The Wrens, headed by Sub-Lt. Barbara Schmidt of Hamilton, arrived at Churchill last November to serve at the naval radio station. All will spend at least a year there, longer if they desire.

Others in the group include Phyllis Cicile E. Chandler, Pinewood, and June Patricia Buchanan.

Archdeacon Wants Union Jack Kept

HAMILTON (CP)—A call to keep the Union Jack in any new Canadian flag design, was made by Archdeacon W. F. Wallace in his sermon Sunday at the Church of the Ascension. "I don't like the idea of eliminating the symbol of our historical background," he declared.

Archdeacon Wallace suggested he "wouldn't care" if the coat of arms was removed and, as was proposed, a circle of maple leaves inserted into the body of the flag. He added that a fleur de lis might be placed within the circle, and the flag given a white instead of a red background to symbolize the French origins of the nation.

Birth, Marriage Rate Down In December

TORONTO (CP) — Births, marriages and deaths in Ontario during December, 1953, all showed a drop as compared with December, 1952.

There were 10,576 births in December, 1953, compared with 10,889 in 1952. Marriages totalled 2,997 in 1953 with 3,496 in 1952 and deaths dropped from 4,071 in 1952 to 3,818 in 1953.

Diseases of the heart were responsible for 1,707 deaths in December, 1953—about half the deaths reported during the month. Cancer caused 643 deaths, 593 persons died of diseases affecting the nervous system and there were 290 violent and accidental deaths.

COMMERCIAL FISH

The cod ranks next to salmon in point of value among the commercial fisheries of Canada.

Change Methods Hotelmen Told, Smarter Public

TORONTO (CP) — Hotel operators were told Monday they will have to change their promotion and sales habits because Canadians are better educated and more discriminating than they were a generation ago.

Managing director J. R. Corbett of the Hotel Association of Ontario told the group's 29th annual convention that the "average Canadian now has 11 years of schooling compared with six years for the average a generation ago."

It was logical to assume that guests would be more discriminating and more demanding in their choice of accommodation, he said.

Mr. Corbett said legislation governing the hotel industry should be brought up to date.

"The fact that we rank fifth as an industry in Canada is sufficient to impress us all with the importance the hotel business occupies in the economic future of Canada."

Resort Grading Urged At Session

TORONTO (CP) — Grading of Ontario summer resorts according to their various type of accommodation will be urged at a convention of the Association of Tourist Resorts of Ontario. The convention begins today.

Bert Rumble of Atherley, president, said Monday the majority of association members favor the move.

"I feel very strongly about the way this grading plan was thrown out by the Ontario government without any consultation with us."

George Martin of Toronto, owner of Wigwasson Lodge near Bracebridge and a past president of ATRO, said "The travelling public wants grading of resorts for their guidance."

In 1952, the Ontario government issued one-star grading signs to about 40 per cent of Ontario resorts. The following year the signs were called in when department officers said there was a legal complication.

Lower Prices Cause Market Yardstick Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—The yardstick for measuring farm prices dropped by 6.9 points last November, the bureau of statistics reported Monday.

The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, declined to 228.9 from 235.8 in October. The drop was caused mainly by lower prices for livestock and eggs, offsetting increases for dairy products.

The November index for Ontario was 253.0 compared to 265.3 for October.

Re-Elected Fair Head

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — I. B. Whale Monday was re-elected president of the Western Fair Association, operator of western Ontario's largest fall fair. Mr. Whale suggested to the annual meeting that the association consider providing facilities to make London a convention city and enable it to hold a winter fair.

Italian Social Movement Termed Fascism In Italy

By HILTON YOUNG

ROME, Italy — (OFNS) — "Neo-Fascist", the name given to the Italian Social Movement (M.S.I.) is rather misleading: the party is straightforward Fascist, and uses the periphrasis only because of possible legal difficulties. A speaker at the National Congress of the M.S.I., which has just ended at Viareggio, ended his peroration by saying: "That is why we are what we may not say we are." He was referring to the fact that anyone who makes public his advocacy of Fascism may still be convicted. Yet the sole interference, Governmental or otherwise, with the congress was a ban on the crying of certain newspapers in the street; and these same papers could be sold silently. Uniformed police waited about on the beach at Viareggio, but probably these were chiefly to guard against the Communist interruptions which did not materialize.

Under the Premiership of Signor Pella—who has recently resigned—the M.S.I. was perfectly free from interference, although before Pella came to power there were several convictions. Pella relied for his majority on the monarchist party,—and the monarchist party sent fraternal delegates to the M.S.I. congress.

The M.S.I. was started just before the 1948 elections, in which it won half a million votes, and two per cent. of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies. In last year's elections it won a million and a half votes, and six per cent of the seats. It began tentatively, as a party of those who had not been conspicuous enough to be imprisoned. But now the younger and more active Fascists are coming out of prison to strengthen the Party, and a post-war generation is coming to maturity.

The Party as a whole is nationalist: it wants Italy's Adriatic territories back, although it is not clear whether this includes Albania, and claims parliamentary representation for Italians living abroad. It is corporativist: instead of parliamentary democracy it wants a return to the Fascist Corporations and the d'Annunzian mystique of government spiritual affirmation. And it is voluntarist: to quote its Secretary - General, Augusto De Marsanich: "We must go forward with a sense of destiny, having as guide the principle which Mussolini affirmed for forty years, the priority of action over discussion. Action is all, because action is life."

There were two new "currents" at the congress, each of which tried and failed to capture the party. The "Left" is predominantly trades union in inspiration, although not in background, and canvassed in its motion a return to the principles of the Republic of Salo, the nine days' wonder set up by Mussolini in Northern Italy in the spring of 1944, after he had been recaptured by the Germans. The Left claimed that the social policy of Salo would have been "the most audacious, organic, and revolutionary the Western world has ever seen" if it had not been cut short by the "Plutocratic-Communist" resistance movement which preceded the arrival of the Allies. The policy included a measure of participation by the workers in management.

The left tends to mitigate its Fascism with references to Mazzini and d'Annunzio. Largely behind the Left stands C.I.S.N.A.L., the fascist trades union organisation, which was founded in 1950 and claims half a million adherents, or eight per cent. of the total labour force. It persuaded the Pella Government to treat it on equal terms with the C.G.I.L. the U.I.L., and the C.I.S.L.; but they, the Communist, Social Democrat, and Roman Catholic labour confederations, will not sit down at a table with C.I.S.N.A.L.

The right wing of the M.S.I. draws its support mainly from a blazing tail of students and even schoolboys organised in a youth movement, the adolescent firebrands who worry the leaders of all extreme Parties in southtern countries., but who cannot be ignored because although their rowdiness is deplorable their hearts are warm, and from them will come the future leaders of the Party. This young Extreme Right is openly revolutionary, and an element of it would like to march on Rome with castor oil and blackjacks.

The whole Party is openly anti-democratic, and is in Parliament only as a matter of "opportunism": the Extreme Right attacked the present Party leaders for their occasional alliance with the Communists.

Nevertheless the congress, with its three motions and its card-votes, was strictly democratic. The leader of the Extreme Right, the Parliamentary, Deputy Pino Romualdi, tabled a substantial motion, then tabled a procedural motion saying that motions were democratic and ought to be abolished. This was voted down, and the Right then argued in favour of its substantial motion. Professor Ernesto Massi of Milan, the leader of the Left, driven into a corner at a Press conference, apologized by saying: "You see, we're still rather beginners in democratic technique."

In 1922-25, the orator and organiser who was to become dictator—the Mussolini whom the M.S.I. calls "the Man who was"—set up shop under his own name and gathered half a nation around him. This time his "heirs", as the M.S.I. call themselves, have set up shop all together and wait for a dictator to appear.

Where he could come from is not clear. There are in the M.S.I. a handful of torrential young orators, any of whom could persuade a crowd to do anything but none of whom would know what a suggest. Organisers, and a real sense of purpose, seem to be lacking; the Party continues under its former elderly and moderate leaders, more parliamentarians than potential dictators. And as far as Parliament goes, Fascism, with its one and a half million votes, does not begin to compete with Communism, which, with its satellite Nenni socialism, has nine and a half million.

Children's Aids To Help Indian Reserves

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario children's aid societies will likely be asked to extend their services into Indian reserves as a result of a meeting of the legislature's select committee on Indian affairs Monday.

The committee heard Indian affairs director H. M. Jones in a day-long session.

While children's aid societies now have equal authority over children on or off reserves, they have generally not concerned themsevles with reserve problems. Misunderstandings as to what body or level of government has authority over neglected Indian children has been part of the reason for ignoring reserves.

COST HITCH

Another hitch is the cost involved.

Before children's aid societies take on work among Indian children there will likely have to be cost-sharing arrangements made with the federal government.

William Bury, provincial director of child welfare, said some confusion was created by persons considering Indians wards of the federal government. Some juvenile court judges were confused to the extent they were unwilling to make such Indian children wards of a children's aid society.

Alfred Davis

APSLEY (ENS)—The funeral of the late Alfred Davis was held from the home of his son, Edwin Davis, to St. Paul's Anglican church Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery. The Rev. W. Boddy officiated.

Mr. Davis had lived at Lasswade in Chandos for 57 years. In 1898 he married Elizabeth Steen who survives him. They had one son, Edwin, two daughters, Mrs. Steve McColl (Lucy) and Mrs. G. King (Mary) all of Lasswade; nine grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

In his youth he was an ardent football player.

He was a member of the Anglican church.

Pallbearers were Neil Whitmore, Art Wilson, George Bullied, Ted Daniels, Theodore Liscum and John Masters.

Gold Stock Pile $1,818,500,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's official stockpile of gold and United States dollars totalled $1,818,500,000 on Dec. 31 last.

This was a drop of $41,700,000 from $1,860,200,000 on Dec. 31, 1952, but a gain of $68,400,000 from the 1953 low of $1,750,100,000 on June 30.

Used to iron out fluctuations in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar, the reserves Dec. 31 were just $48,300,000 below the all-time high of $1,866,800,000 reached last January.

During December, the stockpile increased by $11,800,000 from $1,806,700,000 Nov. 30, the Bank of Canada's statistical summary for December showed.

Demand City Enforce Parking Laws

Give Council Month To Clear Area Or "Sparks Will Fly"

City council Monday night heard complaints that parking regulations were being violated by employees of the Outboard, Marine and Manufacturing Co. in the Romaine-Monaghan Rd. area.

Spokesman for the delegation from the neighborhood, Garfield Bryant, 560 Romaine St. told The Examiner today that they would give council a month "to do something about it."

"If they don't do anything, there'll be an angry bunch of citizens go to the council meeting and the sparks will fly," he warned.

The area involved is on Romaine St., west from Kent St., for about 300 yards west of Monaghan Rd. and north on Monaghan Rd. for about a block.

COUNTED CARS

Mr. Bryant and Clarence Clarke, 950 Monaghan Rd., each made a census over a period of a week. Mr. Clarke discovered 122 cars parked during the daytime and 104 at night for about a block on Monaghan Rd. and about the same distance on Romaine St.

There are one-hour parking signs on one side of Kent and Romaine Sts. and no-parking signs on the opposite side of each street. Although no count was made on Kent St., conditions there were said to be similar.

"We can't get any sleep at nights with the shouting and banging of car doors," Mr. Bryant complained. He said there was a racket at 9 p.m. and 10 p.m., which didn't bother anyone. But the noise resumed between 11 and 12 p.m., shortly after 12, at 2 a.m. and again between 6 and 7 a.m., when drivers apparently take their vehicles from where they are not supposed to park and move them to the main street. Some trucks are involved, he said.

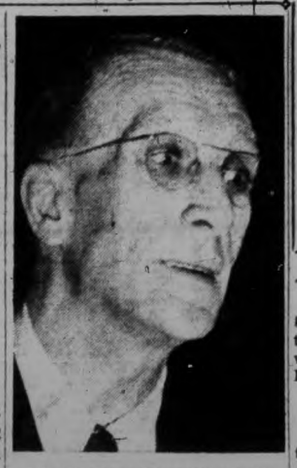
ISSUED TICKETS

Mr. Bryant said the police have come down to the area the odd time when residents have complained. When they showed up, the police issued parking tickets but their appearance have been only spasmodic, Mr. Bryant said.

"The city could make money on parking tickets if they employed a policeman just to cover that area," he calculated.

It was pointed out by another member of the delegation that it was impossible for city sweepers and snow plows to clear the streets as long as they were lined with parked cars. Mr. Bryant said the residents of the area were conforming with the bylaw by keeping their own cars parked off the streets.

The committee of the whole council referred the matter to the police commission and to the board of works.



ORIGINATED SCHOOL BANDS — Albert Croasdale, who died after a lengthy illness in Sunnybrook hospital, Toronto, on Monday, was the originator of the PCVS concert band and the public schools' band. He became well-known as a bandmaster, adjudicator and composer while senior bandmaster with the Canadian Army.

Police Coming Driver Hurries To Reach Home

OPP constables told Clarence Turner of Harvey township they were making a liquor investigation and on November 15 they asked him to preceed them to his home. However, he was in such a hurry to get home ahead of the constables that he drove his car at speeds exceeding 70 m.p.h.

This information was given by OPP Constable K. Barber in court Tuesday, when Turner was charged with exceeding the 50 m.p.h. speed limit on a highway. Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, fined him $25, costs $2.50.

377 Bulls Entered In Toronto Show, Sale

TORONTO (CP)—A total of 377 bulls from Ontario's leading herds have been entered for the 1954 beef bull show and sale here March 9-10, W. P. Watson, Ontario livestock commissioner, announced today.

Indications are the sale will be one of the largest in the history of the event. Breeders from all parts of the province will be represented.

Shorthorn cattle will predominate with 192 bulls being consigned to the sale. Herefords number 134 and aberdeen angus 51.

Main Street Topics

TO BUILD SIDEWALKS

City Council Monday night gave third reading to a bylaw authorizing the construction of sidewalks on Dufferin St., Monaghan Rd., and St. Catherine St.

CITY MAKES GRANTS

City council Monday night authorized payment of interim grants of $90,000 a month to the board of education and $4,000 a month to the Public Library board until their estimates for the year have been prepared.

TO INSTALL TANKS

City council Monday night granted permission, subject to the aproval of the city engineer, to Canadian Oil Companies Ltd., to install three 2,000-gallon gasoline tanks underground at their proposed service station at Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne St.

ONE MOTOR ACCIDENT

Only one motor accident was reported in the city Monday. It occurred at Princess and Aylmer Sts. at 5:10 p.m. when a car driven by Malcolm Reid, 489 Rose Ave., came into collision with the rear of a car driven by Albert Platt, RR 11, Peterborough. Damage was not serious and no injuries were reported.

IUE ELECTION RESULTS

Eric May has been re-elected president of Local 599, IUE (CIO-CCL), the bargaining unit for the CGE's office and salaried workers. Here is the union's executive for 1954: Eric May, president; Murice Niblet, vice-president; Gloria Lang, recording-secretary; Ken Soutter, treasurer; Al Raymond, financial secretary; Harry Helson, floor guard; and three trustees—Marjorie Garland, Walter Dinesen and Len Wall.

TOURIST INFORMATION

The beauty of the Kawartha Lakes district and Peterborough is becoming internationally known. For years Americans have been visiting this summer playground. Two Estimates On Land Value

The last of the city's witnesses in the Klondike Gold Brown arbitration case is going into the witness box today to evaluate the Brown property which was taken so the PUC could expand their water storage facilities.

Originally, the city started expropriation proceedings to take over 20.04 acres of the Brown farm —a narrow strip of land 2,772 feet long on the west side of Highway 28, just inside the northern city limits. However the department of highways expropriated 2.341 acres of this area so they could straighten the route of Highway 28.

The arbitration hearing before Judge John de N. Kennedy has been going on since January 7 in the county courtroom. Alex Elliott, QC, counsel for the city, is expected to complete his case in the early afternoon. Replies will then be made by T. J. Carley, QC, counsel for Mr. Brown, and W. B. Gordon, counsel for Mr. Brown's three sons and two daughters.

The hearing should end by the late afternoon.

On Monday the city's second land appraiser, Adam Sands, gave two estimates of the worth of the expropriated property.

Actual worth in 1948 (when expropriation proceedings began) was $403.77 an acre, or $8,091.55 for 20.04 and $7,146.73 for 17.7 acres.

Potential worth at that time was $731.24 an acre, or $14,654.20 for 20.04 and $12,942.95 for 17.7 acres.

Ed. O'Toole, the city's other expert witness, appraised the 1948 net value of the land at $13,000 And it would take another $8,500 to develop it suitable for subdividing into lots.

Expert witnesses, called by the Browns, gave these estimates:

Gordon Hancock. Land valued at $27,000 less $5,000 for levelling and grading suitable for subdividing into lots.

Bruce Sargent. Land valued at $24,000 after grading.

Gordon Powell, manager of the PUC, said that the PUC had expropriated the land so they could expand their water storage facilities. The water treatment plant will remain on the east side of the highway.

Russians Content With Lot Gerald Clark Tells Rotary After Month Behind Curtain

There is no great dissatisfaction in Russia today. The people show no signs of revolting against their system, nor are they awaiting liberation. They stand behind the regime for the simple reason that they know no other. Gerald Clark, 35-year-old editor, war correspondent, and feature writer of Weekend, recently returned from a month's travel behind the Iron Curtain, stressed these observations at Rotary luncheon, Monday. Mr. Clark is currently writing for Weekend a series of articles on his trip to Russia.

"It is quite clear, of course, by our standards the Russians are woefully backward. But that isn't the point. By their own standards, the Russians are eating and living better today than at any time in the past. They have security in their jobs, and in such things as health care."

There is no keeping up with the Jones'. Though their clothes may be dull and colorless, they are just as warm, and a neighbor doesn't have one that looks smarter.

"The average Russian is quite proud that his country has been built up, physically and culturally, in a relatively short span of time, and he is also hopeful that the future will give him more in the way of material things."

MORE CONSUMER GOODS

Probably the greatest single development since Malenkov's entry into the scene, is a double-barrelled New Deal — a drive to increase consumer goods and program that gives the farmer a greater share of the profit.

There is a return to the incentive motive, based on the realization that people will work best if they see the rewards themselves.

NO COMMUNISM

There is no real communism in Russia. The people themselves admit this. The old theory: from each according to his ability, to each according to his need, has been abandoned. The theory that everyone, street cleaner and doctor, would share exactly alike was never really put into practice. It is considered right that the man

Causeway Fill Work Renewed

Now that the frost is deeply in the ground ,work is going ahead on trucking rock fill to Gannon's Narrows in Harvey township. It has been going on for about 10 days now and the fill juts out nearly 600 feet from the Harvey shore.

The project was unexpectedly delayed because the two-and-a-half-mile township road, from the limestone quarry to the narrows, wasn't able to stand up to the heavy pounding of the big rock-carrying trucks.

Now that the frost is in the ground the road can support the trucks.

Armstrong Brothers of Brampton, the contractors, hope to have the fill completely by the end of February. They are considering working a double shift to hurry up the job.

Putting in the rock fill will be the first step in building an overhead bridge and causeway at Gannon's Narrows (a narrow neck of water between Pigeon and Buckhorn lakes) which it is estimated will cost a total of $206,000.

Fort Erie Building Tops $1,000,000 In '53

FORT ERIE (CP)—Building permits in this Niagara border town passed the $1,000,000 mark in 1953 for the first time in history.

Figures released today by assistant building inspector Clarence Burger showed the total at $1,197,531 with residential building accounting for $846,374.

Parks Committee Of City Investigates Freeze-up In Townsend St. Greenhouse

Water Pipes Burst When Civic Employee Forgets To Fire Furnace Damage Not Considered Very Heavy

The city greenhouse on Townsend St., a branch of Armar W. Butcher's parks department, is being investigated by R. E. Knox's parks committee as a result of damages caused by bursting water pipes last Thursday. Ald. Knox was in conference with Mr. Butcher this morning, assessing the damage. Several elbows in the joints froze and burst, causing an undertermined amount of damage to the 50 or 60 plants in the greenhouse at that time.

The press was barred by the committee chairman from this morning's greenhouse inspection. Mr. Knox said that he had "no comment to make at the present time."

CLAIMED NEGLIGIBLE

Damage to the greenhouse is "negligible" said superintendent Butcher and "There's no point in making a mountain out of a molehill." He said that the pipes froze because the city employee, usually working on rinks, and detailed to keep the furnace hopper filled with coal, forgot his duties one night. Result was that the fires went out and the pipes burst.

NO COST TO CITY

Mr. Butcher pointed out that on his own initiative he had equipped the greenhouse with a discarded hot water jacket heater at no cost to the city. The furnace was cracked and leaking when purchased but "we repaired it before and can do it again." In any case, he said, damage to the greenhouse which he estimates at $87 was caused not by a defect in the furnace but by an oversight on the part of a civic employee.

"I wouldn't even consider getting a new furnace," said Mr. Butcher. The present one is "quite adequate" and since it does not operate by steam pressure, there is no serious danger in case of bursting pipes.

Today's investigation of the greenhouse said one of the civic employees, was not the first made by members of council. Last Saturday the parks committee were down to investigate damages, then partially repaired by Mr. Butcher.

To the suggestion, made by Mr. Knox, that the city close the greenhouse and buy flowers from private florists, Mr. Butcher said: "This might cost no more but the city would have far less choice in its floral needs." Mr. Knox has suggested that buying flowers privately might be cheaper than repairing and maintaining the present green house.

One civic employee expressed the view that Mr. Butcher had "no choice" but to go ahead and repair the furnace after "negligence" on the part of the man who was supposed to keep the hopper filled. The official, who declined to be named, said that if this worker were dismissed other civic employees might strike in protest."

Workers in civic departments are represented by Local 504 of the Civic Employees Union.

Meanwhile speculation mounts as to why (1) Monday ngiht's parks committee meeting was closed to press and (2) why the press was not permitted to examine the greenhouse.

Mayor Graham told the Examiner today that he had "no comment yet" on the situation in the parks department.

Tributes Paid To Work Of Band Master

A funeral service for Albert Croasdale, 59, of 621 St. Catherines St., will be held tonight at the Kaye funeral home. He will be buried Thursday in Ottawa.

Mr. Croasdale, PCVS band director and tutor of both primary and secondary school students in the playing of band instruments, died Monday in Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, after a long illness.

BURIAL IN OTTAWA

A funeral service will be 8 p.m. at the Kaye funeral home with the Rev. H. E. Peasgood of St. Alban's Anglican church, officiating. Burial will be Thursday afternoon in Pine Crest cemetery after a funeral service at the Radmore Stewart funeral home in Ottawa.

Mr. Croasdale was born in Chorley, Lancashire, son of the late Frederick Croasdale and Mary Longworth. After retiring from the Canadian Army as bandmaster in 1947 he came to Peterborough to live. Previously he lived in Barrie.

He leaves his widow, the former Stephanie Sheldon; and a sister, Mrs. E. Blackburn of Chorley, England.

He was a member of St. Alban's Anglican church and a member of the AF and AM Masonic lodge, Cochrane.

"Mr. Croasdale came to us at the time when we were anxious to get a band started at PCVS," said K. S. Wightman, superintendant of schools. We felt that he was the right man at the right time . . . he actually started from nothing . . . and the young people seemed to take to him. He was very interested in his work and very obliging — always ready to give a band performance at the slightest notice. Although the public school band project was his own, it was on the verge of being sponsored by the board of education at the time of his death. His death is a serious and hard-felt loss."

"Mr. Croasdale definitely built up a musical sense in this city's students and we at Kenner Collegiate owe much to him for the hard work he has done. When classes were organized here more than a year and a half ago, we were greatly in need of a musical instructor and Mr. Croasdale, with his usual generosity, agreed to comply for a year. I am sure he will be dearly missed by all the students and teachers who have made his acquaintance," said Dr. E. P. Ray, principal of Kenner.

In paying tribute to Mr. Croasdaue, C. S. Browne, PCVS principal, said "he was a very brilliant man in his field."

Mr. Browne added, "He certainly was an outstanding bandmaster. He had the qualities to be successful in conducting and teaching instrumental music to 'teenage students. He will be hard to replace."

Committee Recommends $1,000 Grant To Registry

By a vote of seven to three the committee of the whole city council Monday night recommended a grant of $1,000 from the city to the Community Nursing Registry, who had previously said they required assistance to the extent of $1,800 in order to stay in operation. The grant is for 1954 only.

According to information given at council, the registry is meeting operating expenses from current revenue but is faced with $1,800 accrued indebtedness. It was also stated that the board of governors of Civic Hospital had agreed to raise their payments to the registry by 50 per cent.

In the past, the hospital had paid the registry $1.00 each time the services of a nurse had been obtained at their request. It is understood they have raised their payments this year to $1.50. Last year, the registry completed almost 500 calls for the hospital.

Ald. Alene Holt, who, with Ald. Art Burrows and Ald. Gordon Powell, had been appointed to discuss the registry's need with the Community Chest, reported that she had been in touch with officials of the Chest who were to arrange a meeting with Ald. Burrows But they had not done so.

"They have already made their commitments for this year and have given a negative answer," Ald. Stan McBride explained.

Mayor Norman Graham explained that it was necessary for council to decide Monday night whether or not to assist the registry because the telephone company would not accept any listings after today.

Aldermen Reaffirm Resolution Passed In 1949

Challenge Sending Firemen Out Of City

The committee of the whole city council Monday night reaffirmed a resolution passed in 1949 to give no fire service to any of the surrounding townships unless they have a working agreement with the city for fire protection.

At present the city has working agreements only with Smith township and the village of Lakefield and has contracts for protecting Mount St. Joseph convent and the CGE power dam property at Nassau. The question of negotiating agreements with the other neighboring municipalities was referred to the fire, water and light committee.

This was the result of a marathon debate following the presentation of a brief in open council by Ald. Harold Rehill, a sequel to Mayor Norman Graham's instructions to the fire department, a week ago, to answer a call at 1 Manice Ave. in Otonabee township, outside the city limits.

OFFERED BOARD OF WORKS

The debate, which took place in committee, also brought to light an interesting bit of recent history in the form of a revelation by the mayor that, after his election, he had offered Ald. Rehill the chairmanship of the board of works but the councillor had turned it down. The post ultimately went to Ald. Burrows by a vote of council.

Staring straight at Ald. Rehill on his immediate left, His Worship thundered the startling information that he could have prevented the diminutive alderman from obtaining the chairmanship of any committee at all. He did not elaborate.

Charging that the discussion was a result of "bitterness" because he hadn't phoned the chairman of the fire, water and light committee, either before or after the fire, Mayor Graham admitted that he had made a mistake in ordering the fire department outside the city, but vowed he wouldn't "take any dirt" from Ald. Rehill either "in the committee room or in council."

The mayor's lively interjections punctuated an otherwise far-ranging—and sometimes legalistic —discussion of whether or not anyone had the authority to order the fire department outside the city. It developed that no one had. Moreover, His Worship admitted that if the department did answer a call beyond the city limits, the fire chief would be at fault.

Referring to the 1949 resolution which prohibited the fire department from giving service to any of the surrounding townships, Ald. Rehill reminded council that on August 30, 1952, the acting mayor permitted the department to answer a call for assistance from the village of Keene which was very much appreciated by the folk of the village.

"Following this incident, this matter was again discussed and it was decided that no charge could be made for this service because we did not intend to serve the surrounding district, and also we again decided that the resolution prohibited our fire department from answering such calls.

HAS MAYOR AUTHORITY?

"The questions I would like answered here and now are:

"Has the mayor this authority which is not a privilege or authority granted the chairman?

"Has the mayor the authority to ignore resolutions which he knew to be in effect as well as ignoring the responsibilities which a chairman accepts when he or she heads a committee? After all I am just as human and sympathetic in regard to helping our neighbors as anyone else, where this is permitted.

"How is the fire department or any other department able to know what regulations are to be followed to the letter of the law and what regulations can be temporarily suspended under certain circumstances?

"I am not prepared to be faced with these decisions or indecisions so long as there is any question of doubt whether we supply this service outside the city or whether we refuse it. Unless this matter can be decided tonight, I will have to ask to be relieved of the responsibilities as chairman of the fire department, until such time as this matter is definitely settled."

Mayor Graham admitted that he had made a mistake in ordering the fire department outside the city but said "possibly I let my sympathy run away with me rather than good judgment.

"I didn't phone the fire department in order to go over Ald. Rehill's head. I did it in haste. But where there are six children, I'm afraid I'll be forced to break the bylaw again. I cannot see children suffer. The township is prepared to pay $200 or more, whatever is required."

Ald. Bill Beggs said he could sympathize with the mayor and he wouldn't want to have been in the mayor's position when he received the call for help, but there was no sense in making a bylaw if it was going to be broken.

Quoting a reference of the mayor to the question of stores opening for business Friday nights contrary to bylaw, Ald. Beggs said His Worship had always been a strong advocate of making the citizens obey the bylaws.

EMBARRASSING TO COUNCIL

"Your statement that you would do the same thing again is putting us in a very precarious position," said Ald. Beggs, who commended an earlier proposal to establish a fringe area surrounding the city where fire protection could be contracted for.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson disapproved of Ald. Beggs' proposal

CAHA Begins Investigation Into 3-Way Junior Brawl

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association probably will start an investigation today into a Montreal-Hamilton junior hockey game Monday night that ended in a three-way brawl involving referee Sibby Mundey, Hamilton coach Jim Skinner and Hamilton left-winger Joey Zorica.

George D[illegible], secretary manager of the CAHA, refused to comment on the fracas that preceded the abandonment of the game early in the second period, but said the matter will be handled by CAHA president W. B. George of Kemptville.

The game—a regular fixture in the interlocking Ontario Hockey Association and Quebec Junior Hockey League schedule—was declared "out of control" by Mundey, "because I didn't want to see some kid killed," after he alleged Skinner butted him with his head and Zorica flattened him with a blow of his fist.

CANADIENS WINNERS

The score was 2-1 for Canadiens when the game was called off and the Montreal side was awarded the verdict.

The rumpus started when Mundey and Skinner had a rinkside argument about offsides. Skinner said the linesmen were missing offsides and Mundey should enforce them. The referee told Skinner to stop yelling.

Mundey said after the game that Skinner came at him and butted him twice with his head. Then Zorica jumped in and flattened him with a haymaker.

Police and other Hamilton players broke up the tussle between Mundey and Zorica who was given a match misconduct by the referee. Earlier he received a misconduct for yelling.

ESCORT SKINNER OUT

After the fight police escorted Skinner from the rink. Skinner denied either he or Zorica touched the referee but said, "He hit me." Mundey admitted he "saw red" when Skinner butted him and "let a few" the Hamilton coach, but the blow missed.

President Frank Horan of the QJHL, who was watching the game, said he saw Skinner butt Mundey but refused to comment further.

Trainer Walter Yuzark of Hamilton said: "I never saw anything like it in my life." Yuzark said the game will be protested by Hamilton.

Some 250 spectators watched the fracas at suburban Verdun auditorium but did not attempt to get on the ice. The Montreal players also stayed clear of trouble.

Mundey said afterwards he called off the game for fear of a clash between opposing players.

Man Who Keeps In Motion Longest Will Take It All In Exciting Olson-Gavilan Go

By JIMMY BRESLIN

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The natural—Bobo Olson and Kid Gavilan for the middleweight championship—has been set for the Chicago Stadium, April 2.

Now boxing people are sitting back and looking for the answers to a lot of questions.

Dissenters insist that Gavilan hasn't too much left. Against Johnny Bratton, in his last outing, it was strictly no contest. The Cubanola Glider battered the Brat from corner to corner and around again.

Bratton was little more than a punching bag, however, running short of petrol before the firing had hardly started. And Johnny B, closer inspection shows, was behind in every fight he won in 1953, his victories coming almost strictly on knockouts. Either he landed the punch or he lost the scrap, and the latter happened on a couple of occasions.

Carmen Basilio, well conditioned but plodding and unimaginative, decked Gavilan in the second heat, failed to follow through in a losing 15. A bit more brashness on Basilio's part and the Keed would have been without the welter wreath.

Olson gives Gavilan an opportunity to win the ring respect he claims is his due.

"I beat up all the middleweights . . . mash 'em like spaghetti mush," he picturesquely told the world after ending Chuck Davey's dream in Chicago.

Olson looked the part of a fine middleweight, liver punching Paddy Young out of the picture in a 15 at Madison Square Garden, then returning to club Randy Turpin to the floor twice and acquire the world title. Yet the Hawaiian-Portuguese-Swede was faulted for his failure to stiffen both Young and Turpin.

The blanks will be filled out on the style count. Gavilan has reached the stage where he prefers to stalk and stall, turning on the juice only when up to it.

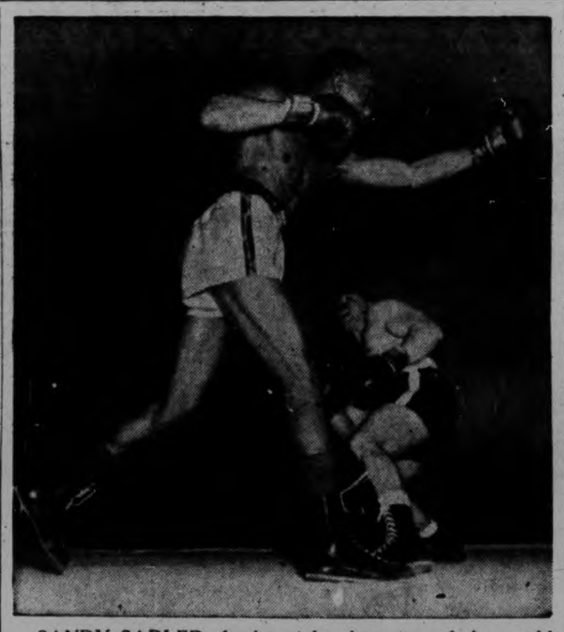
But the Keed can be a windmill, too, when he has to be, and the question is: Can he pull out all the stops when properly pressured by Olson's three-minutes-a-round style? Also: Can Bobo keep it up when in with a windmill of the same type?

This might be called the Whirling Windmill Caper. The man who keeps in motion longest will win what figures to be an exciting engagement.

Gavilan has had weight trouble, so there isn't likely to be more than five or six pounds between them.

The welter title will still be Gavilan's property unless he defeats Olso. If the Keed should do that, and vacate the 147-pound throne, Billy Graham will figure prominently along with Carmen Basilio.

Billy Graham, who has beaten Kid Gavilan once and lost to him three times, has never gotten over the highly debatable decision he dropped to the Havana Special at Madison Square Gardens in the summer of 1951.



SANDY SADLER, featherwight champion of the world on leave from the Army, has Billy Bossio standing well off, in this action. Saddler took the non-title match on a TKO in the ninth round.

Pierce, Sauer Sign Contract But Eddie Mathews Unhappy

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs each have another big catch in the baseball contract bag, but Milwaukee slugger Eddie Mathews has joined the increasing group of dissatisfied major-leaguers.

Lefty Billy Pierce, who along with Virgil Trucks kept the Chisox in the American League pennant running last season, came to terms for 1954 and "became one of the highest-paid pitchers in the club's history," said general manager Frank Lane.

Pierce won 18 games and dropped 12 last year, finished second in earned runs with a 2.72 mark and had a stretch of 40 1-3 scoreless innings. Trucks already is in the White Sox fold.

SAUER SIGNS

Hank Sauer, the National League's most valuable player in 1952, signed a Cubs' contract and promised to "fight with all I've got" to return to his form of two seasons ago. He slumped to 19 home runs in '53 after hitting 37 the previous year. Ralph Kiner, the Cubs' other home - run threat, signed last week.

Mathews, the National League's home run king last year, bolstered the holdout ranks. "After last season the club tried to get me to sign," Mathews explained. "But I wasn't satisfied with what they offered me. I doubt if we'll get together very fast."

ALL DISAPPOINTED

Earlier this month, Yogi Berra, Gil McDougald, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees, Bob Porterfield and Mickey Vernon of Washington Senators, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons of Philadelphia Phillies and Gus Zernial of Philadelphia A's all expressed disappointment with the contracts they were tendered.

The Cubs got another well-known player today when Bruce Edwards, all-star catcher with Brooklyn in 1947, signed for the 1954 season. Edwards, now 30, left Brooklyn in 1949 because of a sore arm.

He joined the Cubs in 1951. Last year he managed the Cubs' farm team at Springfield, Mass., in the International League until June, when he was transferred to Des Moines, Ia., where he managed the Western League club as well as playing third base. Des Moines won the playoff title.

Dempsey Made First Money In Mining Camps

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — "I was Mom's boy. Helped with the washing and the cooking. I was raised like a girl."

The man across the table was Jack Dempsey, the cruel puncher who humbled Jess Willard and flattened Luis Firpo in a riotous brawl that was voted the sports thrill of the last 50 years.

Dempsey's early life—from 1895 to 1915 before the record books pick him up—has produced a thorny wilderness of half truth about a homeless hobo on the prowl for three squares a day.

Much is pure fiction. Dempsey, himself, isn't even sure of all the facts. Men didn't have much time to keep track of days and years in the roaring mining camps of Colorado and Utah at the turn of the century.

EVERYBODY DRIFTED

"I never was a hobo," Dempsey said. Dempsey talks fast, as impatient with words as he used to be with his fists. "Sure, I rode the trains (freights). Everybody rode them. But I never was a bum."

He thought for a moment before adding: "The American drifter built the West. Nobody thought nothing of it. Fellow went from town to town looking for a job. You rode the trains—the rods, the blind baggage, the top of freight cars. Everybody was drifting.

"I never stayed away from home too long. I missed my mother too much. I was mom's boy, next to the youngest boy in our family of 11 kids. We always had enough to eat at home. Everybody had to work. We were just ordinary working people, drifting around the West, making a living, that's all.

SATURDAY NIGHT BRAWLS

"In the mining camps on a Saturday night they'd have a fight. Some new fellow would drift in, like me, and I'd fight the local champ: bare fists. Maybe he'd be a big fat guy who couldn't fight much.

"I knew enough to stay away long enough to get the other fellow tired. Then I'd let him have it. We used to fight until one guy got knocked out or quit. You were no good if you quit. They'd take up a collection and maybe you'd get $1.75 or $2 or $3, in pennies, nickels and dimes. It was found money, an extra dollar on the side. I was only a 135-pounder then.

"The secret of boxing is very simple—hit the other guy and don't get hit yourself. Anybody—even a baby—can punch if they don't get hit back."

CANADA'S LORNE MAIN pulled the court surprise of the year by capturing the Florida West Coast single championship recently at St. Peterburg. He beat Tony Vincent of Miami 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. First time an outsider has won this tourney.

Trenton Flyers Beat Campbellford By 11-7

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — The local TVL squad were snowed under here on Monday night when the Trenton RCAF entry in the league handed them an 11 to 7 defeat. During the latter part of the game, the Trenton Flyers lived up to their name and racked up one of the largest scores of the season against the Campbellford puckists.

Campbellford slowed down after the first period, when they were out in front 5 to 3. Trenton took over in the second period and scored five of the six goals. They netted three of the five goals scored in the last period. There were few penalties during the game. Campbellford missed the services of their goaltender, Ozzie Nelson, but Bill Payne did a good job as his replacement. Blake was out with a shoulder injury.

Referees were Aquino and Carsen of Belleville.

Top Tennis Star Title Regained By Lorne Main

MONTREAL (CP)—Lorne Main, native of Vancouver now living in Toronto, has been named Canada's top tennis player of 1953 by the Davis Cup selection and national ranking committee of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

Mrs. Hilda Doleschell of Toronto was ranked at the top among the women, edging out Mrs. Hanna Sladek of Montreal.

Main had a comfortable margin in the men's bracket over Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que. Both were members of Canada's 1953 Davis Cup team, but it was Main who spearheaded the Canadian wins in the series against Mexico and Cuba. The 24-year-old ambidextrous star did not lose a match to a Canadian player throughout the year.

In topping the ratings, Main regained the ranking he held in 1951. The announcement came just one day after his latest victory. Sunday he won the Florida west coast singles championship, beating Tony Vincent of Miami 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Brendan Macken, Montreal, headed the association listings last year but retired from tournament competition early this season. He entered only one tournament, defeating Bedard in the finals for the Montreal Cup. Three tournaments are required before a player can be considered for national ranking.

Dr. Georges Leclerc, chairman of the national ranking committee said Mrs. Doleschell was chosen "by the closest possible margin" over Mrs. Sladek in the women's division. They had almost identical records. Mrs. Doleschell won the major tournaments played in Toronto and Mrs. Sladek walked off with the big Montreal championships.

Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto was ranked third, Pat Macken of Montreal fourth and Trudy Smoker of Vancouver fifth.

Leclerc said Bedard had shown the most improvement of any Canadian player during the last two years and the increasingly better showings won him the second ranking.

Jim Macken of Vancouver placed third by a narrow margin over Paul Willey, also of Vancouver, a member of the Davis Cup squad. Don Platt of Toronto, winner of the Toronto and district tennis tournament, was placed fifth. Leclerc singled out Platt for praise because of his improving play.

Henri Rochon, the little Montreal veteran and perennial contender for top ranking was not listed because of insufficient tournament play. Rochon was one of the members of the Canadian Davis Cup contingent that was eliminated by the United States last year.

Bill Green, Vancouver, was listed sixth by the association, followed by Jacques Giguere, Quebec, Jim Skelton, Vancouver, Jim Bentley, Toronto and Art Jeffery, Vancouver.

In the women's listings, Mrs. Jean Bardsley, Vancouver, placed sixth, followed by Lois Reid, Vancouver, Mrs. Anne Freedhoff, Toronto, Bev Danby, Vancouver and Mariette Laframboise, Montreal.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of January 25: Lawn Boys No. 2 vs Fire Hall No. 4; Legion No. 7, vs Legion No. 3; Fire Hall No. 10, vs Legion No. 5; Legion No. 11, vs Glens No. 6; Red Patch No. 13, vs Orphans No. 8; Legion No. 9, vs L.O.L. No. 12 The above schedule completes the first half.

Results of last week's play: At Legion, Fire Hall No. 4 swept to a 22-9 victory over Legion No. 5. The second game was different, Legion No. 5 coming from behind made it 6-all in the seventh frame but again No. 5 forged ahead taking the next three ends making the score 11-6 with two ends to go. No. 5 captured the 11th and 12th ends with deuces in each frame failing by one shot to tie the score. The final score was 11-10.

CLOSE ENOUGH

The first game saw Legion No. 1 come from behind to make the score 6-all in the 6th end; they then captured the next frame with a deuce—but No. 11 came back with a big five; Legion No. 1, won the next three ends making the score Legion No. 1—15 and Legion No. 11—11 and while No. 11 captured the last end, it was only by a two. In the second game No. 11 trailing 8-4 in the eighth frame came on to win by taking every one of the last four frames, to make it a split on the night's play, and finishing ahead in a 13-8 game.

Red Patch No. 13, by only scoring in four ends of the first game lost 5-12 to Glens No. 6. The Glens threatening the league leader swept to a 24-6 victory over No. 13, giving them a double win. Lawn Boys No. 2, met Orphans No. 8 and their meeting resulted in one game each, No. 2 taking the first by a 12-8 score. No. 8 came back to take the second game 18-6 by virtue of a big six end. The Post Office Boys allowing Legion No. 3 to score three big ends lost to their opponents 8-16. In the second game No. 14 could only win two frames and as a result lost 2-15, to Legion No. 3. At the Fire Hall, King Billie and his orange-squeezers swept to a 23-2 victory over Fire Hall No. 10. The second game was different. No. 12 went into the lead but No. 10 made it 3-all in four frames and then continued on to win a close 10-7 game.

Legion No. 7 defaulted to the league leaders Legion No. 9.

OTHER RESULTS

Results of games not reported the previous week. Orphans No. 8 went down to defeat in both games. The first game Legion No. 11 scored in six consecutive ends to win a 17-10 battle. The second game saw No. 8 go into a lead but Legion No. 11 overtook them by piling up two four ends and two three ends and winning 16-9.

Another defaulted game with Legion No. 7 again involved, but this time claiming four points from Legion No. 5.

STANDING TO JANUARY 16

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	Ave.
Legion No. 9	17	5	0	34	60%
Fire Hall No. 4	13	7	2	28	55
Glens No. 6	14	8	0	28	53
Legion No. 3	12	8	2	26	54
Legion No. 11	13	9	0	26	53
Orphans No. 8	11	9	2	24	53
Red Patch No. 13	11	10	1	23	48
Fire Hall No. 10	11	11	0	22	46
Lawn Boys No. 2	10	12	0	20	44
L.O.L. No. 12	9	12	1	19	51
Legion No. 1	8	14	0	16	45
Legion No. 7	7	14	1	15	52
Legion No. 5	7	14	1	15	47
Post Office No. 14	5	15	2	12	38

With only two weeks left (this week and next) to complete the first half, Legion No. 9 looks to be the winner of that half with about a half dozen teams threatening their lead as the schedule swings into the second part. Almost any of the teams in the league, hitting a winning streak could climb a long way up in the standing before April.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

QUESTIONS RUSS VICTORY

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The president of the United States Amateur Skating Union said Monday Russia would not have won the world speed-skating championships in Japan if Americans had competed.

Richard Sherman told reporters the Americans may not have won the championships themselves, but he didn't think the Russians would have won either.

Still smarting under the state department's refusal to allow him and three skaters to fly to Sapporo, Japan, at reduced rates for the events, Sherman said the Americans could have taken the 500-metre, event in one, two, three order.

Boris Shilkov, who won the individual championship in the four-race competition with 197.463 points raced the 500 metres in 45.4 seconds.

Other Russians finished second, third, fifth and eighth in total points.

Sherman noted Olympic champ Ken Henry of Chicago skated the 500-metre course in 43.2 seconds in 1952 and has bettered Shilkov's mark several times since.

With the Americans putting on the pressure, the other entries, particularly the Dutch and the Swedes, would have taken heart against the Russians, Sherman added.

DENIES FRENCH CLAIM

MELBOURNE (CP) — Arthur Coles, former Melbourne Olympic games organizer, Monday denied that Australian delegates to the International Olympic Committee meeting at Mexico City last May promised this country's quarantine laws would be lifted for the equestrian events in the 1956 games.

He was replying to the allegation of French delegate M. Massard at an IOC executive meeting at Lausanne, Switzerland, that Australian delegates had made this promise.

Coles told The Associated Press: "We told the committee the laws were the laws of the country and all we promised was that we would be keen in pressing for the easing of them."

PLAN EXHIBITION GAMES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Annis Stukus of British Columbia Lions said Monday his team may meet Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats in pre-season exhibition football games here this summer.

The two Big Four teams are scheduled to play Calgary and Regina and Stukus said there is "a good possibility" they would continue to the west coast.

Lions come up for official entry into the Western Interprovincial Football Union when the league meets in Regina next week.

✦ ✦ ✦

SWIMMER RETIRES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Australian swimmer John Davies, who holds the world record for the 200-yard breast stroke, is "through with swimming forever," he said Monday.

Davies arrived here Sunday night on the liner Oronsay. He and his wife are bound for Ann Arbor, where he will study law at the University of Michigan.

Even the prospect of adding to his laurels at this summer's British Empire Games here couldn't lure him from retirement.

Classing himself as an "old man" at 25, Davies said "I can't afford to come all the way back to Canada for the games. And anyway, swimming is a young man's game and I have to earn a living."

FIGHT POSTPONED

BELFAST (AP) — The Robert Cohen-John Kelly bantamweight fight for the European championship was postponed Monday after Cohen pulled a shoulder ligament.

Promoter George Connell, whose Jan. 30 bout was reported a sell-out in 15,000-seat Kings Hall, said the fight would be held either in early February or March.

PIERCE SIGNS PACT

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Pierce signed his 1954 contract Monday and general manager Frank Lane of Chicago White Sox said the little lefthander "becomes one of the highest paid pitchers in the club's history." The terms were not disclosed.

Pierce, 26, had his greatest season in 1953 with 18 victories, four of them over New York Yankees. He lost 12.

Pierce led the American League in strikeouts with 186. He hurled seven shutouts.

Norwood Boys Take Victories At Home

NORWOOD (ENS).— The Norwood juveniles beat Coe Hill 8-5 last night and the Norwood midgets won 5-4 from Marmora in a twin bill. Francis Rooney was hit in the face with a stick but the injury was not serious. In the juve joust, Mervin Patterson of Norwood scored four and aided on one, as singles went to Rusaw, Chamberlain, Miles and Hannon. Rusaw and Chamberlain also had an assist. Coe Hill goals were two by Jeff and one each by Landon, Laundry and Skelcher, as Bruce, M. Crosley and N. Crosley had an assist each. Teams:

Norwood — Goal, Doug Lochhead; defence, Mauriel Hannon, Danny Smith; centre, Jim Chase; wings, Mervin Patterson, Bill Chamberlain; alternates, Delvin Rusaw, Glen Miles, C. Mainland, Francis Rooney, Clive Fredericks.

Coe Hill — Stanley Jeff, Wayne Bruce, Fred Landon, goal Lyman Landon, Murray Crosley, Dean Laundry, Terry Skelcher, Wayne Tucker, Gordon Crosby, Grover Crosby.

Referee—Bill Post of Peterborough.

Norwood midgets got the winning goals in the final half-minute of play in a fine fixture. J. Byer notched three goals for the winners as W. Smith had a goal and three assists. E. Heffernan got one marker, and N. Telford an assist. For Marmora, J. Brooks scored a pair, Maloney and C. Ellis having one each and J. Batmen and L. Darrah an assist each. Teams:

Marmora — Goal, Prentice; defence, Brady, J. Brooks; centre, Darrah; wings, H. Brooks, Clemens; alternates, Bateman, Terrion, Ogilvie, Ellis, Price, Maloney Bedore, Walker, Bell.

Norwood— Goal, Scott; defence, Millett, Telford; centre, Byer; wings, Hannivan, Smith; alternates, Morgan, McManus, Mullen, Thompson, Herr, Hefefrnan.

Referees—W. Courtney of Marmora, and S. Rusaw of Norwood.

CATCHERS GALORE

CINCINNATI (NEA) — When the Reds open training in Tampa, Feb. 25, five catchers will be scrapping for jobs. They are Andy Seminick, Hobie Landrith, Frank Baldwin, Ed Bailey and Dick Kinaman.

Has No Comment On Hockey Brawl

KEMPTVILLE (CP) — W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, today declined to comment on the Montreal-Hamilton junior hockey brawl Monday night until he had received reports from the parties concerned.

Mr. George said he had already received a telegraphed report from the Quebec branch and expected a full report from Mundey later today.

Report Russ Exercises

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—The Nationalist China Union Press today said 12 Russian submarines began war games Jan. 4 off the southern tip of Communist China. The agency said it was the first time that more than 10 Soviet submarines had been seen at Yulin harbor since it was converted to a submarine base almost two years ago.

Havelock Boys Beat Point Ann

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Point Ann went down to their first defeat this season in a TVL game at the Havelock Arena Monday night, when Havelock came off winners by a score of 5-2. There was no score at the end of the first period and Point Ann led by a score of 2-0 at the end of the second period but Havelock made a sensational comeback in the third period by scoring all of their five goals and blanking Point Ann in that period. It was the fastest game witnessed here this season, before about 300 fans. There were only six penalties in the game with Point Ann drawing five and one to Havelock. Jacklin was the most penalized player, drawing three penalties. The referees were Moss and Cousins, of Marmora.

Both goalies put on a spectacular performance with Nicholls, of Havelock, displaying more of his goal-tending ability. The Havelock teams as a whole played their best hockey of the season, with Ruttan, Wooton, Laing and Kane working hard throughout the game, although only the latter had a goal to his credit. Mason scored the last goal for the locals in an empty net with only 15 seconds to go as Point Ann pulled out their goalie to try and even the score.

Havelock—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Mortimer, Wooton; centre, Laing; wings, Scott, Ruttan, alternatives, Kane, Floyd, Kelly, Berardi, Mason, F. Mortimer, Slater.

First period, no score. Penalties, L. Goyer.

Second period: Point Ann, Mulholland, 2.00. Point Ann, L. Goyer (Williams, Mulholland), 16.30. Penalties, Jacklin.

Third period: Havelock, F. Mortimer (Floyd), 5.30. Havelock, D. Mortimer (Mason), 8.30. Havelock, Kane (Mason, D. Mortimer), 13.10. Havelock, Floyd, 18.05. Havelock, Mason (F. Mortimer), 19.45. Penalties, Jacklin 2, Floyd, Green.

40 years ahead-

VALVE-IN-HEAD

Other makers, right and left, are finally turning to valve-in-head design because of its superior efficiency and dependability. But Chevrolet has been bringing you valve-in-head value for 40 years! Chevrolet has engineered and built more than twice as many valve-in-head engines as all other manufacturers combined! And this year it brings you more valve-in-head horsepower and higher compression than any competitive make in the low-priced field. Chevrolet's great engines are unmatched for performance, durability, efficiency and economy. YES, IT'S STILL CHEVROLET FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION!

VOLUME

Year after year, Chevrolet is the Leader! No matter what figures, statistics, percentages may be used, the simple fact of Chevrolet's leadership remains. Last year, for instance, Chevrolet led the second-place car by more than 20,000 sales!* Chevrolet's sales volume is indeed the highest and Chevrolet continues to enjoy the distinction of undisputed leadership. NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLET THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

*Official Canadian registration figures to November 30, 1953

CHEVROLET

VISION

Vision, with a capital "V"! Yes, through engineering, research, design and styling leadership, Chevrolet has established a basic quality unchallenged in the low-price field. And another kind of vision—the vision of production and management—has brought you this quality at low-price-leader cost! When you find a better car at Chevrolet's low cost you'll find it still bears the famous Chevrolet nameplate! SO LOOK TO THE LEADER FOR SUPERIORITY IN ALL WAYS.

VALUE

After all is said and done, there's no value like Chevrolet value! The proof is public preference. Again in 1953 more people bought Chevrolets than any other cars. And why is the preference for Chevrolet so strong? Because quality is a tradition with Chevrolet—car owners know that every dollar invested in a Chevrolet brings them more of the things they want than any other car can offer and for resale or trade-in Chevrolet is always worth more! AFTER ALL IS SAID AND DONE, THERE IS NO VALUE LIKE CHEVROLET VALUE.

Calculus, Physics Invoked To Learn Vehicle's Velocity

Have you ever wondered how the scientist can estimate the original speed of an automobile involved in an accident? All you need is a little mathematics, says R. F. Rodgers, mathematician-physicist of the R.C.M.P. Crime Detection Laboratory, in the Mounted Police Quarterly.

For example, consider the following recent automobile accident in the Maritimes.

DELAYED STOP

The driver, in a 1950 Plymouth sedan, skidded 72 feet across the highway. He then plummeted down an eight-foot ditch and skidded 98 feet through the clay swamp ditch. After this, he struck and uprooted a tree, and travelled 32 feet (horizontally) through the air before coming to a stop.

The driver said he was travelling at 45 m.p.h. Don't look now, but at what minimum speed would you say he was going before he started to skid. Seventy miles per hour? Or 80 miles per hour? The determination of this answer is an interesting problem.

Here is how it's done:

First of all, we start at the end and work backwards. How fast was the car moving through the air? A little calculus shows that the minimum speed would result of the car leaves the ground at an angle of 45 degrees, the speed would be greater, and the effect on the initial speed is even less.

Hence we may take 219 m.p.h. as the speed just after uprooting the tree.

EFFECT OF TREE

Next on the order sheet as we continue to move back is the tree. How can we accurately estimate its effect upon the car's speed. Actually, we don't have to make an accurate estimate. The effect of the tree is so slight that even an appreciable error in the estimation will have only a neglible effect on the final answer.

The tree had a trunk diameter of four inches. Now, it was estimated that three men pulling fairly hard could uproot a one-inch diameter tree. Since three men could exert a combined force of 500 pounds, the force required to uproot the larger tree would be 500 x 16—8,000 pounds. This is so because the larger tree has a crosssectional area 4 x 4—16 times greater than the smaller one.

If we take this force as acting through one foot, the mechanical work done by the automobile is 8,000 foot-pounds. Since the automobile weighs 3,155 pounds, and the passenger 280 pounds, this work produces a loss of 1.5 m.p.h. in speed. Hence the speed just before hitting the tree is about 23.4 m.p.h.

SKIDDING IN DITCH

Skidding in the ditch is the same, in principle, as skidding along the highway That is, if we know the final speed, the distance skidded, and the friction coefficient, we may compute the initial speed. As we know the first two factors, the problem boils down to finding a suitable friction coefficient. This was determined experimentally in the following manner:

An open clay region was made wet until it represented fairly closely the description of the clay swamp in the accident. A suitable car, with brakes locked, was dragged over this wet clay.

A spring balance, kindly lent to the writer by the National Research Council, showed that the average force was about 915 pounds. Since the test car and contents were found to weigh 3,700 pounds, the adopted friction coefficient was 915/370 or 0.25 very nearly. This gives a speed of about 35.3 m.p.h. at the beginning of the swamp skid.

FALL RAISED SPEED

Next, the effect of falling down the ditch must be considered. Those of you who remember your high school physics will recall that the loss of potential energy in falling must equal the gain of kinetic energy. This gain is about 3.6 mph, so the speed at the end of the highway skid is about 32.2 mph.

Finally, the effect of the road skid must be considered, and then we have solved our problem. The friction coefficient for a wet, hard-surface and level road is usually about 0.525.

Using this value, we get a speed of about 46.5 mph just before skidding. Since the friction coefficients adopted may differ slightly from the actual values at the accident, the driver could have been travelling at about 45 mph, as he said, although calculation shows that he was probably going slightly faster.

How fast did you originally guess the car was travelling? It pays to make the calculation! Incidentally, this shows that the calculation can be favorable to the accused, although it usually shows that he was travelling at excessive speed.

Maintan Search For Lost Trio

DETROIT (AP) — Helicopters of the United States Air Force and Navy kept up a search today for three Detroit area fishermen missing since Sunday in a home-built cabin cruiser on the Detroit river.

The three were among five fishermen trapped by high winds and breaking ice. Two were rescued Monday.

Still missing are Walter W. Riley, 54, Grosse Ile, Paul Noland, 44, Gibraltar, and Otis Nelson, 45, Trenton, all in Michigan.

The U. S. coast guard fears their 18-foot boat built and owned by Noland, might have been crushed by ice jams at the point where the river enters Lake Erie.

An air force helicopter Monday rescued Joseph Jasinski, 37, and his 12-year-old son after the two had spent the night on Fighting island.

Discuss Evergreens Beautifying Lawns

M. A. Adamson, of Midhurst reforestation nursery, will be the speaker at the meeting of the horticultural society Monday, January 25, at the YWCA.

The subject of his talk will be: Evergreens and their most effective use, especially in the beautification of home properties. Mr. Adamson will discuss species, their planting as specimen trees, the right time for planting, pruning, fertilizing and protection from insects.

This is the annual business meeting of the society, but the election of officers and some other affairs will be kept to the minimum of program time.

The public is invited to this meeting, and particularly new home owners contemplating tree planting on their properties.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark

What To Do With 131,000 Tons of Butter

By HAL BOYLE

WASHINGTON (AP)— Anybody know what to do with 131,000 tons of butter?

Some of the best brains in United States government are trying to figure out a lend - grease program to get rid of it. Meanwhile, under the farm price support program the supply is being added to at the rate of 1,000 tons a day.

There seems to be no way to get rid of the butter without making somebody mad.

It might be sold to the Soviet government, which is reported to be yearning for 100,000 tons, if it would make for real friendship. But the statesmen here figure they have already learned that butter won't melt in a Russian mouth.

It can't be given away to the poor because that would be galloping socialism. It can't be given to the rich because that would be special privilege. It can't be plowed under, because any plow would skid on all that butter.

What can be done with it? well, here are a few adventurous possibilities:

1. Load it on naval vessels and sail it around the world until it wears out.

2. Washington has a memorial to everybody but the American farmer. Why not build a tremendous monument to him, carved from 131,000 tons of butter?

3. Congress wants a raise in pay. Country doctors often take their fees in farm products. Well, why not give congressmen a bonus in surplus butter instead of cash?

DECLINED WITH THANKS

"That is a generous, heart-warming proposal," said one legislator. "But if you divide 131,000 tons equally among 531 senators and representatives, each would get 500,000 pounds of butter. What would I do with 500,000 pounds of butter?"

Simple. Since politicians always butter up their constituents in an election year, they could wrap a couple of pounds of butter in their latest speech and mail a package to every voter in their district.

That may be spreading on politics a bit thick, but I know that as a taxpayer myself I wouldn't resent this gesture.

Eight Soldier Broadcasters Had No Professional Experience

WITH CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP) — Canada's eight soldier-broadcasters in Korea had no professional radio experience when they joined radio station Maple Leaf.

But, says Lt. Larry Cote, 31, of Winnipeg and Aylmer, Que., who heads the voice of Canada in Korea," there is nothing makeshift about the 500-watt station which brings Canadian news and entertainment to troops of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

"We have a complete commercial-type station," said the graduate electrical engineer of the University of Manitoba who has been with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals for the past five years.

EAGER WORKERS

Working with Lieut. Jean Baby, 24, St. Foy, Que., consulting engineer, and 2nd Lieut. Peter Churchill, London, Ont., and Toronto, production manager, Cote put the station into operation by working 15 to 18 hours a day.

There seems to be no way to get rid of the butter without making somebody mad.

"I didn't know what I was getting into," he said as he saw his project go on the air seven hours a day on weekdays and 18 hours on week-ends. Soon, the station will broadcast 12 hours on weekdays. It is planned later to broadcast 18 hours every day.

The five-man announcing staff was chosen from among 30 candidates who were given a try-out by Churchill, borrowed from 25th public relations unit.

Two of them, Sgt. Al Rogers, 30, Ste. Therese, Que., and Cpl. Robert Melanson, 21, Pictou, N.S., had done a bit of broadcasting on other military radio stations.

FORMER EXPERIENCE

Rogers worked on Radio Nomad, a Korean outlet of the U.S. armed forces radio service and on Crown Radio, the station of the 1st Commonwealth Division. Melanson formerly worked on the radio station run jointly by the Canadian army and RCAF at Whitehorse, Y.T.

For Cpl. Lucien Robillard, 25, Ottawa, it was a short jump from a brigade group of travelling entertainers to the radio station.

A "pleasant voice" won the news announcer's job for Cpl. Don Andrews of Stewiacke, N.S., and the 2nd battalion of the Black Watch.

Handling the French - language section is Pte. Henri Proietti, 27, Montreal, Royal 22nd Regiment. At one time he worked for Crown News, the Commonwealth division newspaper, translating English news into French.

Fanfani Cabinet To Name Officials

The cabinet will hold its first session tonight to appoint 30 undersecretaries.

Fanfani will outline his government program in Parliament and ask for a vote of confidence next Tuesday.

The new government is expected to win this first parliamentary test by a small margin, but only because the Monarchist and Democratic Socialist factions have promised to abstain on that ballot. It is doubtful whether Fanfani has the votes to cope with such controversial international issues as ratification of the European army treaty or the difficult domestic problems posed by rising economic and labor troubles.

Expanding Wheat

CANBERRA (CP) — Prime Minister Menzies said here the federal government does not approve any proposal to restrict wheat acreages in Australia to meet a wheat crisis. He said the government view is that the future of the wheat industry justified a return to the larger pre-war acreages.

Mission Band Elects Officers For 1954

NORWOOD — (ENS) — St. Andrew's Mission Band met in the sunday school room, Monday afternoon. The leaders Mrs. Wm. Golloher and Mrs. Gordon Rothwell conducted the meeting. The following officers were elected for 1954: president, Margaret Duncansan; secretary, Carol Sinclair; treasurer, Ruth Ranson; roll call secretary, Kathryn Duncanson; program committee, Elaine Sinclair, Marlene Ranson; social committee, Sandra McKay and Anne Sinclair.

Army Cuts Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Army will cancel contracts worth $500,000,000 by June 30, a high defence official disclosed Monday. Harold L. Pearson, deputy undersecretary of the army, told reporters that the "nation's biggest buyer has been going out of the buying market" for six months in an effort to achieve both economy and efficiency in supply and money matters.

Canada's Steel Industry Now Seventh Largest In World

MONTREAL (CP)—By a series of post-war leaps Canada's steel industry has been transformed from a near nonentity into the world's seventh largest producer of iron and steel.

A recent survey estimated Canada's steel ingot capacity at the end of 1953 as 5,000,000 tons, of which 4,750,000 tons would be output. In 1946 output was only 2,252,000 tons.

A booklet released by A. C. Leslie and Company, warehousing agents for four of this country's major steel producers, discusses this rate of growth and tells of future expansion plans.

The booklet recalls the end of the Second World War when widespread fears of a cutback in production were prevalent. In spite of this steel producers announced new development plans.

The move paid off. Vastly increased steel production was absorbed in Canada and imports slackened.

SAID TYPICAL COMPANY

The booklet points to the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton as typical of Canada's mushrooming steel manufacturers.

Since 1945, Stelco, with nine plants in five cities, has spent more than $120,000,000 on capital installations and improvements, boosting its production from 1,146,000 tons in that year to 1,817,000 tons in 1952. Ingot capacity, potential capacity, now is almost 2,000,000 tons.

The Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation at Sydney, N.S., now is in the midst of a $44,000,000 expansion program, begun in 1951, which will raise its ingot-making capacity to 820,000 tons a year, compared to the 1949 figure of 550,000 tons.

The capacity of the Algoma Steel Corporation's plant at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., is expected to increase by 70 per cent in 1954 over the 1945 figure.

Normally a plant's production is below its capacity, but not in the case of Algoma. Steel production in 1952 was 106 per cent of rated capacity. Production of steel ingots that year was 1,097,921 tons, an increase of 170,000 tons over 1945 output.

Large Liners Refuse To Dock At Victoria

VICTORIA (CP)—Victoria's days as a port of call for passenger liners in the Antipodes - Pacific northwest trade appear to have ended.

The RMS Oronsay of the Orient line on her initial trip from Auckland, N.Z., called only at Honolulu, San Francisco and Vancouver.

The luxurious 28,000-ton liner will make three trips to test cargo and passenger business. If enough trade develops, the Oronsay will be joined on the run by the Orient line's newest ship, RMS Orsova.

REJECT PLEAS

Pleas of Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials to have Victoria included in call ports have been rejected. Ship-owners said that incoming and outgoing cargoes from this port do not justify the cost, or risk, of docking giant liners here.

The new liner is 708 feet overall, 128 feet longer than the old motorship Aorangi. On her last trip the Aorangi, aided by two tugs took 40 minutes to dock in Victoria.

At that time her master, Capt. William Whitefield, remarked: "There is a definite risk every time you bring a big ship in here."

Acquit Driver Drunk Driving

Stating that a weak heart condition and one ounce of whisky taken for medicinal purposes had produced symptoms similar to intoxication, William H. Boyce, 399 Edison Ave., pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He appeared in court Monday when Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, dismissed the charge.

The charge arose following an accident on Rubidge St., Saturday, when Boyce's car came into collision with a car being driven by Allen Foote.

Boyce was further charged with driving without due consideration for other road users. On this count he was fined $20, costs $9.75.

Foote testified that he had been approaching the Charlotte St. crossing on Rubidge St. when the Boyce car had come round the corner, swinging over to the incorrect side. The oncoming car did not have any lights, although it was dusk. A slight collision had been inevitable.

Boyce argued that on turning into Rubidge St. he had been forced to swerve when a truck had come out of a driveway. He had intended going into the Innes service station nearby to get his lights fixed.

Constable Robert Muldoon told the court that he had inspected the car later in the evening and the lights had been in working order.

Alderville Women Elect Mrs. Simpson

Following are the officers elected: president, Mrs. John Simpson; vice-president, Mrs. James Bigwin, Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace; pianist, Mrs. Alfred Simpson; sunshine committee, Mrs. Borden Crowe, Mrs. Elmer Marsden.

A quilt was quilted during the meeting. The society plans to quilt a quilt for every home on the Alderville Reserve.

Plans were made to enter an exhibit in the special prize at Roseneath Fair. This prize is open to all ladies' organizations in Alnwick township and is called "Let's Have a Bazaar."

At the conclusion of the meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

Would 'Tag' Hunters

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Hunters in the field would be required to wear distinctive licence tags on the backs, under terms of a bill introduced by assemblyman Lawrence M. Rulison. The measure offered by the Syracuse Republican specifies that the figures on the tags should be at least an inch high. Its passage is doubtful.

Re-Elect Hamblin Chairman Of High School Board

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Earl Hamblin was re-elected chairman of the Norwood district high school board at the inaugural meeting of the board held in the school.

H. W. Roche, secretary - treasurer, presided for the election of the chairman of the board, when two were nominated for the office, Earl Hamblin and T. P. Davidson. Mr. Davidson withdrew. Mr. Hamblin thanked the board for their confidence. He then welcomed the new member Donald Beamish, who represents Percy township..

Mr. Hamblin called for the appointment of a vice-chairman and secretary-treasurer which resulted as follows: vice-chairman, T. P. Davidson; secretary-treasurer, H. W. Roche. Both expressed thanks to the board for their appointment.

The following is the personnel of the board for 1954:

E. T. Buck, Asphodel township; G. T. Buchanan, County of Peterborough; Donald Beamish, Percy township; Clarence A. Copp, the public schools in the district; Earl Hamblin, Norwood village; B. C. Haryett, Havelock village; T. P. Davidson, Otonabee township; Charles McConnell, Belmont and Methuen townships; Clifford Schiver, Hastings village; Keith Ross, Dummer township; D. H. Subscriptions were authorized sent to the Municipal World and Ratepayers' Association for school journals for board members.

Chairman E. Hamblin, and secretary-treasurer H. W. Roche were appointed as delegates to the Ontario Educational Association convention. Trustee T. P. Davidson was appointed as an alternate.

The annual grant of $75 was made to the Norwood library for 1954. This was done because the high school students have access to that library without cost. The chairman and secretary-treasurer were also authorized to borrow money as required to maintain and operate the school.

REPORTS

It was reported that the new mechanism for the dispenser had been received and installed and was now working satisfactorily. The auditorium ventilation was not working properly after following the recommendation of architect H. H. Roberts as to remedy. Two men had serviced five motors and found three wired backwards. One had to be taken to Peterborough for repairs. All three motors are now working in order and the noise throughout the building has been eliminated. The stoker is now working properly.

A suggestion was made thit it might be profitable to the board to sell school supplies to the students. The matter was left to the management committee to look into. A desk was requested for the home economics room and the property committee was authorized to act.

Principal Caskey's report was as follows: enrolment, Grade 9, 112 grade 10, 87; grade 11, 38; grade 12, 16; grade 13, 13. Total, 266.

The daily average for the year was 244.13.

An RCAF officers will visit the school January 22, at 3 p.m., to describe to students available openings in that branch of the armed services. This ties with the vocational guidance work of grades 9 and 12.

The Ontario Hydro Commission are sending two men to the school on February 2 and 3, to demonstrate certain equipment utilized in hydro service to the general public.

Attendance for the fall term at the night classes was as follows: commercial, 20.29 shop, 13.6; home economics, 11.8 on Monday and 13.57 on Wednesday.

H. W. Roche is teaching telegraphy at the school every Friday afternoon using the international Morse code.

NOTICE OF MOTION

Trustee C. A. Copp informed the board that he will move or cause to be moved at the next regular meeting that page 2 and 8 of rules and regulations be changed to read: "teachers and management committee, property and supply committee, finance committee, and transportation committee.

District Teachers Honor Bishop At Afternoon Tea

An address and presentation to His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry by the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association of District 18, and the presentation by Bishop Berry of Coronation Medals to three teachers were highlights of the afternoon tea held on Sunday in St. Peter's Boys' School.

Sister Stanislaus of Lindsay read the farewell message to the Bishop who leaves this city next week to take up his appointment to the archepiscopal see of Halifax. A money gift, as token of appreciation of his work as supervisor of separate schools in the diocese, was presented by OECTA president Miss Justine MacMartin. In reply Bishop Berry paid tribute to the fine cooperation he had always received from school boards, teachers and parents.

The medals were received by Sister Helen, principal of St. Joseph's Academy in Lindsay, Sister Lucretia, former principal of St. Peter's High School (accepted in her absence by Sister Marion of the staff) and Mr. Edgar J. Boland, principal of St. Anne's School.

Tea guests were the teachers the school board members and their wives and the parish priest from all schools in the district which includes Cobourg, Hastings, Warkworth, Campbellford, Lindsay and Peterborough.

Receiving in turn throughout the tea hours were Sister principals and lay teachers, Sister Anna Marie and Miss J. MacMartin, Sister Gabriella and Miss Mary Neville, Sister Saint Louis and Miss Loretta Cavanagh, Sister Mary Garnier and Miss Leila McGrath, Sister Dominica and Miss Marie Flynn and Sister Adele and Miss Ann Sullivan.

The Sisters were served in a separate tea room and their tea table was centred with a boquet of gold and purple 'mums.

Snowballs and snowflakes and streamers in blue and white decorated the main tea room and the lace-covered tea table was attractively laid with mixed flowers and candles as the centrepiece.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Miss Hazel Guerin, Miss Marguerite Collins, Mrs. Connie Rodd, Mrs. Nellie Moore and Miss Margaret Kennelly. Social convener Miss Hilda Lynch was assisted in the serving by teachers from the various schools.

Honor Memory Of Late Member

MARMORA (ENS) — The Catholic Women's League met in the Sacred Heart parish hall on Sunday evening. Mrs. Donald Shannon presided.

The meeting opened with prayer in which a late member, Mrs. Rose Johnston, was especially remembered. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. J. H. English. In turn, the conveners gave their reports. Mesdames M. Barlow and K. Donaldson, speaking for social welfare, described gifts being given out in the Christmas season.

Mrs. Charles Lajoie consented to take over the duties of the late Mrs. Rose Johnston in the handling of used clothing and used postage stamps. Mrs. J. A. Paquet reported seven visits having been made to the sick and shut-ins. A donation of $10 was voted to the seminary bursary fund and a further donation of $10 was allotted towards assistance in rehabilitation of women leaving penal institutions.

Group 3, under Miss Mary Hughes and Mrs. Arthur Sheridan, will look after the program at the February meeting which is being observed as "Grandmothers' Night." It was decided to hold a bake and food sale with afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. E. D. O'Connor on January 30.

The Rev. W. P. Healey spoke on the proposed interior painting of the hall and furnishing of further accommodations. The program was in charge of Mrs. K. Donaldson.

A group of ladies sang "Carry Me Back To Old Virginny"; Mrs. T. J. Reid gave a reading on "The Miracle of the Doves," after which Mrs. J. A. Paquet played a piano solo. Community singing was enjoyed, followed by a reading by Miss B. Sandham.

Mesdames S. Callery, F. Bedore and K. Donaldson furnished some instrumental numbers and in conclusion, Miss K. Donaldson read a poem in tribute to Mrs. Rose Johnston. Refreshments were then served.

BORN IN IRON LUNG—Mrs. James Munro, confined to an iron lung in a Victoria hospital since stricken with polio Nov. 28, looks on at her new baby boy who was born in the lung. The iron-lung birth was the first performed in Victoria although others have been performed elsewhere. The baby, Kenneth Lloyd, has a two-year-old brother.

10-Minute Rest After Lunch Will Make For Longer Life

NEW YORK (AP)—For longer life, lie down on the job—for a little while, that is. A brief nap or 10-minute rest after lunch is good for you.

That's the advice consulting psychologist Peter E. Siegle of Chicago offers business executives in a report prepared for a manufacturer of sleep equipment. But it could go for anyone who works under tension and high pressure.

A little rest and relaxation on an office couch might help avoid heart attacks, or fatal auto accidents when driving home tense and worried during rush-hour traffic, he says.

Siegle cites statistics that the life expectancy of the average American man is nearly 66 years. But bosses in busy occupations may die at any time from 57 to 61. And many in really high pressure fields never live to be 50.

Most workers get regular breaks he says, and so do soldiers on long marches. The business man who works like a horse should give himself the same break.

Winter Footwear To Keep Warm

Want to keep your feet warm this winter and dry, too?

Take a tip from a sheep. Recent laboratory tests have shown that the warmest—and most healthful—storm boot you can wear is one made of supple leather lined with genuine wool shearling. What's shearling. On the sheep it's his skin. In an overshoe or slipper, its that soft curly wool lining that keeps your feet warm and dry.

The reason that foot doctors favor a wool shearling-lined boot or slipper is that, unlike imitation shearling, wool has the same "breathing" properties as leather. A leather boot or slipper lined with genuine wool shearling allows air to enter and foot moisture to be evaporated. This serves a double purpose: It keeps your feet dry and comfortable, and the layer of air acts as insulation to retain body heat and keep your feet warm. Cold feet are responsible for all too many winter sniffles.

And these days you can be warm and comfortable. Wool shearling slippers for women—both scuffs and regular styles—range in color from deep red to delicate pastels. Father's slippers, likewise, are made in many styles, although the moccasin type is most favoured.

And to come back to your storm boots. Most of those lined with wool shearling have cuffs in gay mouton—mouton is just shearling in formal dress— to match the fur trim on your coat.

Pot Luck Dinner

CAVAN (ENS) — Mrs. Mervin Kinsman was hostess on Friday evening when 20 ladies enjoyed a buffet pot luck dinner at her home.
